THE INDEPENDENT

Wednesday 12 November 1997

(IR50p) 45p No 3,452

He gave £1 m to Labour, and £14m to the Tories. What did he expect in return?

Bernie Ecclestone, the head of Formula One racing, made donations of £im to Labour and £10m to the Tories, topped up with a £4m loan. Anthony Bevins and Kim Sengupta examine charges of sleaze engulfing the parties.

Both John Major and William Hague offered Mr Ecclestone a knighthood following his donations to Tory coffers, it was alleged yesterday. Wellplaced political sources said Mr Major entertained Mr Ecclestone to lunch at Chequers before the election, and Mr Hague is said to have sent a letter to the Prime Minister, submitting Mr Ecclestone's name Mergers Committee report on for a knighthood.

The disclosure that Mr Ecclestone had given £1m to Labour - now to be returned following the highly unexpected advice offered by Sir Patrick donation before the last elec-Neill OC, chairman of the Committee on Standards in Public Life - followed a day of specu- from Mohamed Al Fayed. lation about the precise amount. secrecy was that the amount was private between the donor and the party, and could only be di- on a confidential basis, as they vulged by agreement. That pub-fall under Privy Councillor licity agreement had covered the terms. £1m donation made by Matthew Harding, vice-chairman of Chelsea Football Club, crash last year. handed over his money in Jan- struck off by Mr Blair. In fact, uary, his name was not even in- Mr Ecclestone's name was not cluded in the list of people who had donated more than £5,000 Mr Major. to the party last year.

people like Jeremy Irons, Paul return of the £1m by cash-Hamlyn, Sir David Puttnam, strapped Labour, is an accel-Ruth Rendell, and David Sainsbury, and companies like Tate & Lyle, Sun Life Corporation. Kingfisher Group, and Mirror Group, part-owners of The In- political parties. dependent, could now come under more intense scrutiny. The Prime Minister's office suggested that if a more generous-than-expected national minimum wage was introduced, trade union donations might have to be sent back, and that if ministers decided to help ban fox-hunting, similar donations from the Political Animal Lobby might have to be re-

But the Prime Minister's spokesman added zest to the controversy by saying that donations and actions taken by the Conservatives might also have to come under scrutiny.

The more substantial contributions made by the building, brewing and tobacco industries over many years - taken with ministerial decisions affecting those industries - could open a Pandora's Box for the Conservative high command.

Over the years, it has been alleged that Tory ministers have been switched or sacked for "taking on" the tobacco lobby. and a 1989 Monopolies and the brewing industry was undoubtedly watered down.

Paddy Ashdown said yesterday that he had personally rejected the offer of a £1m tion, an offer which The Independent has been told came

As for the offer of a knighthood to Mr Ecclestone, a Tory Labour's initial defence of spokesman said last night: "There are matters on which we must deal with Downing Street

The mystery increased last night when The Independent was told that Mr Ecclestone's before his death in a helicopter name had been submitted to Number 10 for a knighthood by on any list put to Number 10 by

The immediate result of Sir That list, which includes Patrick's ruling, apart from the eration of legislation to bring in greater "transparency" of political donations above £5,000, and a ban on foreign funding of

> Over the longer term, however, with Sir Patrick's committee about to embark on an inquiry into political funding, the odds are very much on a statutory limit being imposed on party election spending.

Photograph: Paul Hackett/Reuters

Health spending power will switch to GPs

Billions of pounds are to be transferred to local groups of family doctors in a fundamental shakeup of the health service. Jeremy Laurance, Health Editor, reveals an ambitious plan to break down the barriers between hospitals, GPs and community services.

ampionship

An overhaul of the NHS more radical than expected is proposed in a government White Paper due for publication before the end of the year, details of which have been leaked to The the internal market and abolishing GP fundholding, the White Paper will begin a process of reshaping the NHS to reflect modern health needs.

The drivers of the new service will be local collectives of GPs, which will control over 90 per cent of the NHS's £34bn anmual budget. Each collective will number around 50 GPs serving about 100,000 population and will hold a single budget for hospital, primary and community

The single budget will mean the GPs can decide whether to hire more community nurses so people can be cared for in their homes or spend more on pre-

Independent. As well as ending scribing rather than sending patients to hospital. Ministers believe a model is provided by the strategy for improving cancer services drawn up by Sir Kenneth Calman, the chief medical officer, in 1995, which aims to ensure all patients have access to high-quality specialist services.

The aim is to break down the "Berlin walls" which separate health and community care, in Secretary of State for Health Frank Dobson's phrase, whose separate budgets mean patients cannot easily be transferred between them. This has led to hospital beds blocked by patients who should be cared for the changes which are seen as practices hold their own budevolutionary, not revolution-

The GP collectives, which will function as mini-health authorities, will vary in size according to local geography and

EXCLUSIVE

need. They will have service agreements with local hospitals - contracts by another name and may switch them if the serscratch. They will replace the existing system of GP fundholdat home. No timescale is put on ing, under which individual gets, which has been blamed for creasing inequity in the NHS.

Existing health authorities, whose number is likely to be cut, will be left only with the budget for "tertiary" services specialist treatments such as heart transplants - which account for less than 10 per cent of total NHS spending. They will be given a new role devising health improvement programmes with locally-agreed targets as part of the Government's public health strategy. The abolition of the internal vice provided is not up to market and the loss of competition between NHS trusts removes an important lever to efficiency in the NHS. In its ages tighter management from the centre based on measurements of hospital performance. Tough questions would be asked where hospitals deviated significantly from the norm. An example cited is the Government's response to the Exeter breast-screening scandal, in which mammograms were misread and some women developed cancer that should have been detected.

A National Institute for Clinical Effectiveness is also proposed to mastermind a drive to improve quality and ensure doctors are kept up to date with latest developments.

Leading article, page 20

INSIDE TODAY

THE EYE The Fast Show is back. That's nice FASHION/18 Take home Kate PLUS. CITY +

TODAY'S NEWS

Woodward family pull down the shutters

One day after walking free from the court that only last month had convicted her of second-degree murder and sentenced her to life, Louise Woodward found herself in a new sort of prison yesterday: a room at a Hyatt Hotel on the perimeter of Boston's Logan Airport.

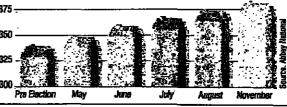

The proximity to planes, however, seemed only poignant. Freedom for Woodward was only relative. Her passport still in the hands of the state, she remains unable to leave the country or indeed Massachusetts. Meanwhile, the Woodwards and all their supporters were effectively ordered by her defence team to show restraint and limit contacts with the press. Last night, Louise broke her silence with a brief statement that thanked the judge and repeated her sorrow over the death of Matthew Eappen.

At the same time, the defence and the prosecution pondered strategies for their appeals. Both sides are expected to file their formal appeal notices with the Massachusetts appeals court as early as today. The entire process could take a year - during which time Woodward will effectively be marooned.

Meanwhile, controversy over the judge's actions mounted in Boston. One juror from the trial, Edward Welch, said that while the reduction of the verdict to manslaughter did not bother him, the time-served sentence most certainly did. Pages 4 and 5

The cost of a £50,000 mortgage since Labour came to power

Abbiev National price after base rate increases (£)

Mortgage rate up
A quarter point mortgage rate increase announced by Abbey National yesterday means the typical homebuyer will be paying £42 a month, or £502 a year, more on their loan compared with before the general election. Page 24.

More talks on Iraq

Diplomats at the UN were still working last night on a resolution to force Iraq to end its obstruction of weapons inspection teams. Baghdad shows no sign of backing down. President Clinton's strategy has been to combine fresh warnings to Saddam Hussein with attempts to forge a united front at the UN. Page 15

Girl power goes too far

The Advertising Standards Authority has warned agencies against a trend for so-called "Girl Power" ads that show women being violent towards men. Page 11

WEATHER The Eye, page 10 TELEVISION The Eye, page 12 CROSSWORUS Page 32 and the Eye, page 9

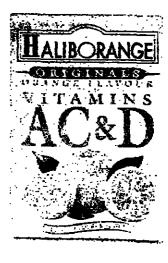

Web address: http://www. independent.co.uk

Haliborange has always tasted great. Every Originals tablet isn't just bursting with the flavour of oranges though. It contains all of the Vitamins A. C. and D you and your kids need to help you stay healthy.*

So make sure you chew yours each day. Before somebody else does.

HALIBORANGE

COLUMN ONE

Court helps women shatter glass ceilings

A court in Luxembourg struck a blow for women's right to jump the jobqueue, shattering glass ceilings in offices across the continent. The allmale judges of the European Court ruled yesterday that positive discrimination was a Good Thing; that unequal treatment of job applicants was an acceptable means for achieving "equal opportunity".

"A victory for women," proclaimed Karin Junker, a German Social Democrat MEP. Padraig Flynn, the EU's social affairs and employment commissioner, purred with delight: "The Court has recognised that certain deep-rooted prejudices and stereotypes as to the role and capacities of women in working life still persist. It has concluded from this that priority given to equally-qualified women ... is not contrary to Community law."

It is all the fault of one man unable to come to terms with rejection. Three years ago, Helimuth Marschall, then 39-year old teacher at a German comprehensive school, applied for promotion and lost out - to a woman. Mr Marschall took the regional authorities, the Land of North Rhine-

Westphalia, to court. The local judiciary were unable to unravel the complexities of the case, and passed the buck upwards.

Everyone thought Mr Marschall could not lose. Two years ago, a civil servant from Bremen, Eckhard Kalanke, had won a similar case in Luxembourg against his employers. The judges then argued that the Mr Kalanke had been at the receiving end of "automatic job selection", which shut them out of promotions without a cursory glance at their CV.

The now notorious Kalanke verdict caused chaos through Europe. From Ireland to Greece, employers promoting positive discrimination found themselves breaking the law. The European Commission declared it a setback for women's rights and vowed to push for clearer legislation across the Community.

How clear it is now will no doubt be a matter of protracted - and lucrative - legal argument. Unlike the Bremen case, the judges ruled, Mr Marschall's employment were not operating an "automatic" selection system. The court decided the law was not unfair to men because, while it gave women candidates priority, it did not give them automatic, unconditional preference.

The affirmative action law only applied to the public sector, and only in cases where men outnumber women in senior jobs. The judges confirmed that EU law allowed governments to take action to redress inequality between men and women in the work-place, "provided that an objective assessment of each individual candidate, irrespective of their sex, is assured".

"This is an historic day for women in Europe," said Ilse Ridder-Melchers, equal opportunities minister of North Rhine-Westphalia. "The decision of the European Court of Justice finally draws a line under years of legal wrangling which has been to the detriment of women." That should come as a relief to her legal department, currently fighting 109 sexual discrimination cases brought by men in local courts. There are eight other regions in Germany whose governments operate similar policies, and fighting similar court battles.

Mr Marschall is vowing to fight on, but so are his adversaries. The all-male court which made yesterday's landmark decision is one of the first targets. "Male rule in Luxembourg must be brought to an end," declared Ms Junker, the MEP. — Imre Karacs.

Mr Janusz Goral

In a photomontage on the front of "Your Money" last Saturday, we used a photograph of Mr Janusz Goral which had been altered to appear as if Mr Goral were a Coutts bank doorman. Mr Goral was in fact a doorman at the Savoy hotel for 25 years before retiring in 1996. We apologise for any distress caused.

CONTENTS
CONTENTS:		: Fashion	7
		Theatre	18
Woodward	4-5	Features	19
Health	7	Leader, Letters	20
News	8	Comment	21
The Way We Live	9	Obituaries	22
Science	10	Business	23-28
Politics	12-13	Sport	29-32
The Unabomber	14	Crossword	9
World news	15	Weather	The Eye 10
European news	16	Tv & Radio	The Eye II-12

Guard of honour: Mary McAleese at her Dublin inauguration yesterday

President McAleese plays a populist tune

To the gentle strains of Handel the avowedly nationalist Mary McAleese, who hails from the Ardoyne in Belfast, took office as Ireland's eighth president on Armistice Day, pledging to burying hatchets of the past and make a virtue of her country's diversity.

Her inauguration was both regal and populist. On a bright, crisp autumn day beneath a cloudless sky she was swept in the elegant 1948 presidential Rolls Royce led by 36 army motorcyclists into a Dublin Castle courtyard crammed with 1,000 children from around the island.

They cheered every arrival, from the SDLP leader, John Hume, anthor Brian Keenan and poet Seamus Heaney, to Gerry Adams, the Sinn Fein President, and Mo Mowlam, the Secretary of State for Northem Ireland. They cheered the disgraced Prime Minister, Charles Haughey, weeks after he was booed here after lying to a judicial tribunal. They even cheered an empty car.

After fanfares and drum rolls in the gilded grandeur of St Patrick's Hall, hung with flags of Ireland's great families, Ms McAleese launched an equally grand holy quest for peace through partnership "as a wonderful millennium gift for the child of Bethlehem".

A new dynamic Ireland was now "tantalisingly close to a golden age of affluence, self-assurance, and tolerance ... our forbears dreamed of; prospering, accomplished, educated, at the heart of the European Union," she claimed. Conceding "distrust goes deep and the challenge is awesome," she invited Unionists on Armistice Day to look to Europe where once bitter enemies work conscientiously for each other as friends and partners".

Her presidency's theme would be "building bridges", she said. But her words were missed by invited Unionist leaders such as John Taylor, who, though supportive during her election, evidently saw attendance in person as a bridge too far.

Vicar sacked and defrocked after affair

An Anglican vicar is to be sacked and defrocked over his affair with a married parishioner.

The Rev Clifford Williams, 49, is the first cleric in the Church of Wales to be stripped of his office. Rev Williams, who has three children, has also been given notice to leave the rectory at Benl- a three-week hearing. His former lech, Anglesey and will lose his £13,000 annual income.

But last night he said he would fight to clear his name and added that he was taking legal advice on whether to seek a review of the legality of the church's proceedings by a high court judge.

Announcing his decision, the Bishop of Bangor, the Rt Rev Barry Morgan, said: "I believe that if he were to exercise a public ministry in the church, Mr Williams would be a danger to those entrusted to his care."

Last month, a church provincial court, the first to sit in 50 years, found him guilty of adultery after

But Mr Williams said last night: "My immediate aim at the moment Forsyth, Ronnie Corbett, Shirley is to clear my name. That is what we are working for and aiming for".

ter Leverton said: "The bishop is too. using very extreme and unwarthat Rev Williams is a danger to Zavaroni. the public."

- Kate Watson-Smyth

BBC rolls back the years for Lottery show

Never let it be said that the BBC can't squeeze a little more out of a light entertainment formula that was set in stone in 1973.

Ten years of continuous revolution under John Birt and cor petition from satellite and cable mean nothing in the fantasy land where sets are made of chip board.

In a revolutionary revamp of lover, Iris Green, said Mr Williams the Saturday night National Lotpursued her three times after she tery show the BBC has announced ended their relationship. His wife, that it is to be hosted by a line up Gwenda, said she wanted a divorce. of rotating "big name entertainers". So far signed up is Bruce

Bassey and Dame Edna Everage. in an effort to give the show a Mr Williams is being backed by more contemporary feel Eighties his union, the Manufacturing, comedians Hale and Pace get a Science and Finance Union. Its show and Nineties children's en-North Wales regional officer Pe- tertainers Ant and Dec have a go

But we can only cross our finranted language in suggesting gers that they never find little Lena

--- Paul McCann Media Correspondent

UPDATE

Complementary medicine urged

The Government is being urged to encourage complementary medicine in the NHS after a survey found that barriers remain to its usage.

A study for the NHS Confederation found that in one area, Leices tershire, treatments such as aromatherapy and reflexology - once dismissed as the work of cranks by doctors - were now widely used within the NHS. The survey of 651 health professionals showed a willingness to introduce complementary medicine at "grass roots" level in the NHS. But there were four main barriers to further CM usage: - lack of knowledge of practitioners for referral, lack of available funds, concern about the competence of practitioners and therapists, and lack of effectiveness evidence. Only a Government programme could address these issues because health authorities and trusts had insufficient resources, said the Confederation, which represents health authorities and trusts.

Parents' drink threat to children

Nearly one million children are likely to be living with a parent whose drinking has reached harmful or risky levels, according to two reports.

The charities Alcohol Concern and ChildLine called for a national campaign similar to campaigns against drink-driving to help children whose parents have drink problems.

Both charities published reports which showed children were coping with parents who abused them physically and sexually, neglected them emotionally and failed to feed and clothe them properly. Many children had seen their mother or father unconscious, injured and bleeding, vomiting, or incontinent.

Marie, aged 14, said her alcoholic mother drank a bottle of vodka every day. "I have to tell her when to go to bed. I have to undress her. She is covered in cuts and bruises and never knows where she gets them - she falls down the stairs. "she says.

● Alcohol Concern report, £7 from Waterbridge House, 32-6 Loman St London SE1. ChildLine report, £5 (plus 50p p&p) from Royal Mail Building, Studd St. London N1 0QW

- Genda Cooper Social Affairs Correspondent

Property in the Ccrs -- 1 :--

Contract to 0.25 120 1

See-------

B:::: N.

CONSUMERISM

Cosmetic surgery clinics warned

Clinics performing cosmetic surgery were ordered yesterday not to play down the risks of such operations in adverts.

The Advertising Standards Authority also warned them not to lay claim to being a "leading" establishment without being able to support it. A "Harley Street" address should only be used in adverts if consultations or operations were actually carried out on the prestigious London street. Adverts should not gloss over painful, invasive surgery which will require a long recovery time as a "minor procedure".

prevent overall weight gain, or that tattoos can be removed without trace. or that surgically replaced hair will last permanently.

The moves follow three complaints upheld against clinics this month.

TOURIST RATES Australia (dollars) 2.34 Italy (lira) 2,758 Austria (schillings) 19.68 Japan (yen) 206,6 Maha (lira) Belgium (francs) 57.84 0.62 Canada ($) Netherlands (guilders) 231 3.15 Cyprus (pounds) 0.82 Norway (kroner) 11.45 Denmark (kroner) Ю.73 Portugal (escudos) 284.3 France (francs) 9.38 Spain (pesetas) 235,7 Germany (marks) 2.8 Sweden (kroner) 12.32 Greece (drachmei) 443.3 Switzerland (francs) 2.29 Hong Kong ($) 12.63 Turkey (lira) 295,926 USA ($) reland (punts) 80.1 1.65 nas Coel

ZITS

by Jerry Scott & Jim Borgman

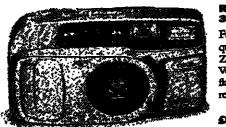

by Chris Priestley

TURN FRIENDS INTO CLOSE FRIENDS THIS WINTER.

Fully automatic. High quality aspherical Zoom lens. Self timez ile automatic flash with red eye

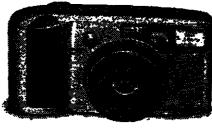

Ultra wide-angle telephoto Zoom lens. Smooth 'pebble shaped' design. Soft flash for natur looking portraits. £169.99

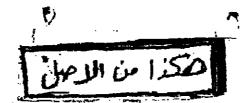

115EX outfit. 38-115mm Zoon Soft flash for natural portraits and close-ups. Sleek 'capsule' design. Pully retractable Zoom lens and flash Aluminium casing

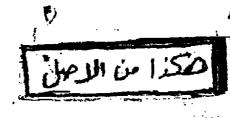

£199.99

The world's smallest Zoom compact in its class. Five 'modes' to match your subject. Stylish asuminium casing. Includes Permote control. £249.99

Minoltz (UK) Ltd. Rooksley Park, Precedent Drive, Rooksley, Milton Keynes, MK13 8HF.

The sale of the Ganz collection in New York has marked a return to the cricket-score art prices of the late 1980s. Geraldine Norman saw the hype translated into spectacular prices

e urged to its usage.

e de area. Léxy.

S. - May Carry

West and a discourse

er resentation to talk

727. - 170. A FRIGHT भारत र जातवाम् अभिन्त् and affectiveness

The there was be erroe. Sid the Co.

children

Contract to

cs warned

Picasso's portrait of his mistress Marie-Therese Walter titled The Dream was sold at Christie's in New York on Monday night for $48.4m (£28.5m), the highest price paid for a Picasso since the market crash in 1990 and the second highest ever; another painting took $51m at the height of the boom. Prices went crazy at the heavily publicised sale of 58 paintings from the modern art collection ries of eight paintings titled of Victor and Sally Ganz.

The Dream is one of a series of Marie-Therese in the early 1930s - last on the market was The Mirror which made only $20m in 1995. It is unquestionably an erotic dream. Maria-Therese sleeps in a chair, her softly smiling head tilted back. And Picasso has split her face in two, making the upper half echo the shape of a penis.

The winning bid on the painting was placed, very anonymously, by the sales clerk standing beside the auctioneer - this is the beat trick for a bidder who wants to conceal his or her identity at auction.

The second highest price of the evening - and third highest for a Picasso - was the $31m Russian literature. paid by London dealer Libby

At one session on Monday, Christopher Burge of Christie's knocked down lots for a total of $207m

Howie for one of his 1932 se-Femmes d'Alger – it had been expected to make between $10m act as agent for a Middle Eastern potentate. This complex and gerian women would be just the ticket for that market.

New York art lovers were celebrating their own when they bid the 58 lots from the Ganz collection to $207m at Christie's, almost twice as much as had previously been realised by a single session sale from a private collection. Victor and Sally were modest New Yorkers who bought art for love not for investment. He had a costume jewellery business and she had four children and a passionate amateur interest in

Victor died in 1987 and Sally, earlier this year, so the four children and the US tax man will split the proceeds. Virtually the whole Ganz fortune was tied up in art, so the tax man will take about $120m, leaving the children some $20m each. Not bad, considering their parents' total investment in art was less than $2m. Kate Ganz, now a London art dealer, said the family was "overwhelmed over the moon".

For 20 years, from 1941 to 1961, Victor and Sally bought only Picasso. Then they branched out into contemporary Americans, most notably Jasper Johns, Robert Rauschenberg and Frank Stella.

America has gone crazy over the sale. A queue of people waiting to get into the exhibition ran right round the block over the weekend - despite torrential rain. Some 25,000 people managed to see the picof eight portraits Picasso made and $12m. Howie is believed to tures. For the first time, Christie's turned four galleries into sale rooms and crammed highly coloured image of Al- in 2,000 people; with 70 telephone bidders.

The hype was translated into spectacular prices, particularly on the less expensive pieces. Lot 3 set the tone for the evening, a rectangle of paper, roughly 2ft by 3ft, inked a uniform black by Brice Marden which sold for $420,500 against an estimate of $120,000-$160,000. The fast Jasper Johns, Corpse and Mirror, of 1974, secured $8,362,500 against an estimate of $3.5m-$4.5m. The top price for Robert Rauschenberg was $6,382,500, for Red Interior of 1954-55, a combine painting using velvet, newsprint and rocks.

Rich colour: Picasso's The Dream sold for $48.4m (£28.5m) at Christie's in New York this week. The painting is one of II5 being auctioned from the collection of the late Victor and Sally Ganz

INTHE INDEPENDENT TOMORROW

THE EYE

Why all the fuss over Tibet?

A FAMILY TRAGEDY

One twin was kicked and punched to death protecting his father. A year after his murderers' were jailed, his brother committed suicide

Blue Nun: can we ever return to a Seventies habit?

It joined prawn cocktail and black forest gateau as symbols of the decade that taste forgot, it was the wine that everyone loved to hate.

Just when you thought it was safe to go back to the disco, Glenda Cooper, Consumer Affairs Correspondent, reports on the return of that Seventies favourite – Blue Nun.

meal without wine is like a day than 100,000. without sunshme. Presumably, dinner party and national joke is back, now costing £3.99, although its makers claim it has never been away.

Butt of gibes it might have been - the comedian Barry Took once joked that if had been withdrawn the British would have nothing to clean their hubcaps with - yet in the

It was the 18th-century French leader and we gulped down a There is this retro trend at the record-breaking time: "A, Blue dithered between the Riesling

'Obviously it had been he had never Odrunk Blue Nun. around for a long time but the The mainstay of the 1970s product had never really gone away." said Julian Eggar, marketing manager for Ehrmanns. "The brand had declined quite considerably since the 1970s and it was decided it needed updating."

But food writer Annie Bell was unsure whether it would succeed: "It's going back to Barrie Clement, Labour editor that fondue, German wine and managed to name them all cor-wines around that are and I'm not even sure if sweet wine has come back into fashion." To find out we asked a discerning panel of Independent journalists to blind taste Blue Nun, Riesling and Chablis (They were marked A, B and C).

Years of practice meant that chicken kiev era of the 1970s. rectly (and drink them) in palates. Louise Hancock so someone is drinking it."

gastronome Anthelme Brillat- million cases a year. By the mid- moment but the difficulty for Nun, - too sweet and all sher- and the Blue Nun: "B is mar-Savarin who once wrote that a 1990s this had fallen to fewer Blue Nun was that when it was berty, B, Riesling - disgusting, ginally worse than A I think ... popular in the Seventies there tastes like something in an at- oh no. I've smelt A again and Independent legal manager Louise Hayman was equally forthright in her analysis: "Urrgh. A is disgusting. It takes me back to disgusting flats in Putney and worrying about getting the nightbus home. B is a bit better (the Riesling) . But I really like C (the Chablis)." But the two younger members of the panel had not developed as sophisticated worse." But Paul Mo Cann, media correspondent, topped the lot: "They all taste the same," he proclaimed, adding "but then I never drink wine that costs less than £18 a bottle, usually." But Mr Eggar had a salutary word for people who were too snotty: "For all people say that they don't drink it, 120 million bottles of German medium sweet wine are sold each year

NEW IMAGES FOR THE NAFF

The rebirth of Blue Nun is just the latest in a long list of attempts by companies to shake off an outdated image by undergoing a drastic make-over. Thanks to a successful relaunch, drinks such as Lucozade and Guinness, are now fashionable with the trendy and streetwise. The suede desert boot has also made a dramatic return: once worn by rebellious niks but more recently favoured by trainspotters, it is cult accessory again after pop idols, including Liam Gallagher and the Spice Girls, were seen sporting them.

One of the biggest transformations in recent times has been that of the Labour Party. But there have been embarrassing disasters. The sparkling drink Babycham has undergone three relaunches in five years without shaking off its "naff" image. In 1993 its Bambi-like logo was dropped from the bottles and a television advert featuring a macho man was introduced as part of a drive to make it trendy. But the attempt failed and the emblem was reintroduced earlier this year to try to reattract former drinkers.

ŧ

Prosecution and defence prepare appeals. Is America turning against the au pair? Did the judge get it right?

THE FIGHT GOES ON

Louise Woodward yesterday enjoyed her first day as a free woman for nine months. But her freedom is not yet complete. As David Usbame explains, there remains a long and windy path ahead as both sides in the case launch their respective appeals.

Lest anyone gets carried away: the Woodward trial may be over, but the case is still open. This morning, both sides are expected to file their respective appeals to the Massachusetts state court and a new drama will be opened. It is a process that leaves Woodward in a kind of legal - and continental - limbo.

quickly. While the procedures of the state appeals court, based in downtown Boston, can on oc- prosecution lawyers face an casion be mercurial, if this case uphill struggle, if only because joins the normal queue and is forced to wait its turn, both appeals are likely to take a year.

For Woodward and her familv, this is depressing news. Unless negotiations are arranged between both sides to alter it, the decision of the court on Monday was that she will have to stay in Massachusetts throughout the appeal process with her passport confiscated from her. In that seenario, headlines that have Woodward home for Christmas are over-optimistic. Unless we are talking Christmas 1998.

While members of Woodward's defence team refused yesterday to speculate on their strategy, the prosecution camp was leaving no one in doubt of its determination to push at every appeals door that is open to it. "This is not a decided case."

prosecutor during the trial. As a first step, the prosecution is likely to demand a stay of the two dramatic decisions announced by Judge Zobel - the reduction of the verdict on Woodward from Murder Two to manslaughter and the passing of the minimal, time-served sentence. If it were to succeed, the stay would entail Woodward being sent straight back to the Framingham prison she has become so familiar with. Even prosecution sources admitted yesterday, however, that the tactic was a long-shot and almost doomed to failure.

Then there will be the prosecution's appeal proper. Of the outcome of Monday's events, Ms Coakley said that the sentence especially was "totally out of proportion, even with the judge's own finding that Louise killed this child".

The appeal, however, cannot And it may not be over be aimed at the sentence but only at the changing of the verdict. Here too, however, the it was they, at trial, that tried to force Judge Zobel to keep manslaughter as an option for the jury when it retired to consider Woodward's fate.

The defence, meanwhile, is expected to clarify its appeal approach either today or later this week. What seems certain is that it will attempt to overturn the Louise acquitted and her name cleared. This too, however, seems like a tall order.

There is also another option. in its motions to Judge Zobel post-trial, the defence asked for a re-trial on the grounds that the first trial was prejudiced on various counts, including by the late disclosure of important photographic evidence. It could appeal Judge Zobel's denial of a new trial. It is doubtful, however, whether the defence insisted Martha Coakley, the co-would be ready to go to a retrial. 52 per cent of Americans agreed with Judge thought she intentionally murdered

Two Bostonians reading a special edition of the Boston Globe following Woodward's reduction in sentence Photograph: Reuters manslaughter verdict and have A rumble of anger rolled across America Hiller Zobel's decision to reduce Wood- Matthew. But...something happened to that of Louise Woodward was replaced by a sense of bewilderment that she was sentenced to just 279 days for manslaughter.

THE AMERICAN BACKLASH

Support for the British au pair during her courtroom ordeal evaporated as Americans asked how a judge could find her guilty of killing a child one minute, and then free her the next.

The feeling was best expressed by Jay Leno, the American television presenter, who told his audience: "Looks like OFs got a new golfing buddy."

A poll in the USA Today showed that manslaughter. But 52 per cent also thought he was wrong to free her immediately.

Stephen Colwell, one of the trial jurors, said he was convinced Woodward had killed the baby. "I was not unhappy with the judge's ruling for some form of manslaughter, but to follow that up with nothing for a sentence seems unduly lenient to me," he said. "It's interesting that the time she has served is about as long as the baby was alive; I don't think that's appropriate."

Another juror, who did not wish to be named, said: "I don't think any of us yesterday as disbelief over the conviction ward's sentence from murder to baby and it happened when Louise was taking care of him."

Matthew Storin, editor of the Boston Globe, said sympathy had switched to Deborah and Sunil Eappen. "The initial response after the verdict was predominantly sympathy to Louise Woodward ... But ... the negative opinion towards her has been growing."

Boston radio reporter Flo Jonic, who covered the case for WBZ radio, said: "People are largely disgusted with this ... Three to five years would have put some value on this baby's life. This girl now has the rest of her life to look forward to and Matthew is dead."

-- David Usborne and Steve Boggan

WAS ZOBEL RIGHT?

but little criticism among lawyers of the nine-month sentence handed out to Louise Woodward. As Michael Streeter, Legal Affairs Correspondent, discovered, sentencing for manslaughter can vary enormously in both Britain and the United States.

While many lawyers, on both sides of the Atlantic, had been expecting a sentence of between two and five years for Louise Woodward, there was little feeling that Judge Zobel had gone "off the scale".

Bruce Holder QC agreed the sentence had been merciful; had the teenager been given several years, "no one would have been very surprised". But it was

The sentence was certainly at the merciful end of the scale, but not unduly lenient, not one that would be susceptible to a prosecution appeal in this country," he said. He also doubted whether the judge had been influenced by the media clamour surrounding the trial.

American lawyer Nadine Radford QC, a criminal defence home". barrister based in London, said the sentence was lenient, but believed the judge had been influenced not by the media pressure on him, but instead the pressure on Woodward. "She has been under a great deal of pressure at a young age. The udge probably factored that in."

Judges in Britain, as in the United States, have great disband out for manslaughter cases. In Britain, sentences can vary from the lower scale of probation, or suspended prison sen- manslaughter.

There was some surprise tences for defendants - for example, where the accused has endured tremendous bullying - to a life sentence. In the US, the options are similar though in some states, such as Massachusetts, there can be a 15 or 20-year maximum.

Irwin Rochman, a defence lawyer and former prosecutor in New York, said there some "surprise" among legal colleagues at the level of Woodward's sentence. But he added: "For surprise do not read criticism. Most lawyers are sophisticated enough to know unless they have sat throughout the whole trial and heard all the evidence you do not have a feel for what the case is all about."

Judges were experienced, of a high standard and in a position to listen to all the facts and make decisions accordingly. "That's what they are paid to do."

Another British barrister. Jonathan Caplan QC, who has experience of the US system, said there was no such thing as not out of line with expectations. a "normal" sentence for manslaughter. "In some cases a probation order will be appropriate, in another only a life sentence might fit the bill."

Lawyers agreed that the judge would have taken into account Louise Woodward's state of mind, her age, and the fact that, as Mr Rochman said, she was "a young girl far away from

Paul Cavadino, principal officer of the National Association for the Care and Resettlement of Offenders, agreed that in a similar case in this country such a sentence would have come as "no surprise".

Last September, Julia Watts, 31, was given an 18-month suspended prison sentence at Manchester Crown Court after she cretion in what sentence they killed her severely handicapped baby daughter by removing a breathing tube from her throat. She had been convicted of # Impress your boss. Doutgoto meetings.

With BT Conference Call, Sentern hold meetings anywhere in the world without leaving your desk. By connecting you with up to 1,000 people simultaneously on the phone, not only no years we on time and money, it's a sure recipe for success. All you need is a phone, and you're in husiness.

Why not change the way we wants BT 🎀

BT Conference Call. For a free demonstration: Freefone 0800 800 800

Who says you can't predict the future?

The Millennium Bond

There's no such thing as an uncertain future with a NatWest Millennium Bond. That's because our attractive interest rates are fixed from the start, so your money is guaranteed to keep on growing. Whatever your dream - the trip of a lifetime, a day your family will remember forever or giving someone special a head start in life - a NatWest Millennium Bond could help you make it come true

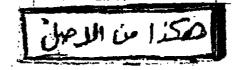

You can choose to receive your interest monthly† or annually. Alternatively, you can let your savings accumulate over the full two year term of the bond for a return even higher than the figure above. Whether you want to sove from £2,000 to £250,000, the NatWest Millennium Bond is for you.

If you'd like more information, call us now or gop into your local NatWest branch. The sooner you do, the sooner you can stop dreaming

Call 0800 200 400

NatWest More than just a bank

The Eappens' anger and anguish. Will Louise be home by

THE VICTIMS

The world was shocked when Judge Hiller Zobel reduced Louise the examples

man or wante

Service Table Service

Woodward's verdict to manslaughter. Shocked, however, does not get close to how the parents of baby Matthew feel. David Usborne hears about the anger and the anguish of Deborah and Sunil Eappen.

You would not expect otherwise, but their words are none the less heart-rending. Sunil and Deborah Eappen remain certain that Louise Woodward caused the death of their little boy at just eight-and-a-half months. He is dead; she, on the other hand, is free and eating chocolates.

All they have now is questhe person who was a convicted murderer 10 days ago is now free and rejoicing? How can a and on the other hand he frees judge say in the morning that a defendant is guilty, albeit of manslaughter and not murder, and let her go in the afternoon? How did it come about that they, the bereaved parents, to a "compassionate concluhave been receiving the hate mail since all this began and not For Louise?" asked Mrs Eap-Woodward?

One more question that is of overriding importance to the a defendant who didn't take Eappens is why won't Woodward now, at last, acknowledge responsibility - even just a slither of responsibility - for Matthew's collapse on 4 February and his death five days later? Then, at least, they, the parents, would know what happened. "One day, if not in court, she will have to admit what she did to Matty. We hope she believes

Woodward has denied us that

The anger of the Eappens today, however, is directed less at Woodward and more at Judge Zobel for what he has done. At the bench on Monday, he insisted that he did not mean by his decisions to "denigrate the death of Matthew Eappen". Apparently, however, the Eappens do not believe him.

"What is Judge Zobel thinking? What does that say about justice? Does it say that you can fake a few tears and you are forgiven? Does it say that you can kill a baby and that your youth and inexperience with cranky babies counts for more than a child's life?" Mrs Eappen asked.

Sunil Eappen voiced similar disgust with Judge Zobel. "He mentioned in his decision that he was a grandfather. What if Matthew had been his grandson? Doesn't he get it? Sometions. How did it happen that one killed Matthew. He acknowledges on the one hand that someone killed Matthew, her. It makes no sense."

And nor was there sense, for the Eappens anyway, in Judge Zobel's reasoning that it was time to bring the whole affair sion". "Compassion for whom? pen. "For a defendant who didn't ask for compassion? For responsibility, who denies what she did, who is in denial about the seriousness of her actions?"

Since Monday, the Eappens

have stayed out of the glare of the cameras. They are reported to be preparing to the leave and sell the suburban house where Matthew once lived. Then, says Mrs Eappen, she will focus on educating people about child that, too. If only she would say, abuse. "The judge doesn't ungo on with forgiveness, without abuse. I wish I could be as igbitterness," Mrs Eappen told norant as he is, but Matty is dead the Boston Globe. "Louise so I had to learn the truth."

Parents' case: Sunil and Deborah Eappen talking to CBS News anchor Bryant Gumbel on the Public Eye programme

VICTORY GREETED WITH RESTRAINT

Atlantic yesterday as the Woodward family and their supporters concentrated on showing quiet respect for Matthew Eappen.

With a sense of anger mounting in America over Judge Zobel's decision to free Louise came the realisation in Britain that cheers and smiles suddenly felt completely inappropriate.

In Boston, Louise and her parents, Gary and Susan, were locked away in a hotel room. There were comfort and treats for Louise in the confines of the Hyatt at Boston's Logan Airport - but it was a form of confinement nonetheless. Woodward issued a statement last night 'I did this. I'm sorry'. We could derstand the prevalence of child to thank Judge Zobel for freeing her and to mourn baby Matthew. "I have been deeply saddened by Matthew Eappen's death. I pray that further investigation into

The rowdy joy of Monday night was the scientific evidence convinces the Eapreplaced by restraint on both sides of the pen family that I did their son no harm."

In Elton, Cheshire, supporters heeded the advice from America and limited their comments to expressions of sympathy for the Eappen family. Jean Jones, the family friend who started a campaign fund with just £22, said she would like any surplus to finance a children's charity in Matthew's name. Last night, with the proceeds exceeding £300,000, it seemed there would be plenty left over. "I would truly like to see some good come out of this tragedy," she said. "When I said that there are no winners in this case, there haven't been. Perhaps with the help of the money there could be. There has been a lot of pain and hurt on both sides. No one thinks badly of the Eappens, no one thinks badly of Louise, it at the family home until her parents and is just a terrible thing that has happened. Louise return, said Mr Collins.

"If they could accept it in the way it was given, that would be wonderful. We just want the Eappens to know we feel their

The Rev Ken Davey, vicar of Ince and Elton, was at pains to say that the cheers that greeted Louise's sentencing in Boston were not triumphant but "a shout of relief".

"Matthew was placed on our Ali Souls' Day list and we will continue to think of him and pray for him and his family as we have done since February," he said.

Louise's sister, Vicky, who has remained at home to study psychology at university, also went to ground. Steve Collins, a family friend who has been looking after her throughout the trial, said the 18 year old is "distraught" and needs some privacy.

She will continue her studies but will stay

TRIAL BY TV

American journalists are calling Story; which ran a sympathetic the Louise Woodward case "Daughter of OJ" because of its domination of the media.

On both sides of the Atlantic television, radio and newspapers reacted to the au pair's release by tearing up their programme schedules and news pages and devoting all of their energies to the case over the past two days.

Yesterday all of America's national breakfast shows devoted their entire programmes to the case, using experts and talking heads to fill out their coverage.

Although some newspapers were unsure about freeing the 19-year-old so soon, the tabloid Boston Herald summed the majority feeling across America with its punning headline "Saved by Zobel".

It had only been a big story in Boston until the moment when Woodward was convicted of second degree murder. Her weeping at the guilty verdict made it a truly national story.

The usually aloof star evening news anchors from New York and Washington moved to Boston to await the judge's verdict and were forced to kill time on air as he took a recess before announcing the sentence. The networks dropped the usual fare of afternoon soaps and advertising to stay with an empty court room.

Simpson trial the American public had lost some of its appetite for courtroom dramas. Even the Oklahoma bombing trial of Timothy McVeigh failed to spark the American public's interest like the Woodward

After the overkill of the OJ

However, American jourthat the British media is making the running on the story.

Carlton Television's The Big daughter before the case started. The two producers act like bodyguards, shielding the Woodwards from photographers, and another documentary is expected soon. American journalists are documentary about their

also frustrated because the deep pockets of the Daily Mail, Hello! magazine or the Sun are likely to buy up access to the family. This hasn't stopped the rest of the British media leaping into the story head first. Independent Local Radio stations bought up news packages from ITN yesterday that re-played the entire tale in key soundbites.

Louise Woodward: Her case became cult viewing

For Sky News the trial has been what the Gulf War was for CNN. The news channel is normally seen by at most 70,000 viewers. On Monday night, as nalists are now feeling frustrated the sentence was passed it is estimated that 1.7 million people were watching. It is hardly Woodward's parents, Gary surprising that for the past two and Sue, spent much of the tri- days Sky has played little else al with two producers from but "Daughter of OJ".

--- Paul McCann

The New Viglen PIC 233

233MHz Pentium® II Processor based system with FREE Digital Camera worth £349.

The Viglen PIC 233 features the newly launched Pentium® II Processor - the fastest and most powerful PC processor on the market today.

what's more, for a limited period only, we are including a FREE Casio digital camera (worth £349 at retail), a PC connection kit and photo

It's the perfect family PC combination. You get all the power you and your family could possibly need and a camera that lets you see pictures instantly. And with the PC your captured photographs onto calendars, greeting cards, postcards, desktop publishing and even websites. To snap up this limited offer, call Viglen direct today

For more information or to place your order Tel 0990 39 39 39

fax 0181 758 7080

Great Minds

standard transaction charges will be made. Although no security set-up fees will be charged we do reserve the right to charge 'out of pocket' exp uch as Company House and Land Registry fees. Midland Bank old reserves the right not to open an account. Member HSBC Group

We heard you wanted...

the costs swallowed when you move your business account.

To help business customers who feel trapped with an inefficient bank, Midland has ensured that moving your account won't cost a fortune.

You'll receive 6 months free banking, your current borrowing rate will be matched (or even bettered) plus any arrangement charges and security set-up fees will be swallowed.

Midland also promises that the whole process will be overseen by a dedicated manager at your local branch.

Call 0345 40 41 42

It's hard to swim when you'ye heen running for hree hours.

On average, a stag hunt lasts 3 hours and covers around 12 miles.

When the stag is finally caught by the hounds it is at the point of total exhaustion.

Scientific analysis of blood samples taken from hunted stags reveals a litany of suffering.

in the early stages of the chase, glycogen and blood sugar levels fall sharply.

As the hunt progresses, fatty acids in the blood rise, indicating high physiological stress levels.

Red pigment in blood plasma increases, caused by ruptured blood cells.

In the later stages of the hunt, high levels of muscle enzymes appear in the blood, indicating life-threatening muscle damage.

Despite its name, stag hunting is not confined to the male of the species.

Hinds are hunted too, sometimes when they are pregnant or with a calf at heel.

Stag or hind, the end is the same. A free wild animal is hunted to death.

The RSPCA has long campaigned against all hunting with dogs.

In areas where deer need culling it is more efficient and more humane for them to be shot by a marksman.

We believe that the hunting of wild animals is cruel and unacceptable in a civilised society.

And the vast majority of the people in this country agree with us.

A Private Member's Bili seeking to ban hunting with dogs comes before Parliament on November 28th.

A MORI poll taken in October 1997 shows that 73% of people support the Bill. We want to turn that overwhelming weight of public opinion into legislation.

The 28th is a Friday when many MPs will be back in their constituencies.

We want you to persuade them to stay in the House and vote to end this cruel 'sport' once and for all.

You can write to your MP direct at the House of Commons, or call the RSPCA on 01403 223284 (9-5 weekdays) and we'll send you a campaign pack.

And if you need further motivation, look again at the stag in the picture.

Look him in the eye.

And tell him you can't be bothered.

will be back in Ban hunting with dogs.
THE AIMS OF THE RSPCA ARE TO PREVENT CRUELTY AND PROMOTE RINDHESS TO ANIMALS.

Cancer

suffer s

of spec

حكذا من الاعل

7/HEALTH NEWS

Alternative therapies aid pregnant Women

Midwives are turning to complementary therapies to help women in pregnancy and childbirth. Jeremy Laurance, Health Editor, looks at the trend to replace painkilling drugs with aromatherapy oils and massage.

The demand for natural childbirth is fuelling a growing interest in alternative remedies in maternity care for women who may be unable to use pharmaceutical drugs for fear of harming the haby.

Midwives are offering scented oils, massage and techniques such as reflexology (manipulation of the feet) to help women cope with problems in pregnancy and labour.

A survey of the use of complementary therapies in the National Health Service found that midwives were the most likely of all professional groups to have incorporated the techniques into their practice.

The survey, published yesterday by the NHS Confederation and conducted in Leicestershire, found examples of the use of the therapies in GP surgeries, health clinics, hospices and old people's homes. However, there was a lack of funds for the treatments and concerns about safety and effectiveness.

(tE 0)

ì = .

degs.

Denise Tiran, a midwife and lecturer in complementary therapy and midwifery at the University of Greenwich, said the demand for the therapies in maternity care was coming from the women. "Women want con- es and physiotherapists are also trol. It is the one time in their interested in providing alteruves when they are inv a genuine partnership over their more professional autonomy, health care. They are taking a work independently and have greater interest in their own health because it affects the health of their baby." Aromatherapy and massage because they are quickly learnt midwifery practice. Some midwives offer homeopathy and a few practise acupuncture. Ms Tiran, who practises reflexology in the maternity department of Queen Mary's Hospital, Sidcup, and who is chair of the Complementary Therapies in Midwifery Group, said: "What most of us are doing is symptom control - for things like morning sickness, heart burn, backache and constipation.

These are problems the obstetrician would not see as an abnormality and it is the responsibility of the midwife to help women over them. So often the physiological disorders of pregnancy and childbirth cannot be treated with drugs.

"One of the major benefits is relieving stress. A lot of my time is spent talking to women. They feel here is someone who has got 20 to 30 minutes, who is knowledgeable about midwifery and who they can discuss things with."

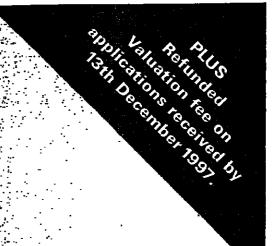

There are dangers. Some oils can stimulate uterine contractions, raise or lower blood pressure or induce epileptic fits. Ms Tiran said: "There is a lot of controversy over lavender oil. It is extremely useful and versatile, but it may induce uterine bleeding. Raspberry leaf tea, a herbal remedy which can help tone the uterus, should also not be given until the last three months of pregnancy. It is not enough for midwives to use oils simply because they smell nice and are relaxing. They must know their effects and what the contra-indications are." There are an estimated 200 midwives in the complementary therapies group and many more are believed to be keen to use the techniques. Although nursthe scope to introduce them.

The NHS Confederation, which represents health authorities and trusts, has called are the chief treatments in use for a government funded national programme to look at and easier to incorporate into the effectiveness of complementary medicine and the training of practitioners.

Healing hands: A pregnant woman is given an abdominal massage by midwife Denise Tiran in the maternity department of Queen Mary's hospital in Sidcup yesterday. Ms Tiran said the demand for alternative therapies is coming from women, who are 'taking a greater interest in their own health because it affects the health of their baby Photograph: Nicola Kurtz

Bargain basement. (Semi, terraced, bungalow, or detached.)

FIXED RATES FROM

FIXED UNTIL 1 JANUARY 2000 MINIMUM E20,000 LOAN APPLIES

Cancer patients suffer shortage of specialists

Cancer patients are receiving inferior care because of a shortage of doctors and nurses skilled in the speciality. Jeremy Laurance says that the situation is likely to get worse.

Cancer is becoming more common, but specialist staff trained to treat it are not. Urgent action is needed to fill gaps in services and ensure that the care of cancer pa-someone in Britain develops nents is not left to chance depending on where they live, el or lung, their chance of sura report warns today

Studies show that less than half of cancer patients are re- ed States, Germany or ferred to a cancer specialist France." and over a quarter are treated by consultants who have of the King's Fund clinical little experience in dealing with their condition. The seems inevitable that the reshortage of skilled staff is likely to worsen because the number of people with can-

The Cancer Collaboration study, produced jointly by the King's Fund, the Cancer Research Campaign and Macmillan Cancer Relief. says there is a shortage of more than 120 radiotherapists and more than 70 medicai oncologists, as well as clinical nurse specialists.

Under the 1995 Calman proposals, a network of cancer units linked to specialist cancer centres was proposed the foothills."

to ensure that all patients had access to high-quality treatment. To achieve the aim of creating 150 units and 40 centres, there will be further demands on staff.

An extra 500 medical students should be trained each year, 450 new consultant posts created and more nurses, surgeons, radiotherapists and GPs specialising in cancer should be appointed, it says.

Professor Gordon McVie, director general of the Cancer Research Campaign, said: "It is very worrying that if a type of cancer such as howviving the disease is worse than if they lived in the Unit-

Christine Farrell, director change programme, said: "It quired numbers of trained, experienced nurses and doctors will not be available in cer is forecast to rise by four the short term unless the per cent over the next decade. Department of Health can find some short-term and long-term solutions to the cancer workforce problems." Professor George Alberti, president of the Royal College of Physicians, said it was not only cancer patients who were suffering from a shortage of specialists. "We have a whole mountain range of medical conditions to treat, and only enough consultants to reach Introducing an incredible, impossible to ignore, once in a lifetime offer. The amazing fixed rate mortgage from Alliance & Leicester. Are we asking 6%? Are we asking 5%?

No, at Alliance & Leicester all you pay is

And for the light sleepers amongst you, the rate is fixed until 1 January 2000 or, if you prefer, you can fix your 4.25% (4.4 APR), not a penny more.

ALLIANCE LEICESTER

http://www.ailiance-leicester.co.uk mortgage right up to 2003.

Yes, ladies and gentlemen, with a refunded valuation thrown in, Alliance & Leicester really bring you the mortgage of your dreams.

To find out more, come on down to your local Alliance & Leicester branch, or call 0800 412 214 for more information.

But remember, all good things come to an end. So hurry, hurry, hurry.

MAIL SHOWN IS FOR RESIDENTIAL MOPTGAGES APR QUOID IS FOR MONTGAGES ON AN INTEREST ONLY PASK, ALTHOUGH OUR FYLE BATE MONTGAGES ARE ALLOW WITH 11 7000 FOR LOANS OF THE LOAN MUST ALLOW THE MASK APPLIED OF A 2PH GAGE AREA OWN. APPLIED UNTIL 11 7000 FOR LOANS OF NO MORE THAN THE LOAN THE BASK FYLE BATE APPLY TO MONTGAGES OVER THE LOAN TO MONTGAGES OVER THE LOAN TO MONTGAGE OVER THE LOAN OF THE LOAN O

Stalker convicted of harassment

One of the first men to be charged under a new law protecting victims of stalking yesterday admitted following and harassing a married woman. Wayne Garratt, 29, from Redditch, Worcestershire, told police that he became besotted with Leona Sadler, 44. after seeing her walking through the streets of Stratford-upon-Avon.

He told officers that he was unable to pluck up the courage to talk to his victim and instead left a note on the windscreen of her car inviting her to meet him, writing: "I know what you're up to."

At Stratford mugistrates' court Garrant, a married man, admitted a charge of harassing Mrs Sadler between 23 and 25 June this year, in a case brought under the Protection from Harassment Act 1997 which came into force on 16 June. Sentencing was adjourned for reports.

Rhino out to grass

A rhinoceros called Dick is set to retire to Scotland at the age of 28 because he is too old to breed. Dick, who is currently housed at the West Midlands Safari Park in Bewdley, Worcestershire, is due to be transferred to Blair Drummond Safari Park near Stirling. Two other rhinos from Bewdley. 32-year-old Maggie and Alice, 28, have already been transported to Blair Drummond.

British green label for eco-products

Britain may need to develop its own 'ecolabel' for environmentally friendly products and abandon the flawed European version, Michael Meacher, environment minister, said yesterday. The hope is that it will succeed in boosting greener consumption where Brussels has failed, writes our Environment Correspondent, Nicholas Schoon.

Five years ago, after exhaustive argument and much delay, the European Union's ecolabelling scheme was created. It was intended to bring reassurance and simplicity to "green minded" consumers who wished to buy products which did the least harm to the environment.

The plan was to have just one, trustworthy, label across the entire union. Companies which felt their products did the minimum of environmental damage in manufacture, use and disposal, were invited to apply for the label. A panel of experts. government-appointed, would set the "green" criteria for different types of products, then decide which brands qualified. The scheme is widely percrived as a failure. It has been slow to develop, few firms have put forward their products for the Euro-ecolabel and most countries in the union have their own ecolabelling schemes which have more authority and recognition than that of the EU. Only Portugal, Greece, Ireland and the UK lack national labels.

Until now, Britain has stuck firmly with the European version, which can be found only on a few brands of kitchen paper, a handful of washing machine models, one detergent and a clutch of paints and varnishes. Very few consumers recognise the labels.

We've tried harder than any other country to make it work," environment minister Michael Meacher told a conference on ecolabels yesterday. Now the Government would consider setting up a British ecolabel, making a decision in the next few months. "We can't dilly dally any more."

This dismayed Ritt Bierregaard, the EU's environment commissioner, who was also speaking at the conference. Afterwards, she said: "I was very surprised. I thought the new government was feeling more kindly towards European solutions, but this is in the opposite direction."

LX 1.6 5 door

Si 1.6 Estate

ONE PRICE

CHOOSE ONE FOR YOU.

By offering you the choice of the Escort 4 door saloon, 5 door hatchback, or the estate with a 1.6i or 1.8i engine, all for one price, we've made sure you can get the car that ideally suits your needs at a price you can efford.

in addition we offer you the choice of the luxury Escort LX or the sporty Si now available at the same price.

0% FINANCE AND FREE INSURANCE

NOW AVAILABLE ON ALL ESCORTS.

Visit your local Ford dealer now.

LX 1.6 Estate

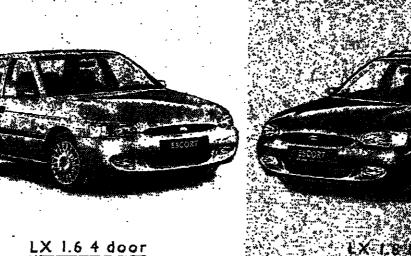

Si 1.6 5 door

LX 1.6 4 door

DAILY POEM

Autumn Crocus By Ruth Fainlight

Anomalous bright blossom in late afternoon shadow:

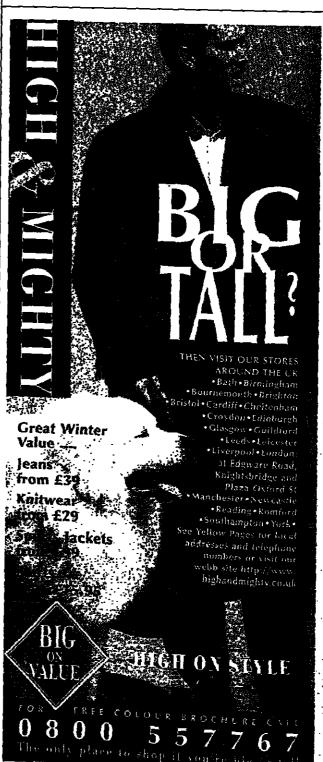

Mercury-pale stems surging out of the dark earth: Hallowe'en candles. Mauve flowers with amber yellow pollen-swollen anthers.

Each clump is bordered by a halo of rotting petals like votive objects around a damaged ikon or a martyr's statue.

This poem comes from Ruth Fainlight's new collection, Sugar-Puper Blue (Bloodaxe, £6.95), whose long title poem combines memories of her New York childhood with echoes of Russian history and culture.

Price refers to recommended retail price. Valid for model shown; Metallic paint extra cost option. 12 months free insurance subject to availability, age, status and conditions, Finance and Insurance programmes apply to vehicles registered by 31.01.98. On the road price £13.550 is the manufacturer's recommended retail price, VAT at 17.5% and £665 covering delivery to dealer, 12 months road fund licence and estimated cost of number plates. Written quotations are available on request from Ford Credit, Europe pic. PO Box 46, Brentwood, Essex CM13 3AR. Finance is provided subject to status. Certain categories of business users are meligible. One price estate programme excludes Ford Privilege.

حكدًا من الأحلّ

Museum The Libour

Government with ייין (בהסכבה Falleries to take you the Knightston conimmortalised - ... Sittom Absaute febulous, 1 hears the arts ~ -. Mark Fisher tel. asconished ಗಾವಿಸಿಗಳು directors to become more commercial.

9/THE WAY WE LIVE

Island's gay rights campaign runs into stormy waters

Sea change: Gays in Guernsey claim they live in an atmosphere of bigotry and hatred. Many on the island, including Peter Bougourd, right, would be horrified by any liberalisation of the existing laws

Photographs: David Rose

Gay rights have erupted on to the political agenda in Guernsey, where homosexuality is still an unpalatable subject and sex is illegal between men under 21. As Kathy Marks discovered, a proposal to reduce the age of consent is meeting vitriolic opposition on the island.

The young men seated around a table in Dix-Neuf, a stylish brasserie in St Peter Port. the Guernsey capital, appear the height of respectability. They are clean shaven and smartly dressed, fresh from their jobs in the finance industry. Some of them live at home with their parents. Their only brush with the law has been the occasional parking third-rate citizens with no rights to social ticket.

Yet all of them, according to the local who have had sex before the age of 21. Across the water, in Great Britain, their actions would be legal. In the tiny Crown dependency where they grew up, they could he put behind bars.

Until recently, they resigned themselves to this peculiar anomaly. It was hard enough being different in a close-knit community with ultra-conservative social values, in a place where homosexuality was talked about only in whispers, where the gay population was fragmented and free vote on reducing the homosexual age youths trapped a man inside his car, of consent to 16, a vote that will have no impact on self-governing Guernsey, these men finally lost patience. They founded the island's first gay support group, Courage, and persuaded Carol Fletcher, a senior deputy in the States of Deliberation, the island's parliament, to take up their cause.

she planned to bring a private member's a week. But gay couples would not dream with the mainland, the reaction was instantaneous. Peter Bougourd, a fellow politician, went on BBC local radio to denounce homosexuals as "people who breed change of letters in the Guernsey Evening my way, these people would be classed as out early".

penal code, are criminals. They are gay men politicians have been sent a venomously local press pleading for tolerance. "For me, homophobic leaflet that lists in stomachcurdling detail the supposed sexual practices of gay men. These include, according y for Guernsey's numerous fundamentalist to the leaflet - which was published by the Family Research Institute in Colorado Springs - the consumption of each other's bodily waste products.

Courage believes that such tactics can only help its campaign. Members are still anxious about being identified. One of the uglier consequences of their higher profile to be some kind of homophobe," he says. has been a spate of "queer-bashing". Gay men have been chased, harassed and

Last month, after Labour promised a threatened. In one incident, a gang of smashed the windows and turned it over.

Jamie, 18, believes that the criminalisation of teenagers breeds bigotry. "I grew up feeling like a freak, totally isolated." For people like him, loneliness is compounded by the complete absence of gay bars or clubs. A pub on the harbour front When Ms Fletcher announced that recently offered an upstairs room one night Bill to harmonise the age of consent law of strolling along the cobbled lanes of St Peter Port hand in hand. "People would keel over," says Paul, 27.

It was only 10 years ago that sex between men was grudgingly legalised here, folby contamination". During an angry ex- lowing a debale in which one politician warned that Guernsey would become fa-Press, one correspondent wrote: "If I had mous as "the island where the pansies come

Carol Fletcher, whose Bill will be deservices, and struck off the electoral roll." bated in the New Year, hopes the climate In a more sinister turn, liberal-minded has changed. She points to letters in the this is a human rights issue," she says.

Fear and ignorance are fertile territopreachers, who have thundered from the pulpit about "unnatural practices" and issued dire warnings about the corruption of impressionable young men.

At his fishmongers in St Sampson, Mr Bougourd, an affable man, says he has been misunderstood. "People are making me out "I've got nothing against homosexuals; it's buggery that I can't stand."

Get Offwith the best of them No doubt you're hearing a great deal about the Internet and the information it can bring you. Now that you have a PC and a modem, how do you get connected to the most reliable, innovative service provider?

And most important, who is it?

The answer is Demon Internet.

Why? Because no other Internet Service Provider can do ALL this for only £10 (£11.75 inc. VAT) per month:

- Help when you need it. Free support, 24 hours a day, 365 days per year. Unlimited email addresses.
- ISDN access at no extra charge; if
- you've got it, just use it! Connect to Demon Internet from
- arrywhere in the U.K for the cost of a local call*.
- 5MB free Web space allows you to create your own Web Site.
- Free bi-monthly Demon Dispatches magazine to keep you up to date of Internet developments as they happen.
- Demon Internet connects more people than any other Internet Service

	Please send upe a free 30 day trial CD and brockupe	,
	For Home For Business.
	Name Surgetir
	Address
-	Tel: Feet
	Small:
1	Please seturo to Demon Internet Ltd, FREEPOST, Makkon, Essen CMs; 4AD or runniar: Demon Sales on: Tel: 0345 606222 f.m. 0181 571 1150 Estate min-Salesman, et revenientament 1801
	Private note that calls to Dozona internet are changed by ET at the local call rate; containers of other telephone companion should theck with their selections providing regarding the call changes.

Museums told to go commercial

The Labour Government wants national museums and galleries to take lessons from Harvey Nichols, the Knightsbridge store immortalised in the sitcom Absolutely Fabulous. David Lister hears the arts minister. Mark Fisher, tell astonished museum directors to become more commercial.

The Government yesterday signalled a U-turn on demanding free admission to national museums. A stunned conference of museum direcarts minister, say he now had to consider the success of the National Galleries on Merseyside which has introduced young people and had an increase in visitor numbers.

He added, to the consternation of his audience, that museums and galleries should make money by "exploiting retail space" and learning lessons "from Harvey Nicholis, Marks and Spencer and Tesco. It is not crass commercialism to say we can do better in these areas," he said to some gasps from the audience.

Mr Fisher was addressing a conference organised by the Museums and Galleries' Commission. He said afterwards that what he had in mind was tors heard Mark Fisher, the art galleries and museums to enjoy our great national muopening shops at airports, both in Britain and in places like Dubai and Singapore.

A number of leading mucharges with concessions for seum directors commented privately that his speech sounded like many they had heard from Conservative ministers during the last 18 years. and there was little further scope for maximising marketing and retail opportunities.

Significantly, Mr Fisher's speech was in stark contrast to his statement to the House of Commons in the summer when he spoke out against charging, saying: "We do not want anyone to be charged entry to national museums and galleries ... The Government believes that all members of the community should be able seums and galleries: they should be for the many, not just the few."

David Barrie, director of the National Art Collections Fund, said: "Despite its earlier promises, it now looks as if the government has performed a U-turn. Mark Fisher's speech strongly suggests that they have no intention of discouraging the introduction of admission charges"

However, Alan Borg, director of the Victoria and Albert Museum, which does charge, said: "Every survey shows the majority of museum visitors comes from the ABC1 social category and tourists. To give them free admission amounts to a subsidy for the middle classes and well-off."

Demon offers unparalleled service and a wealth of experience. For a free 30 day trial CD and brochure... please fill in and return the coupon or call:

0345 666222

Demon Internet

and the contract of the new Comparisons w	6h B.T.'s standerd weekday rates. Prices are correct as of 28.10.97 &	are in pence per minute. Full VAT refund available to but	inesses. Please have your credit card ready when you	call. CH4 Taletast page 384. www.swiftcall.com
For seetings on hundreds of other destinations and to open on account cell us novel Comparisons w	Surprisingly	cheap inter	mational ca	alls 🗀 💢	769 0066
NEW SWIFTCALL CALLING CARDS! FOR INCREDIBLE SAVI	NGS OF UP TO 70% ON BT'S PAYPHONI	E RATES, CONTACT YOUR LOCAL I	NEWSAGENT. DISTRIBUTORS URG	ENTLY REQUIRED. FOR DETAILS	FREEPHONE 0800 769 0171
NEW SWIFTCALL CALLING CARDS.
The state of the s	IN DEA BORGERAN	OZ 24p/es <sub>i 8.1</sub> 	IRECAND Marian	GERMANN AND THE	GHANA SERVICE
PANCE 140 and massive s	no hidden charges	all prices include VAL	use any touch tone telephone	des_	4 2 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4
easy to use massive o		A 69 3 A			t us note.

sniffed at after all.

Psychologists have discovered that smell-association is a powerful aid to memory for students, particularly among those who are anxious or apprehensive.

The researchers found that students exposed to various unusual background smells while trying to absorb large chunks of text or data, were able to remember much more when exposed to the same smell at the time of recall. When compared to been exposed to such smells, the volunteers of the text they had tried to remember.

The research of Dr Rachel Herz, reported in The Psychologist this week, opens up a whole new area of opportunity for students. The aromas of peppermint, violet leaf and pine were used in the experiment, but Dr Herz of the Monell Chemical Senses Center in Philadelphia

Success in exams may be something to be says that smell-association will only work as a memory aid if the odour is either unusual, like a new perfume, or out of context, like chocolate in a laboratory.

"Sure it will work, but only if it is new and unusual. Go to a perfume department, pick out something you have never sinely. before, put it on the desk while you are studying for your test, and then bring it in with you a few days later when you are doing the test and it will work," she saids

In a series of studies, Dr Herz set up the performance of students who had not experiments in which words were read or recalled in the presence or absence of a were able to recall almost 20 per cent more smell. "The subjects were taken to a." room with an ambient odour and they. learnt a series of words. They were them brought back to another room a few days or a week later and some were exposed. to the same odour and some not. What we found was that memory is significantly affected by the specific odour," she said. .

Grade A scents: Scientists say that smell-association may help students recall more facts in the exam hall

Are homeless people worth TUST 2 minited 2 minited to second to the second to the second to the second to second ot your time?

THE NUMBER OF HOMELESS L families in the UK has almost doubled in the last fifteen years. Shelter thinks much more decisive action is needed.

Providing decent housing for homeless people makes economic sense in the long term. The savings on health care costs alone would make it economically worthwhile. And what price do you put on ruined lives? The children, for instance, who may never know a real home...

It's not about politics, it's about getting homeless people decent homes, and off the streets. But to tackle Britain's housing crisis effectively we have to keep in touch with public opinion.

Please spend just two minutes of your time completing this survey, and return it as soon as you can.

If you can also make a donation of £15 (or whatever you can afford) we would be very grateful. Please let us have

Shelter National Opinion Survey on Homelessness

Please help us make this the widest ever survey of attitudes to homelessness. Your contribution will be much appreciated, and your answers treated in the strictest confidence. Please complete and return within 14 days.

Q1. Are you aged:

18-24 🗆 25-34 🗆 35-44 🗆 65-74 🗀 55-64 🗆 45-54 🗆

Q2. Do you: own your own home or have a mortgage? rent privately? rent from a Housing Association or local authority? live in someone else's home?

other Do you share your home with:

Yes 🗆 No 🗀 partner/husband/ wife or anyone else Yes 🗆 No 🗇 related to you?

Someone not related Yes 🗆 No 🗅 to you? Have you ever been homeless or at serious risk of losing your home yourself (through a tenancy ending, not being able to afford the rent or mortgage, break up of relationship, or other reason)?

Yes 🗆 No 🗆

Do you know anyone else who is either homeless or at serious risk of losing their home in such a way?

At risk of homelessness Yes  $\square$  No  $\square$ Yes 🗆 No 🗆 Actually homeless

Bad housing can have serious longterm consequences. Please show how important you view these problems (tick one box only for each problem; 1 being the most important):

Children doing badly at school  $\ \Box \ \Box \ \Box$

People suffering asthma, bronchitis and other serious diseases

People becoming more dependent on social services  $\ \square \ \square \ \square$

PLEASE RETURN WITHIN 14 DAYS

Q7. Do you think politicians are at present sufficiently concerned about the plight of homeless people?

Yes 🗆

Q8. Would you be willing to write a letter to an MP which might help to get homeless people housed?

Don't know 🗆 No 🗆 Yes 🗆

Q9. Would you be willing to make a donation to Shelter to help homeless people?

Yes □ No □ (BLOCK CAPITALS PLEASE) Name:

Address:

Telephone No:_

Thank you for your time. If you would like to make a donation, please complete the section below. We suggest £15, but any amount you can give will be greatly appreciated.

Here is my gift of: £15 🗆 Other £

Please enclose your cheque/Postal Order (payable to SHELTER) with this survey OR complete the credit card authorisation below and send it to: Shelter, FREEPOST, Room 44, 88 Old Street, London EC1B 1ND.

Please charge the above sum to my MasterCard/Visa/CAF Charity card no:

97/1/42 Expiry date

Labour fails to defuse

behind schedule in preparing for the millennium computer bug. Fran Abrams reveals that the first official estimates say the 2000 timebomb will cost the Government £l bn.

Attempts to avoid a massive millennium computer failure will cost the Government £1bn, according to parliamentary answers given to the Liberal Democrats' treasury spokesman, Malcolm Bruce. But experts say the figure is far too low, and that the real price will be three or four times as much.

Only three out of 16 government departments had completed an audit of their systems by a target date of January 1997. and only seven had completed costed action plans by a deadline of October 1997. The "millennium bug" arises because many computer systems and chips in everyday equipment, including hanking and hospital systems, store the year as a two-digit, rather than four-digit number. An unknown number of computers will crash at midnight on 31 December 1999 because they will think the year is 1900 instead of 2000. Some of the worst affected government departments are refusing to say what they have done about the millennium bug on the grounds that an official statement is forthcoming. But even among those that were the picture was dismal.

Costs have already risen, and experts believe they will go much higher. In July the Department of Social Security estimated it needed to spend £30m, but now it says it will need £45.6m. It is believed the problem will cost the NHS about £210m and the Ministry of Defence £250m.

The private sector is way ahead in its response to the bug. BT will spend £300m and the four main clearing banks expect to spend £500m.

According to Robin Guenier, head of the Taskforce 2000 group set up to tackle the problem, a similar spend by the Government would amount to £7bn. Even if it wanted to spend that amount it could not do so, though, because the skilled labour would not be available. Figures of between £3bn and £4bn are believed to be more realistic.

This emphasises the need for senior people to start a process of radical prioritisa-tion," Mr Guenier said. Mr Bruce is pressing David Clark, the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, for an ear-statement on the "There is clearly still too much complacency in Whitehall and it really is time for some action before it simply is too late to sort things out," he said.

Yesterday, one of the leading experts on the problem, Maurice Fitzpatrick of Chantrey Vellacott accountants, said the Government had failed to grasp its magnitude. "In many ways this is the biggest single issue that the Labour government faces in its first term, although whether they are properly aware of that at the moment is hard to say."

Mr Clark has said he cannot prepared to give information. comment on details before his statement. However, a spokeswoman said the cost could be met from existing budgets and that the £7bn figure was too

Mobile phones play games with sanity

As if the mobile phone was not a sufficiently irritating fact of modern life, a telecoms company has linked the much reviled device with another 1990s pariah – the computer game.

The latest executive toy, on sale in January, will have three games built in, allowing the user to annoy neighbouring commuters with over-loud, singleended conversation before infuriating them with incessant twitching and bleeping.

The new phone, from the Finnish company Nokia, offers a game called "Snake", in which the phone's keypad is used to direct the snake to eat onscreen "food"; "Memory", an undated version of the children's Pelmanism pairs game; and "Logic", which is similar to the Mastermind board game.

The games capability of the new phone highlights the increasing sophistication of modern mobiles. Electronic "business cards" can be exchanged in seconds using the phone's infrared connector, and telephone lists can be printed out directly on the increasing number of infrared enabled printers. The infrared connector can also be used to link the phone to a PC.

The processing power in the phone also allows for some clever telephone tricks. It can ignore selected calls by recognising and screening out incoming telephone numbers

It also allows the user to divert all calls to an answerphoae service and accept only calls. coming from, for example, the managing director's phone

Of course, if the boss is calling from a different phone, that would be blocked out as well. But the potential for screening out previous partners and annoying salespeople should prove useful.

Oh, and by the way, the phone is quite good for making telephone calls.

Steve Homer

train cre

Railtrack

urges sta

to snoop

Peers rally

YOU WOU! the world tennis to

11/NEWS

Railtrack urges staff to snoop on train crews

ees to snoop on train crews to make sure it is not being unfairly blamed for delays.

The infrastructure company believes that some drivers and conductors - possibly with the surreptitious encouragement of train operating companies are taking the organisation's name in vain.

Railtrack managers believe that train crews routinely use excuses like "signal failure" which would be down to Railtrack - when in some cases the delay was caused by defective rolling stock, ostensibly the responsibility of train operating companies.

In a newsletter covering the southern area, Railtrack suggests that employees using trains monitor what passengers are told, keep "correct records" of what happened and report the information as soon as possible.

In its advice to employees, Railtrack says: "When you experience a delay on your train. we would like to know. This is especially so with incidents which start as minor delays, stopping unusually between stations, or delays in platforms. Please let us know what you vourself see delaying a train, or reasons the conductors give for the delays."

Railtrack insists that it will always put its hand up when culpable, but has devised a series of euphemisms for the difficulties it encounters (it now prefers "adhesion problems" to the more risible "leaves on the

The RMT rail union is angry over Railtrack's plea to its employees and it argues that the company itself is

Railtrack is asking its employ- capable of misleading passen-

Lawrie Harries, an RMT official, pointed out that the privatised railway system is operated on the basis of contracts which include compensation and penalty clauses for delays. "Delays caused by Railtrack cost it money. It is not unknown for passengers to be told that delays are caused by bad weather when the truth is the condition of the track or signalling."

He added that most delays are caused by track or signalling problems which are Railtrack's responsibility. Train operating companies can also attempt to pass off rolling stock failures on maintenance staff or rolling stock leasing companies.

Jimmy Knapp, general secretary of the union, said Railtrack's initiative was another example of a changing railway culture. "Privatisation has meant that we have moved from running the railways by team effort to disjointed individual effort where the overall objective is sometimes forgotten," he said.

"If Railtrack and the train operating companies put the same effort and ingenuity into providing an efficient, integrated service as they do in passing the buck, passengers would get the high-quality service they are entitled to expect."

Railtrack said there was nothing "mischievous or sinister" about its request to employees. "It is simply a way of keeping in touch with what's happening on the ground. Peoole are anxious that they get the right information. If it's our fault we will admit it."

- Barrie Clement, Labour Editor

Treading on shaky ground: Although described by Lee as 'light-hearted', this image still attracted complaints to the Advertising Standards Authority

Girl Power: Has it simply gone too far?

The rise of female empowerment is reflected in adverts that show women inflicting pain on men, and the Advertising Standards Authority is worried that it may represent a trend. Paul McCann, Media Correspondent, asks if 'Girl Power' has gone too far.

The advertising industry's watchdog has warned agencies against a trend for socalled "Girl Power" advertisements that show women being violent towards men. The Advertising Standards Authority issued a warning in its latest monthly bul-showed women causing men harm attracted complaints from the public.

A campaign for Lee jeans showed a woman's stiletto-heeled boot pushing on the buttocks of a prostrate naked man under the words "Put the boot in".

It was Lee Jeans who alerted the ASA to the 'Girl Power' trend in its defence of the 'Put the boot in' campaign. Lee told the ASA that the advertisement was acceptable because it reflected a prevailing mood of control and power for women in Britain - and because it was light-hearted.

In another example Nissan, the Japanese car manufacturer, and its advertising agency TBWA Simons Palmer, worried some members of the public with an advert under the strapline "Ask before you letin after three advertisements that borrow it" which showed a man in pain clutching his crotch after being assaulted by his girlfriend. In another advertisement that attracted complaints men were seen getting into fatal accidents because they had been distracted by women dressed in Wallis clothes. One execution, as they say in advertising. showed an Underground train guard about to be decapitated by a tunnel wall while ogling a woman. The slogan on the ad was "Dressed to kill". The ASA says it received complaints that the advertisements were offensive, sexist, sadistic and likely to condone violence. In the case of the car and jeans adverts the complainants raised the point that the ads would not have been acceptable if they had portrayed such violence against women.

While the ASA rejected the complaints

the watchdog is worried enough to ask advertising agencies planning to use such imagery to call its copy clearance centre first. "We are not putting out a blanket ban on 'Girl Power' ads." said a spokesman for because it did not believe they were likely to cause "serious or widespread" offence,

the ASA. "But we would like to consider on an individual basis the copy of anything that is risqué towards men or portrays abuse against them ... it may be that violence against men by women as less of a social problem than men abusing women is something that the public worries less about.

"The complaints we've had serve as a reminder that suggestions of violence in advertisements tend not to find favour with the public, whatever the victim's gender and however humorous the intention."

Peers rally to defend Oxbridge against ministers' £35m funding review

Lords will today rally to the de- threat to an Oxbridge approach fence of Oxbridge against a government review of the fees which support their colleges.

are expecting support from bly Labour peers in a debate ment. She spoke of strong ru-

h sanity

Members of the House of which aims to highlight the to teaching which has endured for 700 years.

Baroness Blatch said yes-Conservative peers say they terday that the attack was part of "the mean politics of envy" Liberal Democrats and possi- characteristic of the Govern-mours of a personal vendetta by Baroness Blackstone, the higher education minister.

She said: "We know people who have been to see Tony Blair about this. We know that there is a division between the Department for Education and Downing Street."

the idea of a vendetta as "ludicrous".

Ministers are examining the £19m paid to Oxford and the £16m to Cambridge in college fees each year at the suggestion of the Dearing review of higher education which reported in

The department dismissed July. The fees help fund tutors individual colleges. and college libraries.

Last week, the Higher Education Funding Council agreed a series of options as its advice to ministers on Oxbridge fees. One option might be to pay all or part of the fees to the two universities rather than to Lady Young, chairman of the association of Conservative peers, said: "The expenditure is a drop in the ocean but to Oxford and Cambridge it is vital, especially for the poorer colleges. If this money goes, my old college, St Anne's, would lose year." Options for Oxbridge included charging top-up fees and taking only rich students, or the end of the tutorial system and job losses, she said. Lord Beloff, a Tory peer and former Oxford don, said: "The fact that not every university can three-quarters of a million a operate this system does not make it less valuable."

> A spokeswoman for the department said: "Ministers ... will look at what the funding council have to say and announce their findings."

--- Judith Judd, Education Editor

You wouldn't hold the world's greatest tennis tournament anywhere but Wimbledon.

Just as the champions always choose to battle it out on Centre Court each year, some of the world's top seeded business players keep returning to the International Convention Centre, Birmingham. Nowhere else would be quite the same.

For them, the superb facilities, outstanding quality of service, value for money and accessibility of the ICC outscores the competition every time.

For your next meeting, convention or conference, make sure you have the advantage. Call today on 0121-200 2000.

The Ultimate Convention Centre International Convention Centre Broad Street Birmingham B1 2EA www.necgroup.co.uk

It's enough to make you lose interest in your Building Society.

	£2,500- £4,999 £R059*	£5,000- £9,999 GF0SS*	£10.000 £24,999 GROSS*	£25,000- £49,999 GROSS*
Banking Direct - Instant Access Savings Account	5.00%	7.00%	7.00%	7.00%
Barctays - Instant Savings (Instant Access)	3.80%	3.80%	4,22%	4.63%
Woolwich - Prime Gold (Instant Access)	3.25%	3.50%	3.90%	4,40%
Halitax - Solid Gold (30 Day Notice)	4.10%	4.85%	5.15%	5.55%
Abbey National - Investor 30 (30 Day Notice)	3.95%	4,20%	4,95%	5.45%

You don't need to save with a Building Society to get top interest rates that remain consistently high throughout the year.

At 7.00% gross, you'll see our rate compares very favourably with the competition. Especially when you consider we offer instant access with no penalties or charges and free telephone banking.

All this from the comfort of your own home 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. So there's never any need to waste time queuing at the Building Society.

For the low-down and an application form call us free on 0500 804 804.

> BANK OF SCOTLAND DIRECT 0500 804 804

Blair advised against an appearance on Labour's by-election campaign trail

Tony Blair is 'unlikely' to go to Beckenham to support Labour's byelection campaign. Colin Brown, Chief Political Correspondent, says the Liberal Democrats are claiming it is a signal that Labour doubts that it can win.

Tony Blair broke with tradition by becoming the first Prime Minister for decades to campaign in the Uxbridge by-election, but party sources said yesterday that he was "unlikely to repeat it in the by-election at Beckenham.

William Hague, the Tory leader, made a brief appearance at a grant-maintained girls' school in the constituency yes-Liberal Democrat leader, is on video under a "moving due to arrive on Monday. The duvet with a Soho chub hostess Liberal Democrats claimed the Prime Minister's reluctance to go to Beckenham was a sign that Labour doubts it can win.

"If he doesn't come here, it just shows they are are afraid of being beaten. He may have learnt his lesson from Uxbridge. He may have felt damaged by that," said Edward Davey, the MP and "minder" for the Liberal Democrat candidate in the by-election, 25year-old Rosemary Vetterlein.

Mr Blair was warned that he was fashioning a rod for his own back by going to Uxbridge. which the Tories held, and it could be a handy weapon with which to beat the Government if he showed up in the leafy Tory suburbs in south London now.

The by-election, set for 20 November, was caused by the resignation of Piers Merchant, terday and Paddy Ashdown, the the Tory MP, after he was caught who was also a Tory supporter. But sleaze could backfire for Labour while controversy is raging over Labour Party funding from the chiefs of Pormula One motor racing.

On paper, Beckenham is the sort of rock-solid Tory seat that Labour could not dream of winning before 1 May. Bob Flughes, who stood for Labour in the general election, enjoyed a swing from the Tories of 15 per cent, but still failed to win the seat.

He shrugged off the fory winning margin of 4,953 but ad-mitted that he is encouraging tactical voting by Liberal Democrat supporters, whose votes could hold the key to the result.

Jacquie Lait, the Tory candidate, held a two-minute silence under a Spanish Oak tree with 11 supporters during canvassing yesterday. They may have been privately praying for the Liber-

On the hustings: Lib Dem candidate Rosemary Vetterlein (right) canvassing in Beckenham yesterday with Hilary Gaster

Eccleston

Starting up a small business?

It's not just \ OtVest

business customers who say we # understand

the needs of small

ousinesses.

When it comes to starting up a small business, NatWest is the people's choice.

And here's just a few of the reasons why.

Free Business Start-Up Guide. Free Banking for up to 18 months.

Free help and guidance from a NatWest

Small Business Adviser.

Free Businessline - a 24 hour, telephone banking service.

BANK THAT UNDERSTANDS THE NEEDS OF NEW BUSINESSES 25% NATWEST BARCLAYS LLOYDS MIDLAND Source, NOP Corporate à Financial Start (p. Sunkry » Moren 1801

And if you open a Small Business Account before December 31st 1997, there's even more. Free 'Year 2000 Computer Problem' Guide. 25% Discount on registering the name of your new business.*

10% Discount on Business Insurance.*

For more information, talk to the Small Business Adviser in your high street branch or call 0800 777 888 today.

NatWest More than just a bank

National Westminster Bank Pic, 41 Lardinary, Landon EC29 28P. Registered Number 929027 England. National Westminster Bank Pic represents only the National Westminster Bank Pic, 41 Lardinary, Landon EC29 28P. Registered Number 929027 England. National Westminster Bank Pic represents only the Personal Investment Authority for Investment Authority on Investment Survivors, which is a members of the Personal Investment Authority on Investment Authority in Investment Authority and Investment Authority and Investment Authority and Investment Authority and Investment Authority on Investment Authority in Investment Authority and Investment Authority in In

Low-earner tax scheme under attack

The Chancellor's plan to replace Family Credit, the top-up benefit for low earners, with a special tax allowance for the low paid, has run into fierce opposition within the Treasury. Diane Coyle, Economics Editor, reveals that officials are only too aware of the difficulties of the scheme Gordon Brown and his adviser, Ed Balls, want to introduce.

Martin Taylor, the Barclays Bank chief executive, who heads the Government's tax and benefits task force, is said by experts who have discussed it with him to believe that there is not much to be gained from abolishing Family Credit in favour of a tax relief.

The row within the Treasury has been rumbling for some weeks, as officials draw up the consultative papers which will be published with Mr Brown's "Green Budget" later this month. Reform of the tax and benefit system will be a major focus of the statement.

In his July Budget, the Chancellor sent a clear signal that he favoured replacing the existing in-work benefit with a tax allowance that tapers off as income rises. It would draw upon the successful experience of the American Earned Income Tax Credit which helps 19 million lower-paid workers.

But many experts believe the disadvantages would outweigh the benefits. Pamela Meadows, director of the Policy Studies Institute, said: "The consensus is that there would be great difficulties in switching. The case for a tax credit instead of a benefit like Family Credit has not been made."

Her view is in line with a majority of the evidence given to the Social Security Select Committee in its recent hearings.

The proposed tax allowance would have a key benefit. It would reduce the tax paid on every extra pound earned by people on low incomes by withdrawing the allowance gradually. This would contrast with the poverty trap that exists for those whose income rises just enough to disqualify them entirely for Family Credit.

However, it has a number of disadvantages. The main one, over which the Conservative scheme was blocked in the House of Lords, was the administrative burden it would place on employers. In addition, employers would gain a lot of additional information about the financial and family circumstances of their employees.

Furthermore, Family Credit is mainly paid to women, whereas men would be the main recipient of a tax allowance. A tax credit scheme would also require joint taxation of couples, rather than independent taxation, because it would be calculated on a household rather than an individual basis. Many people in the Labour Party campaigned against the scheme in 1985 on precisely these gender grounds.

Research carried out for the Joseph Rowntree Foundation has also indicated that the American Earned Income Tax Credit has drawbacks in practice. Not the least of these is that it is thought to be very prone to fraudulent claims.

However, officials say the Chancellor and Mr Balls are absolutely determined to press ahead. One said: "They want a big idea on tax and benefits, and this is the one they want."

Ex-MP 'crushed' by party

Proposals to break up the Hendon North Conservative Association are directly related to a Commons revolt that embarthe election, Sir John Gorst, the former MP, protested yesterday.

The National Union of the Conscrvative Party decided last week that it was "minded" to expel the association following allegations of irregularities relating to membership, nomination of candidates, the appointment of an agent, and the retrospective use of £19,000 from the party's property fund.

But Sir John, who embarrassed the last Government by voting against it in protest over broken promises relating to a rassed the Government before local hospital, told The Independent: "If you can't muzzle and regiment an MP, then your only alternative is to undermine his constituency support, because you can crush him by undermining his power base. Complaints against the management of the local party were brought to a head in October. after it expelled two women parliamentary candidates.

— Anthony Bevins

FREE CD WHEN YOU CALL FOR A QUOTE 0800 333 800

13/POLITICS

Ecclestone revelations put parties on a collision course

Party political funding began to unravel last night after it was revealed that Formula One's Bernie Ecclestone gave £1 m to Labour, and £10m plus a £4m loan to the Tories. Anthony Bevins and Kim Sengupto report on an issue at the heart of democracy.

The full consequences of the decision of Sir Patrick Neil, Chairman of the Committee on Standards in Public Life, to force the return of Labour's £1m, were slowly sinking in at Westminster last night.

Not only could it reinforce an expected cap on election spending for all parties, but it could also lead to the exposure of controversial Conservative funding.

The Prime Minister's Office suggested that if Mr Ecclestone's donation was to be returned because of the decision on tobacco sponsorship of Formula One racing, Conservative government decisions, and related funding, would also require examination.

A spokesman said: "The logical conclusion is that you now have to trawl through every government policy in the past and the future. And that applies to the last Conservative government as well."

Giving a further illustration of the logical consequences of Sir Patrick's ruling, the No 10 spokesman said that trade union funding of the Labour Party might be brought into question if the Government decided on a higher-than-expected minimum wage for low-paid employees, represented by unions like Unison.

One immediate result of the ruling is that the expected legislation on party funding - separate from Sir Patrick's longer-term inquiry into the question - is to be accelerated. That Bill, currently being drafted by the Home Office, includes force the parties to declare the amounts the registration of political parties, the identhan £5.000 to parties, and a ban on foreign funding.

But Sir Patrick's intervention could also paid by donors. As Labour's proposals tification of people who donate more stand, Mr Ecclestone's £1m donation would be included in a group of those making donations of more than £5,000 - giving no clue as to the scale of the gift.

As for state funding of the parties, William Hague, the Tory leader, said he did not favour it, adding: "I do not think that the taxpayer should pay for political parties. They should have their own campaigns." The Downing Street spokesman said Mr Blair also was not persuaded that it would be right. *One of the reasons he is not persuaded," he said, "is the taxpayer might legitimately think, why should we be paying for politicians to tear lumps off each othShare of the cake: Bernie Eccleston celebrating Michael Schumacher's 100th Grand Prix with Ferrari team-mate Eddie Irvine, left, and team boss Luca Di Montezernolo Photograph: Allsport er at election time? The public don't like either of these things. They don't like it that we have to go out and get this money, likewise they are not going to be terribly keen on funding political parties." Paddy Ashdown, who said earlier that he had rejected the offer of a £1m donation before the last election - thought to have been offered by Mohamed Al Faved - said last night that there might have to be a core of state funding but that the bulk of party money should come from private donations, which should all be itemised and identified in full.

Professor Anthony King, a member of Sir Patrick's committee, said that in his foreword to the Ministerial Code of Conduct. that the Prime Minister had said ministers should not accept gifts, hospitality or other services which might, or which might seem to, put them under an obligation.

"If that goes for individual ministers it might go for political parties ... Mere disclosure of names of the people who give donations is not going to prove adequate".

Mr Ecclestone - the man in the immediate firing line - said he would put the returned £1m in the bank. A Labour spokesman said the party would have no difficulty in returning the cash, suggesting that Labour had enough of an overdraft facility to back the cheque.

Briefly interviewed on BBC Radio 4's World at One, Mr Ecclestone said his donation had nothing to do with tobacco advertising. "This was well before anybody started talking about tobacco advertising,"

TORY MINISTER WHO TOOK ON THE TOBACCO GIANTS AND LOST

It was somehow fitting that on her retirement, Lady Thatcher should become a consultant for Philip Morris at around £550,000 a year. She was, after all, carrying on the tradition of Conservative Party's long and lucrative links with the tobacco industry.

The tobacco lobby and the sporting bodies it sponsors have always had influential friends at Central Office, and Tory politicians, even ministers, who cross them did not survive for long. The Independent can tell the story of how one minister. Richard Tracey, was forced out when he tried to take on these vested interests.

In 1985, Mr Tracey, the member for Surbiton and, at 41, a rising young star of the He was soon being told by var- brand. Mr Tracey instructed his ious bodies and individuals, including television producers, that the tobacco companies were bending the rules in the televised sports they sponsored especially snooker and motor racing.

In snooker, BBC producers complained, the tobacco company sponsoring events had party, was made minister of even started painting the sets sport by Margaret Thatcher. in the colour of a cigarette Formula One.

civil servants to try and negotiate voluntary restrictions with the tobacco industry. Warnings soon followed; he was told the industry had "powerful supporters at court". He was also presented with the scenario of the sports abandoning Britain with consequent job losses, just as the Labour government is now facing over

However, Mr Tracey pursued the reforms, He was told again, by some senior Tories. that he was doing his career no

The beginning of the end came, said a senior Tory source, when the party was made an offer during the 1987 election campaign that they could not refuse. Just a week suddenly seemed to rise. There £2m, in return asking for the was panic at Central Office at head of Mr Tracey. It is claimed what became known as Wobbly Thursday".

A last-minute advertising blitz was planned by the campaign organisers. However, the cost looked and prohibitive. Tory sources have revealed that a senior figure representing the tobacco industry then before polling day, the fortunes stepped in and offered assisof Neil Kinnock and Labour tance amounting to around

Heysel disaster. Instead, he was demoted to the back benches. the tobacco lobby offered to Mr Tracey said yesterday: make available not just cash,

When Margaret told me she but billboards sites, which would not have been easy to wanted me to relinquish my pobook at that late stage, and sition, I was shocked and disappointed. Of course I have newspaper advertising space. After the election triumph, often wondered whether my opposition to the tobacco lobby Mr Tracey was expected to be promoted. He was acknowlplayed a part.

"Others who have stood up to the tobacco lobby have suffered." — Kim Sengupta

Clavinova

Three good reasons to find out more.

Advanced Yamaha technology combines with 100 years of traditional piano craftsmanship to create an instrument that sounds and plays just like a real piano

beadphones

Unlike a traditional piano, the Clavinova's headphone socket allows you to practice at any time of the day or night, without disturbing family and neighbours.

The revolutionary Yamaha Clavinova is much lighter and easier to transport than a traditional piano, and never requires tuning.

never needs tuning

Survey Understand by NOP Market Research among 1,000 randomly seasons users causiness. Biggiver our consumers by the property of the property is 12.6% EAR, All information based on authorised overdrafts of 2250 for 5 days or more per month and correct at 9 September 1997.

edged to have carried out his main task well - combating football hooliganism after the

Free from charges

Banking with First Direct is free because we do not charge Cheque Account customers for everyday banking transactions, even if you're overdrawn. And all our customers automatically receive an overdraft of £250 - also free of any fees. So compared to other high street bank accounts you're better off with First Direct from day one. We're a member of the HSBC Group which is one of the largest banking and financial services organisations in the world, and in the course of a year you'll find we offer more cost effective current account banking. And the service we provide means you benefit in many other ways too.

By telephone, 24 hours a day

We provide the ultimate in convenience. You can bank with us at any time, 365 days (and nights) of the year, from wherever there's a telephone, in your home, office or car. And all UK calls are charged at local rates.

Personal and professional service

Every call is answered by our Banking Representatives. They have all they need at their fingertips to deal with your day-to-day banking needs. And when you require more specialised assistance, such as a loan, they can instantly refer you to someone who can help.

Getting cash is easy

Every Cheque Account customer receives the First Direct Card. This allows you to withdraw up to £500 a day from over 12.500 cash machines around the UK, including those of Midland. it also quarantees cheques for £100 and includes the Switch

Our service includes a free bill payment service. Simply call, tell us who to pay, how much and when, and we do it. This means you can arrange to pay your bills at the most convenient time without the need to keep having to remember to organise it. A full banking service with more benefits

As well as our Cheque Account we offer saving, borrowing, travel and insurance services cost effectively by telephone. Take saving; our rates are always competitive, we offer transfers to and from your Cheque Account. So your money is always working hard without the need for you to do the same.

We work hard to maintain the service

The best people to demonstrate the quality of a banking service are its customers - 87%" of ours have recommended us to the friends and colleagues in the last 12 months.

Transferring your account is straightforward

We appreciate how daunting changing bank accounts can be So we help you to make it more straightforward. We can save yo time by completing the application form with you over the phone and giving you a decision, subject to a couple of further checks almost immediately. Then we help you to make transferring your salary, direct debits and standing orders as simple as possible

Why pay to bank when First Direct is free?

20		0	B	£0
£10	 	Ž	äž	I
£20	2 5	3 4 5	5 ₹	[3]
530	Image: square of the content of the c	NatWest Current Plus	Barclays nk Accou	5
٤40	Lloyds Classic	73	Bank Account	First Direct
£50	읉	£60	£60	c t
062		200	200
£70 082
£90	£96
2100

If you're paying more are you with the right bank?

🕿 0800 24 24 24 Call free anytime quoting reference BB832

æ ir	First Direct, FREEPOST, Leeds LS98 2RF
_ i	Sumame
	Forename(s)
B.	UK Address
e, i	, and the second
S. I	DDOO

too. But first we make it easy (and free) to find out more. Call now on 0800 24 24 24 or complete the coupon.

I' by party

US struggles to find allies as Baghdad stands firm

Diplomats were still working last night on a resolution to force Iraq to end its obstruction of weapons inspections. Mary Dejevsky in Washington says the US is combining fresh warnings to Saddam with attempts to forge a united front at the UN.

Speaking at the solemn national commemoration of Veterans' Day in Washington yesterday, President Bill Clinton warned Iraq not to persist in its defiance. UN weapons inspections, he said, had "discovered and destroyed more weapons than in the whole of the Gulf War". Iraq's interference with UN weapons inspections, he said was "unacceptable".

The inspectors, he said, emphasising every word, "are doing what they should be doing. They must go back to work".

Earlier, William Cohen, the Defense Secretary, said there would be no concessions. He had postponed his planned visit to China and the Far East in case "any sort of military action" was necessary. The new warnings came after Iraqi officials turned away Americans participating in UN weapons inspection teams for ninth day. Speaking in the corridors of the UN yesterday. Tariq Aziz the Iraqi deputy prime minister gave no hint that Iraq will change its position. Having insisted the previous day that Iraq had complied with UN requirements, but also had grievances which needed to be addressed, yesterday he contested UN and US figures for the composition of UN teams.

-the UN commission set up to oversee the disarming of Iraq after the Gulf War - and the weapons inspections teams include a disproportionate number of Americans.

The arithmetical arguments appear trivial, but they display the depth of Iraq's initation, the detail into which the dispute has descended, and the hair-splitting that could well become part of an eventual settlement if military force is averted.

While Washington was still holding the military option in reserve, it was giving priority yesterday to keeping inembers of the UN Security Council on its side. Any appearance of a united front crumbled three weeks ago, when the US made its first attempt to punish fraq's recalcitrance over weapons inspections by augmenting sanctions with a travel ban on Iraqi more room for manoeuvre.

Iraq maintains that Unscom officials. Although that motion passed, France, Russia and China abstained and the ban was never implemented. It is now part of the draft resolution being jointly formulated by the US and Britain, which is expected to be placed before the Security Council today.

In London, British officials predicted the joint US/British resolution would be passed unanimously, and with only slight modification. France and Russia, however, were said to be unhappy with another aspect of the draft which threatened unspecified "serious consequences" if Iraq continued to reject UN in-While an eventual solution might include shifting the composition of inspection teams to include more non-Americans, it was hard yesterday to see any

Firepower: A US fighter prepares to take off from the USS Nimitz in the Arabian Sea yesterday

Photograph: AFF

TENERAL STATE

"MY DAD'S CAR IS BETTER THAN YOUR DAD'S CAR."*

(*IT'S OFFICIAL, BBC TOP GEAR MAGAZINE VOTED THE FIAT BRAVA FAMILY CAR OF THE YEAR.)

Because you want your kids to enjoy the best of everything, you really must take a look at the Fiat Brava.

After all. BBC Top Gear magazine rate it this year's Top Family Car. That's partly because the Brava doesn't look like your run of the mill family car.

I.SELX £155.00 £207.00 £5,662.00 £7,473.63 APE £11,242.00 £14,925.63 £5,580.70 £7,452.00

(Put a cardboard box next to the photo above. See, no resemblance whatsoever.) It's also because the Brava's interior combines all the features you could want in a family car, with the style you expect to find in a sports car.

Add to that finance deals which mean you can own a car and still afford to buy new shoes for the kids, and there's only one family car to go for. The one that's better than your kid's friend's dad's car.

Call 0800 71 7000, http://www. fiat.co.uk" or visit your local Fiat dealer for more information.

Brava ELX Choice of 1.6, 1.8 or 1.9TD engines. Electric door mirrors, windows and 6 speaker radio-cassette with CD compatabilit Remote control central locking.

 Power steering. - Driver's airbag. Rigid passenger safety cell.

Alarma and Fiat CODE immobiliser.

Brava range starts at £11,242 OTR.

DRIVEN BY PASSION FIRM

FIAT BRAVA

CAP SHOWN HAT BRAVA I BRUY AT £14,925.63 ON THE ROAD (WITH METALLIC PAINT), TRICE INCLUDES £622 FOR DELIVERATIO DEALER NUMBER PLATES, VAT AND 12 MONTHS ROAD RUND LICENCE AND IS CORRECT AT TIME OF GOING TO PRESS IS 10.97.

BECOME OF PLAY AT £14,925.63 ON THE ROAD (WITH METALLIC PAINT), TRICE INCLUDES £622 FOR DELIVERATIO DEALER NUMBER PLATES, VAT AND 12 MONTHS ROAD RUND LICENCE AND IS CORRECT AT TIME OF PROVIDED AND OVER SUBJECT TO STATUS A GUARANTIE ANDION INCOMPLY MAY BE PEQUIPED.

BECOME OF PLAY AT £14,925.63 ON THE ROAD (WITH METALLIC PAINT), TRICE INCLUDES £622 FOR DELIVERATION OF PLAYER PLAYER AND OVER SUBJECT TO STATUS A GUARANTIE ANDION INCOMPLETED FOR CASH PRICE CREDIT FACILITIES OFFER DATE AND EXCHANGE TO AVAILABILITY) TO VIEW THE INTERNET SITE CALL 0800 77 7000.

WRITTEN QUOTATEONS AVAILABLE ON REQUEST FROM RAT AUTO FINANCIAL SERVICES LIMITED FOR BOX 1707S, EDIVERSING BHIZ SAW 19TO ORDER AN INTERNET CONNECTION (SUBJECT TO AVAILABILITY) TO VIEW THE INTERNET SITE CALL 0800 77 7000.

turning on the oil tap to prosperity flown by helicopter to an AIOC Azerbaijan is predominantly

Azeris celebrate

Muslim. But today, any restrictions that the faith may impose are likely to be set aside as the country takes a day off to celebrate a decisive moment in its troubled history, along with a bevy of international dignitaries, including a Foreign Office minister, and the top brass from British Petroleum.

The reason why the world's power brokers have descended on this former Soviet republic is oil, and lots if it. That, and a political contest between the planet's biggest, and roughest players - from Russia, to Iran, Turkey and the United States - for access to the next century's energy reserves.

Today Azerbaijan will celebrate the first flow of oil from the Caspian, produced by the Azerbaijan International Operating Company (AIOC), a consortium of oil companies led shared by five for Azerbaijan's huge Caspian oil reserves.

To mark the occasion, the President, Haidar Aliyev will be oil platform, Chirag-1, 80 miles out in the Caspian where, watched by a party of ministers and top oil executives - including the Foreign Office minister, Derek Fatchett and BP's chairman, Peter Sutherland - he will symbolically turn on the oil.

Today's oil will be but a trickle when compared with the 700-800,000 barrels a day that Azerbaijan expects to extract from the Caspian by 2010. It will be routed through the first of two "early" oil pipes, a refurbished Russian system that runs through Chechnya (where Moscow hopes it will act as a political lubricant) to the Black

The second early oil route runs westwards to the Black Sea through Georgia, although that pipeline will not be repaired until the end of next year. The unresolved issue is the path of a by BP, but dominated by the far larger pipeline which will US. It is the first reward from carry Azeri oil to the west. the so-called "Deal of the Cen- Research is under way into three possibilities put forward consortia, to extract or explore by the AIOC: the same routes as the early oil, or via Georgia to the southern Turkish port of Ceyban.

— Phil keeves, Baku

You've just spotted a low cost personal loan.

		VER 36 MONTH: IT PROTECTION
AHOUNT OF LOAN	APRIL.	36 MONTHLY REPAYMENTS	TOTAL PAYABLE
43,000	13.9%	£101.33	£3,647.81
£ 6,000	12.8%	£199.66	£7,187,36

0181 680 9966 0161 831 9966 MANCHESTER GLASGOW LONDON CALLANYTIME Sam to Spm Monday to Friday and 9am to 5pm Sa

Direct Line Financial Services Limited, 250 St. Vincent Street, Glassow, G2 5SH wast be aged 22 or over. Loses from 41,000 to £15,800, subject to state est. Calls may be reco rded. Direct Line and the red pho

THE INDEPENDENT

Win the full set of MGM Bond Films and a Sony SLVE220 Video Recorder

Do not miss this one opportunity to win the full collection of seven-teen films, all featuring the infa-mous breath-taking stunts, deadly weapons and sexy women - all unique to Bond, James Bond - the most famous secret agent in the world.

We have one set to win which includes; On Her Majesty's Secret Service; For Your Eyes Only; Octopussy; A View to a Kill; The Living Daylights; Licence to Kill; Thunderball; The Man With The Calder Care The See Who Length Golden Gun; The Spy Who Loved Mc; Diamonds Are Forever; You Only Live Twice: Goldfinger; Moonraker; From Russia With Love, Live and Let Die; Dr No and

With this prize comes a top of the range Sony SLVE220 Video Recorder - including multi-band remote control and Video+ to name just a few of its features.

Calls cost 50p per minute at all times 19 November 1997. Usual Newspaper

15/THE UNABOMBER

Trial to look inside mind of America's most wanted man

The trial of the Montana hermit identified as the Unabomber opens today. The argument will not turn on whether he is guilty of conducting a 17-year bombing campaign, but on whether he is mentally

"To get our message before the public with some chance of making a lasting impression, we've had to kill people."

So wrote the Unabomber in his 35,000-word manifesto, in which he advocated revolution against the industrial system and claimed to be part of a shadowy group called "FC". FC, or Freedom Club, as the FBI claims the letters stood for, was stamped in metal on parts of some of the 16 bombs dispatched by the Unabomber.

brate

the oil

perity

il loan.

But FC never existed, it is alleged, except in the writings of 55-year-old Theodore Kaczynski, a former Berkeley maths professor who goes on trial in Sacramento today. Mr Kaczynski is charged with the murders of computer store owner Hugh Scrutton in 1985 and timber lobbyist Gilbert Murray 10 years later. He is also charged with sending two bombs in 1993 that injured a Yale computer scientist and a University of California geneticist.

Prosecutors say they will also tie him to 12 other bombings that made the Unabomber the subject of the FBI's longest manhunt and accorded him near-legendary status in the annals of US crime. He is also accused of nearly downing a passenger jet.

The American media has afforded Mr Kaczynski not the trial is expected to turn largely on the question of whether his lawyers, backed by his family, can persuade jurous to spare him the death penalty. Prosecutors say Mr Kaczynski is condemned by his own words. A hand-written autobiography, journals and a numeric code, which "together contain admissions or inculpatory statements to each of the 16 bombing incidents", were found in his Montana cabin.

BY TIM CORNWELL

Kaczynski: His lawyers admit he confessed to bombings

His attorneys admit they are his. Just as Mr Kaczynski meticulously hand-crafted his lethal parcels, so he carefully recorded the results. They prove that from as early as 1966, the chronically shy Mr Kaczynski. a young prodigy who dropped out of a promising academic career, formed a "desire to kill", the government says.

"Experiment 97. 11 December 1985, I planted bomb disguised to look like scrap of pute Store in Sacramento." This was the entry marking Mr Murray's death. "According to San Francisco Examiner, Dec 20, the 'operator' (owner? manager?) of the store was killed, blown to bits'."

In 1981 a bomb was discovered and defused at the University of Utah. "I attempted a bombing and spent nearly 300 bucks just for travel expenses, motel, clothing for disguise, etc," the journals read. "The thing failed to explode. Dann."

In November 1979 an incendiary bomb exploded in the hold of an American Airlines jet en route to Washington, forcing an emergency landing.

"In some of my notes I mentioned a plan for revenge on society," Mr Kaczynski wrote a month later. "Plan was to blow up one airliner in flight. Late summer and early autumn I constructed device."

The friendless Mr Kaczynski lived in Montana in a tiny shack for 20 years, honing his arguments that industrial technology was the bane of humankind.

In 1995, his manifesto was published by American newspapers in return for a promised end to his bombing campaign. It led his suspicious younger brother, David Kaczynski, to turn him in. Agents also recovered a handwritten draft of the manifesto and a carbon copy of the type-written version sent to the New York Times. With jury selection expected to last up to a month, David Kaczynski leads those pleading for mercy, arguing that though his brother had an 1Q of 170, he was disturbed. The defence are expected to argue that Mr Kaczynski, if not insane, is worthy of compassion. But he has not belped himself by refusing to be examined by gov-

Montana's vast badlands make a state fit for misfits

If there was ever a natural habitat for Theodore Kaczynski, it was the state of Montana, a vast, empty sanctuary for misfits, misanthropes and fugitive scoundrels from almost the very birth of the United States of America.

For one thing, everyone minds their business - and who wouldn't in a place three times the size of England, where the nearest neighbour to snoop on might be 50 miles? Montana is where you do your own Alone of US states, it abolished all speed limits (though that was not of much interest to Mr Kaczynksi whose prehis shack in the woods to pick up the mail and groceries in town was an ancient bike).

In Montana you can drive at 80mph down razor straight B-roads slicing across the high plains, and not see a soul. Only a scattering of seedy, faded towns with names like Paradise breaks the monotony.

For dropouts, recluses and misfits like Mr Kaczynski, paradise is what Montana was. From the earliest days of the West, men on the run were attracted to its hills, forests and ranges, and its proximity to Canada. A hundred years fater, Vietnam draft-dodgers gravitated there for the same

Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid chilled out in Montana for a while. More recently the selection of residents has become even more bizarre. not just eccentries and an alleged criminal genius like Mr Kaczynski, but far-right militiamen convinced that just across that Canadian border black-clad troops in helicopters were massing, about to take over the US in the name of the United Nations.

Then there were the Freemen. They holed themselves up with a small arsenal of weapons in a ranch at the opposite end of the state, around the same time as the Freemen than even the Militia of Montana regarded them as seriously unhinged. They threatened to hang the local sheriff, issued their own currency and finally "seceded" from the "Satan" of the United States before giving themselves up. Not surprisingly, bumper stickers began to appear around Montana, pro-

Aren't Mad." Maybe the climate has something to do with this proliferation of the bizarre. Montana may have lately turned wacky, but it has always been a hard place to live. Farming

claiming "At Least Our Cows

So idiosyncratic were the hardscrabble affair. The plains are blazing hot in summer, but icy cold in winter, scoured by mighty blizzards sweeping out of the Rockies.

But suburbanisation and Western chic are an even greater threat to the land where the buffalos and cowboys roamed. Today, cities like Billings and Missoula are strip mall-strewn specimens of anywhere USA. Out on the range, Media glitterati such as Ted Turner and NBC News anchor Tom Brokaw have ranches. However much true Montanans detest it, the Big Sky Country is becoming the Big Dude Country.

Amsterdam Barcelona Nice Palma de Mallorca Edinburgh Aberdeen Inverness Glasgow Liverpool to Amsterdam

Nice

Call 01582 700 059 anytime

*Geneva service starts 16/12/97 subject to government approval Palma service starts 10/12/97 1£39 fare valid until 15/12/97 and after 8/1/98 until 28/2/98

NOW YOU CAN KEEP YOUR NETWORKS, SYSTEMS AND APPLICATIONS ON TRACK. If you're looking by hundreds of hardware and software vendors, Tivoli's open technology enables you to roll out applications on a large scale. And keep service levels high. All from a central view. And as an IBM company, we give you the added benefit of service and support. To find out more, visit www.tivoli.com and put your network on the right track with Tivoli.

First train to Serbia keeps Balkan peace on track

The first trains in six years started rolling between Serbia and Croatia yesterday. Marcus Tanner says this marks a milestone in the slow reconciliation between the two former Yugoslav republics that went to war in 1991.

In the days of Josip Tito, Yugoslavia's Communist leader for 35 years, the Belgrade-Zagreb railway was one of the busiest lines in Europe.

Built under the Habsburg dynasty to bind their sprawling and restless Slav domains with Budapest and the great imperial metropolis of Vienna, the railway under Tito evolved into one of the great thoroughfares of the continent, ferrying travellers between the old Yugoslav (and Serbian) capital of Belgrade to the Croatian capital, Zagreb, in luxury express trains in less than four hours, as well as transporting passengers from Italy and Germany and northern Europe towards Greece, Turkey and beyond.

When the line closed in the summer of 1991 amid heavy fighting around the city of Vukovar in Croatia, it was a sure sign that the fierce quarrel between Serbia and Croatia over the direction post-Tito Yugoslavia should take was tumbling towards an all-out war. Yesterday's reopening was a more humble affair - a mere three carriages trundled the few miles from Vinkovci in eastern Croatia to Sid, on Serbia's western border. The train was expected to make the return journey after a brief ceremony hosted by Serb, Croat and UN officials.

The event was historic, none the less. Since war broke out between the Serb-dominated Yugoslav army and the forces of the breakaway Croatian republic. Serbs and Croats have lived almost hermetically sealed off from one another.

The road border between the two states was, until recently, closed to all except UN peacekeepers patrolling the war-devastated and disputed, Serb-occupied stretch of eastern Slavonia. In Croatia, motorway signs that pointed to destinations in Serbia were taken down or painted over.

Buses and rail passengers wishing to reach one another's capital cities were forced to take vast detours through southern Hungary and even Austria. Telephone lines were similarly cut.

The slow resumption of ties and rail and land traffic, is, in a sense, an admission of defeat by the Serbs. It suggests they recognise the border between Serbia and Croatia is fixed and final and have given up any hope of annexing the Serb-populated Krajina region. After Croatia reconquered Krajina with relative ease in August 1995, those hopes were dashed, and the two eventually recognised each other in 1996.

Trains connecting Zagreb with Belgrade are expected to be restored by 1998. "Step by step, and we'll have again a four-hour journey to Belgrade," said Veljko, 33, whose private firm is working on restoring business ties with companies in Belgrade. "With passports in pockets this time," he said. "But that's life."

Members of the Wasungen Carnival Club in Thueringen, Germany, which has been holding an annual carnival since 1534. The town's Silly Season officially begins at II.llam in II November each year

Riot fears prompt Belgian town to ban gatherings

you're The mayor of Lokeren in northern Belgium issued a special decree yesterday banning people from gathering in groups of more than five. The move follows days of unrest in Brussels sparked off after police fatally shot an alleged Moroccan drugs dealer on Hundreds of mainly North African immigrant youths have clashed with armed police, smashing windows and overturning cars in Brussels, and the disturbances have spread outside the capital. On Monday night, immigrant youths in Lokeren pelted police with stones and overturned a patrol car...

It's good to talk in Finland

Finland, already the world's biggest cellular phone user, has set a new record with more than 40 mobile phones per 100 people, the government announced. More than 2 million people have mobile phones in the country of 5 million, and Finns are signing up for new phones at a rate of 50,000 a month, said Mikael Akermarck, a researcher at the Ministry of Transport and Com-

In 1996, about 500,000 people became new mobile phone subscribers, up 35 per cent from 370,000 the year before. Close behind Finland was Norway with 34 mobile subscriptions per 100 people at the beginning of October, followed by Sweden with

Other countries in Europe with more than 20 mobile phones per 100 people are Denmark and Iceland. Britain has 13, Germany nine and France about 7 subscriptions per 100 people. Australia had 28 mobile phones per 100 people, the United States 20 and Japan 19, according to the ministry.

Albanians weep for Diana

A magazine devoted to the life and death of Princess Diana went on sale in Albania yesterday and was snapped up with passion by Albanians eager for a momento of the "People's Princess". "It's selling really fast. Women almost start crying in the shop when they open the magazine," one shop owner said. The British princess never visited Albania.

— Reuters, Tirana

Missing billions blow Germany's EMU target off course

Germany is 40bn deutschmarks short of achieving the goals laid down by the Maastricht Treaty for European Monetary Union. In their half-yearly report, experts estimating the governuncovered a hole that is DM17.3bn deep this year, and they said another DM22.4bn would go missing next year. The shortfall is the result of slower than expected economic growth in the first half of the year, and, consequently, larger than projected state spending on the growing number of unemployed. Nearly half-a-million more Germans are out of work now than this time last year.

The new hole, which was ment's tax revenue yesterday predicted by opposition parties months ago, comes as a severe embarrassment to the government and especially to Theo Waigel, the finance minister. He has staked his political future on the pledge that Germany will. fulfil to the last decimal point the Maastricht deficit criteria.

the requirements on total public debt, the government is committed to keeping the budget deficit under 3 per cent of GDP, Having placed the budget on course for a "point landing" Mr Waigel urgently Despite expected tax revenne shortfalls, it will be possible to hold to the Maastricht Ireaty's 3 per cent criterion," Mr Waigel declared yesterday.

needs to find the missing year, amid deteriorating economic conditions.

Although decimal points are largely academic, the threepoint-nought goal has become a totem of commitment to a hard euro; a symbol of Germany's determination to allow no slacking off. Yesterday's estimates come in the wake of a series of crises over the budget, each of which threatens the survival of Chancellor Helmut Kohl's govern-

With no chance of fulfilling That has been the mantra all ment and the prospects of the Six months ago, when the same experts uncovered the first of the budget holes, Mr Waigel was forced to fly cap in hand to the gnomes of Frank-

His scheme to convert the Bundesbank's hoard of gold into government assets was defeated by the bankers, and Mr Waigel had to sell off shares of __numbers that everybody in Eusome publicly-owned companies instead.

In spite of the setback, the finance minister has not yet renounced alchemy. "Interestswaps", the withholding of debt repayments and other financial trickery are likely to feature in his arsenal in the last two months of the year. Such measures, coupled with yet more cuts in public spending, should ensure that, come 31 December, the books will show the rope wants to see. --- Imre Karacs, Bonn

ENCH BUILT

17/FASHION

You could take Kate Moss home if you're feeling charitable

'Kate, 1997', by David Sims, for 'Harper's Bazaar'

DESIGNER FASHION COLLECTION

EXCLUSIVELY BY MAIL

For your free catalogue (a)

JAKE direct 0181 237 7000

FAX 0181 237 7003

Or write to: Distillery Road, Hammersmith, London W6 986

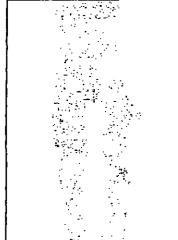

Belgian rings

a Finland

ourse

Top: 'Carolyn on Ali Fours', by Kim Andreolli, for German 'Marie Claire'. Above left: Sandro Sodano's image for Visionaire 2000'. Above right: 'Ladies' tights', by Katerina Jebb

Some of the best fashion photographs anywhere are for sale, says Tamsin Blanchard, for a good cause, but for one day only.

It is not often that you get the chance to own your own Kate Moss. On Friday, the annual charity exhibition Fashion Exposures opens to the public, giving you a one-day opportunity to buy original prints by fashion photographers. One of the highlights is this fabulously natural shot of la Moss, taken by David Sims for Harper's Bazaar last

Each year, fashion photographers donate a print to be sold in aid of the industry's charity, Fashion Acts. Last year you could pick up a portrait of Ossie Clark by Barry Lategan. a larger-than-life Steven Meisel or a Patrick Demarchelier. This Jeanloup Sieff, Linda and her daughter Mary McCartney, Steven Klein, and Katerina Jebb. Followers of fashion pages will also be familiar with Sheridan Morley's shot of a sun-dappled model Tizer Bailey, as seen in the Independent on Sunday Review, Gavin Bond's girl on a Aids, The Food Chain, a mealsswing, taken for Vogue Australia. Sandro Sodano's picture of Michelle Hicks and Honor Frasof Africa. If you are interested in fashion or portrait photography, not only is this a rare opportunity to start or stock up a collection, it is also a chance to sport some stars of the future. Last year, Tim Walker's image sold for a snip at £50. He had just finished a stint assisting Richard Avedon, Now he's shooting for British Vogue. You never know whose picture may turn out to be an investment book, and Garth Meyer's images year's photographers include - and you do not often see so many photographers' work under one roof.

> If you are more than just a window shopper, you have the bonus of knowing that your money is going to a worthy cause. Fashion Acts' causes this year include Devon HIV and on-wheels service for people living with HIV and Aids, and Infant Aid, which helps support chiidren in Komania. Lasi yea Fashion Exposures raised £28,000. This year, they are aiming for £30,000.

> If you see a picture you really like but can't afford, don't be afraid to make an offer. The bad news is that the show is for one

'Fashion Exposures', at the Royal Society of British Sculptors, Dora House, 108 Old Brompton Road, London SW7, Friday 14 Novem-

Give the man some Manolo's

Manolo Biahnik famously makes shoes for women to die for. Now, says Damion Foxe, he is making shoes for men to live for.

Such is the wizardry of Manolo Blahnik's fantastical footwear, that if he had been plying his craft in the 16th century he would surely have been burnt at the stake. If stilettos are the work of the devil, then Blahnik's shoes are evil little miracles.

Women will gasp "must have" and "to die for" at the mere mention of his name. But ask most men, and they won't have the least idea who or what you're talking about.

All that is about to change. Blahnik, who became famous for his sexy women's shoes throughout the Eighties and Nineties, in fact opened his London shop in 1973 making shoes for men. Next February he will return to his brogue last with an entire menswear collection, incorporating 15 styles of shoes and sandals in a colour palette befitting Brighton's biggest rock candy shop. Prices of sandals start at £200, and for shoes at £275.

"So many men keep pestering me to make them shoes, and now seems like the right time to do it," says Blahnik. In fact, the designer has always kept his hand in the men's market, creating a small mumber of made-to-measure shoes for select customers, including his three male employees. "I bought my first pair before I even started working here," explains Jamie Prieto. who works at Blahnik's London boutique, "and I have honestly

We had one customer who English understatement and came in and ordered nine pairs of the same shoe, all in the same colour." The reason? He had discovered what he considered to be the perfect pair of shoes.

However, Blahnik's collection may not be to every man's taste. Far from the flights of fancy which he so brilliantly creates for women, his styles for men all start from a classical base, with Oxfords, brogues, monk straps and even desert boots having a major influence. Neat, uncluttered, immaculately finished, every pair begs to appear in a Merchant Ivory

adaptation, all olde worlde claims that they want quality. "Men like shoes to be an old friend that will last for ages." Eventually, Blahnik hopes Continental sophistication.

that his male customers will become as adventurous as the women. "For next season we will incorporate even more unusual styles, perhaps using brocade for evening, and introducing colours such as dusty pink and acid green for day." In the meantime, however,

Role reversal: Manolo Blahnik's sketch (top) for a modern-day Oxford shoe; traditional Lobb styling (above) for classic women's shoes

Blahnik has opted for a carefully measured approach to "Men care more about cut the unpredictable men's marand comfort, and creating a ket, manufacturing only one sense of harmony," explains pair of each style in every size Blahnik. Above all, however, he and half size. "Unlike women, who will try anything new," he claims, "you never know exactly what men are going to do." Conscious of this predicament, John Lobb, which holds the royal warrant for bespoke shoes for men, has made an unprecedented move into the increasingly wealthy and always adventurous women's market. Like Blahnik, John Lobb has always produced a small number of shoes for the opposite sex, and has maintained an exclusive following who are prepared to pay highly for the privilege. This season sees Lobb's first-ever collection of women's ready-towear shoes . though at prices from £230 per pair they are not ready for everyone to wear.

As with Blahnik's new men's collection, John Lobb has favoured a traditional approach to design, achieving feminimity by narrowing and elongating the toe instead of raising the heel. Like the men's collection, they are made in Northampton.

Shoes this price have to be seen as an investment. For the princely sum of half a month's salary, you can secure yourself a hand-crafted, hand-stitched and hand-finished pair of perfectly executed shoes which will only get better with age.

Manolo Blahnik men's collection, available from February at 49-51 Old Church Street, SW3 (0171-352 3863) ...

John Lobb, 88 Jermyn Street, London WI (0171 930 8089)

Damian Foxe is fashion writer for never found anything better.

Let's have no more bleating about the Bush

Yes, London's premier newwriting venue has just suffered a grant cut. But it's also just won this year's Empty Space Award. James Christopher celebrates 25 years of dramatic innovation atop a West London pub.

The Bush Theatre will celebrate its 25th birthday on 30 November by presenting extracts from 14 of its greatest hits performed by the original casts. It's an important piece of back-slapping, not because you will be able to see Lynda La Plante and Simon Callow fluff their lines in Snoo Wilson's The Soul of the White Ant. But because 25 years of digging rough diamonds out of the fringe has made the Bush one of the most experienced prospectors of raw talent in Europe. I was shocked to discover that this pub theatre was actually founded by Brian Mc-Dermott, a maverick who has been touting his transvestite solo turn, The Adolf Hitler Show, indiscriminately around the fringe for premises, he was still a surprise choice when theatre's most famous football haircut, Dominic Dromgoole, resigned two years ago. "You'll never get it in a million years," said Dromgoole when Bradwell phoned to ask whether he should apply. Bradwell outtalked his young opponents and duly got the job.

Bradwell has a remarkable perspective. on the place he calls home. Some of it is contained in the introduction to The Bush Theatre Book (Methuen Drama, £9.99). Other parts of it have passed into thespian folklore. The list of those who gave to the cause reads like a Who's Who of British theatre, ranging from directors like Jenny Topper and Nicky Pallot to writers like Stephen Poliakoff, Snoo Wilson, Doug Lucie, Sharman MacDonald and Jonathan

The Bush's proximity to some of the most unlovely streets in London has played its own part too. During Billy Roche's Wexford Trilogy, a drunk staggered up the fire escape (the only way for the actors to get to the dressing-room), walked across the set and out the door on his way decades. For many years I thought, "There but for the grace of God goes most of the fringe". I must now eat humble pie. Mc-Dermott, who was regularly arrested for his inflammatory speeches at Hyde Park Corner, ran the Bush with the inspired abandon of an Edinburgh festival impresario. Between 1972 and 1974 the Bush produced a staggering 77 productions. The Bush's new writing policy was born here.

Shows opened morning, noon and night and featured everything from nudity to performing rats. The only discernible pattern was a commitment to new writers like John McGrath, John Arden, David Edgar, Howard Barker, Edward Bond and a certain young hotshot called Tina Brown. You couldn't have invented a more wayward past.

nual programme is a modest nine productions and a thousand new scripts hit the doormat every year. What does it feel like? "It feels like an awfully long time," says the current artistic director Mike Bradwell. And so it should. Bradwell was first here in 1974 with Hull Truck in a piece he devised called The Knowledge. And he's been coming back with supernatural regularity ever since.

Despite knocking up 24 shows on the

to his next pint. This year, when Culture Secretary Chris Smith turned up for a performance of Joe Penhall's Love and Understanding, a Bulgarian heavy-metal guitarist high on drugs had to be prised from the dressing-room before the show Bradwell makes the challenges for the next 25 years sound as simple as Tim Roth falling through an open window and plunging to his death in the Goldhawk Road every night during Nick Darke's The Oven Glove Murders. "People think I'm making this up but the only criteria at the Bush is to find good new plays and put them on to the best of our ability. That's it. That's the agenda. We've currently got five women writers on commission not because we think there's a political point to be addressed, but for the simple reason that they are writing the best plays. Most of the scripts that come through the door are pastiches of Mark Ravenhill's Shopping and Fucking. Last year it was Mojo. And next year it will be Princess Diana."

Money, as ever, is a major priority as is "a space to kick new plays about". But despite an exemplary application for half a million pounds from the Lottery-funded Arts for Everybody scheme, the Bush has been unceremoniously knocked back. They, along with Greenwich Theatre, the Gate and BAC, have just suffered dramatic grant cuts after having been told by their respective funding bodies that the money was almost certainly in place. The winning of the 1997 Peter Brook Empty Space Award last night will have taken some of the sting out of the financial disappointment. But new writing policies cannot survive on £2,000 prize money alone.

"Hence the fuss over the Gala, the book and the 25 years," explains Bradwell. "The money from that, and the Empty Space Award, will hopefully shift us up another gear. We already have a writers' group but I'm looking for more interaction. They're not very good at it," he notes drily. "I'm particularly keen on 'mentoring': pairing writers like Doug Lucie with first-timers.

"It's too easy to see the Bush as a stepping-stone for writers on the way to greater glory," muses Bradwell. "It's bound to look like that. After all, new writers go on and do other things. But it's not all about discovery. It's about surturing too. In that respect we're as important nationally as the Royal Court.

"The other thing we're working on," he continues, "is establishing a circuit of new writing with theatres in America. We're sending Love and Understanding to the Long Wharf Theatre (an old sausage factory) in New Haven and they're sending us David Rabe's A Question of Mercy. Hopefully we can set up a regular exchange like Max Stafford-Clark at the Court had with Joe Papp's Public Theatre in New York."

So much for the future. What of the present? "We are in a culture of winners and losers," argues Bradwell. "Reactions are extreme. You're either Mark Ravenhill and fabulously successful with your first play or you can carl up and die. There isn't the same venue loyalty as there used to be. People don't come to see new writing per se. They come if the play is an event. Long gone are the days when you could look at the bookings list and see the same names coming back. You can never tell who or what the Bush audience is now. It's the same everywhere. Our kickback is that we do get younger audiences prepared to sample something different after seeing, say, Kate Beckinsale in Clocks and Whistles [by Samuel Adamson) because she's in and

What happened to that glorious loyalty? "Theatre has become expensive," says Bradwell. "And there's a lot more competition. The culture is dominated by marketing. The West Yorkshire Playhouse has people doing jobs that didn't exist 10 years ago: there's a head of corporate entertainment, a head of marketing, a head of fundraising, and people running about with degrees in photocopying. Needless to say, the fuckers still manage to spell your name wrong in the programme."

The Bush's latest commission, Helen Blakeman's 'Caravan', opens this Friday at the Bush, Shepherds Bush Green, London W12 (booking: 0181-743 3388). Its 25th Birthday Gala is on Sun 30 Nov at the Royal Court Theatre Downstairs, St Martin's Lane, London WC2 (booking: 0171-602 3703)

Happy hour: below, early regulars Simon Callow and Lynda La Plante, who will be resurrecting Snoo Wilson's 'The Soul of the White Ant' for the theatre's 25th birthday celebration. Far left, a scene from Joe Penhali's Love and Understanding'. soon to appear in a disused sausage factory somewhere near you (if you live in New Haven)

The road to hell is paved with good intentions, all the way from Thessaloniki

A lost play by Euripides has been brought back to life by Kenneth McLeish. Robert Hanks talks to Nick Philippou, artistic director of the Actors Touring Company, about his efforts to resurrect ancient myths for today.

Stop me if you've heard this one: Orpheus, son of the muse Calliope and the sun-god Apollo (or, if you prefer it, the Thracian king Oeagrus), was the greatest poet and musician of all time. When his wife, Eurydice, was killed by a snake, he descended into the Underworld, and used his music to charm Hades into letting him take her back to the world of the living. Hades agreed, on condition that Orpheus didn't look at Eurydice until she was safely in sunlight. She followed him up towards the surface; but as he arrived, he looked over his shoulder to check she was still there, and she vanished. Subsequently, Orpheus was torn apart by maenads. The myth of Orpheus has been retold many times, in many forms. Musicians, naturally, have been particularly fond of it - Monteverdi's and Gluck's are the most famous operas, but if you include the many parodies the tale has inspired, there have been more than 70 other versions, from Peri's Euridice of 1600 (the first extant opera) to Harrison Birtwistle's The Mask of Orpheus in 1986. The 14th-century poem "Sir Orfeo" made it a charming (and happy) Celtic romance. It in English, both touring at the

has been done as a surreal, playful tragedy of mirrors and dreams in Jean Cocteau's poetic film Orphée; as a colourful slice of Brazilian carnival life, with a tram driver killing his girlfriend and himself, in the film Black Orpheus. Tennessee Williams brought us hell on earth in a Mississippi town in Orpheus Descending. You could even argue that Alice in Wonderland was sort of inspired by it (what is the tumble down the rabbit-hole but a descent into the underworld? And Cocteau's mirrored fantasy must owe something to

Through the Looking-Glass). All of a sudden, Orpheus seems to have come into his own, with productions of Monteverdi's opera and Balanchine's ballet, an Oxpheus symposium - featuring 40 Orphic events - taking place in Athens this month, and ATC's staging of a new version by Kenneth McLeish arriving at the Lyric, Hammersmith, after two months touring Greece, Northern Ireland and England.

Clearly, this is a myth with universal appeal, but which has particular resonances for us, living at this moment in history. At any rate, that's the sort of spiel you expect from Nick Philippou, ATC's artistic director and director of the new production. As it turns out, though, he is suspicious of that sort of thinking. an attitude he developed while working on ATC's previous collaboration with McLeish, a translation of a little-known play by Euripides. Ion - The Lost Boy Found. Together with the Greek theatre company Piramatiki Skini, ATC put on two productions, one in Greek, one

'A template for how we feel about grief and loss,' says Nick Philippou, ATC's director of 'Orpheus' Simon Annand same time, the Greek one visiting England while the English one visited Greece: "It was a nightmare. Trying to understand one another - not linguistically, but culturally - was very, very extraordinary. But it was," he adds, "a success." From this experience, Philippou "got slightly disenchanted with the idea of the universality of theatre - the idea that you can do Hamlet and it can mean everything to people now." Myths he describes as "a kind of template for the way that we might feel and think about certain issues, like death, loss, grief, longing and aspiration." Any particular version of a myth, on the other hand, will be addressed to an audience and a time – in his plays, Europides was speaking about Athens to Athenians, and there's no reason why we should recognise ourselves in his words as they would have. "I'm not saying that those plays now are irrelevant. I'm saying that there's another way of approaching those myths and those plays. I'm saying, actually we can make the bloodlines between the plays and our audience stronger and clearer by actually intervening in the text."

From this conviction of the had, however, few obvious links particularity of theatre, there sprang the idea of commissioning new writers to produce their own responses to great plays of the past. The first fruits of this policy were seen earlier this year in ATC's staging of a new Faust by Mark Ravenhill (author of Shopping and Fucking, and the man hired by the BBC in its ultimately unsuccessful attempt to keep This Life going). This Faust mixed camcorders, the Internet and Michel Foucault with drugs and gay sex in California motels: a clever and witty drama which with either Marlowe or Goethe.

Philippou defends the apparent tenuousness of this Faust's connection to the story we know: "I think we felt that as much of the Faust legend as could have survived did survive in our work, because we couldn't write a Faust about God." He adds: "It's very interesting that young people found Faust very effective, because it seemed to talk in a pessimistic way that Goethe would not have recognised. Goethe's [play] was such a paean to humanism, and I don't think Mark and I felt that, really. I don't The look of the production think we felt that optimistic about the world."

But thrusting modernity is not what he wants to achieve. In answer to the question of commissioning contemporary plays, he says: "This is an attempt to use the past. I think one of the great problems with some new writing in this country at the moment is that it : wants to be new, it wants to break forward... It's very rare that new writing tours extensively. New writing has its home at the Royal Court, it's lauded there, it will then have no other significant productions. Very few plays tour because there isn't a kind of universality in them, either in their philosophical framework or their formal framework." Universality doesn't necessarily imply universal appeal: One of the things that these old stories do," Philippou reckons, "is they create an alienating effect, they distance an audience from their immediate concerns." So Kenneth McLeish's Orpheus is written as straightforward Greek tragedy, with all the attendent apparatus - chorus, long speeches, prologue spoken by a god. The project began, in fact, as an attempt to "do a Jurassic Park" on Euripides Tost treatment of Orpheus.

The final result has been through a number of filters, though. Using money from the European Commission's kaleidoscope fund, established to encourage multinational (collaborations, McLeish and Philippou spent 12 mouths workshopping the piece with young Irish actors in Dublin.

which Philippou describes as "a kind of peasant circus" - was determined by the Greek designer Apostolos Vettas (who also worked on ATC's lon), while the score is a salmagundi of Thracian sounds on Irish instruments, composed by

he tabloid

ed becase their

the on the subject

general course and money

gas Croit, Passes

. States actives actives

Sept the Part

the mountains of

g 860 = 11 11 ( = -

Kostas Vomvolos. The finished play, premiered in September in Thessaloniki, the current European City of Culture, shouldn't be easy to pin down to any one culture: "What we wanted to do was try and find a way of telling the story in the most potentially fluid way, so that an audience can come to it and say, 'This play is for me about grief', another member of the audience can come to it and say, This play for me is about loss' or 'This play is for me about belief, faith'. So that's, perhaps, why myths endure - not because they contain some eternal truth. but because they avoid any definite statements at all: they're vessels waiting to be filled. And Orpheus is a myth about music - the most abstract art of all, eternally evading interpretation - and hence even more suggestive, more openended. Perhaps that's what Kenneth McLeish is getting at in the final lines of his play, when the nymph Dryas sums it all up: "It's myth. Myth's all there is. / Welcome the unexpected. It's up to you." Kenneth McLeish's 'Orpheus': 13 Nov. Medina Theatre, Newport, Isle of Wight (01923 527020); 14-15 Nov. Old Town Hall, Hemel Hempstead (01442 242827); 18 Nov- 6 Dec. Lyric Theatre Hammersmith, London (0181-741 2311).

Hars Simon nd Lynda La sho will be

ting Snoc

te Ant' for

tre's ISm

g Stells

- Pennaug

(Burche)

worzge

APPRESS TO A

SOMEW FILTE

e dif you he ssalonik

. releptation

The Soul of

Diary of a divorce

We've been to France, Burnny, Buster and me, in a last-minute dash before the weather finally dissolves into terminal grey for the winter. This may seem like no big deal to you, but I managed to get my underwear into a good approximation of a reef knot before we left, because it was the first time I had taken the kids abroad on my own.

It's not that I was bothered about the language barrier - I can remember all 30 words of my O-level French, so I'm practically fluent. It was the driving on the other side of the road that worried me.

When Beloved and I used to go on holiday to France, he did the driving. Because with him twitching in the passenger seat, and stiffening every time I went round a corner, I began to believe that I was far too emotionally unstable to drive anywhere but down descried country lanes in dear old Blighty. And only then with someone walking in front with a red flag. Driving Abroad became something that only Terribly Successful People who could have passed the coordination tests to become RAF fighter pilots were capable of. The fact that ancient French persons with single eyes. wooden legs and three goats on the passenger seat seemed to manage it totally escaped me.

So by the time we drove off the ferry into a bright, sparkly French autumn, I had Bunny and Buster chanting "right hand side, right hand side" in the back seat in case I suddenly lost my marbles, drove on the left and killed us all (thereby proving to Beloved that I truly wasn't safe out on my own).

But I didn't. I just tootled off the ferry and on down the road, just as if it were something everybody did every day. "Oh," I thought, "driving. Like what I do all the time. Hundreds of miles of it. Only on the other side of the road."

That's how I discovered that I could have been a) Very Successful or b) an RAF test pilot. Which made me extremely happy, and I zoomed off through the countryside taking in freshly ploughed fields and dinky Breton houses, and feeling full of new confidence and a conviction that I could drive to Vladivostok if I wanted. I began to plan selling the house and setting off around the world for the next 10 years, with Bunny and Buster as travelling companions. Perhaps we could even take a film crew and that nice Mr Palin with us.

Ridiculously buoyed up by my discovery of a missed career in jet planes. I brilliantly negotiated all the little tests of a French holiday. I found where to turn on the water outside our gite; I got the heavy shutters off the windows; I used all 20 of my French words in one visit to the supermarché. We really began to enjoy ourselves, cycling to the village to buy croissants, ordering chocolate ice-creams and coffee at cafés, scrounging at street markets. For the first time since Beloved bunked off, the three of us felt like something approaching a unit, rather than three bruised cabbages thrust

That's about when I started seeing Beloved and Bonk. On first sighting they were drinking wine at a seaside brasserie; then I saw them pushing a supermarché trolley together, after that they were regularly spotted in cars beside us at junctions and traffic lights. It took me a couple of days to work out that I wasn't hallucinating. It was just that every French man and his beautiful, chic wife looked just like them.

I lost it in a big way after that. All the Breton houses and their jolly red remnants of summer geraniums stopped being cute and started being irritating. Cooking on a single gas ring lost the charm of peasant simplicity and began to be a bloody hopeless way to feed two kids. Even the shower got on the at risk register when idiosyncratic spurts of cold amidst the hot had me nearly pulling the entire unit off the wall.

Within two days the kids were reduced to silent fear inside the car while I drove to the next tourist spot wondering if British Consulates still existed, and if so would they take children for a couple of hours while their parent went off and lay on a railway line.

Only the ferry home redeemed the holiday from being a week's worth of miserable memories. It was full of homely, cardiganed Britons and their Crimplened wives. Not a Beloved or Bonk lookalike in sight. The sea was like a piece of stretched cling film, and we ate patisserie out on deck in lemon-juice sunshine. Hey, I thought, I've been travelling with my kids. Vladivostok here we come.

We went to Hull, we lived like legends

it was five years since they had graduated from the University of Humberside. It was time to go back, to confront the past and live for now. Mark Hayman raises a shaking glass to his Alma Mater (you what?).

The words "Live Like Legends" were daubed 3ft high in white paint across the side of a petrol station on Grafton Street, an omen for the weekend, or perhaps just a drunken action by some deluded student.

As I walked along Beverley Road, Hull, it seemed much smaller than I remembered. Perhaps it was the three years in London, or maybe I was just smaller then. Me and Macca. one of the few college friends I had kept in touch with, were making our pilgrimage to the Mainbrace, the fulcrum of our college nights (and days for that matter). Memories of ADBs (all day benders), ATs (after time) and any other abbreviations that come to mind. To our disgust, the place no longer held that individual mark and had been transformed into another "Faceless & Firkin". But who gives? We were here to drink beer, not discuss the décor. This was to be the starting-point and meeting-place for our first reunion in five years.

The first I'd heard about my Humberside University reunion was a brief phone call saying, "Get your cheque in the post, it's going to be massive, everyone's going to be there." Well, that was my initial worry. Did I want to see everyone?

Questions had to be asked, eg were all the lads going, and which goddesses would make an appearance? I suspected all the former would turn up and very few of the latter. 1 missed the train and wondered if that was going to be the only thing I missed on my trip back to Hull.

Walking into the pub was like re-entering your bedroom at your parents' house; it felt the same, but you knew someone had tidied up since you were last there. There in the corner sat the first of the reunionists Tve known Kev, Pete and Jon since sharing a hall during the first year.

"Look at that fucking coat," they yelled. I must point out I was wearing a huge fur coat, looking like a cross between Huggy Bear and Ron Atkinson on a cold day. But then we were always partial to a spot of dressing up. Once, during one of our many "bad taste" outings, where we would trawl the second-hand shops choosing the worst matching attire, Pete wore a balaciava and red tracksuit bottoms with Speedos pulled over them.

After several beers to top up those we had had on the train, the slow flow of ex-students started entering the pub. It's a strange experience, seeing your Humbersiders formal, informal and legless: Mark Hayman was in grey fur. People commented. Then reunion began and all judgement went for a burton touching to know the respect in while, watching over the dance floor as the lads breakdanced and lunged at each other to Abba's "Dancing Queen". This was all watched with total be-musement by the teenage students, most of whom turned into the unwilling victims of a tance with an old goddess with few omissions, only to find out

After renewing an acquain-drunken advance.

cise headbutts and the ability to kick hell out of rugby players twice his size. He turned up which I was held. The building itself had taklooking like a Calvin Klein advert, with his broken nose, en on a totally different ap-Doice & Gabbana glasses and pearance since its peak around a black poloneck. Luckily, I 1990. The black walls, dim lights and beer-sodden Velcro managed to quell my giggles for this encounter. It turned out floor had made way for an altogether more sterile environthat he was now lead singer in ment. Nights spent trawling a band that supported Oasis, around, Snakebite Black in which I thought was reasonably cool. However, later I heard hand, smacking the lips on as that his coolness did diminish many girls as possible, seemed rapidly in front of the girl be an all-too-distant memory. Surwoke up with on Sunday mornprisingly, everyone forewent ing; to her horror, he was sitthe opportunity to sample ting up in bed holding an empty drinks such as blastaways, glass of water that he'd just Snakey Bs and pints of white drunk. Nothing strange in that, wine - drinks chosen purely for except that it had contained her their lobotomising qualities. contact lenses. Apparently she The sophisticated replacement had a rather dodgy drive home. was lager with gin chasers. I stood on the balcony for a

After numerous pleas to calm down from the DJ and bouncers, we decided to make our way to the Union. When we arrived, the entrance was surprisingly people-free. Gone were the days of vast queues which led to clambering through skylights into the girls toilets. A few of the security staff recognised me from my days as Union vice-president but their only welcome was "what the hell are you doing ferent haircuts and more expensive clothes. I was feeling the déjà vu that would repeat itself throughout the weekend.

seemed to have totally reinvented himself. Neil, at 6ft something, was the scourge of the union, renowned for his pre-

However, one old friend back?" and suchlike. It was she was virtually engaged to an old flatmate, I decided to join the aged body-poppers on the dance floor. The helicopters could al-Road, arms outspread, singing Oasis's "All my people right here right now", with the rest following behind me. I admit I had run to the front to play the Pied Piper. But who cares? That's how I had remembered it. As I jumped into a Skoda (Hull's impression of the black cab) with a girl I didn't know, a second feeling of dějà vu rushed over me.

After the third attempt, the magnetic key to her hotel room still wouldn't work. I had a strange moment of clarity or maturity, call it what you will. During my college years, a locked door would never have halted our progress, but I only had to look down the hall to the pot plant in the corner to remember. We had numerous balls in that hotel, and all ended with every nook and cranny being filled by couples in evening dress that disguised their unsophisticated intena view to correcting one of my tions. This was the moment when I realised I really had most have been flying overhead changed. I made my excuses as I walked down Cottingham and caught another Skoda back to my place of residence. Saturday was to be an alldaver in Hull's old town, followed by the reunion proper held in a suite at LA's, probably the city's cheesiest nightclub. However, on meeting Fuzzy

Duck, the amusement was renewed. Fuzzy is so called because of his inability to play the drinking game of the same name. He's partly deaf, and every time it was his turn to say "fuzzy duck" or "duck fuzz" he couldn't quite hear what was said before and just said, "abh fuck it" and downed three fingers of beer. As the neon blue of LA's ultraviolet danced off the faces from my past, I felt I'd entered my own twilight zone. Looking through the alcoholic haze of the day I dimly recognised veteran after veteran of drunken encounters in the Union or regular faces from around campus.

I was struck by how well the women were dressed. The gulf between student attire and the years after I'd painted them.

of the room left me in no doubt that the gulf was not merely that of fashion. The girls had largely evolved into women, whereas the boys, lunging around the dance floor and cracking into old flames, had definitely remained boys. Questions such as "what are you doing now?" had been surprisingly thin on the ground.

clothes of people with incomes seemed to be greater for females. In fact, another sweep

I guess the surreal environment would have been tarnished by punctuations of reality. Jimmy, a beer monster extraordinaire, did find time to reveal his present vocation. After forays into an array of occupations he'd settled on opening a sandwich shop in Sheffield. He suggested I should pay him a visit and sample his top-of-the-range collection: the "Armani sarni". a perfect example of poststudent sophistication.

The night began to merge easily into the rest of the weekend. Had it not been for the welcoming bar of the Royal Hotel, the evening would have been tragically cut short. "Speech, speech," Macca haddecided it was time he thanked everyone for coming, even though it had been Damien who had organised the event. However, no sooner had he raised himself on to a platform between two pot plants than he fell off. A fitting finale.

"Let's stay another night." "Let's stay for two fucking weeks!"

As we sat in the Brace on Sunday afternoon nursing our heads with a few comforting beers, the goodbyes and "let's do this again next year's began.

Finally we sat there alone. three sad amigos with train tickets for Monday. There was nothing else for it but to reflect on the weekend through the glass sides of yet another few

The train journey back was a depressing affair, with few words spoken and the onset of DTs. As I sat there, brain numbed, feeling as if I'd been to hell and back, not Hull and back, a broad smile crept across

I closed my eyes and pictured those words. "Live Like Legends", staring at me three days earlier. It was nice to think they were still there, six

The tabloid casting couch of Lara Croft

When people free associate on the subject of Lara Croft, breasts are what come to mind - and the actresses made for the part choose themselves. But, asks Paul McCann, is it real?

An unboly alliance has been formed between the dirty macs in the national press and the dirty anoraks of the Internet.

Between them they have conspired to create a movie star bunfight story where none exists and given picture editors carte blanche to reproduce pictures of large-breasted actresses and an even larger-breasted fictitious computer game character until we all die of boredom.

The story in question is the supposed making of a movie version of the hit computer game Tomb Raider - and more importantly who will play the game's over-inflated hero Lara

Croft, if you've been in a persistent vegetative state for a year, is the first female star of

Frontrunners for the Lara Croft role: Elizabeth Hurley and Sandra Bullock

the computer games world. Unlike the speed-freak pizza delivery man Super Mario, her popularity is based less on her antics than her attributes. As if proof were needed that computer game players spend an unhealthy amount of time gripping their joysticks, her popularity is built on the fact that she's built. Really built. Way back in June a computer game magazine announced that Eidos, the maker of Tomb Raider, was in talks with a Hollywood studio about making a movie version of the game. Eidos already has a contract to make computer games out of MGM movie characters. so going back the other way didn't seem a bad idea - unless of course you've seen the movie version of Super Mario Bros starring Bob Hoskins. Since the original story of the movie negotiation started. the 150 or so unofficial Tomb Raider web sites on the net started slobbering over who might play a live action Lara. Liz Hurley was immediately on the list, her career has largely been based on the same two attributes as Lara Croft so there's little surprise there. In August the Scottish Sunday licity probably doesn't hurt.

Then there were stories - again on the web - that Bruce Willis had bought the software company to guarantee the role for Demi Moore. Next came a number of Internet polls about who should play the lots of flesh and blood Lara - with Sandra Bullock coming out ahead of Hurley and Rhona Mitra, the woman who Lara was based on, and who is alleged to have had breast implants so she could, er,

These stories were all faithfully repeated by the tabloids. Mail reported that Ms Hurley was due to take the role and even that she was to fight a baddie played by Sharon Stone. This did not stop The Sun slapping an exclusive banner on its story yesterday that Hurley would play Lara.

In fact Eidos is still negotiating rights with a number of US studios and is yet to even decide if Lara will be played by a person or by digital animation. "Every time the tabloids mention Lara and the movie it gives them the apportunity to print pictures of lovely ladies with large breasts," says Larry Sparks, world-wide marketing director for Eidos.

Mr Sparks hints that he is unhappy with such coverage. Lara has turned Eidos from a £1.3m loss to £3.1m profit according to its last results and she has shifted 2.7 million games world-wide. He doesn't want over-exposure to kill her off like the other flesh-revealing icons of contemporary adolescence who this week sacked their manager.

But at the same time Tomb Raider II is released in a few weeks and breast-obsessed pub-

THE INDEPENDENT

Miniature Holder for Business/Credit Cards in Real Leather for only £14.95 (inc p&p)

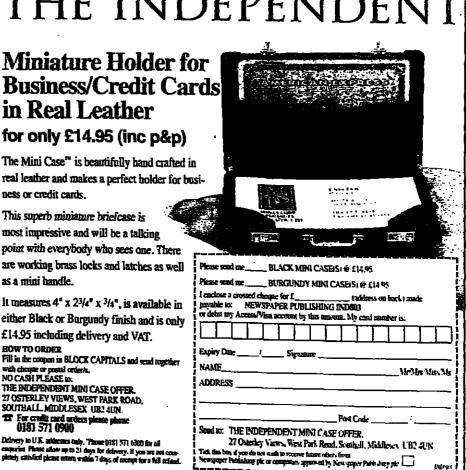

real leather and makes a perfect holder for business or credit cards, This superb miniature briefcase is most impressive and will be a talking point with everybody who sees one. There are working brass locks and latches as well as a mini handle.

It measures 4" x 23/4" x 3/4", is available in either Black or Burgundy finish and is only £14.95 including delivery and VAT. HOW TO ORDER Fill in the compon in BLOCK CAPITALS and send regether with chaque or postal order/s. NO CASH PLEASE in: THE INDEPENDENT MINI CASE OFFER. 27 OSTERLEY VIEWS, WEST PARK ROAD, SOUTHALL MIDDLESEX UR: 4UN. To For credit card orders please phone 0181 571 0900 Delivery to U.S. addresses Only. "Passer (181 571 6800 for all enquaries. Photos allow up to 21 days for delivery. If you are not com-pletely attacked please extens within 7 days of receipt for a full refined.

Under doctors' orders - where the NHS belongs

EDITOR: ANDREW MARK DEPUTY EDITOR: COLIN HUGHES. ADDRESS: I CANADA SQUARE. CANARY WHARE. LONDON EI4 5DL TELEPHONE: 0171 293 2000 OR 0171 345 2000 FAX: 0171 293 2435 OR 0171-345 2435

Labour was elected to power on a promise but opposition from disgruntled fund-to cut National Health Service red tape bolders is likely to be minimised by the vast and end the inequity introduced by the Tory health service reforms. The internal market - condemned by the British Medical Association as an "infernal bazaar"... had set trust against trust, created a bonanza for managers and administrators and consumed forests of trees to produce the thousands of contracts daily exchanged between hospitals, GPs and health authorities.

Seven months on, the new Government has devised a plan that is radical in intent but which seeks to improve on the old order, not to overthrow it. Ministers recognise that a major shake-up would not be welcomed by the white coats in the front line. Evolution, not revolution, is the word.

The internal market is effectively abolished although something close to it remains in the form of the "service agreements" between the GP collectives and the hospitals with whom they choose to work. It is the end of GP fundholding new powers that are being handed to family doctors.

This is the kernel of the new plans and they go further than anything that has so far been hinted at. The logic is impeccable. Putting GPs who are in daily contact with patients in the driving seat of the NHS cusures that the commissioning of services is anchored in a grassroots understanding of patient needs.

But will the GPs have either the interest or the managerial capacity to run the commissioning process? Most GPs want to treat patients, not sit on committees and shuffle bits of paper. Concern about the expansion of GP fundholding, which currently covers more than half the population, centres on whether the remaining non-fundholders have the managerial nous to handle their own budgets.

The GP collectives proposed in the White Paper will need extensive managerial support. They will function as minihealth authorities, and since there will be more of them -- perhaps 500-600 compared with the existing 190 health authorities it is hard to see how this will contribute to the oft-promised reduction in grey suits.

There are questions too about incentives to efficiency and improved performance. Under the existing market system, competition provides the lever. GP fundholders can shop around for the best deal from their local NHS trusts (or even distant ones) and get to keep any savings they make on their annual budgets for reinvestment in their practices - a powerful individual incentive which will be lost in the new system.

Nor will the abolition of fundholding end inequity. The charge is that GP fundholders with their superior bargaining power have been able to negotiate advantageous deals for their patients which have led to queue jumping of hospital waiting lists and the introduction of a two-tier service. Critics point out, however, that switching budgets from fundholders to GP collectives will simply shift inequity from the local practice level to the level of the collective.

The most radical aspect of the plan is the decision to merge hospital and GP budgets so that the GP collectives can decide how care is to be provided. Budgets for drugs, health visitors, community nursing and hospital services can then be balanced against one another to provide personcentred rather than institution-centred

The scheme has something in common with American health maintenance organisations which have a fixed budget to provide all necessary care to their members. By ensuring members remain healthy, costs are reduced and when care is needed there is an incentive to provide it as close to people's homes as possible, where it is cheapest. In the same way the aim of the GP collectives will be to provide services in the most cost-efficient way with an emphasis on out-patient and day-

In the long term, budgets might be created for specific services such as cancer or paediatrics which would cross the boundaries between GP, hospital and community provision.

forget the

An important feature of the White Paper is that it lays down no time-scale for introduction of the plan. Labour believe they will be around for some time and can afford to be leisurely. The recent document inviting bids under the health action zone initiative to raise health-care standards in deprived inner cities does not envisage evaluation until after the next election.

Under the market system, the NHS has lacked strategic direction. It has grown by accretion, with extra services bolted on in response to demand. The benefit has been to turn the health service from a monolithic, inward looking institution into a responsive, outward looking organisation. The test for the Government's new proposals will be whether they preserve that responsiveness while adding new purpose.

Post letters to Letters to the Editor und include a daytime telephone number. Fax 0171 293 2056; e-mail: letters@independent.co.uk E-mail correspondents are asked to give a postal address. Letters may be edited for length and clarity.

LETTERS

Threat to the ENO

Sir: I served as the honorary secretary of the board of directors of the English National Opera in the 1980s, and for a short period as a member of the board. I am well aware of the financial and other considerations that have led the Culture Secretary to propose the merging of the Royal Opera and the ENO at the redeveloped Royal Opera House.

However, I have no doubt that this would quickly destroy the ENO's distinct identity. As a third company sharing the new Covent Garden Theatre it would be impossible for it to maintain the audience and the mission that it has so successfully developed at the Coliseum.

This mission is both artistic and social. The artistic one is to present opera in a stimulating form in the language that its audience can understand. The social one is to make opera available at reasonable prices (the top price at the Coliseum has been held at barely 25 per cent of the top prices at the Royal Opera House) to as wide an . audience as possible. Inevitably, because of the costs of touring, this has been mainly an audience from London and surrounding areas. But anyone who has regularly attended the Coliseum, or has taken part in the educational and community activities of its Bayliss Programme, can endorse what I say. I still have vivid memories, for Royal Opera, the Royal Ballet example, of the rows of school children from Hackney, attending an opera performance for the first time, who sat enthralled during the hypnotic performances of Akhnaten.

It would be a tragedy to sacrifice these achievements by effectively abolishing the ENO as a distinct opera company. I very much hope, therefore, that before any final recommendations are made, Sir Richard Eyre, despite the very difficult financial issues involved, will consider every possible means of preserving the ENO (in my view, preferably still at the Coliseum site) as a separate entity.

SIT BRIAN UNWIN Luxembourg

Sir: Chris Smith, Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, has come up with the right solution for the Royal Opera House. The idea that the

and the English National Opera companies could not share the same building is nonsense. The ballet could perform at 2.30, ENO could perform at 6.45, and the Royal Opera could perform at 9.00. It will be argued that operas cannot be done in two hours. Cut them, then. Most operas are far too long anyway. The Crush Bar could be hired out to corporations, who could then still come to Covent Garden but without having the inconvenience and boredom of sitting through an opera. Smith's ideas could be carried over to the Royal National Theatre, where there are three theatres. What a waste! Let the RNT keep the Lyttelton, but give the Olivier to the RSC and the Cottesloe to the Royal Court. The classics are extremely expensive. Savings could easily be made. Instead of Three Sisters, have Two Sisters. Instead of The Cherry Orchard have The Cherry Tree, instead of A Month in the Country have A Day in the Country. Instead of Romeo and Juliet have either Romeo or Juliet.

Nor does London need so many art galleries. I visited the Royal Academy, the Tate Gallery and the Hayward Gallery the other morning. There is a terrible waste of space below, above and between the pictures. Not one gallery used the ceiling. If the ceiling was good enough for Michelangelo, then the ceiling should be good enough for everybody else. Keep one gallery. Scrap the other two. ROBERT TANITCH London W2

Foxy arguments

Sir. The arguments put forward by those who support fox hunting get sillier by the day (Letters, 7 November). First they argued that hunting was necessary to control fox numbers, then they claimed it was critical to the rural economy and that it had the support of most country people. Now that these claims have been disproved we are told that the real purpose of hunting is to provide a > elderly foxes in distress! Hunting does not control fox numbers, it merely accelerates the turnover of the fox population - both the death and birth rates are increased, and most foxes are killed when barely mature. Thus hunting greatly increases fox suffering not only because the method of killing is cruel in the extreme, but also because the death rate is unnaturally high.

vulpine-friendly euthanasia service to relieve the suffering of

Wincanton, Somerset

TERRY SESSFORD

Sir: I live in a village with three fox hunts in the vicinity. I do not support hunting or tear living sheep to pieces on Sunday. Nor do most of the other 'soueamish town dwellers" in this particular village. We are unfortunately plagued with rabbits, which seem to have few predators these days.

PRIESTER

F. KAY Weedon, Northamptonshire

Unfair to Hamilton

Sir: Your leading article (7 November) is right to point out that Neil Hamilton, although perceived to be unpopular, is entitled to a fair trial. That, he manifestly has not had.

You have little to say, however, about the role of the press in the whole "sleaze" affair. An unrelenting campaign has been waged against Neil Hamilton and his wife, based upon the assumption that he was guilty of corruptly accepting payments from Mr Al Fayed. Had there been a proper judicial process, Mr Hamilton and Mr Al Fayed would both have had to answer questions on oath and any witnesses could have been cross-examined. Even more important, prejudicial pre-trial publicity would not have been permitted. MURIEL TURNER

(Baroness Turner of Camden) London NW6

Remembrance

Wellingborough,

Northamptonshire

Sir: Simon C Allen (Letters, 11 November) is entitled not to wear a Remembrance Day poppy but I wonder whether he has ceased to mark Christmas and Easter (and possibly his own birthday) simply because he "cannot turn back and remember a time I did not know". JOHN DOUCH

Sir: At the age of 43, I also have many reasons to remember the

Sir. The most effective form of censorship is for the orthodox believer to label heretics as snobs, self-advertisers, or lunatics. Shakespeare is such a sacred myth in England that all discussion of the authorship is habimally killed in this manner. Thus Terry Eagleton cannot resist the tired old jibes at "Looney" Oxfordians and mad Baconians called Bacon in his review of The Genius of Shakespeare (1 November).

Early Baconians

However, he is wrong in suggesting that nobody questioned Shakespeare's identity until 200 years after his death. The identity of many writers in that era was regularly disputed by contemporaries such as Robert Greene, Thomas Nashe and Thomas Puttenham, and Shakespeare was no exception. In 1597 Joseph Hall published Virgidemiae, in which he identified the author of "Venus and Adonis" and other early works as someone he called "Labeo", who passed them off as someone else's.

A year later in his Pigmalion's Image and Certain Saures John Marston identified "Labeo" as "mediocria firma", which was Francis Bacon's family motto. Even H N Gibson. who accepts the orthodox theory, acknowledges that "Marston believed that Hall meant Bacon as the author and 'Venus and Adonis' as the poem".

Incidentally, the Baconian theory was first directly suggested by the Rev James Wilmot about 1785, which is still less than 200 years. BRIAN McCLINTON

Beards good and bad

Lisburn, Co Antrim

Sir: Nicholas Schoon's defence of beardies (11 November) seems to miss the point that some people look good wearing a beard, others do not. Wild, unkempt fur is fine on eccentric university professors and trawler skippers but perhaps not so on a neuro-surgeon.

Mandling S

All my female friends agree that Sean Connery looks even more rugged and handsome behind a coating of grey fuzz. Bad beards are those fussy, manicured affairs. Take a close look at Jeremy Beadle if you disagree. SEAN MALYON Stamford, Lincolnshire

American justice

to be remembered.

Stockbridge, Hampshire

JAN GREEP

Second World War. The reason

I wear a poppy is to not only to remember those who died during that war but also those who died during the Falklands war, the Gulf war and Bosnia for the sake of freedom. In years to come, there will be further wars, and those that suffer during these wars also have a right

Sir: There is no essential difference between a Massachusetts jury being influenced by the feelings of the Eappens, a Saudi court taking notice of the opinions of nurse Gilford's family and a British Home Secretary being swayed by the anger of James Bulger's parents. If Justice needs her blindfold, she needs it everywhere. PJSTEWART

Passports, canal boats and Afrikaans – a moral maze of modern fables

MILES KINGTON tionary fables for our time.

1. Once upon a time there was a frequent business flyer who loved doing all the things that frequent business flyers do. such as collecting Air Miles. watching stupid in-flight films instead of sleeping and buying unnecessary things in Duty Free at the same price he could have got them elsewhere. He enjoyed life as a frequent business flyer.

The one thing he regretted was not having an old-style big blue British passport. When his passport had come up for renewal, he had got one of the first of the new little claret EU things. He was so resentful of this that he had had his old passport made into a passport

Today I bring you three can- holder for the new horrible little pink thing, and when he went abroad he would put his little valid passport into his big old invalid one.

One day he was travelling to Canada and he presented his big blue passport for passport inspection.

"There's no passport in here," said the official. "I think you'll find there's a small red one inside," said the frequent business flyer smughy.

"I think not." He looked. The man was absolutely right. He had forgotten to put his new passport inside his old one. This meant he had to go home to get his passport, and that meant he missed his flight and had to get a later one. As luck would have it, the flight he missed landed safely in Canada and everyone on board was saved. But the flight he was forced to take crashed on take-off. There were no survivors.

MORAL: Even if the plane you take doesn't leave the country, you should still have your passport with you for identification in the aftermath. 2. Once upon a time there was a man who lived on a canal boat with his family, and did everything that an ideal citizen should do. He saved energy by using a wind-powered generator. He saved petrol by cycling to and from the boat. His wife taught the children at home on the boat and took some strain off the schools. By using herbal remedies from the fields and woods they never fell ill and never bothered the NHS. But when it came to general election time, he found that neither and vote there as well. That he nor his wife was allowed to

"You see, you haven't got a fixed abode," said the election official at the town hall. "You've got to have a fixed abode." "Wby?"

"Because those are the "Why?" "Because we have to know that every voter actually lives in the constituency he intends to vote iu." "But I do live here." "Ah yes, but you can't guarantee that you won't move your boat before the election, can you? You might cast off and go down the canal to another constituency and register there wouldn't be fair to people with only one vote, would it?"

"Yes, but it won't be fair to me if I can't have any votc at all, will it?" "I'm sorry about that, sir," said the official, "but I suppose that's the price you pay for being a floating voter." MORAL: You may be a model citizen, and you may have a real prievance against the laws of the country, but it won't stop bureaucrats from making stupid

3. Once upon a time there was a young man from South Africa living in London who overheard two people in the London Underground discussing a trip that one of them had made to South Africa. "I didn't like it at all," said the person. "The Afrikaners are so rude and unfriendly. The natives go into a shell when they see the colour of your skin. It's dirty and dangerous in the middle of Johannesburg and you can't even go out at night. I'm glad to be back, I can tell

The young South African was so furious at this unfair description of his country that he was about to intervene, when he heard two other passengers talking in Afrikaans tolerably well.

"I don't know why people like London," one was saying. "I hate it here. Everyone is so rude and offensive. Even if they might be nice to you, they clam up when they hear your South African accent." "And it's bloody dirty and bloody dangerous," said the "Especially at night. I can't wait to get back to Cape Town_"

The young man, who had been listening to their conversation and who came from Cape Town himself, felt all warm inside at the thought that there were two people like him on the same train in London. He turned round and would probably have greeted them had he not realised in time that they were both black. MORAL You could always try talking Welsh.

حكذا من الاجل

Forget the CBI, watch the market signals

والمتنافية المتنافية والمتنافة والمتنافة

ally Baconiary

HAMISH MCRAE BUSINESS AND GOVERNMENT

Business everywhere is becoming more important, so how should we make sure that the voice of business is conveyed accurately to government?

Two equally unsatisfactory approaches to this problem are on display this week. One is the Formula One model. Here the politicians accept a lot of money from the business in question, trim their policies to suit its interests while insisting that there is utterfy no connection between the dosh and the policy - and then give the money back in case anyone thinks there was.

The other is the CBI model. Here the key grandees of business get together and decide on a policy, in this case that European Monetary Union is basically a good idea. They then stand up at a grand annual conference and say so, only to find that other key grandees think it isn't a such good idea at all, and they also stand up and put the opposite line. The disagreement then stirs up a string of anti-CBI comment, with people pointing out that it happens to be German and Irish grandees that think it is great idea for Britain to join EMU, while the British ones are altogether more circumspect.

There is a deeper problem here, which is that the business world has become much more fragmented than it was even 10 years ago, so that creating a mechanism to represent its interests is virtually impossible. We have the CBI which is competently run and does as a good job as it can representing big business. But the big companies that dominate it are becoming less and less important as a source of employment in this country. Companies such as British Airways or Barclays Bank are busy cutting their labour-forces. That is not a criticism; merey an observation that big business everywhere is involved in a ferocious drive to cut costs and that means killing jobs.

By contrast net job creation in this country comes entirely from tiny companies, the sort of companies that make Formula One cars or supply services to the business. If you run a firm with half a dozen employees you are not going to want to spend time on a CBI committee, even if that was your idea of fun.

There are other organisations that represent small business. There is the Institute of Directors, for example, which usually takes the opposite line to the CBI. But it is more of a club, with posh premises on Pall Mall, and a service industry (conferences, a magazine, meeting rooms, etc), than a lobbying body. There are various other bodies that try to represent small business, and there are the Chambers of Commerce, but it is very difficult for them to convey a clear signal: there is too much background noise.

There are an amazing number of small businesses in this country. Back in 1980 there were 2.4 million small businesses in total in Britain. Now there are more than 3.7 million, though that is down a touch from the peak of the 1980s boom. Companies with fewer than 50 employees employ nearly 10 million people, of which 2.9 million are self-employed. Where these people have a collective interest in an industry their interests can be protected by an energetic champion, with access to the corridors of power. A meeting at Number 10 and, hey presto, policy changes.

There are still dangers lurking even when there are such champions. The fragmented fine arts business in London is in danger of losing business to New York if the government agrees to an EU rule that it has to apply VAT on the auction trade. But at least there are powerful people in the salerooms who can convey the warning to government, pointing out that the Treasury will actually lose revenue, not gain it, if it drives the trade offshore.

But those are exceptions. Most small businesses do not have powerful champions. Not only is there no Federation for Creators of Web Pages on the Internet, but there is no Mr Internet (as there is a Mr Formula One and a Mr Unilever and a Mr BMW) who can hob-nob at Number 10. We have structures that represent big business in a world where power is shifting to small business.

So what is to be done? Well, I know what is not to be done, which is to create some additional formal mechanism for trying to convey the views of business to the government. The sort of people who want to sit on committees are not the people who matter in small businesses: people who are any good are too busy doing their jobs.

No. I suggest that government should not listen to what business people say but watch what they do. The market will signal pretty fast if government adopts a businessunfriendly policy. Do not over-plan, but respond very quickly to market signals.

This is the strategy of the City of London. There has been no long-term plan that sought to make the City the largest producer of international financial services in the world. We have not bribed foreign banks to locate in London, as we have the Koreans to set up plants in South Wales; yet there are more banks here than any other place on earth and we seem, if anything, to be gaining market share in financial services, rather than losing it. Whenever there is a threat, then there has to be an immediate response: a good example was the "ring of steel" round the City in response to IRA bomb attacks.

This must be the right response to the needs of business. Do not waste energy having long meetings with people who claim to represent business, for they will represent the interests of - if not large business, cer tainly existing business. Instead, watch with lidless eyes what is happening to small business creation and employment. Do not worry if business people moan, for everyone whinges these days. But if they start to shut down or lay off staff, or simply don't start businesses in the first place, move like the wind to find out why and correct the policy that has caused the problem. Policies which cannot easily be reversed (such as EMU membership) need to be approached with particular caution. This is a whole new world for politicians.

Politicians are used to bureaucracies, to structures, to meetings. To deal with the growing, new businesses politicians have to behave not like bureaucrats but like entrepreneurs. They have to create policies, test them on the market and see if they walk off the shelves. They have to accept that they will make mistakes and if they have a duff idea, change it fast. Being business-friendly is not the same as being friendly with business people, for it is the business people of the future who hold the key to the success of economies, not those who have already made their pile.

Public exposure: Louise Woodward and her hometown supporters face the world on the small screen

When justice is seen to be done

SUZANNE MOORE EMOTIONS ON TRIAL

It's difficult to know what to pin on your chest lately. Instead of wearing a poppy for a couple of days, people now seem to wear them for about three weeks. Next to that you can pin your yellow ribbon for Louise woodward, a pink one for breast cancer awareness and your old Aids ribbon. You can if you so desire add a caterpillar to show that you haven't forgotten what happened to Matthew Eappen. How much more room is there to show that you care? Well, it depends how big your chest is. The symbols of caring and remembering have got out of hand. Poppies and yellow ribbons? Are they really interchangeable?

Some would say that much has got out of hand concerning the whole Woodward case. The inhabitants of Elton emoting furiously in front of the cameras, regulars of The Rigger forming themselves into an amateur dramatics society, one minute sobbing, the next clutching at each other. Obviously everyone in Elton shares the view that Louise is innocent and they will stay in that pub until the rest of the world recognises that they are right. It should be pointed out seen the whole sorry spectacle our children with paid carers say that anyone who stays in a pub as long as these people have is most likely to be not just a little tired and emotional but completely inebriated. An American cameraman told me last week of his shock at the amount of underage drinking in Elton and the way that the campaign consists of getting the beers in at 10 in the morning.

Not to put too fine a point on it, the inhabitants of Elton are not debating issues of justice and Brits excel at, they are having a piss-up. Given the circumstances, a dead child, a convicted child-killer, a media circus, this may all be profoundly tasteless and inappropriate. But just let us remind ourselves of a couple of things here. The pub crowd in Elton are not the entire population of Britain, most of whom seem to feel that a manslaughter vertict is the r nt one. The "mob mentality" of Elton actually belongs to less than a hundred people. The idea of Woodward coming back to Britain as a heroine strikes most of us as abhorrent.

Pictures of hysterical women groping the local vicar, geed up by the constant presence of Sky News, should show that while we routinely accuse American culture of being cheap and tacky, we can beat them at their own game. This is unfortunate because the original impulse that sparked this campaign that Woodward did not deserve a sentence of 15 years - slid day by day into gross hyperbole. The supposed list of people who have written to the campaigners offering Woodward au pair jobs is further evidence of a lanse of judgement. Whatever one may think of the girl, one might imagine she should at least try a new line of work.

Some commentators have

as a sign that we have lost our minds, that the age of reason has been overtaken by a headlong rush into the irrational, the emotional, the hysterical "feminisation" of Britain that is inevitably bad. This new mood is as bewildering to the old guard as The X-Files. Emotions are the alien invaders that are turning our citizens into media zombies.

As I said last week, expressing feelings is not the same thing as understanding them. We are morality; they are doing what we still in a transitional period, surprised at our own capacity to be open about what we feel. If there is a sense of permission for this brought about by a new government and Diana's death. it doesn't mean that all these emotions will automatically be noble and generous. Indeed some of the feelings that have surfaced during this trial - a knee-jerk anti-Americanism. an mnate dellet in the superiority of the British way of doing things - have served to remind us what a small-minded and petty nation we are. Likewise some of the American reactions have been completely out of all proportion to what we understand to be the facts of the case. Jay Leno's quip that now O J Simpson will have a new golfing buddy is just plain ridiculous. Yet the anxieties that fuelled the huge public interest in the case do not appear to me particularly irrational. For once the issue of who looks after the children, of how working women manage has become media-sexy. Most debates on childcare are seen as dull and worthy. Suddenly that great unseen part of many women's lives - their compromises, their heartaches, their temporary solutions to the problem of childcare – is now seen as a matter of public interest. All of us who have left to each other that we are not shocked that this baby has died. but that more of them don't.

This making public of what is normally hidden has repercussions. Indeed much of the discussion around this case has to do with what should be made public information and what should not. Deborah Eappen's style of mothering has been on trial, and her decision to make public pictures of her dying baby was seen as the last straw.

We would also prefer not to see trials televised, or so we are told continually by the great and the good. It debases the legal system. We were, of course, told the same thing about putting cameras in the House of Commons. Old Britain was in many ways a closed society. Much decision-making went on behind closed doors. How though, can we argue for greater openness, greater accountability if we are prepared to keep so much secret? Putting TV cameras in courtrooms can mean appealing to the lowest common denominator, yet putting TV cameras in pubs full of people watching televised trials is deemed somehow acceptable.

This is pure hypocrisy. The American justice system has its flaws, as does ours, but we have seen justice to be done, in that whatever mistakes were made have been rectified far more quickly than if the case had been heard here. Allowing citizens to watch the legal system at work, to make up their minds, entails a certain amount of trust. Some people will go bonkers in village pubs, some will shrug their shoulders and wonder what all the fuss is about, some will enjoy discussing juicy judicial issues and some will ignore it all.

The alternative to trial by televisions is trial by tabloid. This is actually the medium that simplifies; television on the other hand shows the long hours taken up by the presentation of complicated information, it shows that everything is not black and white. There are costs involved in allowing the general public to have more access to and more information about the legal system - greater openness carries risks. Yet for every sentimental view inai has deen exdressed abut Woodward there exists. I'm sure, a more sober analysis of what really went on behind the closed doors of the Eappen household. In fact Judge Zobel's is just that and one day when they get back home from the pub, even Woodward's most ardent supporters may in private have to acknowledge that the party is over, that the TV crews have gone home and that there is no one left to watch them starring in a drama of their own

Handling Saddam: lessons from the First World War

PATRICK COCKBURN SANCTIONS ON IRAQ

in dealing with Iraq since the Gulf war the UN is in the same position - and faces the same difficulties - as France and Britain trying to enforce the provisions of the treaty of Versailles after the end of the First World War.

The victorious Allies tried to limit the size of the German army to 100,00 men and stop it possessing tanks, heavy artillery, aircraft, poison gas or a general staff Similarly, the United Nations Special Commission (Unscom) has spent six years trying to eliminate Iraq's weapons of mass destruction - nuclear, bi-means to deliver them.

The UN in Iraq is failing now for the same reason as the Allies in Germany failed in the 1920s. Both the First World War and the Gulf war ended in armistices. In the first case, the Allied armies did not set foot on German territory. In the second, they crossed only a few kilometres into Iraq.

In both cases, the agreements that ended the conflict could be enforced only with the co-operation of the defeated state, which was bound to wait for a suitable opportunity to throw off the shackles on its sovereignty. The only real surprise in the present crisis with Iraq is that this has been so long

The analogy goes further. Versailles could only last so long as the Allies were prepared to restart the war to enforce it. Otherwise they had to negotiate. The US and its Gulf war allies are now in the same position. Are they willing to restart the Gulf war in order to enforce the provisions that ended it? Saddam Hussein is betting that they are not.

Lesser military action will not do. Last year the Iraqi leader sent his tanks into Ar-ological and chemical - and the bil, the Kurdish capital, in a surprise intervention in the Kurdish civil war. For six years the US, France and Britain had been flying air-patrols over Kurdistan whose unstated purpose was to deter any such Iraqi action. When it finally came, President Clinton - facing reelection - fired missiles at targets 500 miles to the south of Arbil. American television viewers were impressed by their government's resolution as they watched the missiles launched, but to Iraqis, both the government and its opponents, the affair was a demonstration of American impotence.

The Iraqi leadership has already calculated the odds. For several years, it has debated its response to arms inspectors. Some Iraqis, including Tariq Aziz, the deputy prime minister, argued in the past (ironically he is now the spokesman for the opposite view) that if Iraq played fair with Unscom then sanctions would end. Others, notably Uday, the son of Saddam Hussein, and his newspaper Babil, said that the US was determined to maintain sanctions whether Iraq gave up its strategic weapons or not. When Iraq said on 29 October that it was going to expel the American inspectors belonging to Unscom, it showed that Saddam Hussein had finally decided that Uday and other Iraqi leaders who thought like him were right.

There were other calculations involved. Iraq was clearly encouraged by signs of "sanctions fatigue" in the world in general and particularly in Paris, Moscow and Peking. American influence has ebbed a little in the Arab world because of its failure to broker an Israeli-Palestinian agreement since the Oslo accords in 1993. It may even be that Unscom was about to unearth some Iraqi weaponry.

In the past 18 months, unnoticed by the outside world, there has been a significant power shift within Iraq. Since he re-cutered Kurdistan last year the Iraqi leader has started to re-establish his power in his three northern Kurdish provinces from which he withdrew in 1991. He forced the evacuation of one of the largest CIA networks in the world, in the biggest defeat for the agency since the Bay of Pigs, A little earlier a CIA-backed military coup was unmasked in Baghdad and its leaders shot.

Saddam Hussein confidence. Obviously there is no comparison between the military forces he has available and those of the US. During the Gulf war, Iraqi anti-aircraft fire was almost wholly ineffective against allied aircraft and missiles. The Iraqi leader has 450,000 men and 800-1,000 modern T-72 tanks, but his most important asset is that he probably will not face a renewal of the Gulf conflict.

Much will depend on how Saddam plays his hand. In 1980, when he invaded Iran, and in 1990, when he invaded Kırwait, he mistook a shortterm tactical advantage for a real change in the balance of power in the region. His judgement of domestic Iraqi politics is acute, but he often misinterprets how the world will react to his moves.

In the present confrontation he will be on strong ground if he tries to make concrete but limited gains. The political status quo of 1991 is looking tattered, but it is not yet on its death bed. A few missiles will not impress the Iraqi leader. A full-scale bombardment of Iraqi power stations and oil refineries might do so, but such a pro-These developments gave longed attack could not be launched without an international political consensus similar to that which existed before the Gulf war.

"We reject any promises or sweet words," said the Baghdad daily Babil yesterday, "unless they are stated in an official and clear document which guarantees two demands; neutrality of inspection teams and setting a time frame for lifting the embargo." It is unlikely that Iraq will allow Unscom to return without some progress on these fronts,

President Clinton is playing it cautiously. No doubt there is plenty of support in the US for punishing Saddam Hussein. He is the one remaining cardcarrying demon - with the possible exception of Fidel Castro - in the American political cosmology. But this support might change if the US forces start suffering casualties.

The political status quo of 1991 in the Middle East can no more be maintained indefipitely than that of 1919 in Europe. It would be better to arrange for its orderly demise - and a new relationship between Iraq and the outside world - than to pretend that the accords that ended the Gulf War can be kept alive indefi-

Autumn Offer

Victorian Link 14'3"x 9'/6' ONLY £1895 inc. Vat Complete

Victorian 11'6"x10'2"

ONLY £1595. inc. Vat Complete Limited stock. Other sizes & styles available.

All buildings come with 10 year guarantee. Manufactured using traditional mortice & tenon joints. FREE DELIVERY IN UK MAINLAND

CALL NOW FOR FREE COLOUR BROCHURE

REALP CLASSIC GLASSHOUSES Let 24 Hour Answering

Lord McGregor of Durris

Oliver Ross McGregor, social scientist: born Durris, Kincardineshire 25 August 1921; Assistant Lecturer and Lecturer in Economic History, Hull University 1945-47; Lecturer, Bedford College, London University 1947-60; Simon Senior search Fellow, Manche University 1959-60; Reader, London University 1960-64; Professor of Social Institutions, London University 1964-85; Head of Department of Sociology, ford College, London University 1964-77; Fellow, Wolfson College, Oxford 1972-75; Chairman, Royal Commission on Press 1975-77; created Baron McGregor of Durris 1978; Chairman, Advertising Standards Authority 1980-90; Chairman Press Complaints Commission 1991-94; married 1944 Nell Weate (three sons); died

Oliver McGregor was one of the last exemplary figures in that great tradition of post-war British social scientists who followed the vocations of scholarship and public service with equal ease and distinction.

London 10 November 1997.

The son of a Scottish tenant farmer, he enlisted as a gunner at the start of the Second World War before being seconded to the War Office and the Ministry of Agriculture. After demobilisation he graduated with firstclass honours in Economic History from the London School of Economics and taught briefly at Hull before his appointment to a lectureship at Bedford College in 1947.

"Mac" McGregor went on to serve at Bedford College as from 1960 to 1964, and as Professor from 1964 to 1985, retiring shortly after Bedford was incorporated with Royal Holloway College. As Head of Department between 1964 and 1977 he recruited and led a cadre of outstanding scholars, particularly in the fields of socio-legal studies and medical 90ciology. In addition he was as an outstanding, able and authoritative Chairman of the Board of Studies and the Board of Examiners in Social Policy and Administration.

McGregor was a man of prodigious intellectual energy and enthusiasm. In addition to his engagements in London University during the 1970s he was elected to a Fellowship of Wolfson College, and served as Director of the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies in Oxford University, where he initiated a series of major inter-collegiate research projects involving London, Bristol and the Oxford In his first major work, Divorce in England (1957), he undertook a critical analysis of the findings of the Morton Commission, and set out a number of cogent and radical proposals for the reform of the divorce laws. His next major, co-authored work, Separated Spouses (1970), was the first nationally representative survey of the jurisdiction of magistrates' courts over matrimony and the illegitimate child. Its findings and recommendations made a significant contribution to the debate about family law and its subsequent reform.

As a member of the Select Committee on One-Parent

Reader in Social Institutions key role in the sponsoring of research and in drafting the final report (Finer Report, 1974) with the late Sir Morris Finer. Their joint monograph, The History of the Obligation to Maintain, was a masterly historical analysis of the changing relationship between the development of the poor law and family law relating to the treatment of illegitimate children in England during the 19th century. From the 1970s onwards

> McGregor wrote numerous articles on issues of social and legal reform including his contributions to such distinguished lecture programmes as the James Seth Memorial, the Maccabaean in Jurisprudence, the Tom Olsen and the Hamlyu series. He combined these academic activities with continuous service as a member of committees on subjects such as the Enforcement of Judgement Debts, Statutory Maintenance Limits and Land Use, and as President of the National Council for One-Parent Families and the National Association of Citizens' Advice Bureaux.

Throughout his long career he sought both to extend the frontiers of scholarship in his fields of enquiry and to apply research findings to central issues of social reform and public service. In this respect he stands as a distinguished, representative figure in a tradition of British "blue-book" social science which has its origins in the great reform movements of 19th-century social policy.

Self-regulation in the fields of advertising and the press were, taken together, the second of McGregor's abiding interests. He was a doughty and Families, McGregor played a indefatigable defender of press freedom. After the death of Sir Morris Finer in 1975 he was appointed Chairman of the Royal Commission on the Press. The Commission's Report of 1977 set out an authoritative statement of the institutional preconditions for freedom of the press, including the reform of the then Press Council. From 1977 onwards, he served as Chairman of Reuter's Founders' Share Company and in 1990 he was appointed as the first Chairman of the Press Complaints Commission.

The Report of the Royal Commission on the Press had emphasised the close institutional and financial connections between newspapers and the advertising industry. McGregor's involvement in the management of advertising followed logically from his commitment to the principles of freedom and self-regulation of the press in commercial activity. During his ten years of outstanding service as Chairman of the Advertising Standards Authority from 1980 to 1990 he played a key role in the revision of that industry's codes of practice in protecting the public interest and in dealing with complaints. By this time his achievements were already recognised in his election to an Honorary Pellowship at the LSE in 1977 and the conferment of an honorary degree by Bristol University in 1986. In 1978 he was created a Labour life peer, and he subsequently served in the House of Lords as an active reforming cross-bencher.

McGregor's three years as Chairman of the Press Complaints Commission were, at times, fraught with controversy.

The Commission was rocked by a series of high-profile press revelations about the private lives of the the Prince and Princess of Wales, culminating in the the publication of Andrew Morton's book on Princess Diana. The future of self-regulation was very much in doubt. It is easy now to look back with the benefit of hindsight and point to some tactical errors of judgement on the Commission's part. Nevertheless on the key issues of principle and strategy Mc-Gregor got it right. He ensured that the industry wrote, endorsed and gave total support to a code of practice that the Commission administered. He steered the Commission through its hazardous early years and restored the credibility of press self-regulation. The newspaper industry owes him an incalculable debt. The best epitaph to this remarkable man is that, in his death as in his life, it is impossible to imagine him ever resting in peace or wishing to do so. He had a restless, inquisitive and highly original mind. His command of 19th-century social history and understanding of legal process were memorably impressive. He loved the cut and thrust of academic and political argument. His conversation sparkled with anecdote and wit. His friendship was staunch and his many discreet acts of kindness and consideration will be remembered by all who cared for him.

In his last few years, with the constant and loving support of his wife, Nell, Oliver McGregor stoically battled against encroaching ill-health. Together with their three sons they were a great family partnership.

Carson Smith

McGregor: a restless, inquisitive and highly original mind

Carson Raymond Smith, bass player, composer and arranger: born San Francisco 9 January 1931; died Las Vegas 2 November 1997.

Playing the bass in a jazz group is often a thankless, almost anonymous job. Carson Smith leapt to fame in the Fifties on the coat tails of the baritone saxophonist Gerry Mulligan. He was a key member of the Gerry Mulligan Quartet in 1952, and no doubt learnt a lot about composition and arranging from the leader. Because Mulligan was unique in choosing to abandon the piano, the role of the double bass became crucial in supporting the front line, which consisted of his baritone and the trumpet of Chet Baker.

There will always be discussion over whether or not Gerry Mulligan's self-esteem was justified by his enormous contribution to jazz. Even before the succès fou of the quartet he had been unusually arrogant. He hired and fired sidemen with ruthless efficiency and was not averse to taking Frank Isola resigned from his group in Los Angeles to join Stan Getz, Mulligan left the city and drove off for the East with Isola's drum kit still in the Chet Baker's trumpet. boot of his car.

Mulligan was cavalier about rewriting jazz history when it suited him. "Carson Smith was the original bass player," he said of the quartet. In fact Bob Whitlock had preceded Smith in the band by a number of

By the time Smith took over from Whitlock the band had already enjoyed huge success with "Bernie's Tune", one of the first jazz records to be a hit with record buyers at large. "Bernie's Tune" also established West Coast jazz in the public eye as a distinct style. The quartet followed up with other successful originals. but Smith was responsible for creating its next biggest hit. "Being an arranger, a lot of the good ideas in the early quartet were Carson's," said Mulligan.

Valentine' with that moving revenge. When the drummer bass line that makes the arrangement was his." "My Funny Valentine" was unique in using the members of the quartet to sing a cappella behind

> At the height of the quartet's success, Mulligan was imprisoned at the Sheriff's Honor Farm for three months for drug offences, and Stan Getz replaced him temporarily in the quartet. But there had been difficulties over money. Following the success of "My Funny Valentine" Baker was now a star in his own right. Mulligan refused to give him any more money and the trumpeter left in 1953 to form his own quartet, taking Carson Smith with Baker had severe narcotics problems which dominated his whole life, and his quartet was made stable by its pianist Russ Freeman. But when Baker decided to take the band to Europe in 1955 Freeman and Smith thought the time had come to leave, and they stayed

"The idea of doing 'My Funny in Los Angeles where they formed a trio. Whilst with Baker Smith also took on freelance jobs, and one of them in 1954 gave him the opportunity to record with Clifford Brown, one of the most gifted of all the jazz trum-Brown was killed in a car accident at the age of 25. Smith also recorded with Charlie Parker and played with Billie Holiday in her Carnegie Hall concert of 1956. Smith was particularlyproud of an album which he recorded with Harpo Marx during this period.

Chico Hamilton had been the original drummer in Mulligan's quartet and in 1955 he asked Carson Smith to join his extraordinary and radical quintet. Mulligan had started a fashion for what might be described as chamber music jazz, and Hamilton followed it up with a vengeance. His quintet consisted of a flautist who doubled on saxophone, cello, guitar, double bass and drums. The music lacked the cutting edge music. Fred Katz was a conventional cellist and a key member of the group with whom Smith worked very closely. The gentle music which resulted didn't have the success that Mulligan's had had, but none the peters. Less than a year later less it became very popular and the band recorded the soundtrack music for the film The > Smith left Hamilton the same year to freelance in Los Angeles, although he returned to the quintet on occasion and recorded with it in 1959. That same year he toured and recorded with Stan Kenton Orchestra, and then joined Charlie Barnet's band.

Sweet Smell of Success (1957).

Vegas, where the casinos were providing plentiful work for jazz musicians. He joined the sextet led by the trumpeter Charlie Teagarden at the Silver Slipper, which also included the eminent trombonist Bill Harris. The band recorded in 1962 and in 1963 made an album with the vibraphone playof most jazz, but this gave it an er Lionel Hampton, who was appeal to listeners to classical working at a nearby casino. In 1964, after touring Japan with the George Auld Orchestra, Carson Smith was reunited with Gerry Mulligan for a concert at the Hollywood Bowl. After working with small groups for almost 20 years Buddy Rich relaunched his big band, tagged the Swingin' New Band, in September 1966. Smith was the bassist and played on the remarkable first album which the band recorded live at the Chez Club in Hollywood. The album recharged Rich's career but Smith soon returned to freelancing. Carson Smith had taken up the bass in junior high school when he was 13. His time and In 1962 Smith moved to Las choice of notes marked him as a great player and by the time of his heyday in the Fifties he was one of the best soloists on the instrument. But he was also notable for his sensitive accompaniment work and was a master of the "walking" bass style. He continued to freelance in Las Vegas until shortly before he died.

A master of the 'walking' bass style: Smith (right) with Gerry Mulligan in the Gerry Mulligan Quartet

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES & DEATHS

DEATHS

BLACKWELL: John, editor extrao BLACKWELL: John, editor eumordi-name, died in Clapham on Bonfire Night 1997. Service at St Paul's Church, Rectory Grove, Clapham, 3pm, Friday 14 November. No flow-ers, donations to British Heart Foun-dation or to Trinity Hospice may be sent to his wife, Pamela Blackwell (Price), at his home. A memorial ser-vice will be amusuned later.

For Gazette, telephone 0171-293 2012. Charges are £6.50 a line (VAT extra).

ROYAL ENGAGEMENTS Member of the legists hab Aquat Clark, presents the 1900. Date of Edminagers Perfect at Backengdoms Palacet, as President of the legists-hyperating Umon of the Trailers of the Legists-hyperating Umon of the Comments and the English-hyperating Umon of Edminages English Language Bod. Competitions Awards, and the English-hyperating Language Hod. Competitions Awards, and the English-hyperating the sends of Synchron Language Hod. Competitions of the Institute of Management, among the Particle Comments of the Institute of Management almost be 1978 National and Gold Modal Award Dyaner at the Hotel Intercept Language. President for the Intrinsic Vear of the British Hores Sources, mittends a reception to achieve the State Anniversor at 85 January Palacet. The Princent Bright Tation, Race Shalls, Agency, attends as Reception (Texantistion for Trusts and Ref Discour. South Africa High Commission, London WC: as Platton, National America, Section, distends a Settinger, Virtins of people with sortem Aspenger Statement Palacet, Landon WC: The Palacet South of Great British Processin in Dry, Senate House, London WC: The Palacet South of Great British Processin in Dry, Senate House, London WC: The Palacet South of Great British preserve the Palacet America, Charles of Palacet, Landon WC: The Palacet South of Great British, preserve the Perfect Med. Action of Great British, preserve the Perfect Med. Computer Co

Changing of the Guard

Birthdays

Dame Peggy Fenner, former MP, 75; Lord Goff of Chieveley, a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary, 71; Dr William Hayes, President, St John's College, Oxford, 67; Miss Kim Hunter, actress, 75; Mr John Ingamells, editor, Dictionary of British Visitors to Italy in the 18th Century, 63; Sir Peter Lloyd MP. 60; Miss Jennifer Page, chief executive. Millenium Commission. 53; Miss Stephanie Powers, actress 54: Professor Gilbert Smith, Vice-Chancellor, University of Northumbria at Newcastle, 53; Miss Jo Stafford, singer, 79; Sir William Sutherland, former chief constable, Lothian and Borders Police, 64: cellor and Principal, Huddersfield University, 56; Prebendary Chad Varah, founder of the Samani: Mr Neil Young, rock singer and gui-

Anniversaries

Births: Richard Baxter, Puritan minister, scholar and writer, 1615; Edward Vernon ("Old Grog"), Admiral. 1684; Jacques-Alexandre Cesar Charles, physicist and inventor, 1746; Mrs Amelia Opie (Amelia Alderson). novelist, 1769; Alexander Porfirievich Borodin, composer, 1833; François-Auguste Rodin, sculptor, 1840; Princess Grace of Monaco (Grace Patricia Kelly), 1929. Deaths: Pope Boniface III, 607; Canute (the Great), King of England and Den-mark, 1035; Thomas Fairfax, third Baron Fairfax of Cameron, Parliamentary army Commander-in-Chief, 1671: Charles Kemble, actor, 1854; Mrs Elizabeth Cleghoru Gaskell novelist, 1865; Emma Magdalena Rosalia Marie Josepha Barbara. Baroness Orczy, novelist, 1947. On this day: John Bunyan, writer. was arrested for preaching without a li-cence, 1660; the Battle of Sheriffmuir

Royalists, 1715; the River Liffey rose, causing floods and damage to Dublin, 1787; the first Jewish newspaper in Britain, the Jewish Chronicle, was published, 1841; Sir James Young Simpson was the first to use chloroform as an anaesthetic in Britain, 1847; a great eruption of Mount Vesuvius occurred, 1867: the remains of Captain Scott and his ions were found in Antarctica, 1912; King Ludwig III acceded to the throne of Bavaria, 1913; the Battle of Guadakanal started, 1942; the German battleship Topitz was sunk, 1944. Today is the Feast Day of St Astrik or Anastasius, St Bene dict of Benevento, St Cariwalader, St Cumian the Tall, St Cunibert, St Emilian Cucullatus, St Josephat of Polotsk, St Lebuin or Liafwine, St Livinus, St Machar or Mochumma and St Nijus the Elder.

National Gallery: Colin Wiggins, "Temptresses (ii): Liss, Judith in the Tent of Holofernes", Ipm; Gabriele Finaldi and The Rev Nicholas Dividing His Cloak, 6.30pm (Room 37); Margaret Scott, "Holbein, The Field of Cloth of Gold (and Black, and Pink, and . . . ), 6.30pm (Sainsbury Wing Theatre). Victoria and Albert Museum: Jennifer Opie. "New Finnish Glass".

Tate Gallery: James Malpas, "Eric Gill, Henri Gaudier-Brzeska, Jacob Epstein", 1pm. Gresham College, Barnard's Inn Hall, London EC1: Professor Lynette Hunter, "Orature, Oratory and Getting the Message Heard

School of Oriental and African Studies, London University, London WC1: "International Law of Development: a millennium subject or a

LAW REPORT: 12 NOVEMBER 1997

Particular social group not created by employment

The expression "particular social group" in article (A(2) of the Geneva Convention on the status of refugees did not ordinarily cover a body of people linked only by the work which they did.

Secretary of State for the Home Department v Quanes: Court of Lord Justice Pill and Lord lustice Mummery) 7 November 1997

The Court of Appeal allowed the Home Secretary's appeal against a determination of the Immigration Appeal Tribunal that Mrs Hafsa Ouanes, an Algerian citizen, qualified for asylum because she had well founded fear of persecution if she were returned to Algeria because of her membership of a particular social group, within the terms of article 1A(2) of cause the Islamic fundamenthe 1951 Geneva Convention

The respondent was employed by the Algerian Ministry of Health as a midwife, part of her duties being to advise about contraception. She Islamic fundamentalist terror- group" did not cover groups of on the status of refugees.

ists who were opposed to employees sharing a common was not the critical factor in the соптасериол.

lan Burnett (Treasury Solicitor) for the Home Secretary; Charles Bloomer (Davis Blank Furniss, Manchester) for

Lord Justice Pill said that the Immigration Appeal Tribunal had, in effect, found the respondent to be a member of a particular social group within the meaning of article 1A(2) of the Geneva Convention, and that the group was to be defined by reference to the duties which each of them had to perform on behalf of their employer. One of those duties, which was essential to continued employment as a midwife, was to provide advice on contraception. The well founded fear of persecution arose betalists were opposed to that duty being performed, and the authorities were unable to respondent. It had been submitted for the Home Secretary that the claimed to be in danger from expression "particular social provide protection for the employer, or a common employment, or both in combination. In Secretary of State for the Home Department v Savchenkov [1996] Imm App R proposition that the other Convention reasons (race, religion, nationality and political opinion) reflected a civil or political status, and that "membership of a particular social group" should be interpreted ejusdem generis.

In R v Secretary of State for the Home Department, ex p Shah (unreported, 23 July 1997), a revised formulation of that proposition had been adopted, ie:

the group must be a "particular" and "social" group. This means that the members of the group share something which unites them, and which sets them apart from the rest of society and is recognised as such by so-

The main point at issue in ex p Shah was the degree of cohesiveness required for a particular social group to exist, and present case did have common interests which were identifiable, and by reason of their duties would be regarded as a 28, counsel had put forward the distinct group for the purposes of employment. The issue was whether identity of interest in employment was suffisocial group within article LA(2).

While the proposition might have been stated too narrowly or in too condensed a form in Savchenko, the ejusdem have a part to play in the present context. That principle was not a rigid rule but an aid to construction, and the substance of the links required to constitute people as a "particular social group" must be considered in the context of the Convention and article 1A(2).

The Convention, as its preaccele recited, was concerned with fundamental rights and freedoms. Whilst the "right to wori. 'appeared as such a right a proposition was required to in article 23 of the Universal deal with that question. That the facilition of Human Rights

1948, it did not readily convert present case. The people in the into a right of asylum for inability to do a specific job. The characteristic that defined the particular social group must, in situations such as the present, be one that the members should not be required to change because it was fundamental to their individual idencient to constitute a particular titles or conscience. Such a group must be one "whose members voluntarily associate for reasons so fundamental to their human dignity that they should not be forced to forsake the association" (see Ward v Algeneris principle did appear to torney General of Canada [1993] 2 RCS 689).

Shared duties in midwifery did not come within that principie. The expression "particular social group" did not ordinarily cover a body of people linked only by the work they did. A common employment did not ordinarily have that impact upon individual identities or conscience which was necessary to constitute a particular social group within the. meaning of the Convention.

The appeal would be allowed. – Kate O'Hanion, Barrister

| Second | S

Spiktung with Super & Frieddander is Super & Frieddander is 21 New Stewer, London
7th 6071 827 8777, Deal
19315 Recognised Dubl
IX Coulty Income Companies Woome
Companies Woome
Agelog
American Crowth

religional Acci interpretation of the control of th

Foreign Exchange Rates Dollar Spot 105860 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 1558600 15586000 Spot 0.5426 / 10 Storffal Spot 10000 24440 20155 10000 24440 20155 25554 1119 14785 1129 25220 45845 11223 252370 55653 14181 32520 64002 257174 11923 25156 11223 2515 05886 14338 12045 35,45 13988 64880 11575 5,7046 1,7034 28197 79070 15,86 16797 123,51 3,3550 UK Australia
Austria
Belgam
Carrada
Demmrark
ECU
Priland Franca
Germany
Hong Kong
reland
Italy
Japan
Melaysia
Melaysia
Melaysia
Melaysia
Melaysia
Sediand
Norway
Souliand
Norway
Souliand
Soulia 2,4409 205301 2,5909 11,978 1,978 1,978 2,975 2, 24360 20464 59712 23766 11020 14678 87185 9652 28940 47907 13434 11188 26538 20585 57002 19190 15897 69542 174.49 3.7533 15796 49323 14431 74712 13803 32604 27010 11815 296,47 6,3769 2,6640 8,3800 245,19 12,694 2,3452 Other Spot Rates Country Sterling
Argentina 17085
Braza 17085
Braza 18848
Chris 14132
Czech Rep 55.5h
Egypt 57960
Greena 38260
Hungary 33171
Inde 62A58
Indonesa 0.5171
Nigeria 13859

Interest Rates
UK Germany
Base 7.25% Discount
Combard Intervention 3.30% Canada
Prime Discount 6.25% Discount
SpAdvance 3.30% Discount
Denmark
SpAdvance 3.30% Discount Dollar Dollar 06570 75086 57680 53983 62125 100547 16893 52,888 64591 35873 62671 0.3850 44000 33800 3.5150 3.6405 5892.0 989.36 30.992 37.850 185100 3.6725 1,000 11045 8,2810 32,529 3,3964 2242,0 194,38 36,600 33,275 0,3030 81,800 Omer Palestan Philipnes Poland Cater Russa South Kon Talwan Thaland Turkey UAE US
2.50% Prime
4.50% Discount
Fed Funds
5.25% Spain
3.75% 10-d Repo
Sweden
3.50% Repo(Aws) Japan
Discount
Belgium Discount
Central Switzerla
Discount 850% 500% 544% 500% 0.509 275% 330% 100% 3.75% 4.10% Lombard Bond Yields

Country 3mth chg
Australia 385 000
Carnada 356 000
Carnada 356 000
Carnada 376 000
Dispan 372 000
Japan 373 000
Japan 373 000
Spain 496 00
Sweden 210 00
UK 705 000 2 yr chg 508 0.06 443 0.05 439 0.01 474 0.01 453 0.03 436 0.04 565 0.05 0.54 0.03 449 0.04 495 0.00 517 0.05 213 0.01 734 0.09 571 0.02 10 yr 805 5.75 5.57 5.63 5.61 6.26 187 5.60 6.39 3.67 5.90 688888888855684 68888888885568485 chg 006 001 000 003 003 003 004 004 000 004 5 yr 562 516 503 524 505 518 580 517 512 545 606 291 693 581 1 yr 4.76 4.22 4.16 4.81 3.88 4.14 5.81 0.44 4.85 4.95 2.38 7.88 5.16 Money Market Rates Treasury Bills
LIBOR
Domestic Depos Eurostering Deps
Eigible Bank Bills
Sterling CDs
Eurodoller CDs
ECU Deposits 741 747 741 747 723 716 745 738 561 444 425 756 763 756 763 728 720 758 750 573 450 428 769 769 734 758 580 456 7,75 775 7,24 7,58 725 738 731 744 781 773 Liffe Financial Futures Est floor volume 58728 35536 Open interest 153468 249000 Contract
Long Git
German Bund
LIS Long Bond
Jupan Govt Bd
Jupan Govt Bd 177.59 102.52 High 1841 10267 1127 13018 9239 9228 9619 9592 9362 9433 Settlement 117.63 102.55 117.91 115.3 130.10 92.31 92.17 96.17 95.90 93.57 94.25 99.49 97.67 95.31 95.31 95.31 95.32 4822.00 111.44 13005 92.30 92.16 96.16 95.88 93.54 94.26 725.42 1638 21875 37503 16487 21920 11901 14092 T10942 139942 126423 296846 311307 105741 109778 5499 5973 381 197 6588 9725 9765 9528 9521 47700 9790 9770 9533 9524 484200 7412 54218 8770 6588 66167 nt Prices: 4793.70
Nov
Call imp Vol Put imp Vol
172 36 77 36
139 33 88 35
110 35 110 35
82 32 132 32 Settleri Series 4700 4750 4800 4850 Dec Call Put 285 163 256 183 226 206 196 227 Call Put 338 207 309 228 279 248 249 269 Goldma 5:30pm %chgYTD -468 -365 -737 -066 -629 -1258 Chg 078 273 033 019 071 148 31 Dec 215.26 231.23 85.86 168.79 191.03 463.54 Energy Products($/tonne)
Spot CIF NW Eur
Gesoline 95 19900
Naphtha 19900
Gasoli 18250 Industrial Metals TME stocks Chg
724625 -2300
46780 -500
343375 -1400
76675 -75
66618 -76
9405 -30
4777350 -825 700 -700 -250 8000 500 950 16115 1485 19725 5785 6285 5670 1179 Aluminum HG Aluminum Alloy Copper A Lead Nickel Tin Zinc 1809.5 1480 1971.5 577.5 827.5 5660 1178 1639 1480 1891 591 5360 5640 1203 Precious Metals Day's Yr's trade chg 30805 -72.70 72.36 377.55 322.21 -71.25 Coffee Çocoa POTATIONS
LIFTE EXONNE
NOV97 95:00
Mar98 105:00
Apr98 138:50
Vol: 140
Com*
CBOT Cenns/tesh
Dec97 278:00
Mar98 288:00
May98 283:07
Vol: 4555:40 Lgs Potatoes
ATA $25k kg
Nov97 73400
Feb98 73500
Apr98 73500
Vot: 282250
Soya Beams*
CBOT 5-5k behle
Nov97 2300
Jan98 __
Mar98 28.70
Vot: 567 Limonin d.mar T) Mingd 3 Acc.
Limonin & Marchesiar Flor Acc.
Limonin & Ganty
Hamaged
Matthest Schouthy Marraged
Matthest Schouthy Marraged
Matthest Schouthy Marraged
Matthest Chicary
Remain Marraged
Matthest Chicary
Remain Limonin & Profice
Norwich Limonin & Profice
Norwich Limonin & Profice
Norwich Limonin & Profice
Norwich Limonin & Profice
Profice Light See
Profice
Profice Light See
Profice
P

28   15	end rober L opper	nied Ga		oy Yid 1915 0:00 8:32 0:00	Fund UK E	guilty Gwrlit '	5943 63	76 22 12 40 351 X 40 351 X	Fund Recover UK Smit UK Smit	ry Acc r Cos r Cos Acc relitan Unit T	705-20 75 8746	7 Yld 220 161 1 196 141 7 426 141 1
7 X   1 P		v	9021   1 4354   4 19672   1 2077   2 1290   1 2843   2 8652   1 8086   1	975 000 632 000 544 000 984 000 9774 000 947 000	UKE:	uityGwthAcc rd Unix Trust M ging Mkts r Carth PiolAcc	19360 123 7058 74 18110 181 18000 14 7632 12	29 000 50 005 X	EuroGe Fundott HighYo HighYe	rin Past the American id Bond id Bond Acc	7729 8 7502 7 5872 6 5830 6 8922 8 7109 1	861 053 986 000 454 577 670 577 482 128 775 000 X
		POLICE - Unit: Trusts al Asset: Manage	16402 17	285 04	Continues incering Japan	der der der Acc uityGerhAcc rid Unik Trust M ging Mks of Centh PicAloc PicAloc rio PicAlo oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc oficAcc	78.22 B2 72.49 R 80.59 B8 40.32 45 1650 B4	26 343 X 26 000	Sunnte UK Own UK Inc. UK Inc.	r Cos Ace collean Unix T din Plus the American in Election in Ace Ace the Ace Ace the Ace Ace the Ace ace d Unix Thurs and Ace	7309 7 12689 12 17285 12 11002 1	070 5/7 482 128 775 000 X 478 168 467 464 704 404
	å mi å mi Eur i Eur i		73590 77 23488 20 20215 2 17561 1	884 600 2287 080 1886 0.3 1846 03 8786 00 8786 00 8156 04 8156 04 8156 04 8156 04 8156 04 8156 04 8156 04 8156 04 8156 05 8156 04 8156 06 8156	Priva Priva UK i	iener Geeth in Geeth againt againt againt in Coodersh terrise if & General (U ; Couet, 18 Pice ag CP2 ITL (C) 222, 4484(2, 1	1620 154 727 1 93650 1107 57650 67 57650 68 40610 430 83050 68	750 124 X 240 152 210 334 180 430 X	Balance Belance British British	ed ed Acc	74.93 7 84.83 8 128.30 9 154.30 1 103.50 1	846 202 X 868 255 X 220 197 160 157	MWW.
X REAL PROPERTY OF THE PROPERT	ar Ea ar Ea Ispani Ispani	st Acc at Inc GrowCheaA GrowCheaS	294.70 25 264.67 2 84.00 ( 84.04 ( 88.70 6	8788 GA 8186 GO 8221 GA 8186 GA 8183 GO 8184 GO 8184 GO 8184 GO 8184 GO	World Legs	niCoeGreb Seria I & General (U r, Court, 10 Pica en CP2 ITT.	83050 363 8184 8 T Managers) aian Place	518 0200   Lad	Corpor Extra I Extra I FT-SE	min Bond ton the tight he Asc 100 inc	824 0	220 197 5740 620 X 5740 620 X 629 582 X 660 582 X 6037 194 618 608 618 608
31 X	SE CO	eri Bra Acc St Acc St Acc St Acc Scouglatus Good Catus Her Fac Her Hers Her Hers Her Hers Her Hers Her Hers Hers Her Hers Her Her Hers Her Her Hers Her Her Hers Her	49312 S 26338 3 2653 2 26112 C					IN REST	Cat & F Gas & F High Yi	Acc ons Acc ons Acc on the Bond tigh the fight he Acc of the Acc of the Acc odd Acc hold Acc hold Names	58.80 197.40 2 278.80 2 220.20 E	618 608 540 608 990 583 X
25	etral Cara	TOPTOACE TOPTOACE	68780 7 58550 1 19850 1	200 E4		n 1 y Acz ny Duerb ty Income peer n Index Eastern d Int	9600 890 1200 167 1200 187 1200 187 1520 187 1520 187 1530 187	190 203 190 4.6 X 720 0.08 190 1.08 810 0.00 X	Income Income Money Money	Azz Market Market Azz	11080 39490 4 93620 9 4929 8743 8230	660 562 X 2 2 2 3 4 3 4 3 4 3 4 3 4 3 4 3 4 3 4 3	DESCRIPTION OF THE PERSON OF T
X. [	Guerra Guerra	h Egy hil Hil Acc Boynel	119.00 1 139.50 1 488.70 7 755.60 8 17770 1 212.10 2	1900 444 1930 90 1930 84 1930 64 14290 62 2210 98 1940 10 1940 10 1940 90 1940		nai Gerth Bond	3034 2		Horse Amer ( Assen Dopos	Azc Market Acc Wincomo in Grunfell Ui Swith - Ster Trader-Ster It Inc	at: Trust M 55930 S 16170 1 10008 ]	gettt 2270 (100 5300 044 2	LANGUA REPORT AND LANGUAGE
13 X 15 X	Japan North Pacific LIK 10 Goine	American O Inc Track O Inc Track Inc Cos Ship Inc Ideal			_	on India, india, American file Gerth file India, india, india,	3023 9 9023 9	683 000 A71 000 X 050 A00 243 038 X 262 257 X 023 255 3	Europe Europe Europe Europe Genoo	it inc it inc Acc Buth Acc Goth inc	143.31 251.50 2 811.50 6 604.90 6 221.60	### ### ### ### ### ### ### ### ### ##	CHIME
73 27 28 29 20 20	Ase S Saue ( Cautt Equal) Foult	en Cost Chip ous lifigd i finc i finc Acc	72.50 72.50 262.29 2 262.23 1 165.88 254.86 2	295.84 03 286.34 47 176.37 3.5 270.97 3.3	EX LKK	index AGO Recovery Smil Cos StachliferhetAco Tursical	9023 9 9129 9 9140 9 18090 9 8831 6 7959 7 10420 10	622 255 X 129 255 X 149 145 X 140 108 X 161 049 X 161 149 X 161 149 X	Gence High I inti Be inti Ge Japan	nc and sith Gwth Tracker	nt. Trunk M 558370 5 100035 1 100035 1 100035 2 60430 5 221600 5 221600 5 24640 7436 4653 24640 4 4653 24640 5 24640 5	2610 000 X 7578 000 4808 000 X	600
00 34 28	Eur 6 Europ Globe Clobe Globe	asi Mgd ; i hr. Acc ; inc. Acc ;	9355 13625 14251	97097 33 08222 60 9800 00 9711 61 94487 12 94152 12	UKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKKUKK	indite Acts Placevery Smil Cos Smil Smil Smil Smil Smil Smil Smil Smil		420 076 3610 131 X 6710 131 X	Maner MFB in UK Ba	Gruth Tracker ped Acc ped ino fit Bond ue Chip A no Chip i ny Acc-Star gy inc-Star	298.30 2 208.20 4 49.39 123.20 120.90	4928 000 X 1930 161 1930 181 4870 182 1910 182 1980 182 1980 187 X 1910 183
139 139 139 139 139	MK & High i Incom Incom Reco	Chine Provider 10 Share 16ShareAcc 16TV	10431	76.26 00 108.24 54 1081 75 142.43 75 562.60 21 256.80 21		opean East bel with	7680 9 367 3 8951 9 6921 7688 8	51.24 658 24.50 0154 24.08 000 25.73 0.33 70.51 2.5 24.86 3.50 82.2 5.2 X		py Act. Star py inc. Ster with Acc. with Inc. des. Tracker Acc. des. Tracker Inc.	12090 36080 3 25490 16590 14920 28820	27070 379 X 6880 301 6030 301 80720 288
55 55 55 55 55 55 55 55 55 55 55 55 55	Pleco Sterio Sterio UKEn UKEn	rerý ACC ng Bond centingninc nergCasACC nergCasinc	48210 588.70 ( 12.24 143.88 403.90 ( 282.90	7850 21 7850 61 14603 61 42940 21 31140 21 72000 31		Allenchin Studenchinous au Studenchinous Studenchinous	7888 8 5496 9 8407 6 840 1 5640 1 8641 1 8284 (	426 358 822 55 X 820 000 825 183 700 000 1530 191 X		de Trackerint n Cos k Acc k inc ay johnstone en Acc	27790 973.70 381.20 344.50 Unit Thus	20270 3/9 X 88.80 301 86.30 301 80720 2/88 84290 2/85 00170 2/00 X 94300 083 94430 083 Mgmt
19 19 40 40 40	UKSA Vitorio Harry	estimates extra view of the control	70780 40240 7588 54.90 52.00	40950 1 9168 1	3 3 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	ori Penedi American Savery Adde Capital Gwith yda Basik Unic wanthotten Hos	inat Marag	9869 (184 ) 9840 (185 ) en Lad	ACUM ACUM ACUM	en Acc en enflus enflusAcc	19410 19410 7832 19720 6031 6063	1500 161 171 171 171 171 171 171 171 171 171
œx œx	ODE UK P	numbre&Gerth numbre&GthAo pri Trust ACG pol Porticino C Lieft Trust P	52.00 : 55.31 : 62.05 5.64	ME LIM	A Te	: 8634 836660, briend anosti Acc ntEurGwthAcc	Deather 016	4 £400	Bus Corps	ien pnPes pnPesAcc cass Gwen Chip Acc preseBondAcc ossteBondino y inc pesti	6083 6720 6033 5401 12240	500 382 X 6039 660 X 5461 653 X 12570 383
185 365 560			155 155 187 (187 (187 (187 (187 (187 (187 (187 (	17QP 00 289505 22090 11	20 X FT 60 22 X 2	relieurpeGwith the Inc. Acc. SE 100 Acc. mman Gwith Acc. rith Ploto rith Ploto Acc. rith Inc.	47500 5 16500 22 9825 34750 3 9850 10 16600 1 16870 7 73880 7		Euror Caloba Japan Pacifi	pean al Bond n Gwti ic Gest Cos	405 7822 7889	6572 382 X 6672 382 X 5481 683 X 12570 383 12570 383 4447 472 X 8066 800 7874 242 1250 142 X
142 253 243 316 X 029 024 220 X	inco	1100		4758 1 84550 1	22   Ga 25   Ga 26   Ga 27   Ga 28   G	rmen Gwith rmenGwithAcc rith Pilolio rith Pilolio Acc th lot	168.70 1 168.70 1 73680 7 77580 8 10880	5540 028 1010 865	UK C Winter NPI Amer	icourts do Egy Seventement, P ricos Acc	9792 12700 8269 tamagers 18130
ARX Y	Trials LIK is	index_	77080 13790 19810 6632	7078 0	190   18	n int th int Acc in Reserve in Reserve in Reserve in Ploto Ploto Acc	65030 E	8080 780 1613 350	Euro Euro X Far E	routh to Edy becelerates, Process for a Acc on the Care Acc on the Care Acc Care for Care Acc Care for Care Acc Care for A	14880 16100 17380 12370 12560	340 000 223 000	١
195 000 110	내었다	imelicas melicas Fund rican Puth rican Puts track 100 in Gurth in Band income	74050 38000 23120 8300 2044 13760	2050 4	ne im	ZUMB .	99610 7	TEL 70 108		Care Acc Care inc CareincAcc Careincinc IncomeSond	17390 12170 12500 10440 10472 7373 7746 5487	708 653 7761 350 7524 350 645 800 6258 000	١
151 189 489 X 129	調	an Geren yn Indias yn§mirCos Raestern Funds			166 X 140 100 X 140 124 120 124 120 140 140 140 140 140 140 140 140 140 14	como Ace pen Gwith pen Gwith Ace ister Trust Acestra Trust Acestra Ace	ALDT 88.95 111.40 cc 234.70 cc 228.90	98400 $05 7796 000 7817 000 1837 120 9251 120 98670 000 94680 000 94680 000 98480 000 18140 006 18140 066 18500 068	Lein Use Ose Ose	AmericanAcc Americanino as Acc as Datro Los	5843 5842 18830 188790 1043.30	1255 000 x 1452 40 026 12400 026 12400 026
147 276 X 283 283	[ Hou	مترب وبيوبا و			la		11300	38480 000 18140 086 19350 068 19800 176	UK I	venengamme es Aec es Dairb lec leib somineAec scraincine perOppsAec ris Aec	19830 198790 194330 50030 13030 19680 15261	1920 317 1920 317 18064 122 1980 000	١
000 X 545 048	Em Pal Acc Bat	oreaments with the confidence of the confidence	Herge 52 Herrer La 2277 9803 5330	3650 7320 8691	15	mirCos&Rowy mirCos&RecAcc K Ecply Inc k Ecplify Gerth K Growth	55280 77590 15500 19320 1	58170 195 8680 195 16490 3.73 20660 227 1220 188		ide inc ide inc Acc ide inc inc Augustalia skumarter (Sin	717,20 104.14 94.70 130,80	123.40 000 / 10962 136 9968 138 /	-
1107 X 900 900 900 900	Go	with Act with Inc ome ome Act whenever invest	3906 3748 4157	4355 440 397 4408	缀似	k Growth Acc PuntleGroth PunkleGrothAcc	37L50 55400 npt Umbral	16870 158 39850 040 58940 040 In Trust	Show Mar Bale Bale	dominide dominide anced anced Acc	1780 10820 1270 12820	19400 4027 11530 178	۱ ٔ
190 X 200 X 110 X 200 X 200 X 220 X		Funds encanSentrCos an Enterprise t of British	219.76 144.84 84.86 102.82	23390 54,72 8996 102,62	000 X 122 y 178 x 720 X 027 X	ormerly Lloyds propesti Acc soils Acc scritc Acc K Equity Acc	25400 : 3188 4820 36630 39800	26490 150 33.28 000 50.58 283 373.50 246 31000 080	X Name of the last	Gwith : West Unit 7 ope Acs se incinc se inc Acs East Acc	19972 19972 1919 1924	98.06 0.33 98.06 0.33 52.36 6.47 59.48 6.47 57.25 0.35
000 X		ppean inc	73826 10386	783.59 110.09	340 X	orth Amer Acc KSmerCosAco IBG Securities	298.00 168.50 Limited	17900 206	X Ext	a tro Acc East Acc	5709 54.24	5948 647 5725 035	_
6.70 6.70 035 X 1.79					I			1	T
173 053 042 233 493 X 551 X 198 000 000 000								•
116 000 000 000 624 X 583			B				∽	h
245	1	•	P			UI				71	3
035 A 000 X 120 138						E.	a	A. 10.00
025 025 000 996 2 000
220												-
251 251 251		· -	i. · .	. ·								-	-
271 221 200 200 200 200	۱		.:i. ' .	e ·						. •. . •.		•	-
271 050 050 050 050		· -	i- • •	e ·					•			-	-
200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200		: ·		e i						. •,		-	-
271 221 221 221 221 221 222 223 224 225 225 225 225 225 225 225 225 225		· ·		М					1	γ !		-	-
271 221 221 221 221 221 222 223 224 225 225 225 225 225 225 225 225 225				NO
211 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221				NO					0/1	0 1		. Day Wil	-
211 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221	K KK KKKK KK KK	und Sapa Sant Cos Sapa Sant Cos	206	Buy 68 22150 11550 11550	870.Y	YOU Fund			1 gg	and invited Funds A under Fund	c ?	-	2770
211 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221	XXXX XX XXXXXX	Surph Sant Cos Surph Valus Surph Valus Ac School Bond Slobel Bond Slobel Technolog	206 104 336 27 28 27	(8) 22190 (6) 16890 (2) 2829 (2) 35782 (2) 35782 (3) 28659 (4) 2008	870.Y	YOU Fund		20 64330 0 00 80640 0 00 83650 0 00 96750 0 00 18870 0 80 20240 1 90 19630 2	133 F	contolFundsAr unctolFundsAr unctolFundsAr unchanner unch	CG 107	20 22 32 22 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32	2770011338
211 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221 221	C CK XXXXXX XX XX XXXX Ed	Surph Smir Cos Surph Value Act Surph Value Act Subsel Technolo Subsel Technolo Signi Income Technolo & Genth Income & Genth In	206 the 206 th	22190 350 1850 125 2822 126 2572 127 2572 128 2572 128 2865 128 2865	870.Y	YOU Fund		20 64330 0 00 80640 0 00 83650 0 00 96750 0 00 18870 0 80 20240 1 90 19630 2	133 F	undolFundsA- undolFundstrapan Acc th America th America A- seguard IK General Ac IK General Ac IK Income IK Income IK Englighth IKEglighth IKEglighth IKEglighth	CC 777 CC 777 X SC 777 X CC 98 SC 98	20 22 32 22 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32	77700113313068222222222222222222222222222222222222
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Surpa Sanir Cos surpa Valus Accionte Indonesia Indonesia Subbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Cos Will America Pendi & Bend Cos	2060 100 335 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 10	22190 350 1850 125 2822 126 2572 127 2572 128 2572 128 2865 128 2865	138 X 1000 X 1000 X 1000 X 1557 X 1273 X 127	Fund Amer & Gen Amer &	Sell 1	0 64330 0 0 86840 8 0 86840 8 0 96750 0 0 18830 0 0 18830 2 0 1874	133 F 133 X 137 X 130 X 140 S 1339 238 272 110 110 110 110 120 1450 X 1450 X 1450 X	undolfunds/A undolfunds/I span Acc th America A thi America A thi America A thi America A K General Ac K I montel	CC 76 CC 77	26 253 12 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Surpa Sanir Cos surpa Valus Accionte Indonesia Indonesia Subbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Cos Will America Pendi & Bend Cos	2060 100 335 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 10	30 22190 30 18390 30 18390 30 18390 30 2823 30 2833 30 2835 30 2835 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 30 3	1 039 X 1 000 X 1 000 X 2 572 2 650 X 2 772 2 100 X 2 172 2 100 X 2 10 X 2	Fund Amer & Gen Amer &	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	133 F 133 X 137 X 130 X 140 S 1339 238 272 110 110 110 110 120 1450 X 1450 X 1450 X	undolfundskundofundshundshundshundshundshundshundshundsh	CC 76 77 77 X S C 99 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44	20 22.53 12 48 78.65 13 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	Q
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Surpa Sanir Cos surpa Valus Accionte Indonesia Indonesia Subbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Vechnolosi Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Bibbel Cos Will America Pendi & Bend Cos	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 18905	1 039 X 1 000 X 1 000 X 2 572 2 650 X 2 772 2 100 X 2 172 2 100 X 2 10 X 2	Fund Amer & Gen Amer &	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	133 F 133 X 137 X 130 X 140 S 1339 238 272 110 110 110 110 120 1450 X 1450 X 1450 X	undolfundskundofundshundshundshundshundshundshundshundsh	CC 76 77 77 X S C 99 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44	20 22.53 12 48 78.65 13 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	Q
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Euryn Sank Cos Empe Wallen Euryn Valles Ac Euryn Valles Ac Euryn Valles Ac Euryn Sachel Bernd Sobel Bernd Sobel Bernd Sight Inschrei From & Cowthan Ingern Sink Co Lapsen Sink Co Lapsen Sink Co Lapsen Sink Co Lapsen Sink Co Lapsen Sink Co Lapsen Cou Lapsen Cou Lapsen Sink Co Lapsen Cou Lapsen Cou	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 18905	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 100 X 2	Fund Aumer & Gen Aumer Servic Company Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	133 F 133 X 137 X 130 X 140 S 1339 238 272 110 110 110 110 120 1450 X 1450 X 1450 X	undolfundskundofundshundshundshundshundshundshundshundsh	CC 76 77 77 X S C 99 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44	20 22.53 12 48 78.65 13 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	Q
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Guper Smir Cos Guper Vallan Guper Vallan Guper Vallan Guper Vallan Guper Vallan Guper Smir Cos Guper Smir Cos No America Poulity Smir Cos No America Guper Smir Cos No America Accuración Esta Accuración Rom Balanciad Accuración Rom Balanciad Guper Smir Cos Martenegia Smir Accuración Rom Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Balanciad Guper Smir Bullanciad Guper Smir Bullanciad Bul	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 18905	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 100 X 2	Fund Aumer & Gen Aumer Servic Company Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	133 F 133 X 137 X 130 X 140 S 1339 238 272 110 110 110 110 120 1450 X 1450 X 1450 X	undolfundskundofundshundshundshundshundshundshundshundsh	CC 76 77 77 X S C 99 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44 44	20 22.53 12 48 78.65 13 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	Q
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	cuper Smir Cos cuper Value cuper Value cuper Value come income sichel Bond sichel Bond sichel Bond recommischer helperioter Francischer helperioter Francischer helperioter Francischer helperioter Francischer helperioter Francischer Helperioter Ger Artweight Rom Bestern Green Liebert Copies Artweight Rom Bestern Green Helperioter Ger Francischer Helperioter Ger Francischer Helperioter Ger Francischer Helperioter Ger Francischer George Francischer Helperioter Ger Francischer George Francischer George Francischer Help Vestel High Vestel	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 18905	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 100 X 2	Fund Aumer & Gen Aumer Servic Company Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F	under Juriah August Junior Harden August Junior Har	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Europe Sank Caserpo Walter Serpe Walter W	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 18905	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 BBO X 2	Fund Aumer & Gen Aumer Servic Company Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F	under Juriah August Junior Harden August Junior Har	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1	0, 00054548000056777712000000000000000000000000000000000
2210 ) 1 000 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	Graph Smit Cos Graph Walles Ac- company was a com- company was a com- company was a com- pany was a com- pany was a com- pany was a com- layer man a com- man a com- layer man a	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 1890555 18905	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 BBO X 2	Fund Anner & Gen A Austriann & Ge Compound Ge Compound Ge Compound A Compound Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 663750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F	under Juriah August Junior Harden August Junior Har	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1	0, 00054548000056777712000000000000000000000000000000000
	XXXXXX XX	Graph Smit Cos Graph Walles Ac- company was a com- company was a com- company was a com- pany was a com- pany was a com- pany was a com- layer man a com- man a com- layer man a	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 18190500 18190500 18190500	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 BBO X 2	Fund Anner & Gen A Austriann & Ge Compound Ge Compound Ge Compound A Compound Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	00 64330 00 00 6640 0 00 6640 0 0 6640 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 663750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 664750 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F	under Juriah August Junior Harden August Junior Har	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1	0, 000545480000000000000000000000000000000
	XXXXXX XX	Graph Smit Cos Graph Walles Ac- company was a com- company was a com- company was a com- pany was a com- pany was a com- pany was a com- layer man a com- man a com- layer man a	206 108 108 108 233 252 253 253 253 253 253 253 253 253	81 2219050 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 18190500 18190500 18190500	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 BBO X 2	Fund Anner & Gen A Austriann & Ge Compound Ge Compound Ge Compound A Compound Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0	F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F	under Juriah August Junior Harden August Junior Har	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1	0, 000545480000000000000000000000000000000
	XXXXXX XX	Suppression State Control Stat	200 TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL TIME TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL	81 2219050 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 18190500 18190500 18190500	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 BBO X 2	Fund Anner & Gen A Austriann & Ge Compound Ge Compound Ge Compound A Compound Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0	F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F F	under Juriah August Junior Harden August Junior Har	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1	0, 000545480000000000000000000000000000000
	THE STANDARD OF THE STANDARD S	Suppression State Control Stat	200 TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL TIME TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL	81 2219050 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 18190500 18190500 18190500	1 039 X 1 000 X 2 272 BBO X 2	Fund Anner & Gen A Austriann & Ge Compound Ge Compound Ge Compound A Compound Comp	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1
	THE STANDARD OF THE STANDARD S	Suppression State Control Stat	200 TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL TIME TOTAL TOTAL TIME TOTAL	81 2219050 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190550 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 1819050 1819050 1819050 18190500 18190500 18190500 18190500		Fund Aumer & Gen Compound Gen C	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1
	THE STANDARD OF THE STANDARD S	Suppression State Control Stat	200 TOTAL STATE OF THE STATE OF	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Aumer & Gen Compound Gen C	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1
	THE STANDARD OF THE STANDARD S	Suppr Smit Cos  Lampri Smit Cos  Lampri Nebel An  Lampri	2000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Amer & Gen & Ge	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1	0, 000545480000000000000000000000000000000
120 00000015150040404040404040441151450001714 8000000000000000000000000000000000000	・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・・	Suppr Smit Cos  Lampri Smit Cos  Lampri Nebel An  Lampri	2000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Amer & Gen & Ge	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1
120 000002151003824490988034440089441119888031101 800000000000000000000000000000	・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・	Suppr Smit Cos  Lampri Smit Cos  Lampri Nebel An  Lampri	2000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Amer & Gen & Ge	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	## 1
120 0000021510038244909880344400034411138823000010111 80000000000000000000000000000	・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・	Suppr Smit Cos  Lampri Smit Cos  Lampri Nebel An  Lampri	2000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Amer & Gen & Ge	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	CC 1777 CC 177	20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 2
	XXXXXXX XX X	Samir Constant Samir	2000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Amer & Gen & Ge	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	C RESTRUCTION OF THE PROPERTY	20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 2
120 0000018501900000000000000000000000000000	XXXXXXX XX X	Samir Constant Samir	2000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund Amer & Gen & Ge	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	C RESTRUCTION OF THE PROPERTY	20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 2
120 0000018301830190900000000000000000000000	XXXXXXX	Samir Cost	2000 1 1 2 1 1 1 2 2 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200	X	Fund  Amer & Gen A  Amer Shirt Coa  Austriannia  Composed Sor  Composed	Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala Sala	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	C Resident Marchael M	20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 2
	・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・ ・	Sam Sam Casara Sam Casara Natura Sam Natura Sam Casara Natura Sam Casara Natura Sam Casara Natura Na	2000 1 1 2 1 1 1 2 2 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1			Fund  Amer & Gen  Compound  Bern  Compound  Bern  Compound  Bern  Compound  Bern  Compound  Bern  Compound  Bern  Bern  Bern  Gen  Bern  Bern  Gen  Gen  Gen  Gen  Gen  Gen  Gen	Subject to the subjec	0 6439 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6		under Jerocke in der Schale in	C A C C A C C C C C C C C C C C C C C C	20	Q 000544908555757575500099
	XXXXXXX	Samir Cost	200 TOTAL STATE OF THE STATE OF	2100 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200 2200		Fund Amer & Gen &	Subject to the subjec	0 6439 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0 2024 0 0 0 0		indelibration in a process of the control of the co	C A STATE OF THE S	20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 2	Q 000544908555757575500099

FINANCIAL EXPRESS Bloomberg

| Supplementary | Supplementar

| Common Foundary | Common Fou

Fourty inc Acc
Estaty inc Acc
Strong Gwith
Far Estat Gwith
Global Bornd Acc
Homerstein
Jugus Gwin
Jugus Jugus
Jugus
Jugus Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
Jugus
J

Better Friedrich in Control of the C

oler Lod 2932 2023 346 x 14173 2023 346 x 14173 2023 347 120 5278 5721 787 x 9267 9856 059

High income World Acc
Worl

٠..

ymer!

BUSINESS & CITY EDITOR, JEREMY WARNER NEWS DESK: 0171-293 2636 FAX: 0171-293 2098 E-MAIL: INDYBUSINESS@INDEPENDENT.CO.UK FINANCIAL JOURNAL OF THE YEAR

Allied considers spirits demerger to counter Diageo

Allied Domecq reacted yesterday to the threat from newly formed spirits giant Diageo by saying it was considering alliances with other drinks companies and might break itself up if it would help forge a deal. Tom Stevenson, Financial Editor, heard the Beefeater gin to Dunkin' Donuts group's plans.

Sir Christopher Hogg, who joined Allied Domecq as chairman 18 months ago, said the retailing and spirits group was actively considering all its op- increasing warmth towards the tions, including the break-up it idea of a demerger by saying: rejected only last year. The "the issue is more a matter of recently announced merger of pragmatism than of principle". Grand Metropolitan and changed the trading landscape for Allied, he said, and made the spirits company more pressing.

Speculation about an alliance with Seagram has swirled around the struggling group group with more than twice bill. Any abolition of ACT Allied's sales. Analysts believe the group has no option other than finding a strong partner to enable it to compete with Diageo's massive marketing muscle and global brands.

Diageo will have sales following the merger of 108 million cases a year, more than twice Allied's 47 million. Seagram, the third group, sells 41 million, with no other group reaching 30 million cases. Sir Christopher said yesterday that a demerger of the spirits side from Allied's smaller pubs and fast-food franchising operations was not a necessary precursor to an alliance, but he admitted that it might be a "facilitator". He hinted at Allied's

Another development likely Guinness to form Diageo had to encourage Allied to entertain a demerger is the expected abolition of advance corporation tax need for a tie-up with another (ACT), which has so far acted as a serious disincentive to splitting the group up. Because Allied's spirits profits are largely made overseas, the group needs ever since Guinness and Grand-sizeable UK profits against for the current year after the re-would eliminate that problem.

Allied's strategic options were outlined yesterday as the group announced better-thanexpected results for the year to August. Profits before tax rose 6 per cent to £607m, while a lower tax charge boosted earnings per share by 18 per cent to 39.1p. Sir Christopher said the results marked a "turning point" for the group, which has underperformed the market and the rest of the sector for many years.

The realisation that things need to change is long overdue for many of Allied's increasingly frustrated investors. The company's shares have underperformed the market by 60 per cent over the past five years, trailing even its struggling peers by 30 per cent over that period. Yesterday they closed 27p higher at 508p as analysts focused on the mooted changes.

In keeping with its peers Allied has suffered from flat demand around the world for spirits but it is also perceived to have a worse portfolio of drinks than its main rivals and to have been poorly managed.

Analysts increased forecasts Met joined forces to create a which to offset its overseas tax sults announcement but said the backing to the company's chief

Thinking about drinks alliances: Tony Hales, Allied Domecu's chief executive (left), and Sir Christopher Hogg, chairman

Photograph: Rui Zavier

numbers were less important executive, Tony Hales, and the turning to their head office brands, saw profits rise 6 per than yesterday's messages about the future direction of the group and its management. Sir Christopher gave his finance director, Tony Trigg, roles. who have come under mounting pressure from investors as lagged its rivals. Both are regin and Kahlua among its £414m, two thirds of the total.

cent last year. Margins rose At constant exchange rates, from 15.5 to 16.3 per cent. Afthe spirits arm, which includes ter a £29m hit from sterling, the performance of Allied has Ballantines whisky, Beefeater trading profits fell 1 per cent to profits rose 5 per cent to £232m.

In retailing, where brands include Victoria Wine, Firkin pubs and the Baskin Robbins and Dunkin Donuts franchises, Outlook, page 25

Bank expected to raise rates again after inflation reaches two-year high

As one mortgage lender reacted yesterday to last week's rise in interest rates, disappointing inflation figures brought warnings that the Bank of England would have to get even tougher. Diane Coyle and Michael Harrison report on the prospect of further increases in the cost of borrowing.

Headline inflation climbed to a two-year high last month, and the underlying measure moved further away from the Government's target, according to new figures published on the eve of the Bank of England's quarterly Inflation Report, Most City commentators predicted that the Bank's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) will raise interest rates again to be sure of squeezing the economy enough to bring inflation back on course.

One leading economist warned business leaders gathered for the Confederation of British Industry's conference that the cost of borrowing might have to go as high as 8 per cent to choke off inflationary pressures. Gavyn Davies, chief international economist at Goldman Sachs, said there was no evidence that the that capacity utilisation was rising and skills shortages were spreading.

"I conclude from all this that the Bank was right to raise base rates last Thursday and that there is a strong case for further increases in base rates over the next six months," he said.

He was joined by other experts reacting to yesterday's disappointing figures. David Bloom of James Capel said: "The MPC will have little choice but to continue on a course of interest rate tightening."

ister defended last week's quarter-point rise in base rates. Speaking via video link, Touv Blair said he knew it was hard to have interest rate rises and consequent pressure on the pound. But he added: "Better to have interest rate rises now - still at 7.25 per cent - than to go back to the early Nineties when they were at 15 per cent for a year."

Retail price inflation rose to 3.7 per cent last month, its highest since September 1995. With the September and October headline rates the most commonly used as a basis for pay claims in the all-important January round, analysts expressed concern that inflation approaching 4 per cent among those who think it would be uncould lead to significantly higher pay settiements next year.

Figures due today on unemployment and average earnings will be eagerly scrutinised for any signs that the tight jobs marbreakneck economic growth was slowing, ket is already causing wage pressures.

The underlying measure of inflation, excluding mortgage interest payments, rose to 2.7 per cent in October, moving further away from its 2.5 per cent target.

The last round of mortgage increases explained part of the rise in the headline inflation rate. The housing component of the RPI was up 9.2 per cent in the year to October. But other prices, included within the target measure, picked up too. Food prices accounted for much of the increase, with vegetables such as due to the weather. In addition, the prices of a range of services continued to accelerate. If the regulated utilities prices are excluded, inflation in the service sector was 4.3 per cent compared with 3.1 per cent in the same month last year.

Adair Thrner, the director-general of the CBL said he was convinced the actions being taken by the Government were the correct ones to ensure long-term economic stability. But the CBI stuck by its view that interest rates below 7.5 per cent were high enough to keep within the inflation target.

However, the weight of opinion, even necessary, pointed towards further rate rises in the new year. This helped the pound rise yesterday, although sterling had already been boosted by a weak yen. It ended around two pfennigs higher at DM2.91, and the sterling index climbed

Beckett hints at plans to tighten corporate governance

dropped a heavy hint that it planned tougher corporate governance rules, going beyond the recommendations of the Hampel Committee. Margaret Beckett, President of the Board of Trade, said there was a view that the draft report published by Sir Rounie Hampel, the chairman sures were necessary to toughen and widen its remit.

Addressing the Confederation of British Industry's annual conference in Birmingham, Mrs Beckett said: "We want forms of governance and company law that encourage companies to inof ICI, "wasn't sufficiently strong term strategic view and a broad new statutory obligations, giv-

The Government yesterday in some respects" and that mea-view of their obligations. They should also ensure openness and accountability not least in the relationship between shareholders and managers."

Advisers later played down suggestions that the Government was poised to legislate to oblige companies to invest vest and grow - to take the long- more. But it was made clear that were under consideration.

Mrs Beckett also took British industry to task for its poor performance in comparison to competitor nations. She said that companies had to benchmark their performance against the best in the world, not just the best in the UK.

Michael Harrison

ofears

er reference -

ساكيمة في المستاني

MESTERS !

y ticks — The bi

12025 E C + my

E. 20. 12-327

SEPTAR LEGISLAN

LACE WEARES SAF

المريد إدوى .

Transfer to it Kar

Copies aleman 2 . .

Sec. 25. 9

5.68 (C. 5. 5. E

Bupa set to make £240m cash bid for Care First

Bupa, the medical insurance giant, is today expected to launch a. cash bid for Care First, the troubled nursing home company. A bid, likely to be pitched at around £240m, will come as a relief to Care First's long-suffering investors, reports Sameena Ahmad.

Bupa and Care First were last night locked in tense negotiations over the price of a takeover bid by the unquoted medical insurance company. According to industry sources, Bupa has offered 150p cash for each Care First share, valuing the company at £240.5m. However, Keith Bradshaw. Care First's controversial founder and chairman, has been asking for nearer 170p a share.

Bupa is understood to be ready to mount a hostile offer. likely to be today, if it cannot get agreement from the Care First board. It is not yet clear whether Mr Bradshaw, who was pressured to resign by institutions for driving out the company's chief executive. Chai Patel, in August, will take a position on Bupa's board. It is believed that Mr Bradshaw has not made such an appointment a condition of an agreed deal.

A bid at 150p would net Mr Bradshaw, who owns more than 7 per cent of Care First's shares, some £18m. A bid at this level would represent a 6 per cent premium to Care First's closing price of 141.5p yesterday, unchanged on the day. However, since Care First announced in late October that it was in talks which could lead to a bid, its shares have jumped from a 96.5p, five-year low, to reach 146p at one stage, though still well off the group's five-year high of 289p, struck at the end

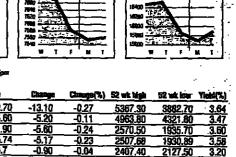

Schroders is advising Bupa while Care First is being advised by SBC Warburg Dillion Read. Bupa's intention to make a bid for Care First was first revealed by The Independent at the end of October. A spokesman for Bupa last night refused to comment, saying he would not speculate on rumours.

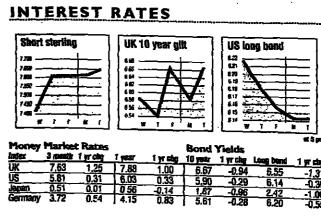

Buying Care First would add 135 nursing homes to Bupa's existing 76 homes, making it one of the UK's leading providers of integrated healthcare. Bupa has been aggressively buying up nursing home companies in the last year. In August it paid £76m to buy Goldsborough Healthcare which owns 32 nursing homes and six private hospitals. Graham Smith, formerly chief executive of Goldsborough, is managing director of Buna's mursing homes business and may run the Care First Care First, under the leadership of Mr Bradshaw, has had a turbulent history. Mr Bradshaw was criticised for growing the company, initially called Takare before it merged with Mr Patel's Court Cavendish company last year, too quickly.

The company has also been criticised for overspending on building low-quality homes, without, for example, ensuite toilets. Care First's overexpansion bit occupancy levels at the homes when funding pressures on local authorities increased in the mid 1990's, forcing the company to reverse its strategy. Mr Patel was brought in to run the newly merged company on the expectation that Mr Bradshaw would retire. However, Mr Bradshaw made it clear he wanted to keep hold of the reins, and Mr Patel found it increasingly difficult to work with him, resigning last August. Since then Mr Bradshaw has been under pressure to resign.

MAIN PRICE CHANGES

••
Rises	Prigate (p)	(a) (a)	% Chigo	Falls	Price ( <sub>P</sub> )	Chap (p)	% Digge
Affled Domeco	508.00	27.00	5.61	Royal and Sun	547.00	-24.00
Schroders	1550.00	75.00	5.08	Siebe	1100.00	-24.00	-4.20
Safeway	395.00	15.50	4.08	Redrow Group	156,00	-6.00	-3.85
BTG	667.00	24,50	3.81	Commercial Un	800	-25	-3.70 -3.03

OTHER INDICATORS

Building societies pour scorn on Abbey National for pushing up mortgage rate

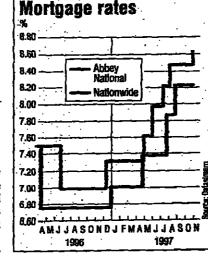

Mutual building societies yesterday attacked Abbey National for raising its mortgage rate by 0.25 of a percentage point. Nationwide, the largest remaining mutual society, questioned whether Abbey still wanted new mortgage business. Andrew Verity reports.

The debate over the benefits of mutuality was re-ignited yesterday when Nationwide said Abbey's decision to boost its standard variable rate to 8.7 per cent "makes one wonder whether they are serious about doing any new business".

Abbey's increase in the cost of borrowing is in line with the interest rate rise announced last week by the Bank of Enga bank, said it was likely to take a decision on whether to follow the rise within a week.

for failing to give customers the best value on mortgages. In Abbey National's case, repayments rise.

A spokesman for Nationwide said: who may well be tied in to their mortgages. the end of January 1998.

land. Halifax, which recently converted to had to put their rates up and are concerned for all mortgage holders."

Nationwide said that it had loaned The rise by Abbey prompted mutual £1.1bn over the last six months. That combuilding societies to mock the new banks pared with just £100m by Abbey National, which is 11-times its size. Both Nationwide and Bradford & 1.6 million customers will see mortgage Bingley have issued a challenge to other lenders to keep their rates down as low as the mutuals. Bradford & Bingley, "Compared with our rate of 8.1 per cent, which has a variable rate of 7.95 per cent, they are now 60 basis points higher. They committed itself last Thursday to leaving can only be hitting their existing borrowers mortgage rates unchanged until at least £125,000, repayments have risen by 12.7 per Abbey and Halifax both hit back at the remarks. Andrew Pople, retail managing director at Abbey, said: "During the course of the year, Abbey National has consistently passed on the benefit of base rate rises to savers, who outnumber borrowers by 7 to 1. We see no reason to change our approach on this occasion." Abbey National said the changes would mean an extra £2.10 a week to the average borrower with a repayment mortgage. However, it has not yet announced new rates for savers, which it said would be announced shortly. A spokesman played down comparisons based on the variable rate, saying 60 per cent of all new mortgages were now fixed-rate mortgages. A Halifax spokesman said: "We won't be making any announcement today. though now Abbey has moved it has altered the whole market. Any pressure for rate "We are very sad that the Abbey have rises is coming from the savings side - from supermarkets and insurance companies."

Abbey's rise means that its average mortgage holder has seen repayments rise by 12.3 per cent since the general election in May. For a repayment mortgage of £50,000 borrowed over 25 years, monthly repayments were £339.60 before the election. Five interest rate rises later, the same borrower is paying £381.30. The across-the-board rise of 0.25 of a percentage point will affect larger mortgages more dramatically. For a 25-year repayment mortgage of cent since May, from £881.87 to £993.69.

حكذا من الاحل

ernance

OUTLOOK ON THE LIKELIHOOD OF RECESSION IN THE US AND THE OPTIONS FOR ALLIED DOMECO

World-wide deflation: is it fact or fiction?

The threat of global deflation -a la 1930s end of the 1980s. This is highly unusual, for the two normally track each other, and thing to worry and talk about at City lunch a clear indication of deflationary forces at tables. Is this just a passing fad, a bit like the new economic paradigm of a few months back (whatever happened to that theory?) and more an alarmist symptom of the present wave of stock market turbulence than anything else, or should we be genuinely concerned?

For stock market bears, the theory has become a very handy way of re-justifying their stance. In recent times stock market corrections or bear markets have generally been caused, at least in the Western world, by deteriorating liquidity as central banks raise interest rates to combat inflation. Plainly there's a bit of that going on in Britain right now. After yesterday's clutch of economic indicators, it rather looks as if last week's quarter point on interest rates won't be the last. Even so, this hardly justifies the present bout of jitters. Inflation is still in abeyance in most of Europe and North America.

Instead, the turbulence in Western markets has been caused by the opposite thing - the fear of dellation. The contagion has spread, moreover, not from Wall Street into the rest of the world, as it usually does, but from the Far East, from the developing Pacific Rim economies into Japan and then into the US and Europe. One feature of this phenomenon has been a tendency for bond and equity markets to decouple, for bond prices to rise even as equities are falling, much as they have done in Japan since the stock market bubble burst at the work, the argument runs.

Taking the real economy, the deflation theory works like this. The crisis in the Pacific Rim economies may not be of critical importance to the US and Europe, but it is to Japan, half of whose exports go to Asia. Here there's a double whammy for Japan's already weakened economy. Nobody will be buying on past levels and even if they were, Japan's competitiveness has been severely undermined by currency devaluation in the region. What's more, the consequence of excessive investment in the region is overcapacity and too many goods looking for a market.

Still reeling from the after effects of Japan's own speculative stock market and property bubble, Japanese banks now have a whole new raft of bad loans to come to terms with. No wonder Barton Biggs, Morgan Stanley's stock market guru, is advising clients to quit waiting for a recovery, cut their losses and bail out of Tokyo.

With no Asian market to turn to, Japanese companies and their counterparts in the region will fix their efforts on the one big growth market left, the US. In the words of Andrew Smithers, of the London hased investment boutique Smithers & Co. "a weak yen would be part of the general devaluation of Asian currencies and would exacerbate the growing disparity in the US between the rise in costs of labour and services and the price of traded goods. This would pose a major threat to the profits and cash flow of US corporations." A fall in the yen thus becomes the trigger for a further fall on Wall Street. In a worst case scenario, there's a trade war, pressure for protectionism, and, hey ho, it's the 1930s all over again.

Compelling isn't it? But actually rather unlikely, at least in this form. Here's the other side of the coin. World capacity and output have not been growing at an unusually fast pace; investment spending is at around, or below, its long-run average relative to OECD and world GDP, although it is at a cyclical peak in the US. There are gluts and falling prices - but only in a handful of commodities, in particular in semiconductors, steel, possibly chemicals and cars. Because they are high-profile they exercise a tyranny over popular thinking. Although some OECD countries have high unemployment, this is structural. Others - the US, UK, and the Netherlands - have unemployment rates at 20 or 25-year lows: wages are rising faster than inflation across most of the OECD. The Asian slowdown will affect the rest of the world; but world GDP growth is still expected to be 3-4 per cent, well above the post-war trend. Asian growth forecasts have been cut from 8 per cent plus to 6 per cent, or about 4 per cent excluding China - still not a slump.

Commodity prices, the bottom of the price chain, are not falling. Outside Japan, real interest rates are relatively high; if there were any evidence at all of a troubling economic slowdown, central banks could easily tackle it by cutting interest rates. This is not to argue for complacency. The repercussions of the Asian crisis are still far from clear, and it does seem highly likely there will be real economic damage both to Japan and the US. But that it will cause a slump, or even a recession in the US looks at this stage rather improbable. A reduction in US economic growth? Certainly. An end to Wall Street's bull market? Very probably. A big Wall Street correction? Possibly. But worldwide deflation? Mmmm.

Allied may have to file for divorce

Tony (just call me Teflon) Hales and his boss for the past 18 months at Allied Domeco, Sir Christopher Hogg, were in surprisingly chipper form yesterday. Their mood may have been lifted by the unfamiliar experience of announcing better than expected profits. They must have been cheered too by seeing Allied's share price rise in response to the broadest of hints that the company in its present form is destined for the history books.

The market's desire for change is understandable. You would have to look pretty hard to find a worse corporate performance than Allied Domecq's over the past five years, a period in which profits have stagnated, shareholders' funds have dwindled by a fifth and the share price, down 20 per cent in absolute terms, has underperformed the rest of the market by more than 50 per cent.

It is quite some indictment of one of one else up the aisle, so be it.

Britain's biggest companies that its management can stand up and boast that its return on capital is now marginally ahead of its cost. Let's face it, this is hardly flingyour-hat-in-the-air good news.

Sir Christopher none the less managed to call it a turning point yesterday, even if he did look uncomfortably like a man who could think of better ways to wind up a previously successful career. For someone who created so much shareholder value by breaking up Courtaulds and who has overseen the rise and rise of Reuters, the shilly-shallying over what to do with Allied has left him looking tired and out of touch.

Despite the fanfare, yesterday's figures were nothing very special. Strip out the £47m benefit of unwinding an unfavourable beer supply agreement with Carlsberg Tetley and underlying profits were down a bit in spirits, up a bit in pubs. Scratch the surface and this is still a group going steadily sideways.

But the figures are a sideshow. More important yesterday was the tacit admission that the merger of Guinness and GrandMet to form Diageo means Allied can no longer afford to sit around hoping everything turns out all right in the end. Allied may sell more hard booze than anyone other than Diageo, but its brands are second division and its claimed global spread is so tnuch wishful thinking. If it is to stand a chance of competing with its new rival it needs to find a partner and quickly. Demerging may in itself do nothing for shareholders, but if a quick divorce is the only way to get some-

Hong Kong crisis: Customers queue to withdraw money from the International Bank of Asia as armed guards deliver cash Photograph: Bobby Yip/ Reuter

Optimism in Japan gives way to fears of a market collapse

Is Japan about to sink into a fresh deflationary spiral, with catastrophic consequences for the world economy? Barton Biggs, Morgan Stanley's legendary stock market guru, is advising clients not to wait any longer for that elusive recovery in the Tokyo market and cut their losses. Richard Lloyd Parry assesses Japan's growing economic ills and finds that remedies are in short supply.

To casual foreign observers, the popular notion that Japan is on the verge of a recession has often seemed a laughable one. For all the genuine gloom here, and for all the big changes that are taking place within the Japanese economy, Tokyo still looks, smells and feels like one of the richest and most confident cities in the world.

All over the capital, buildings are torn down and thrown up again in an endless orgy of construction; in the streets immaculate teenagers still clutch £500 handbags. At 3.5 per cent. unemployment is still the lowest in the industrialised world. and growth last year was the highest since 1991.

Since the bursting of the bubble economy in the early 1990s, Japan's re-entry into the real world has brought relative hardship - but to any European who lived through the economic slumps of the 1970s and 1980s, the self-pity which has enveloped Japan for the last two years has looked very like the sulk of a spoiled brat which had its own way for too long.

Even if the pace does not satisfy everyone, the government of Ryutaro Hashimoto has at least begun the job of reforming Japan's financial institutions and exposing them to much-needed competition. The country's banks have gone a long way to writing off the bad debts left over from the collapse of the bubble.

Last spring, the government's cleverest economist, Eisuke Sakakibara, put it into words when he spoke of the country's "irrational negative exuberance", and for a brief few weeks, Japan began cautiously to chirp up a little. Half a year later, that delicate dew of incipient confidence has evaporated completely, in the heat of a stiflingly dramatic summer.

Brave optimism has given way to almost unanimous pessimism in Tokyo; the question is no longer when the longawaited recovery will get under way, but whether the stock market can pull itself out of a downward spiral which could have grave consequences far beyond Japan. After years of waiting for a rebound in the Tokyo stock market, many foreign investors are giving up on the country and ordering big reductions in their exposure.

The crisis has been precipitated by the wave of currency devaluations which swept through South-east Asia this summer, beginning in Thailand and spreading quickly to the Philippines, Malaysia, Indonesia and now South Korea. The currency drama is taking its toll on Japan in two ways. For a start, there is renewed pressure on Japanese banks, whose Asian creditors suddenly find the cost of their yendenominated loans soaring. And secondly, the country's exports are suddenly extremely expensive in countries where spending, both corporate and consumer, is being cut back

Some 46 per cent of Japan's exports go to Asia, and twothirds of these are demand-sensitive goods. As their currencies have plummeted in value, Asians have less money to spend all round, and less inclination than ever to spend it on imported goods. South Korea, for instance, accounts for 7.1 per cent of Japan's exports: for every 1 per cent decline in Korean GDP, the amount of Japanese goods the county imports drops by more than 3 per

According to Jesper Koll. chief economist of JP Morgan Securities in Tokyo, the decline is Asian growth will cut Japan's exports by 7 per cent in the coming year. Reduced exports will lead to reduced production, lower corporate earnings and then to reduced wages, overtime and finally reduced employment levels.

And if the fortunes of Japan's exporters are uniquely tied up with Asia, so are those of its banks. In Thailand, for instance. American banks have lent $5bn (£3bn) to creditors whose repayments are suddenly 40 per cent more expensive than they were six months ago. For Japanese banks, however, the equivalent figure is

The continuing wobbliness of the Japanese banking system, despite genuine efforts to write off and clear up the remaining bad loans of the bubble period, was emphasised last week with persistent but unconfirmed rumours that a major regional player, the Bank of Yokohama, was planning to sell its stocks in order to balance its books. Speculation - denied by the bank drove the Nikkei share average down by more than 4 per cent.

Further concern about Japan's banks was expressed yesterday by IBCA, the international rating agency which said it was reviewing its ratings of Japanese banks downwards. IBCA warned: "The persistent failure of the Japanese economy to recover from its long period of stagnation is burdening banks with continuing asset quality problems, while the weakness of the stock market threatens them with large valuation losses on their excessively large holdings of Japanese equities." The general sense of nervousness in the Tokyo Stock Exchange is compounded by anticipation of Japan's so-called Big Bang - the planned deregulation of the financial markets. The buffeting to which this will expose many firms is oncouraging them to liquidate their assets to provide a safety net against imminent foreign competition.

The consequences of all this change are uncertain. In theory, deregulation, reform and the bracing winds of competition will in the long run whip Japan's companies and its economy back into shape. But the medium term is bleak. At best, the country faces a prolongation of the economic sluggishness which has already made it so miserable. At worst, a panic sell-off of stocks by Japanese companies could cause stock market collapses world-wide.

Modern Japanese are not used to biting the bullet and slogans like pain before gain are politically risky. The problem for Mr Hashimoto is that he cannot even release cash by cutting interest rates - because interest rates are virtually at zero anyway. In his last package, unveiled last month, the centrepiece was a feeble proposal to have more public holidays on Mondays, in order to encourage Japanese to spend more during their long weekends.

The most alarming thing about the present malaise is the almost complete lack of available remedies.

Hong Kong brings run on banks under control

A concerted effort by the Hong Kong government, the regulatory authorities and the territory's big banks appears to have averted a potential bank run but it remains uncertain whether the banking sector is yet out of the woods. Kong reports.

The beginnings of a run on the International Bank of Asia (IBA) and some of Hong Kong's smaller banks appears to have been brought under control, following a full scale mobilisation by the government and other banks to provide both verbal support and offers of hard cash for any bank encountering problems as a result of the current turmoil in Asian financial markets. Sir Donald Tsang, the Financial Secretary, yesterday spelled out the level of the government's commitment to ensure there were no bank

He said that Hong Kong's Exchange Fund, with assets exceeding £45bn, "stands squarely behind this institution may require to meet its obligations for as long as is He described the bank as a "well managed, well capi-

[IBA] and will provide all the necessary financial support it talised banking institution". Sir Donald's boss, the Chief Exccutive Tung Chee-hwa, also emerged yesterday to say "the banking system in Hong Kong is fine and this particular bank

He added: "Because of rumours there are uncertainties among ordinary people which is understandable but they are more driven by rumours".

The bank faced a second day of queues with people wishing to close their account. It has reacted calmly to the crisis, quickly meeting all demands for withdrawals, even allowing customers to redeem time deposits before their due date and extending banking hours to clear the

It says that the situation more or less returned to normal yesterday and that it has sufficient resources to meet any demands for withdrawals.

The IBA is a fast-growing, medium-sized bank, controlled by one of the biggest banks in the Middle East, the Arab Banking Corporation. China Everbright Holdings, one of China's largest stateowned conglomerates, is a 20 per cent shareholder.

The parent company has pledged full support to its associate and transferred a "substantial" amount of cash to Hong Kong.

However, there is clearly pressure on the banking sector and a fear of accumulating bad ioans as property prices take a dive and speculators get their fingers burned. For this reason the credit rating agency Moody's is currently reviewing its ratings for Hong Kong

However, vesterday the Standard & Poor's credit rating agency published a report which stated that it was maintaining its relatively high credit ratings for territory's banks and believed that "the volatile nature of both the property market and the stock market in Hong Kong has always been taken into account in the rating of Hong Kong banks".

Relief over the situation in the banking sector produced a mood of cautious optimism in the stock market with the blue-chip Hang Seng Index closing barely changed after a day of mixed trading. Other Asian markets also inched upwards yesterday.

Insist on real coffee but have instant meetings.

it doesn't need to take days to get people together for a large meeting. BT Conference Call can connect you with up to 1,000 people sumultaneously on the phone, so you can hold meetings idstantly, without leaving your desk.

Why not change the way we work BT /7

BT Conference Call. For a free demonstration:

THE INVESTMENT COLUMN

EDITED BY MAGNUS GRIMOND

Business as usual at Amersham

When Amersham revealed it was merging with Norway's Nycomed to become the world's biggest supplier of diagnostic imaging agents just three weeks after it had swallowed Pharmacia & Upjohn's biotech division, the City took a breath and applauded. After all, Amersham's roots, making radioactive materials for Margaret Thatcher's Atomic Energy Agency, were hardly the auspicious ones of a company now rubbing shoulders with top-leaguers like Schering and Mallinckrodt.

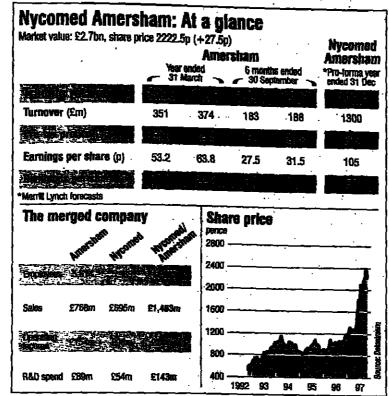

Since the Norwegian tie-up was announced in early July, shares in Amersham have soared by a third. Yesterday's first results since that deal - interims from Amersham and third quarters from Nycomed - pushed the price up another 27.5p to 2222.5p.

The numbers themselves offer no real guide to the shape of the new company. The Nycomed deal was only cemented two and a half weeks ago and chief Bill Castell says it is too early to confirm estimates of £40m a year cost savings. What the numbers did do is re- over 20 times earnings. Until the assure that, despite the deal, it is business as usual for both companies.

Amersham's new Pharmacia business, supplying chemicals used in drug company research, looks a good buy. In just two months it contributed £6m, driving sales in the half year at Amersham's Life Science division 65 per cent ahead to £122m at constant currency and profits 55 per cent ahead to £22m. Cost savings of £30m a year over a three-year period should be possible.

On the Healthcare side, even excluding acquisitions, profits rose 58 per cent, driven by growing demand for Myoview, profits were boosted by the absence of the heart-imaging agent, and the iodine the usual, hefty claims caused by seed treatment for prostate cancer.

and potentially disruptive job, though giant to narrow a gaping underwriting Mr Castell insists morale is high. Com- deficit by 30 per cent to £111m. mercially the acquisition makes great sense, giving Amersham a full range of GA business. In Canada and Ausimaging agents and innovations like tralia underwriting profit targets have ultrasound. Concern over price pressure been met or beaten. GA plans further in Nycomed's core US contrast media penetration of the Canadian market, agent business remain, though Nyco- following its £268m acquisition of Canamed's cost reduction plan looks on track. dian General Insurance. This should re-At current levels, the shares trade on alise savings of at least £75m a year.

group presents integrated figures next March, that looks high enough, particularly given the inevitable disruption associated with a large merger.

General Accident may face squeeze

The sun has been shining on General Accident in the last nine months. Literally, in fact, because underwriting severe weather in the US. Since Integrating Nycomed will be a big January, this has allowed the insurance

Business is also bright at two other

Second, GA is performing well in the life insurance sector, where new premiums have leapt 31 per cent. This is due to two canny moves. GA bought Provident Mutual two years ago, when prices for life insurance companies were yet to rocket. It has also sharply boosted the value it gives on its pension contract when policyholders stop paying in the early years: a vital selling point for the financial advisers who distribute its products. A further move into Irish life insurance should also reap

On the most sensible measure, operating profits before tax, GA has met expectations for the nine months boom. Second, Whitehead is far flung to September with a 23 per cent rise from £311m to £384m. But it has

The group finance director, Philip resistant IT recruitment operation. Twyman, concedes that a 31 per cent growth in life insurance sales cannot be sustained. Second, competition in general insurance is driving premiums down. Unless unpredictables like the weather stay on GA's side, it may, with the rest of the sector, face a squeeze. forward rating of 13. Fairly priced.

The shares fell 13p to 972p yesterday. But, on over 20 times 1999 forecasts, that is not enough to reflect GA's bearish tone. Sell.

Whitehead enjoys a feast

Consultancies are a feast or famine business. In boom times, they feed off clients' successes. In recession companies tend to cut spending on luxuries like third party advice.

Whitehead Mann, the recruitment consultancy, has enjoyed a feast since it floated last March. The shares, priced at 136p, hit a peak of 171.5p yesterday, up 13p, on the back of strong first-half figures. Efficiency gains and big contract wins meant pre-tax profits in the six months to September jumped by 42 per cent to £1.6m, ahead of most forecasts.

The company looks good on fun-damentals. It has strong client relationships - repeat business counts for almost four-fifths of its core executive search operation. And its commitment to building a global network means it should continue winning lucrative international contracts. With companies looking to fewer suppliers to meet their global staffing needs, Whitehead's international spread looks attractive.

But could Whitehead Mann survive an economic downturn? The answer is probably yes. The company looks less exposed to cyclical fluctuations than some. Around 70 per cent of it business comes from headhunting senior directors for about half the UK's FTSE 100 companies. Businesses need chairmen and finance directors just as much, if not more, in bad times, when lower ranking staff may be cut, as in a and not exposed to the vagaries of any single economy. And Whitehead has sounded at least two notes of caution. a small, but fast growing and cyclical

> But Whitehead is not completely insulated. The fortunes of its selection division, which advertises for jobs in the £50k-£100k salary range, and its human resources consultancy, tend to rise and fall with economic activity. On a

PEOPLE & BUSINESS

JOHN WILLCOCK

It was a good day yesterday for former Tory ministers looking for new ways to scrape a living. General Accident snapped up Lord Lang of Monkton, formerly trade minister lan Lang, as a non-executive director. Another Scot, Lord Fraser of Carmyllie QC, former energy minister and Lord Advocate, was appointed non-executive chairman of JKX Oil & Gas, a London listed exploration and production company.

For the urbane Lord Lang, once the MP for Galloway Upper Nithsdale, this is a return to wellknown pastures. He spent 18 years working for an insurance broker north of the border before concentrating on politics. "GA was very well known to me then. I'm delighted to be renewing my acquaintance," he said.

'He's also currently deputy chairman of European Telecom, an equipment distributor based in Slough, and sits on the board of a number of Scottish investment trusts. "I've got one or two other things in negotiation," he adds enticingly. Lord Fraser likewise has a deep well of experience in his chosen field. While at the DTI he led trade missions to more than 25 countries, and he is a non-executive director of Elf Exploration UK and a lay director of the International Petroleum Exchange.

Bob McCrackin, chief executive of JKX, says the company's main asset is a 49 per cent stake in Poltava Petroleum, an oil a nd gas company operating in the Republic of Georgia and the Ukraine. JKX has also recruited Viscount Asquith OBE, a former diplomat at the British Embassy in Kiev, and Leoned Tiahio, a Ukrainian oil man, as non-executive directors.

When asked where he came from, Mr Mc-Crackin replied: "In 1645 I was Scottish." In fact he's from Ohio, and spent 14 years with Mobil.

British-owned investment banks may be a bit of a dog's dinner at the moment, but Dutch giant ABN Amro continues to go from strength to strength in London. ABN has poached Keith Edginton from UBS to supervise the bank's move and the sprogs are due in February.

from half a dozen different sites in London to a flash new City building now under construction at 250 Bishopsgate. Mr Edginton, 41, will report to Chris Tupker, who has the business-card-busting title of "senior executive vice president, Directorate General Network Management and Services, ABN Amro

Mr Tupker says disarmingly that the bank re-Bank NV". alised it needed someone of a higher calibre than it already had to supervise such a complex move, and when they went out into the recruitment market "the right person was very difficult to find." Both commercial and investment banking activities will be moving under one roof, and Mr Tupker says that ABN will be leaning heavily on Mr Edginton's experience of running UBS's settlement and IT activities in Europe. Mr Tupker is more than happy to squash speculation that ABN is considering a bid for a British investment bank (not that there are many left): "We're happy to grow organically at the moment."

art of the

Mark Mark

Who con

person in a company of

. . . .

12th

The same of the same

And the second

Market Street

A Company of the Comp

And the second

Maria Caraca

The state of the s

Which doesn't stop ABN's corporate finance operation in the City from hoovering up big signings. It has already made half a dozen this year. Yesterday it signed up Steve Gregg, an Australian with a bushy moustache, from Lehman Brothers as head of a new consumer products team. Hugh Scott-Barrett, head of corporate finance, says he is on the look out for more talent.

John Simpson, chief executive of Mayflower, the UK engineering group which may or may not bid for Vickers, was pictured last week posing proudly in front of a Chrysler Plymouth Prowler, a mighty American sports car for which Mayflower provides the body panels.

This week Autocar magazine reports that the Prowler, launched by Chrysler this year, is in huge demand in the US. However, the magazine notes: "Problems with paint quality and alignment of the aluminium bodies - made by British company Mayflower - have slowed production, which means Chrysler will only build 700 cars by the end of this year."

A Mayflower spokesman said yesterday: The Chrysler Plymouth Prowler is a new and innovative product for which Chrysler has exacting standards. Mayflower has not delayed the ramp-up [the build up in production] and is unaware of alignment problems in the body. We don't paint, so paint quality can't be down to us."

If you're interested in buying a Prowler, by the way, you'll have to go the US and fork out $39,000. The "modern hot rod" is available in shocking yellow and purple.

Clare Rodway, director of marketing at Nicholson Graham & Jones, the City law firm, recently fired off a series of announcements that the firm has "doubled in size in the last six years", with turnover up 17 per cent in the last financial year.

Ms Rodway called only days later to add that her pregnancy had just doubled in size as well she's having twins. The intrepid spokeswoman is battling on at work until the end of November,

MJN Best Buys From The Award Winning British PC Manufacturer Take a closer look at our new range of 'Best Buy' high performance systems, now available at truly amazing prices.

MJN 233M

- Intel Pentium 233Mhz Processor with MMX Technology
- 32Mb EDO RAM
- 3.2Gb Seagate EIDE hard drive
  4Mb ATI Rage II 3D graphics
  16 speed MAX LG CO-ROM drive
- Creative Labs soundblaster 32 14" SVGA 0.28dp screen
- 512k pipeline burst cache MUN AT midi-tower system unit with 7 bays (not shown) and Intel 430HX chipset
- All standard features below Preloaded software bundle (mail & antivirus not included)
- FREE 33.6 voice modern FREE Epson Stylus 300 color iniget Printer (limited to first 100 customers who buy this model

64Mb EDO RAM

video capture

4.3Gb Seagate ultra ATA hard drive
 PC-TV system with Teletext and 4Mb ATI Rage (I+ OVD 3D graphics

ative Labs 3D wavetable sound

· 24 speed MAX LG CO-ROM drive

14" SVGA 0.28dp screen (15" £70

VideoPhone receive for incoming

Voice recognition with IBM Simply

MUN ATX system with Intel 4301X

+VAT = £82.25 extra; 17" £220

56K Rockwell voice modern

+VAT = £258.50 extra)

512K pipeline burst cache

videophone calls

Speaking GOLD

PC97 chipset

Standard Features: Windows 95, Lotus Smartsuite 97, Quicken, Pressworks, DesignWorks, Homewise, Lotus mail, IBM Antivirus and Smartpics preloaded. Soundforce 525 mains powered speaker systematics preloaded. 3.5" 1.44Mb floppy drive; PS/2 mouse; 105 keyboard; software MPEG; Yr 2000 compliant BIOS; PS/2 mouse port, fast serial port, parallel port and games port. 1 year warranty extendible to 5 years.

Note:- Microphone not included (included with PLUS models only) Printer Options Epson Stylus color 720 X 720 dpi iniget printer £129 + VAT = £151.58 inc. VAT (select required cable option).

MJN 200M-2 MJN 233M Ex

- IBM 6x86MX PR200 Processo with MMX Technology (higher performance than 233M system)
  - 64Mb EDO RAM 6.4Gb Seagage ultra ATA hand drive PC-TV system with Teletext and
  - video capture 4Mb ATI Rage II+ DVD 3D graphics 24 speed MAX LG CD-ROM drive Creative Labs 3D wavetable sound
  - 14" SVGA 0.28tp screen (15" £70 +VAT = £82.25 extra; 17" £220 +VAT = £258.50 extra)
  - 512K pipeline burst cache videophone calls
  - aing GOLD PC97 chipset

MJN PLUS

MODELS

are only £48 +VAT = £57.57 inc. VAT extre and include Joystick.

 VideoPhone receive for incoming Voice recognition with IBM MUN ATX system with intel 430TX

MJN 266-2

VoiceType

Videophone

 Intel Pentium 233Mhz Proc Intel Pentium II 266Mhz Processor with MMX Technology with MMX Technology 64Mb SDRAM

MAN INTEREST FREE OPTIO

BUY NOW PAY LATER

- · 6.4Gb Seegate ultra ATA hard drive - PC-TV system with Teletext and 56K Rockwell voice modern
  - 8Mb AGP ATI Rage Pro 3D graphics 24 speed MAX LG CD-ROM drive Creative Labs 3D wavetable sound 14" SVGA 0.28dp screen (15" £70 +VAT = £82.25 extra; 17" £220
    - +VAT = £258.50 extra) 512K pipeline burst cache VideoPhone receive for incoming
    - videophone calls Voice recognition with IBM Simply Speaking GOLD
    - MJN ATX system with Intel 440LX PC'97 chipse All standard features below

Inc. VAT

Model:790

Barclays dismisses talk of Andrew Buxton, chairman of Barclays Bank, yesterday dismissed talk of a possible merger with National Westminster Bank as "market speculation" at the CBI conference. He did acknowledge that further rationalisation in financial services was inevitable but would neither confirm nor deny recent reports that Barclays had offered £6bn for Legal & General, the life assurance company. He further fuelled takeover rumours by re-iterating Barclays' commitment to the life sector.

"The area of fund management and life insurance is an area

Mercedes-Benz was forced yesterday to suspend deliveries of its revolutionary model, the compact A-class, in order to rebalance the chassis. The announcement came after revelations that the car was unstable in certain conditions. The company said the production delay and other modifications to address the design flaws will cost DM300m (£103m). Until all the components required for the modification are available, production at the A-Class plant in Rastatt will be scaled down and delivery of produced vehicles is being suspended.

Eastman Kodak in the US is cutting 10,000 jobs and taking a $1bn (£590m) pre-tax charge in the fourth quarter of the year. Half the charge will pay for job cuts, with the balance paying for the write-down of assets. The cuts will save at least

Payout for BCCI creditors

Kodak cuts 10.000 jobs

$1bn during the next two years.

Mercedes halts deliveries merger with NatWest

Barclays is interested in", he said.

Depositors with the Bank of Credit and Commerce International (BCCI), which collapsed in 1991, are to be given a second payout. Next June, creditors will receive 11.5p for each pound deposited with BCCL This follows a payment of 24.5p per pound deposited last December, and reflects ongoing progress by BCCI's liquidators in recovering funds.

Tunnel loses duty-free case

The European Court of Justice said it rejected an argument from Eurotunnel that European Union duty-free rules, which exclude sales on Eurotunnel trains, were not properly approved in 1991 and 1992. But the EU court ruled that Eurotunnel was justified in raising the issue in a Paris commercial court, despite an earlier adverse UK ruling. The court said its examination of queries on the way member states and the European Parliament agreed the duty-free measures "did not reveal elements of a nature to affect [their] validity". The court rejected arguments that EU governments went beyond their powers to amend European Commission proposals when they agreed the directives as part of single market tax legislation.

MMC wins time extension

Margaret Beckett, President of the Board of Trade, has agreed to a request from the Monopolies and Mergers Commission (MMC) for an extension of the time allowed for making their report on the proposed acquisition by Capital Radio of Virgin Radio. After representations from the MMC, notably that more time was needed to allow proper consideration of evidence recently submitted, Mrs Beckett has concluded that the reporting period should be extended from 14 November to 4 December.

Microsoft teams up with AIM firm

Microsoft, the world's biggest software company, yesterday formed an alliance with the AlM-listed minnow. Internet Technology Group (ITG). The pair are teaming up on the launch of a system which allows up to 25 office users to share access to the World Wide Web. computer files, databases, and electronic mail. Cathy Newman reports.

ITG's Global Internet, the UK's third-biggest Internet service provider, said the deal would allow it to gain access to business customers and would enable Microsoft to achieve its aim of selling its software on the Internet

The new service, Small Business Server, went live yesterday and costs £999 for five PC-users, or £1,650 for 25 users. It is aimed at companies with 25 or fewer personal computers.

Laurence Blackall, ITG's chief executive, said: "Microsoft stifle innovation," he said.

has a great name and a broad reach and can get us in front of customers we wouldn't normally have reached."

This is not the first time ITG has linked with the software giant. Almost exactly a year ago, Global Internet agreed to supply Microsoft's browser.software, Internet Explorer 3.0, to all its subscribers. Global Internet has 45,000 customers, 5,000 of which are small and mediumsized companies.

Also yesterday, Microsoft filed a 48-page formal response to the US Justice Department's allegations that it illegally forced computer manufacturers to install its Explorer browser as part of its Windows 95 operating system.

William Neukom, senior vice-president for law and corporate affairs, accused the US government of "stifling innovation by alleging that Microsoft had violated anti-trust agreements. "It is a very serious matter when any agency of goverament proposes to extend its regulation to the extent of engaging itself in product design, especially in high technology products. That kind of interference in product design will

Shares in Menvier-Swan surge on bid approach

Shares in Menvier-Swain systems, surged nearly 25 per third party which may lead to it being taken over.

made the announcement after as high as 265p. The stock structuring costs. closed 49p up at 254p, some way off January's high of 338p.

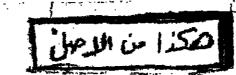

ment on the suitor's identity and how advanced the talks were.

The company has been look-Group, the manufacturer of ing vulperable after issuing a emergency lighting and security profits warning in September. That warning sent its shares spicent yesterday after the com- ralling 22 per cent to a year low pany said it was in talks with a of 217p. The company said trading conditions had been difficult and its largest customer Schroders, which is advising had cut back on stock levels. Menvier on the bid approach, Menvier had also been affected by the strength of the pound, the company's shares climbed industry consolidation and re-

The difficult market conditions forced Menvier to cut Menvier refused to comper cent of the workforce.

- Cathy Newman

A letter from R. W. 'Tiny' Rowland

LONRHO – JCI

A lump of coal for Lonrho's Christmas stocking

Should shareholders look forward to the JCI/Tavistock deal?

Dear Louko skarcholder,

Why not pick up a newspaper and look at South African mining stocks? That's what I do most mornings. Last week's closing price for Anglo American Coal: the high for 1997 was £70. Last week - £32. Anglo American Gold: the high was £49. Last week - £27. JCI: high for the year 6741/2p. Last week - 244p. Randgold: high $8.125. Last week - $1.9375. Impala: high £9. Last week - £5.75. De Beers: high for the year was £24. Last week - £13.5. Goldfields: high £17. Last week - £10.

As a Lonrho shareholder, what would you decide to buy if you had £183 million, after selling off super assets like Lonrho's pan-African sugar estates and Lonrho's Metropole Hotels, at bargain prices? Would you sink our capital in the South African Tavistock coal mines and pay an unjustified premium to JCI at a time when every big South African company thinks of externalising its own investments?

The market outlook for coal is not favourable, according to Tavistock's own managing director. There's coal everywhere, better and cheaper, and JCI as a company can do nothing for Lonrho in terms of management. Just look at their record, the recent departure of some of their top people and their troubled gold mines. Can we really have sold our cash cows, Lonrho sugar (for £227 million, the best buy Illovo ever made) and the Metropole Hotels (high occupancy, steady sterling income) in order to reinvest the resulting capital sum so poorly?

Will it be good for Lonrho shares? Our shares having come down from 217p wallow around 100p. Our payment of £183 million sterling will do much for JCI's shares and aggressive Mr Kebble and Anglo's director Mr Khumalo. They can be put it in their labyrinth. See the chart, and feel the fear.

Shareholders may assume that it's all high finance and the Lonrho board, with Sir John Craven from DMG at its head, knows what is best. But this board, advised by Deutsche Morgan Grenfell, promised shareholder value four years ago and a profitable three-way demerger. They've been paid millions for their advice. No part of that promise has been kept. So far Lonrho has only made sales which benefit the buyers - our board was even spectacularly outnegotiated by the Libyan Foreign Investment Company, which demanded and got £251 million upfront in cash for their one third share in the Metropole Hotels.

Let's face it, the demergers are off, although our board has never informed us that a policy once heavily promoted has been silently scrapped. We have been deceived. Prime assets that would have made demergers possible are gone, as is former chief executive Bock, the speculative architect of the scheme, who has said 'Auf Wiedersehen' and taken 180p a share from Anglo American without prior consultation with the board. Shareholders of Lonrho must look for the same-or-bettercash offer for their shares, for the present demands of JCI make it clear that the Anglo group and its associates treat Lonrho as a company already within its orbit of control.

Just look at Anglo group dividends and imagine that policy applied permanently to Lonrho, as it will be, if the sequence of deals with JCI which the board is about to embark on goes ahead.

The Tavistock coal purchase is not a stand-alone deal, but the first step in a chain reaction planned by the financial brains of Anglo. The purchase of Tavistock leads to the counter-purchase of almost 30% of Lonrho. The purchase of Tavistock leads to the enrichment of JCI and the impoverishment of Lonrho.

As to the actual purchase of the collieries it's not necessary to be familiar with coal mining to understand a poor deal. This one is backed by the same team that brought you the sale of the Metropole, the never-ending saga of the Princess Hotels and the reluctant Prince, and a bargain price for Lonrho's flourishing sugar estates which took 32 years to build up. Have you noticed that this week our large textile mills, previously the particular responsibility of new chief executive Nicholas Morrell, were given away, as they had debts of millions and losses of millions under his stewardship?

After three years, the only positive step taken by Lonrho is an eccentric decision to invest shareholders' cash in South Africa.

The negative policy of our board has been to sell the good assets which I secured for you, and to sell them at sometimes ridiculously low prices with unfavourable results for Lonrho shareholders (Krupp-Lonrho, Metropole, Lonrho Sugar, Harrisons, the Lonrho-Impala Platinum débâcle). The results make one wonder if the buyers have been writing the price tickets. Now here come Mr Kebble from Randgold and Mr Khumalo of JCI, both dependent on Anglo's goodwill, with their festive scheme to persuade the Lonrho board to buy some highly geared coal mines at an inflated figure, and so fund Mr Kebble's grand purchase of a great slab of Lonrho shares, opening the way for cash-strapped JCI to pick over the rest of our assets at leisure. The price tag for Tavistock was set to the maximum figure possible without automatically triggering an EGM by exceeding 25% of Lonrho's capitalisation. Following my protest to The Stock Exchange it now appears that the purchase of Tavistock, which brings on the risk of overall control by JCI, will need shareholder approval at an Extraordinary General Meeting.

Yours sincerely,

R. W. Rowland* Wednesday, 12 November 1997

* R W Rowland is the largest individual shareholder of Lonrho plc

Who controls JCI?

SIMPLIFIED STRUCTURE*

*The calculations in the chart opposite are based on publicly available information which has been obtained from sources which are believed to be reliable. The displayed information should not be relied upon since no guarantee for accuracy, completeness, or otherwise can be given due to a lack of complete available information, which would make precise calculations possible.

Circulars (Consolidated Mining, 30 April 1997; Saflife. 2 May 1997; Consolidated Mining, 17 June 1997; Consolidated Mining, 17 July 1997; NK Properties (NKP), 17 July 1997; Consolidated African Mining (CAM), 25 August 1997);

McGregor's 'Who Owns Whom in South Africa, 1997'; McGregor Information Services (Pty) Ltd; Johannesburg Stock Exchange; Registrar of Companies, Pretoria, South Africa; Reuters, Bloomberg; Annual Reports (Anglo American Corporation of South Africa Limited; DeBeers Consolidated Mines Limited; Amgold; JCI; Western Areas; Randfontein Estates; HJ Joel).

1 Mzi Khumalo is a non-executive director of Anglo American Corporation of South Africa Limited. He was helped to set up in business by the McCarthy Group, controlled by Anglo American.

2 SBC Warburg is Anglo American's and JCl's main investment bank, and has been involved in the advisory, financing and arranging of the 'sale' of JCl, and most of the latest related transactions. SBC Warburg's 17.92% of CAM, resulting from the so-called 'Craftwise acquisition', has been calculated from information provided in the various circulars (see above).

information provided in the various circulars (see above). information provided in the various circulars (see 2000e).

3 These companies acquired their stakes in CAM through an extremely complicated web of deals, which have been revealed and partly explained in a number of circulars (see 2000e). The companies include various Anglo-related nominees companies (Standard Bank Nominees, First National Nominees, 81 Main Street Nominees), as well as the underwriters of the Saffife rights issue (including the Anglo-related Hosken, Warburg and Southern Life), and various financial institutions (including Southern Life).

4 The lack of transparency in the various deals and companies involved make a precise figure for these companies' share of CAM impossible to determine. The calculated figure of 41.11% is based on calculations and certain estimates from figures given in the various circulars (see above).

5 Hosken is said to be controlled by First National Bank, which in turn is controlled by Anglo American (Source: McCaregor s. 1997).

6 According to calculations based on McGregor information, dated 01/09/97, in which companies controlled, associated or related to Anglo American are shown to control the calculated figure of 50.9% of Saffife's share capital before the CAM restructuring took place (see circular Consolidated African of Saffife's share capital before the CAM restructuring took place (see circular Consolidated African of Saffife's share capital before the CAM restructuring took place).

Mining 23.8.97).

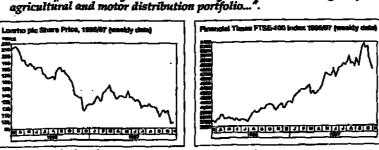

7 The figure of 37% is derived from calculations based on McGregor information, on 15/08/97, in which companies controlled, associated or related to Anglo American are shown to control the calculated figure of up to 37% of JCI's share capital. The figure of 17.9% is the figure announced publicly by Anglo figure of up to 37% of JCI's share capital.

8 Subject to European Commission approval.

- "Tavistock is being sold to Lonrho simply because the money JCI will receive from Lonrho will go to fund its acquisition of Lonrho's shares."
- "The SA coal industry was in for a margin squeeze. 'It looks like a difficult year ahead', [Tavistock Managing Director Mike Rodgers] said." SA BUSINESS DAY, 24 OCTOBER 1997
- "Ingwe MD David Murray said his company was expecting another full in contract prices for steam coal." SA BUSINESS DAY, 24 OCTOBER 1997
- "It could be that international coal prices, a lot of which are set by Australian contracts into Japan, may be negotiated down." FINANCIAL TIMES, 30 OCTOBER 1997
- All the South African coal stocks have lost 40-50% of their market valuation during the last year.
- Tavistock, which is financially highly geared, has the highest export exposure of the South African producers with 63% of its production being exported. Therefore it is highly vulnerable to lower being exported.
- Duiker is currently valued by the market at P/E Ratios of 6-7, whereas a price tag of R 1.5-1.7 billion for Tavistock would value Tavistock at P/E Ratios of 12-13.4.
- Given the risks of any such deal for Lonrho in the current market situation of a downward trend in international coal prices. The known long term synergies of a Duiker/Tavistock bond are insufficient to justify giving Tavistock a highly inflated valuation.

- "The cash from Tavistock will help pay for this (acquisition of Lonrho shares), but selling an asset to a company that you will control sometime in the future means that JCI can get the assets back when it wants to."
- "Is this almost a case of Lourho paying JCI a premium to allow JCI to buy Lourho?" FINANCIAL TIMES, 30 OCTOBER 1997
- The failed demerger strategy of Lonrho's board has cost Lonrho's shareholders 54% of their investment since March '96. The company was to be split into three groups (mining, hotels, and Lourho Africa). The sale of Lonrho Sugar to provide dividend cover has killed any chance of floating Lonrho Africa, the last of the three promised
- According to the Sunday Times', "it is understood Lourho is ready to talk to possible buyers and is likely to reject a demerger of the

- "It is a pity that JCI has not really been an empowerment exercise, unless you consider Brett Kebble to be one of the previously disadvantaged." ROB DOW, CHEEF EXECUTIVE AFRICAN MERCHANT BANK SA FINANCIAL MAR, 31 OCTUBER 1997
- "..., JCI executive director Brett Kebble has clarified the following: Prior to the NKP deal JCI chairman Mzi Khumalo had no direct stake in
- "At the date of issue of this circular, the beneficial and non-beneficial interests of the Saftife directors in Saftife shares were as follows: M G Khumalo, Beneficial-Direct: 4 395 943 shares; 10.7% (Percentage of issued capital)."
- SAFLIFE LIMITED, CIRCULAR TO MEMBERS, 2 MAY 1997. (PRIOR TO THE NEP-DEAL)
- (A) Anglo's influence over JCI after the Saffife deal, according to Mc Gregors' still appears to be about 37% of JCI via various shareholdings held by companies controlled, associated or related to Anglo American including certain nominee companies' and pension funds of their own group.
   (B) The main assets of JCI (Western Areas, Randfontein Estates and Joel) appear to have Anglo American as a substantial shareholder of more than 30% in the case of Western Areas and Randfontein Estates. Anglo therefore would be the main beneficiary (besides JCI) of any restructuring of these mining assets.
- Randfontein Estates. Anglo therefore would be the main beneficiary (besides JCI) of any restructuring of these mitting assets.

  (C) Anglo American has a number of their key executive board members on the board of JCI, which seems to give them the majority in any vote.

  (D) In August 1997 Anglo American and its associates together with SBC Warburg (Anglo American's investment bank) seemed to control the major part of Saffife, which was defined at that time to be the controlling shareholder of JCI and was supposed to be controlled by Mr Khumalo & Mr Kebble.

  (E) Having introduced the Consolidated African Mining, (CAM) structure to the web above JCI, it has become obvious that Consolidated African Mining, which is supposed to control Saffife, which is supposed to control JCI, is not controlled by Mr Khumalo and Mr Kebble.

*Moderation 1 represent 1997.

These namines companies represent Anglo's De Beers' shareholdings in various companies, which are either members of the Anglo Group of are known to have Anglo De Beers as major shareholders.

*McGregora, 15th Angust 1997.

upproach

È

Body Shop faces relegation from the second division

MARKET REPORT

DEREK PAIN

Body Shop International, the The Roddick's company is environmentally friendly coscreasingly difficult.

Its shares fell 2.5p to 168p which would indicate it faces the indignity of being drum-

Such a fate would be a wounding blow to a high pro- index. file retailer which, although it following.

With Footsie and 250 tracker funds are preparing for rose 5p to 635p. the expected changes. If Body not the only one in danger of a lackinstre session with Foot- Whitehall silence. If BAe's a 27p gain to 508p. and Anita Roddick, is finding which, in football speak, is not uneventful trading. the stock market climate in-Conference.

The gyrations since September's review would also indicate that Courts, the furmed out of the supporting nishing chain, and the Wolver-Footsie index, the FISE 250. hampton & Dudley Breweries must face life outside the 250

Among those set for inhas worn its heart on its sleeve, clusion are up-up and-away is clearly bewildered by its failure to attract a strong City railway maintenance group, and Admiral, a computer 29.39 per cent of its capital. group. Jarvis. down 5p to BAe and Rolls-Royce are group. Jarvis, down 5p to changes due to be announced 317.5p was 4.75p two years'

Shop's fate is sealed the shares is also scheduled for a series be lifted and when Labour are likely to come under pres- of changes, including the re- swept to power it

British Steel inflated trad-Cazenove a 93 million July at a loss. deal at 155p; the shares fell

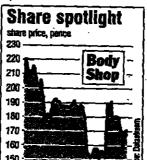

2.5p to 147.5p.
There was also a setback for British Aerospace, off 25p at 1,660p, As the Govern-ment communes to dilly and dally about lifting the foreign ceiling HAE revealed overseas interests now accounted for forced to limit foreign sharenext month, the market's ago. Admiral, 71.5p in 1993, holdings to 29.5 per cent. They have made frequent rep-The blue-chip Footsie index resentations for the ceiling to metics creation of Gordon relegation to a wilderness area sie off 13.1 points to 4,793.7 in overseas fan club continues to Vague stirrings that Asda grow and breaks through 29.5 and Safeway could have per cent it will be forced to revisited their superstores ing volume by, for unexplained demand the last foreign ar- alliance were evident. Asda

> Rolls-Royce ended 5p higher at 219p.

Allied Domecq, on its surprise dividend increase, led the rose 2.5p to 160.5p and Safeway 15.5p to 395p. Goldman Sachs is keen on the BTG, the former British Technology Group, rose 24.5p to 667p on Dresdner Kleinwort Benson interest and Merrill Lynch gave FirstBus. winner of the Bristol Airport auction, a whirl, lifting the shares 6.5p to 211.5p.

Menvier-Swain, the electrical equipment group, surged

The rest of the market had cent. But so far a deafening Footsie leader board, scoring creasing its interest to nearly 10.5 per cent.

Engineer Spirax-Sarco dropped 13.5p to 651.5p as SBC Warburg turned negative and DKB bit housebuilders, calling most lower with, for example Barratt Developments, down 2.5p to 256p. Hanover International, the hotel chain, held at 124.5p. Chairman Peter Eyles acquired 4,000 shares at 124p and now has 0.64 per cent. His buy seems to dash bid hopes. In August

Mr Eyles said Hanover had received an approach which had not led to an offer. Loftus Road, taking in the Queens Park Rangers football 49p to 254p as a possible club, rose 2p to 34.5p on man-takeover was disclosed, agerial sackings. The shares Bluebird, the toys group, held touched 106.5p at the turn of at 102p with Guinness Peat, a the year. Like most football

TAKING STOCK

The blood shortage is directing attention towards. Haemocell, which has developed a blood filtration system that, in effect, does away with the need for many blood transfusions.

punwi

is horse that we will the parties of the parties

peterbary on Survillar

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Single Grippels to 18

Site Controls, With

Similar Pacent In

add a star paylorests

THE CHEST OF THE BANKS TO

of the Manual and start Durandordy Arts

STATE PART USE SAME THAN

STITE OF SETUNDAY

pckey Club fo

(A. 17) A. 1784 (

The struggling healthcare group, up 0.25p to 3.5p, has had a wounding time, running into financial difficulties and hit by a series of marketing problems. Three years ago the shares were 182p. Haemocell believes it needs a little help to grow, It is involved in talks which could lead to a reverse takeover.

John Lusty, the acquisitive niche food group, continues to seek acquisitions and is likely to clinch a deal soon. Interim profits rose 159 per cent to £609,000 and year's profits should be around £1 0m against £753.000.

	sure b	ely to come under pres- efore, possibly, rallying pes of re-admission.	of changes, including the re- cruitment of Nycomed Amer- sham, up 27.5p to 2,222.5p.	swept to power it was assumed the limit would quickly be increased to, say, 49.5 per	150 140 NDJFMAMJJASON	at 102p with Guinness Peat, a persistent buyer of under- performing shares, picking up a further 540,000 shares, in-	clubs they have found the market a difficult pitch since being floated at 72p a year ago.	£1.9m against £753,000. The shares edged ahead 0.25p to 9p.
462 408 634 35 3-4 040 75	NO 28 Ener ha	ck Price City Yid PfECode   His blow 298,00 _ 45 neg 2,75	twick pt Low Stock Price Chg Yld PfE-Code 5.00 +0.50 200 10.00 _ 200 10.00	10 treats High Law Stack Price Clig YM NECode Bit 10 Rely Spd W III. 2007 1.50 1.2 3007 III. 14 2007 III. 15 Res Teley III. 2007 III	$2 week High Low Steck Price Cog Yid PASCed 87 61 Pry Earl 77.27 - 7 37 29 Pru His Selco 38,500 - 37 - 7 15 94 Profile Instance 27.25 - 627 4 ( - 27 37 227 NIC Cop Prior 28.000 - 250 61 - 7	St vents   Sept   Sep	(3) Agend as a becompare of the spare buch 1 up
640 424 180 280 134 20	Marchant 48 30 Las Serie	Pier 2010 -0.50 5.0 00 00 56 56 56 56 56 56 56 56 56 56 56 56 56	Temple   Price   Creg Yid   PRE-Code   Price   Creg Yid   Price   Pr	25 36 Pen Aderlos 2009 -530 07 - 444   25 30 Pen Aderlos 2009 -530 07 - 642   25 30 Pen Aderlos 2009 -530 07 - 642   36 Ten Chieves 6.55 - 10 - 662   46 30 Pen Chieves 6.55 - 10 - 662   46 27 Pen Chieves 30.55 - 100 1 - 260   36 Rep Chieves 30.55 - 100 1 - 260   36 Rep Chieves 30.55 - 100 1 - 260   37 Rep Pet W 200 - 100 - 260   38 Pen Chieves 100 1 - 260   38 Pen Chieves 100 1 - 260   39 20 Pen Chieves 100 1 - 260   30 20 Pen Chieves 100 1 -	## 67 Processors   17.25	5 49 28 Import Name 20,50 LS 20,0 PM 230 Mg Jahrston Page 20,50 LS 20,0 PM 44 27 Mg Marin Name 20,50 LS 20,0 PM 44 27 Mg Marin Name 20,50 LS 20,0 PM 44 27 Mg Marin Name 20,50 LS 20,0 PM 44 20,0 PM 4	Git Prices are Bloomberg Generica.  The Independent Teleshare	Source: Bloomberg
65 40 1730 1848 2045 1947 163 1945 198 298 Banks	September   SS.50 - 22 22,0 346   224 27 Percy   Stronger NAV   SS.50 - 75.00 1.7 %3 267   234 27 37 45 Percy   Stronger NAV   SS.50 - 75.00 1.7 %3 267   237 45 Percy   Stronger NAV   SS.50   15.00   24.7 %2 207   237 207 Specifyrage   235.00 - 33   55 300   24.7 %2 207 Specifyrage   24.7 %2 207 Specify	28790 - 4.57 4.4 6.5 587 FO 1855x - 6 3 87 2757 Fo bred 4550x - 7.50 1.6 2.9 025 4 6 90.50 - 54 24.5 667 12 1 8e4 23450 - 2.4 9.8 887 577 26.50 - 6 2.4 9.8 887 577 26.50 - 6 2.4 9.8 887 577	Od Producers 250 Acmalétani 22.50 - 4.6 gl. 3440 34 Mort River 32.00 - 425 81. 94 226 44 Anjo Esar 91.00 - 420 83 - 564 42 Ans Int River 92.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 75 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802 35 Bratis Spd. 20.00 - 420 31 15 9 802	2/8 229 Fen Enterpres 28.30 46.50 1.5 194 1/2 ill Flestefferigi 27.51 - 27.9 47 34 Fenn Freig 278.50 1.50 0.0 24 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28	55 70 State Hung 700,000, 4,000 2.1 - 77, 600 12 State Chian 70,500 - 1,000 17 - 78, 600 12 State Chian 70,500 - 1,000 17 - 78, 600 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 1	25 CT Protection 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	22 /	those Share Price by keying " plus a 4-digit 'code' from Portfolio facility, please call the Help Desk on 0071- olio facility, call the Help Desk on 0071-725-8288.  889 calls ont 50p per minute.
	Rectail   Aboy Na	25600 -900 32 52 4677 574 63100 -100 29 30 329 325 33.50 +0.25 1.0 500 6708 52 100.000 - 3.1 - 500 40 200.000 - 3.1 - 500 40 200.000 +1.5 44 6.5 102 385 200.000 +1.5 44 6.5 102 385 200.000 +1.5 44 6.5 102 385	### Centery-Scient ### 150 1.4 72 Aug 185 250 Certs Piling ## 25.0 1.7 4 No. 6 1.2 72 No. 6 1.2 250 Certs Piling ## 25.0 1.2 25.0	80 150 Mm Nr. US 58.00k 444 286 61 39 Mm Inchin 47.50 - 205 27 6 Rev let Why 10.00 - 200 27 28.00 15 87 Mm Nurther 10.75 - 200 0.00 - 200 15 27 28.00 15 87 Mm Nurther 10.75 - 205 0.00 - 200 15 27 28.00 15 87 Mm Nurther 10.75 - 205 0.00 - 200 15 27 28.00 15 87 Mm Nurther 10.75 - 205 0.00 - 205 0.00 15 27 28.00 15 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28	## A Company   10   10   10   10   10   10   10   1	7 25 370 Southerners 4500 - 22 16.9 mg v 25 370 Southerners 4500 - 22 16.9 mg v 25 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37	(75 pk. London 5C2A 4P).  Seaq volume: 7627m trades 41,409  Market Leaders: Top 20 volum	68% cash cost 50p per minutu.  Gifts index 99.25 -0.62  THES as 5-40pm
1094 588 5 394 254 1 Briewei 900 647 E	Secretary (2013) - 5.30 1.1 Rd H4 SF F Lamps (Notherh 2010) - 5.00 - 1.00 - 10.3 337 (Notherh 2010) - 10.3 337 (Notherh 20	100   100	200 Greanome 27,330 -4,000 - 2,007 95 Hollswood 28,207 +1,307 53 12,5 227 95 Houlewood 70,530 -5,207,3 002 97 Houlewood 8 00,507 -5,207,3 600 97 Houlew 18 00,507 -5,207,3 600 97 Houlew 18 00,507 -5,207,3 600 97 Houlew 18 00,507 -5,207,3 600 98 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 266 99 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 266 90 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 267 90 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 267 90 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 267 90 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 27 90 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 27 90 Horland Foods 24,407 40,507 40,507 27 90 Horland Foods 20,507 27 90 Horland Foo	9.65 New Web Zero	365 352 Wison ivr 20130 -1.30 28 136 408 352 Yearner Cap 20750 +1.50 1 366 Leissura & Hotels 844 457 Auraum 18500 -7.50 18 23,4 55 8 30 Alfred Lab 3400 1 27 83 455	0 Of Integrated 9 96 44 8 8 9 82 13	Scook Vel Scook Vel Harmanne group 64.5km Veldsphöhe 9.04 (Michael Labora Staff Transport 8.8 (Michael Laborate) 10.00m (M	Starck Vol Starck Vol Sin RTR Grand Mes. 6.59m Minmest 5.05m In Grand Mes. 6.09m Glano Vvalicoans 5.00m In Lloyds 759 5.31m Smithithire Beach 4.78m In Kays Food 5.34m Tullow Oil 4.66m In Willis Corroon 5.05m Ges Becaric 4.58m
56 CB CC CB	Jones 655.95 42.00 (J. 7 10.7 463) 32 32 Wheth Str. (4 10.7 463) 42.00 (J. 7 10.7 463) 43.00 Wheth Str. (4 10.7 463) 43.00 — 2.7 5.8 40.77 (J. 7 10.7 463) 43.00 — 12. 71.8 40.77 (J. 7 10.7 40.7 5) 2.20 (J. 7 10.7 40.7 40.7 5) 2.20 (J. 7 10.7 40.7 40.7 40.7 40.7 40.7 40.7 40.7 4		99 Norm Email 18.59 - 44 - 299 7 Thre & Light 45.00 - 1.59 44 14 466 469 Unique 60.50 - 2.09 42 547 469 187 Unique 60.50 - 2.09 42 547 469 187 Unique 60.50 - 4.50 65 77 169 187 Unique 60.50 - 4.50 65 77 169 18 Distribution 18 Country 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18	## 10 FAC Surf ## 1525 112 13 50 150 150 150 150 150 150 150 150 150	22 D. S. Sander Vall. 79100 +510 - seg 394 50 500 500 65 500 65 500 500 65 500	4 SN 68 & Floresto (85.9) 4.70 QF 6.7 P 6.1 P 6.	PISE 100 Index nour by hour Open 496.4 11:00 48 9:00 4897.9 Down 8.5 12:00 48	H:00
36 252 M	armon 7 774,00 - 1,7 9,5 (29) 480 297 Southern orbind 501,00 2,2 (1) (27) 680 681 Th Energy ( 227 Express 778,50x -1,50 (1,5 28.7 297)	2000 - 100 E.0 E.0 E.0 E.0 E.0 E.0 E.0 E.0 E.0 E	— Assertium — 39 1071 490 Bespair — 20130 +450 22 22 29 1677 495 Becordopatibles 56000 +550 — neg 1394 495 Becordopatibles (55.95 +45.95 (A) — 3507 496 Care UK (55.95 +45.95 (A) — 3507 497 Care UK (55.95 +45.95 (A) — 3507	83 06 German Seit	97 25 Rex Lature 25450 4.59 4.2 10.2 720 172 B4 Friendly Hots B450x 4.50 5.3 0.6 550	65 40 Resper Os 505.0 - 2.55 - 25.1 - 5echale Rer 70.50 - 25.1 - 107 7 Titles Os 24.00 +1.50 - 72.1	83 105 Grandbetter P0.00	de High Low Stock Price Chy Yild PfECode  52 65 20 McDonnell Info 42 00 neg 195
105 221 W 152 105 W 152 106 W 163 466 W 163 465 W	Les Gep. 2-2.50 - 5.5 B.4 4779 B.5 UB Areas (ISSN) Moliman D. 83.50 +4.07 UB 377 626 78 8 Beacomp Moliman D. 7000 - 1.50 IB 6.6 May 204 M0 BCC  Oh & Dudley 46.507 - 700 49 97 806 120 205 8064  mag & Coh. 67.50 - 2.8 123 207 458 29 Bowletope  mag & Coh. 57.50 - 2.8 123 207 458 29 Bowletope  mag & Coh. 57.50 - 2.1 20.1 1008 72 20 Calesa.	# 15.00 -4.00 _ 100 E 527 77 16 15 15 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10	30 basson 455.0bc 20 6.9 130 107 Landos Ind 167.00 -2.00 24 24.7 251 15 Nessy-SNA 16150 -2.8 267	THE CHELSEA VI	:	### 15	4 31 Heatherty 4,00 +0.51 IS 53 35 45 45 145 145 145 145 145 145 145 145	9 37 Creat 45.00 + 10.00 13 22 802 65.00 + 10.00 13 25 622 625 65.00 + 10.00 13 25 622 625 65.00 + 10.00 13 25 622 625 625 625 625 625 625 625 625
33 % A 30 234 A 83 87 A 52 346 A	V Index 20.50 564 20 520 Checkley Cylinder 100 38,50 26 9.4 199 79 49 Depletibles 5 100 40,00s 12 neg 103 389 291 Deleta 107 45700 17 204 2091 407 25 Deputition Physical 107 185 Deputition Physical 107 185 Deputition Physical Physical 107 185 Deputition Physical Physi	34.75 - 2.1 8.1 52. 99 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7		ASSOCIATION ASSOCI	NETS DESCRIPTION ASSESSMENT ASSES	B 5 Alvahan Ar   900   -1.00 44   100 25	56 ILS Praction At 1650b - 5.9 A. 10 773 906 Past 982.50 - 1.50 L. 77.6 27 20 807 Pater Propt 24.50 - 4.3 5.4 28 20 807 Pater Propt 24.50 - 4.3 5.4 28 20 807 Pater Propt 25.25 - 5.9 - 28 47 10 Register Propt 25.25 - 5.9 - 28 47 10 Register Propt 25.25 - 5.9 - 28 57 105 Register Register 400 105 - 19 - 105 46 90 Selection 400 105 - 19 - 105 46 90 Selection 400 105 - 105 - 105	23
20 55 8c 37 24 8c 27 52 8c 27 52 8c 27 65 8c 28 60 8c 65 76 60	25 ft. 5 ft. 6 ft.	58239: 4.00 [8 8.4 473] 33 24 473 24 473 33 24 473 24	Amount   12   20,50   14   14   14   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   15   17   17	San Car	SELVILLE A	Heff Mat Mats Grove   282.51   253   325   235   325   225   235   325   225   235   325   235	(25 St. Seells 20.50 — 36 9.3 78 98 98 98 98 98 98 98 98 98 98 98 98 98	80   60   60   60   60   60   60   60
以 是 的	Ummyside 9.00 - 1.4 268 872 26.4 Pace history and position of the control of the	500a -0.20 6.1 96 0 300 2 700 2 700 2 700 2 700 2 700 2 700 2 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70	5 MP Nd 28.00 1069   1994   28.00 1069   1994   28.00 1069   1994   28.00 - 12.00   23.00   23.00   23.00   24.00   26.00	OGENICA DE LA CONTROL DE LA CO		45 20 Ski	90 D2 Theford No. 50.55 12 77 30 30 32 450 450 450 450 450 450 450 450 450 450	7 25.75 Universal Salv (05.00 - 4.2 1.5 445 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.5 1.
38, 250 La 24 los Ma 50 los Ma 50 mg tru 236 56 Mo 338 722 Mo 144 74 Mo 266 740 Per 146 W Pro	Sign	1500 - 100 12	5 Petro A 200,00 - 1 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20	In the Lap (	Underground parking	69 270 Surveys   402.50x + 1.00 - 4.0   10.7   10.9   10.7   10.9   10.7   10.9   10.7   10	20 15 Farquit 222.50 - 28 177 46 18 18 17 46 18 18 17 46 18 18 18 17 46 18 18 18 17 46 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18	7 68 403 Cible 8 Weylest 68 53 RJ 102 68 430 Cible 8 Weylest 68 50 RJ 102 79 Min 105 1 RJ 102 7 C 8 W Comerc 2400 +10.00 - 205 66 65 278 lonics 22 80.00 +0.00 - met 48 66 65 278 lonics 22 80.00 +0.00 - met 48 67 28 68 67 0 80 0 2 23 met 47 1 RJ 100 0 2 23 8 67 0 10 0 2 23 8 7 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
20 CS Rec 10 7) See 56 ft Tay 25 MY Tay 26 MY Tay 27 70 VM 64 59 VM 63 100 VM	Troo Gp 65.000 - 4.00 2.9 12.7 85.4 85.7 Vigina Ticks 141 40000 - 2.1 2.1 85.5 37 97 Vigina Ticks 141 87 0000 - 2.1 2.1 85.4 55.4 400 Volta: 15.5 400 Volta: 1	8.59 - 4.50	Wilder Gheek	Tel: 0171	5 Restaurants and Bars 565 1400	64 52 Du La Rue 46,57 +1,00 12 03 (67) 38 62 Dolphin Pr. 251,50 - 17 - 6,69 340 17 fergeson 65,00c - 18,4 0,1 03 45 18 febos 125,0 - 37 9,2 9,50 16 10 Floks 125,0 - 37 9,2 9,50 16 10 Floks 175,0 +1,00 12 85 201 175 177 floks 175,0 +1,00 12 85 201 175 177 floks 175,0 +1,00 12 85 201 175 177 floksing: 7,50 +1,00 40 05 05 06 175 177 floksing: 7,50 +1,00 40 05 05 06 175 177 floksing: 7,50 +1,00 40 05 05 06 175 177 floksing: 7,50 +1,00 40 05 05 06	93 37 Sandary 48,00 - 2,00 12 22 03 25 145 Soverlide 18,00 - 5,0 12 24 17 45 20 fetco 45,50 + 9,50 18 97 98, 45 36 Wegen 8 9 40,50 - 4 9 10 14 Retailers, General 20 58 Alwert 26,50 - 44 per 68	Textiles & Apparel  (37 18 Asserting W 10.50x - 67 - 102  25 55 Aberton W 10.50x - 67 - 102  25 55 Aberton W 10.50x - 67 - 102  25 56 Ball (Wn) 20.00 - 5.1 mg, 765  46 105 Bellyon-G- 95.50 + 1.00 49 9.5 170  46 105 Bellyon-G- 95.50 + 1.00 49 9.5 170  46 105 Currence 9000 - 1.00 92 10.4 165  27 27 27 Current To 76.50 - 1.00 92 10.4 165  27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 2
Ser Are Water Ser Are Water Ser Are Water Ser Are Water Ser Are Ser Ar	2007   28 00x 4.00 1.3 5.1 228   72 107 Abres	8000 4290 27 k9 k8	0 Comm List   $0,000 - 25,00 45 42 63 - 1	Week   Price Chy Yld MECode   12	Typesh:  In Law Street: Price -Chg Yhi Přičcole 68 Ganes Writchp 60.50 -5.00 1.5 285 287 28 Grands Gp 80.500 -6.00 2.1 2.8 105 20 H-Tier -4.00 - 9 0 200 Hospicol, Grp 135.00 -1.00 4.2 2.3 400 25 Hospicol, Grp 135.00 -1.00 4.2 2.3 400	197 He Padderdune 1730 - 130 6.1 231 201 182 201 183 2	200 25 Alled Carpers   21.50 *1.00 4.4 kg.7 1286   200 85 Alled Carpers   20.50 *6.00 1.2 20.3 700   20.5 5 Alledge (1) 48.00 0.9 109 109 109 109 109 109 109 109 109 10	10
17 27 38g 17 27 8PB 19 27 8PB 106 77 8rc 17 68 Cap 17 68 Cap 17 58 586 CA 14 98 Dan 18 586 Spa 18 586 Spa	product Nr. 19.0 4.3 - 656 PM DM Straight Chris Space 3.00 4.5 - 50 25m 22 48 Balangh India 128.00 + 1.00 25 7 50 25m 22 48 Balangh India 128.00 + 1.00 4.5 5 24 6 5 25 25 7 25 6 25 25 25 6 25 25 25 6 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25	75.50 _ 25 0.1 102 125 % 79.00 -3.50 4.4 0.1 528 14 82 16.00 -0.50 84 64 1845 (10 86	Independ No.   1975 0 .0750 1.5 N.1 250 38   Independ No.   1975 0 .0750 1.5 N.1 250 38   Independ No.   1975 0 .0750 1.5 N.1 250 38   Independ No.   1975 0 .5 N.1 250 38   Independ No.   1975 0 .5 N.1 250 1.5 N.1 250 1.	IPM Geneta Surge 366.00 - 45.07 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 - 57.2 2.6 2.6 2.6 2.6 2.6 2.6 2.6 2.6 2.6 2	76 Rates 2005 - 1.3 1.0 7 70 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10	D7 21 Wes 7:30 -1.00 - 7.2 323 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 32 3	22) 17 869 900 1800a 250 17 83 705 89 90 800s 8550 429 11 20 700 865 25 80 600s 8550 429 11 20 70 805 85 85 80 600 12 8 475 20 10 8 10 8 10 8 10 8 10 8 10 8 10 8 1	201 66 Protond Gp Prot - 1 5 ng 2540 Protond Gp Prot - 1 7 75 775 Pr 95 Protond Gp Prot - 1 1 97 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15
His IP Grains Habitation 1985 178 Habitation 1985 178 Habitation 1985 178 Habitation 1985 179 John His IP GO GO GO HIS Philip GO HIS PHILIP GO HIS PHILIP GO GO H	am Gp 15.00 - 44 70.0 07.2 57 80 David Brown and [ 22.596, - 48 9 79 7255 396, 74 Dennick Hamilton ( 27.596, - 4.59 79 7255 396, 74 Dennick Hamilton ( 27.596, - 4.59 79 1.00 30 7255 396, 74 Dennick Hamilton ( 27.596, - 4.59 79 1.00 30 7255 396, 74 Dennick Hamilton ( 27.596, - 4.59 79 1.00 396, 75 79 1	77.50 - 12 14 642 25 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70	Sodge-side 20.50 -0.50 -0.1 0.5 0.50 c.50 c.50 c.50 c.50 c.50 c.50	Hend TX People	23 Consensions 2.53 20 806 7 Rep. Set 502 4025 - 102 105 206 Rep. Set 502 4025 - 102 105 206 Rep. 502 4037 - 11 13 350 105 205 Rep. 502 502 502 602 603 105 205 Rep. 502 502 502 602 603 105 802 105 802 502 602 602 602 602 602 602 602 602 602 6	85 SG Centh Reign 73.50 - ng 59.0 67 26 Celluch Gr 35.00 - 10.7 19.4 444 226 Circulation 35.00 - 10.7 19.4 444 226 Circulation 35.00 - 20.0 - 20.0 20 161 Galon Higgs 75.50 - 10.0 - 20.0 10.0 86 Grow Wileys 50.0 - 20.0 20. 22.1 10.4 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1	100 507 107 30.00 - 129 72.1 664 77.2 452 00.00 - 18.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.9 20 1.00 1.00 1.00 1.00 1.00 1.00 1.00 1	$0.45 BAT inda $38.00 4.00 &1 0.0 fbg $10.00 30 AF Galainer 29.50 $1.50 $9.2 $1222 $1250 $1.50 $
10 120 Hard 137 332 Haye 146 House 160 110 Plade 160 95 PTS 26 PS Pales 160 95 PTS 26 PS Pales 160 95 PTS 26 PS Pales 160 820 RPS	Fig. 17 19 19 19 19 19 19 19 19 19 19 19 19 19	07.50	Abore, Andrea 6.25 vs 1, A - 473 15 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4	92 Invite of Invites 19439 3449 300 86 Invent Captais 60.5 - 45 - 4022 4 10 ISS Entry Cest 19,00 - 28 - 492 20 20 ISS Entry Cest 19,00 - 28 - 494 20 22 ISS S	240 Souther Lids. 269.50 1.19 22.9 30.56 1 Sunitage 1.22 - 6.37 0 25 Thanda Hith. 80.50 - 1.5 m.g. 25 25 Though Hith. 80.50 - 1.5 m.g. 25 25 Though Hith. 80.50 - 1.5 m.g. 20.50 36 Year-Home 18.50 - 1.5 m.g. 20.50 36 YCZ 20.525 - 2.50 4.6 8.6 20 7 20.50 Westhery 20.00 - 1.2 8.8 267	485 55 Papella Th 20150 - ng 7357 - 255 57 57 57 57 57 57 57 57 57 57 57 57 5	art 12 Peter I peter   4020   - 17 25.4 68   120	104 38 Br Arrings   507 00
190 60 Rock 197 92 Rock 197 92 Rock 198 207 Shart 197 23 Sec 19 8a Tarmi 64 8a Tarmi 67 79 University 197 79 University	# $5.50 42 1977 457 297 847 670 670 684 689 890 410 965 684 689 890 410 965 684 689 890 890 890 890 890 890 890 890 890 8	3650 - 19 02 08 32 26 0050 v150 12 29 17 08 9 30 32 26 0050 v150 12 29 17 08 9 30 32 26 0050 v150 12 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18	Revisition   28,000; -1,50 27 40.3 169   169	100 Law Dealer   107:50 - 4.00 1.3 - 245 0.9 10 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 4.00 1.3 - 245 0.9 10 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 2.5 - 2.50 0.9 10 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 2.5 - 2.50 0.9 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 2.5 - 2.50 0.9 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 2.5 - 2.50 0.9 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 2.5 - 2.5 0.9 1.4 (Apr. 107:50 - 2.5 0.9 1.4	78 Pricente: VE-50 *1.50 44 72.1 ID: 48.00 Fe-100 12.0 12.5 48.00 Fe-100 12.0 Fe-1	45 St         Absol Lab         60 Other         61         77         87           — Angers Gry         70.00         -0.30         13         202         20         20         20         11         202         20	207 off PSR 202 - 130 48 52 6030 255 52 From Bridge 202 - 130 48 52 6030 255 52 From Bridge 202 - 130 48 52 6030 255 52 From Bridge 202 - 130 48 52 6030 255 52 From Bridge 202 - 130 45 52 52 52 52 52 52 52 52 52 52 52 52 52	57 or fuher   16.00   -2.0 2.4 2.5 206
Citetrical Si IQ Alba NO 99 Alla NO 99 And NO 99 And NO 99 And NO 99 Brent 267 No 9rt V 267 No 9rt V 267 No 9rt V 267 No 9rt V	The state of the s	4600 - 49 40 73 280 76 52 46 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76	Circlover 72839 *100 2.6 550 18 Circlover 72839 *100 2.6 550 18 Circlover 72839 *100 2.6 550 18 Circlover 72839 4.50 7.6 569 18 Circlover 72839 4.50 10.1 569 18 Circlover 72839	W 11 Cente Palc 107.7 430 1.0 - 2565 Mee   30 N Cente Palc 107.5 430 1.0 - 257 327 327 327 327 327 327 327 327 327 32	Gila  104 Adatom Mand  25.00 450 21, 255 522 626 12  25. Adatom 45.30 450 21, 255 522 626 17  25. Adatom 45.30 -1.30 7.3 51 666 17  25. Adatom 51.30 -1.30 12  25. Adatom 51.30 46.00 - neg 526 18  27. Adatom 51.30 46.00 - neg 526 18  27. Adatom 51.30 46.00 - 1.3 71 306 18  27. Adatom 51.30 18  28. Adato	Of all protects of the control of th	25. 30 Sechely) 38-90 - 5.1 427 165 20 30 Sechely) 300 3-507 - 2023 20 30 Sechely) 300 3-507 - 2023 20 50 Sechely) 300 3-507 - 2023 20 40 Sechely) 300 300 300 300 300 300 300 300 300 30	100   100
36 20 Canel 49 27 Coun 408 26 Cross 36 25 Does 20 27 Ells 8 77 55 Europ 89 10 Marie	Tadd 1970.00 4.00 317 % 5 0006 55 20 11 Nationnes 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	### 400 54 10 15 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20	Description   16.59   1.00   14   18.50   1.00   15   18.50   1.00   14   18.50   1.00   14   18.50   1.00   14   18.50   1.00   14   18.50	55 Philippins for 70.50° - 75 - 165 27 150 160 160 160 160 160 160 160 160 160 16	20 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  20 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  21 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  22 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  23 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  24 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  25 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  26 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  26 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  26 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  27 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954  28 Services 1980 - 18 71 3954	8 10 Carbon Gg 800	008 56 Wickes 2500 *0.00 17 134 184 184 2500 *0.	70.50 - 56 MA MO
251 64 Impact 89 89 Export 269 225 Please 36 225 Please 36 225 Please 36 225 Please	Go 2000 - 5 00 43 228 1032 679 480 T1 Cep Go 2000 - 100 13 228 669 20 90 7 mms fic Go 2000 - 7 00 43 65 230 256 670 470 660 680 2000 - 7 00 43 65 230 256 670 470 660 680 2000 - 7 00 43 65 200 256 670 470 660 680 2000 - 20	250 4.00 13 5.5 987 65 25 79.50 2.00 11 10.5 25 987 65 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25	•	Government S	ecurities	es nate cape respei 50 PE Sent Hopels 93.00 - 28 93.9 2073 16 St Pin Chais 30.75 17 10.4 209 16 St Pin Chais 30.75 10 17 10.4 209 16 26 Grainger Try 347.50 - 2.5 9.2 207 16 266 Grainger Try 347.50 - 2.5 9.2 207	17.50	Watter   SS   Sc Arginar   773.00   - 5.8   11.3   400
34 95 Sept 34 9 Septisis 24 59 White 24 59 York 24 27 Zonk Distributo 220 49 About	79 27:30 - 53 neg 557 Engineering Vehiter 27:50 - 33 feb 557 Advert 77:56 Avor Rubber 19 Advert 78:50 - 17 N.3 602 341 226 Searcem	18150: 418 60 13 442 32 med 5500. 12 445 202 High 1 6500. 12 445 202 High 1 600 305 600 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 1	Lindock Price Cag Tiouses Page Lindock St. Cag Tiouses Page 152 Tay N. 1,25 W N. 100 Cag 125 N. 155 157 Tay N. 2,5 W N. 100 Cag 125 N. 155 158 Tay N. 2,5 W N. 100 Cag 125 N. 155 158 Tay N. 2,5 W N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 155 M. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 N. 156 158 Tay N. 100 Cag 135 158 Tay	Low Stands Price Chy YidCoda High 63.9 Can JSN Perp 70.8 4.9 4.9 594 (1913) 4.41 594 (1913) 4.60 10.0 6.0 6.0 6.0 6.0 6.0 6.0 6.0 6.0 6.0	Low Stock Price Cry 114Code 155 10.06 To 85.00 10.34 0.25 7.0 355 10.34 To 85.07 10.34 0.00 7.6 307 10.35 To 75.00 10.34 0.00 7.6 307 10.35 To 77.00 10.36 0.00 7.0 307 10.35 To 77.00 10.36 0.00 7.0 307 10.35 To 77.00 10.36 0.00 0.00 0.00 10.36 0.00 0.00 0.00 0.00 0.00 0.00 0.00	gh Low Stock Price Chy TheCode  18 16.4 To 75.5 to 18.6 4.4 6.72 4.50  18 16.6 To 1.75 to 18.7 4.5 6.7 18.5  18 16.6 To 2.55 to 18.2 4.7 4.7 4.7 4.7 4.7 18.5	06. 25. Chois Serv. 25.50 • 1.10. 1.4 3 50 6 100
69 100 Abbeys 47 364 Acu C 20 01 Acu C 4 2 Acu Br 20 87 Brt Fed 100 62 Charles 266 73 Dayson 400 37 Objess	The state of the s	25.01 40.01 1, 12.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1 10.1	1.0 Top.11.25 (0) 95.50 0.50 -1.00 300 1.500 1.00 Top.11.25 (1) 60.00 0.54 1.24 300 105.34 1.07 Top.11.25 (2) 60.00 0.54 1.23 300 105.34 1.06 Top.11.25 (2) 60.00 0.54 1.22 300 105.34 1.06 Top.11.25 (2) 60.00 0.22 0.00 102.25 1.07 Top.11.25 (2) 107.56 0.50 1.20 693 102.25 1.07 Top.11.405 (2) 107.56 0.50 1.20 693 102.25	50.57 Tay 5.75 W 50.59 - 0.05 7.27 30.4 (67.7 19.53 Such 525 W 50.44 - 0.07 7.2 2007 19.53 Tay 5.75 W 50.3 - 0.07 7.3 200 19.52 Such 5.25 W 50.3 - 0.07 7.3 200 19.52 Such 5.25 W 50.5 - 0.07 7.3 200 19.52 W 75 W	U.S. Tay 078-03 US.00 -0.59 4.50 6607 L.C.	44 (21.20 Top 62.00 m2.14 d.e. 642 JM 7  10123 43 25.16 Top 62.75 d	77 SE Herr Sobin 10 45 Hear Sobin 10 45 Hear Sobin 10 45 Hear Sobin 10 45 Hear Sobin 10 45 RA Heign 10 45 RA He	Northern Rock 482.00 2.00 Serent Trent 8 33.00 0.00 Thomas 8 33.00 0.00
256 77 Dayson 400 27 Objects 725 237 Objects 500 366 Bestra 127 10 Entrope 105 77 Entrope	Top 2000 17 5 074 07 6 UP G 17 5 074 07 6 UP G 18 17 5 17 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18	750x _ 75 57 225 (Perpets	U2E (* 1255 Perp. 1734 BOD 617 896 Med 90 Cles 255 Perp. 1734 BOD 617 896 Med 96 Tep 2.25 Perp. 3631 438 637 301 1064 97 Tep 35 Perp. 4425 BOD 618 301 (8187		9547 Top 0.5% 55 1920 9.00 4.00 4.00 1.00 10.00	#1   PROP   「	77 Sp. Con Bridge Sw. 1911.90 - 1921.00 1924.77 Lyon Hides 1913.90 - 1921.27 - 1921.07	source: Bloomberg

29/SPORT

Dunwoody ride to steal the show

The horse that would have provided the prime attraction at

 $t_{2k+pq} \downarrow_{2k+pq}$ tenting togated while has dead el finite de la college T. die, ener and rean bine

And and Courtiers

25, 1 25, 25

antiur gare une

With the same

4 - 17 1 E E E E E

January Is District

. Jan. Bake history

STREET - ARTER

the transportation

State Landing

robert et and i e are a second

- P- - - - (*) <sub>----</sub>

i sang

· · · · 🙌

is osto<sub>stac</sub>

The state of

The Harman

Cheltenham on Sunday, last season's top juvenile hurdler, Grimes, is to miss the meeting. With National Hunt racing in need of a star performer to turn out it is lucky that Mr Mulligan and Richard Dunwoody are ready to pair up for the first time on Saturday.

John Cobb reports.

The end of the Flat season last Saturday allowed the jumpers to move centre stage. Unfortunately, few of them have taken up the call and after Newbury's card yesterday featured only 31 runners the track has managed to go one worse today.

To compound matters, Christy Roche has decided that Grimes, who comfortably defeated the Triumph Hurdle winner Commanche Court at Leopardstown last month, is not yet ready to make his first trip to Britain for Sunday's Murphy's Draughtflow Handicap Hurdle at Cheltenham.

conjunction with the Medical Advisers of Professional Sports.

Administrators and med-

The four-year-old, who was the best backed horse this week for the Champion Hurdle, is now down to as low as 14-1 (with Ladbrokes, 20-1 with Coral) for Cheltenbam in March.

RICHARD EDMONDSON NAP: Party Animal (Worcester 1.00) NB: Traceability (Kelso 1.10)

"Grimes is not running now because the top weight has come out," Roche said yesterday, "and I believe it would be asking too much of a four-year-old to car-injuries are a hazard will attend.

"It is 10 years since we last reviewed the situation and medical opinion has moved on,"

Jockey Club chief medical ad-ry top-weight of 11st 10lb. It is early in the season and early in it to the track are Richard Dunhis career, so I am going to mind him for the time-being. I will speak to the owner [IP Mc-Manus who is in America, and I am sure he has other races in mind for him."

Liam Cashman, the Irish bookmaker, had already opened betting on Sunday's race and, in this case, those punters quickest off the mark have come a cropper. Cashman's odds of 11-2 against Grimes were soon gobbled up and by the time of Roche's decision his

Two stars who should make woody and Mr Mulligan, who will combine for the first time in the Sean Graham Chase at Ayr on Saturday. "It's not often that a Gold Cup winner comes up as a spare ride," Dunwoody's agent, Robert Parsons, said.

Mr Mulligan, not always the most brilliant of workhorses. pleased his trainer, Noel Chance, yesterday. "Mr Mulligan is good," the Lambourn trainer said. "He worked nicely with a couple of horses this morning. Richard definitely rides, so we've gelding had been backed to 4-1. got a good track, good ground and a good jockey so hopefully all will go well with him." Jim Öld expects his Champion Hurdle hopes, Collier Bay and Juyush, to reappear within Skip Away is in good shape Skip Away, brilliant winner of after his Hollywood Park victory Saturday's Breeders' Cup Clasaccording to Sonny Hine, who sic in California, has arrived in trains the colt for his wife, Florida for a rest before being aimed at the Gulfstream Park Carolyn.

Chance: Good prospects

The couple hope that the grey can eventually lower the all-time earnings record held by Cigar. Accordingly, Skip Away will in 1998 contest only those races exceeding half a million dollars in value.

be downgraded from a List One to a List Two player at yesterday's meeting at Lord's. the next three weeks. lieved to have been offered a £100,000 contract by Sussex, to-Skip Away aimed at breaking Cigar's record tal freedom of movement. rather than be restricted to just a handful of prospective

> List One registration. The regulations state that only two List One players can be signed by a county in a fiveyear period - a rule designed to protect the wealthier counties recruiting all the best talent. A statement from the ECB read: "The decision was taken because it was felt Derbyshire had misinterpreted the regulations as, having released the player from his current contract, he could no longer be a List One player."

Chris Adams was yesterday granted his freedom from Derbyshire by the England and Wales Cricket Board's Regis-

The highly rated batsman, released from his contract with the Midlands county after a stormy relationship with their committee over the past two seasons, successfully fought to

It gives the 27-year-old, be-new counties if he had kept his trations Committee.

However, the ECB stressed: "There should be a 'cooling off' period of 14 days in this matter during which time the player should not be able to conclude a contract with any county, although he can negotiate terms and enter into discussions if he so desires." Adams' downgrading to List Two makes him available to every county and is likely to spark a football-style transfer scramble for his services, with Warwickshire and Kent believed to be joining Sussex in the chase for the player.

Nottinghamshire yesterday completed the signing of the Zimbabwe leg-spinner, Paul Strang, as their overseas player for the next two seasons.

The 27-year-old Test player put pen to paper after flying to England to hold further contract negotiations with Nottinghamshire officials, who switched their attentions to Strang after failing to persuade Shane Warne to play county cricket.

Strang enjoyed a hugely successful season with Kent, for whom Carl Hooper replaces him as overseas player, and claimed 63 first-class wickets and scored more than 500 runs.

"It's a vital part of any team planning to have the matter of your overseas player resolved at an early point in proceedings, which is why we are delighted to have Paul on board," Nottinghamshire's cricket manager, Alan Ormrod, said.

Strang said: "It was sad to leave Kent in many respects but I'm glad that I've been given this chance. There is a lot of potential at Trent Bridge and there are exciting times ahead." - Myles Hodgson starts on 20 November. Alcott added: "He can obviously bowl with what he's got and be effective - but it depends on what

New Zealand's last-day run chase by grabbing four wickets in 22 balls during the half hour before lunch, which reduced the

New Zealand won toss AUSTRALIA - First limings 373 (M A Taylor 112, P R Reithal 77).
NEW ZEALAND - First limings 349 (S P Reming 91, C L Cairns 64).
AUSTRALIA II - Second limings 244 for 6 dec-

(G S Blewett 91, R T Ponting 73no)

Total (82 overs) 132 Fail: 1-4, 2-65, 3-68, 4-68, 5-69, 6-112, 7-115, 8-117, 9-128, nn, et an. Bowling: McGrath 17-5-32-5 (nto); Kasprowicz 8-1-7-0 (nto); Reiffel 12-4-27-2 (nto); Warne 25-6-54-9 (nto)). Umplines: 8 Randell (Aus) and V Ramaswamy NATIONWIDE GOLD CUP Semi-finel: Omegh v Coleraine (at Seaview, Ballast). PONTINS LEAGUE Premier Division: Aston Vila v Bleckurn (70); Simmingten v Sneffeld Wednesdey (75) fat Hednesdrof); Meuchaster Utd v Stote (70); Notingten Forset v Franters (70), Prist Division: Bolton v West Bromwich (70) (at Leigh RMI); Port Valle v Huddersfield (70); Walles V Othram (70); at Retord Ligh, Becond Division: Bernsley v Lincoh (70); Rochaste v York (70); Streasbury v Sterifield Utd (70); Stockport v Bleckpool (70); at Iriyate Ligh. Third Division: Bury v Scarborough: Chester v Newcaste (70); Southorpe v Doncester (70); Welsel v Hull (70).

ANON BRSUPANCE COMBINATION First Division: Chester v Newcaste (70); Sevend u Utd (75); Totterham v Amenal (at Leyton Orient).
FA YOUTH CUP First round: Wolding v Brighton & Hove Abbon; Erin & Belvodere v Tooting & Mitchem Utd (12); Thursesmeat Towri); Welling Utd v Dulwich Hemist; Chipstand v Chelese.

McGrath effectively ended the expert thinks."

Kiwis to 69 for 5.

NEWBURY

Jockey Club seminar.

America are to take part in a

The two-day conference en-

I.20 Javelin Cool 1.50 Mutual Agreement

2.50 Northern Starlight 3.20 Faustino

Jockey Club focuses on head injuries

Experts on sports head injuries Injury in Sport" is being held from Britain, Australia and in London on 30-31 January in acro) adjoins course. ADMISSION: Members £14; Tattereals £8; Silver Ring £4 (CAPs half price) Accompanied 17-year-olds or under free all enclosures CAR PARIC Free.

2.20 Daraydan 3.50 SKYCAB (nap) GOING: Chase course - Good to Firm; Hurdes - Good.

© LEADING TRANICRS: D Nicholson – 19 wins from 33 rumers (20.4%), O Sherwood 16-58 (28.5%), N Henderson 13-80 (16.3%), M Pipe 11-84 (17.2%).

© LEADING JOCKEYS: A Meguitre 17-83 (18.3%), R Dumroody 15-81 (19.8%), M A Rizgerald 10-99 (10.1%), C Liewellyn 9-90 (10%).

© FAVOURITES: 133 wins from 337 races (39.5%).

BLINKERED FIRST TIME: Snow Board (150).

1.20 FURLONG CLUB NOVICE HANDICAP HURDLE (CLASS D) £4,000 added 3m 110yds Penalty Value £2,765 ......D Byrna .....D Bridgastler ......A P MicCoy

Minimum weight: 10st. True hendicap weight: Javalin Cool 9st tilb. BETTING: 4-5 Hillsmick, 7-2 Into The Web, 9-2 Javalin Cool, 7-1 Shimbe Hills 1996: Queen's Award 7 9 7 M Griffiths (7) 9-4 law (R Bucklar) 9 ran

DEL INNE 4-9 INSURA, FAI INTO INSURE WAS, 92 JAYON COOK, 7-1 SHANDS HIRE

1996: Queer's Award 7 9 7 M Griffiths (7) 8-4 ke (R Bucker) 8 ran

FORM GUIDE

HILLSWICK, who showed improved form on the Flat this year to win a staying handicap at Bath in August, has carried that over to hunding. He was 15th out of the handicap when running in-form Genry's Pride (winner again Monday) to four lengths at Newton Abbot last month and scored by three-quarters of a length from Don't Tell Yom at Ludiow sen days later off a 5th lower mark (sall 9th out of the handicap). Young, Helwick is reted 72 – 8th higher than when winning and 2th higher than at Newton Abbot. He still looks capable of winning off that mark in this company, particularly with the longer trip to suit him, into The Web, an insh point-to-point winner, reached the frame in a couple of novice hundles less season on soft ground at Hereford and Plumpton. He needed his reappearance at Huntingdon (2m 1/2f) last month and did not run badly in sixth to The Full Monty, best-en about 27 lengths. The ground was plently fast enough for into The Web then and, while that may again be a problem, he should at least be suited by the step up to three miles. Shimba Hills, a winning chaser for Jackel Petter over two years ago, got only as far as the second on his return from almost two years off at Fortwel recently in an amatisur's these layed in a maiden hundle and 8th out of the handicap.

Selection: HILLSWICK

1.50 LIONEL VICK MEMORIAL NOVICE HANDICAP CHASE (CLASS D) £5,100 added 3m Penalty Value £3,539

- 4 occurred BETTING: 5-4 bistual Agreement, 11-4 Callere Stat, 7-2 Snow Board, 9-2 Laughing Fosteine 1996: Goldenswell 6 11 1 B Fenton 2-1 fev (G Balding) 7 ran titled "Concussion and Head ical staff of sports where head viser Dr Michael Turner, said. Handicap in February. FORM GUIDE stutissal Agreement has every chance to make it five wins from six storts this season having done really well to beat Hithead a length and a had in a Wincanton handicap chase jest time. Paul Nicholst mars stays well and acts on feet ground, so she has plently going for her. However, Mutual Agreement has taken a significant rise in the ratings and I prefer to take a chance on CALLEVA STAR, even though he has not no marine firsting three lengths second (25 clear of the third) to an in-form Carlboo Gold at Bangor back in Mayor. That was another good effort from this consistent cheer and the winner went on to soors off a 90 higher mark at Wolverhampton in May, suggesting Calleves Star has every chance rated just 2b higher, Laughing Fontshine almost certainly has more ability than he has shown so far (the landed previous connections in trouble for his running behind Nigets Lad over hundles at Doncaster on his final start last season). True, his jumping is a big worry after he blundered away his chance at Plumpton, where he started favourise in Snowdon Lily's race on his chasing debut and first run for Kim Balley, but he has unimpressive against week opposition. He wear bilinters to the one is fair handicap mark.

-3 declared BETTING: 1-3 Deraydea, 4-1 Occold, 7-1 Radey Wood.
1986: Mandys Mantino 6 11 8 P Hote evens for Li Gifford) 4 ran
FORMI GUIDE

DARAYDANI, successful three times lest season and third to Istabraq in the Royal SunAllance Hundle at the Festival, easily justified odds-on status on his return at Chellenham, beating Pleasureland eight tengins, and will be a very short price to follow up. Occolor's Stratford beating of Suprame Charm (Ascot winner since) was a good effort in the context of novice fundles. He is not a metch for Derayden but is preferred for the forcest to Fladey Wood, who also beat a subsequent winner, Name Of Our Father, on his reaposgrance at Stratford.

2.50 HALLOWE'EN NOVICE CHASE (CLASS D) 25,500 added 2m 4f Penalty Value 23,795

Northern Startight completed his het-trick of novice chase wins at Chepstow on Saturday in a valuable race but is worth opposing today. Martin Pipels str-year-old had his task greatly simplified by the fall two out of Astreel Boy, who had beaten Northern Startight when he made his chasing debut at Newton Abbot. Northern Startight also benefitied from his main rival, Spariding Spring, falling when breaking his duck over tences at Ludlow last month and that rival hardly boosted the form when beaten at Warwick on Saturday. Northern Startight can run well again, but there is every chance that COPPER BOY will take him on up front and Bob Buckler's eight-year-old may prove too strong. He impressed when making a wirning return in a Windsor handlesp hurdle last November and overcame a ten-week break to follow up here by a length from Kingdom Of Shades. Copper Boy was well beaten in the Corel Cup at Chetenham on his first start, but he has the Boy was well besten in the Coral Cup at Chetanham on his mast start, our no rest out build of a chasse and can make the most of the 9lb he receives from Northern Startgint. Nigel Twiston-Davies' runners have struck from in recent days and Mathier can go well on the chasing debut. He won three times over hurdes last season and, while raised significantly lower than Northern Startgint and Copper Boy, did well to win an 18-runner Ayr mathem headtene on his final start in April.

Selection: COPPER BOY

3.20 WINTERBOURNE CONDITIONAL JOCKEYS HANDICAP CHASE (CLASS E) 25,000 added 2m 1: Penalty Value 23,318 3F123 FAUSTINO (18) (D) (BF) (The Bibook '4') P Hobbs 5 11 10... 3F2P2 DR ROCKET (S) (D) (The Rocketeurs) R Dokin 12 10 13..... 0002-2 BLACK STATEMENT (14) (El Neyto) 1 (Gifford 7 10 0 ......

-3 declared Minimum weight: 10st. True handicap weight: Black Statement 9st 12b.
SETTHIG: 6-4 Feastboo, 7-4 Dr Rocket, 3-1 Black Statement.
1996: Super Tactics 8 12 0 P Hentey 2-1 (R Ainer) 5 ran FORM GUUDE

PORM GUIDE

DR ROCKET, pulled up on his reappairance at Worcester last month, proved he was no back number by tirishing three lengths second to the eased Supermick at Plumpton last week despite drifting from 4-1 to 8-1. The 12-year-old is not harshly treated over fences and is the one to be on. Faustino, no match for Green Green Desert in a match here yesterday, was also well because bahind Perfamentarian at Towcester and Thursday Night at Newton Abbot previously and just seems to have lost his way at present. Nonetheless, he is preferred to Black Statement, beaten 27 lengths by Nescal at Fontwell on his return despite being backed from 12-1 to 9-2.

Selection: DR ROCKET

3	.50	E.B.F. 'NATIONAL HUNT' NOVICE HURDLE (QUALIFIER) (CLASS D) £4,000 added 2m 110yds Penaity Value £2,921
_	21-0	BIG PERICS (7) (D) (RAH Perkins) P Dalton 5 11 0 C Meaning
;
3	104-	CHERRYSHORE (209) (D) (H & store see Extended Astronomy letter 1 to 1 t
4	611-	COLUMN DE ALL MOST ATA Alle I L'Apprisant J Kno 5 11 0
5	ĦP-	JOCTOR DON (284) (Ars Derek Strauss) J.S. Moore 5 11 0Mr S. Doreck (7)
6		MAJESTIC AFFAIR (Knights' Recing) N Henderson 5 11 0
7	0-	MENUS OF ACU PLETA Policy Street & Turnet 5 Ti II
B	P3/05-	RETY ARIC ACADE PER IA S MINTE IS MAYOUT 5 TO 11
9		PERCHANICAN REPORT OF COMPANY AND COMPANY
10	40-	PARTIES NOT REPORTED IN TRIBUTAL PROPERTY
ī	-	CHARLE MARK #2 LI Dalle (Heldisch)   371 .1 (-2007) 1 11 LI
2	314-4	PESSIE PROWNE (33) (G A HUCOBO) G HUCOBO 5 10 9
		no de la companya de la companya de la Characteria del la Characteria del la Characteria de la Characteria de la Characteria del la Characteria de la Charac

BETTER®: 108-90 Covering Been, 5-1 Skycals, 11-2 Persian Boy, 8-1 Cherrymons, 1 7-1 Majestic Affair, 10-1 Bellingagains, Racketball, 12-1 News Flesh, 26-1 others
1998: Aerion 5-11 0 J Osborne 8-11 fav (O Shervacod) 17 ran

FORM GUIDE

FORM GUIDE

COUNTRY BEAU sprang a 50-1 surprise when winning a hot Kempton bumper in February by two and a half lengths from Arctic Camper and proved it was not a fluie by following up here the following month, when Beasie Brown, a Market Rasen winner previously, was 17 lengths behind in fourth, Jeff King's five-year-old is a useful prospect and can get his huding career off to a winning start. Beasie Brown has the benefit of a previous run this season, a fourth to Gatflax at Huntingdon last month, as does last session's Warwick bumper winner Big Perits, who was a close seventh behind Bramblehill Dules at Haydock last week. A bigger canger than either, though, will be Cherrymore. He justified warm favouritism in a Uttowest bumper first time out last. December and, after a slightly dissepointing hurding debut at Huntingdon, ren really well at Ayr in April when tourth of 15 to Zandac Billingsgabe, like my selection a 50-1 shot when breaking his duck at Worcester and at this course and can win races over hurdes. So can Skycab, a tul-brother to the useful Groowing, and who was fourth to Red Brook in a Towester bumper on his sole run lest season. Josh Gifford hopes this one can develop into a Chattenham Festival contender. The Oliver Sherwood-trained Per-sian Boy had a minor fracture last year and has been given time to recover. But he is very much one to note on this rececourse bow. He is a half-brother to Cahervillahow and has reportedly been working well at home.

HYPERION 1.10 China Castle 1.40 Kings Minstral 2.10 Brancher 2.40 Ceilldh Boy 3.10 Wayuphill 3.40

Onyourown GOING: Good (Good to Firm in places on chase course).

Undulating course, Run-in of two furlongs.

Undulating course, Run-in of two furlongs.

Course is north of town off B6461, ADMISSION: Club $10, Tatissralls £7 (Students & OAPS 59, CAR PARIX: Free.

I EADING TRAINERS: Mirs Mi Revelley 35 winners from 116 run-ners (302%), Mi Hammond 22-94 (23.4%), J H Johnson 15-78 (20.5%), P Montalith 15-114 (13.2%).

I EADING JOCKEYS: P Nilven 49-130 (53.1%), A Dobbito 25-148 ners (30.2%), M. Hamatonio 22-6-, (20.5%), P. Montelin 15-14 (33.2%).

Q. LEADING JOCKEYS: P. Niven 43-130 (33.1%), A Dobbin 25-148 (17.6%), B. Storey 22- 57 (14%), R. Garnitiy 12-53 (22.6%).

Q. FAYOURITES: 153-374 (40.9%).
BLINKERED FIRST TIME: Canny Chronicle (210).

1.10 DEVINE LINE DANCING NOVICE HUR-DLE (CLASS E) £3,000 2m 110yds J DILE (CLPASS E.) 23,000 ZIII 1 10903

SPANISH VERDICT (18) (D) D Smith 10 15 _____ P Niven
CHANA CASTLE (789) P Hastern 4 10 12 ______ M Foster
D DIAMOND CROWN (FP) M Varie 6 10 12 ______ R McGasth (S)
EMERGY MAN (FIS) M Dods 4 10 12 _____ R McGasth (S)
ESCOBAR (FSOT) A Whitens 4 10 12 _____ E Cataghan (S) MOUNTAIN DRIEAM (289) R Allen 4 10 12 _____ B Storey

2440 MY BUSTER (252) Mes M Milger 5 To 2 D Parker
NY GODSON (721) M Dods 7 To 2 N Smith
004P/ NOT GUELTY (863) J H Johnson 5 To 2 Singler (5)
000-53 PERSUASIVE TALENT (13) D Lamb 6 To 2 Burke WY GODSON (PZI) M Dods 7 TO 2 N Smith
OD4P/ NOT GUELTY (889) J H Johnson 5 TO 2 Suppor (5)
000-53 PERSUSAVE TALENT (13) DL Lamb 8 TO 2 Burbo
OTRACEABILITY (18) (87) M Hermond 4 TO 12 R Gambly
WHAT THE HECK P Cheesbruigh 5 TO 12 A S Smith
03-643 AMBER HOLLY (11) J Dison 8 TO 7 M Michaesy
PPIP4- CELTIC COMMA (850) W Reed 6 TO 7 Teled (650P-3 DELICHITECOL (11) R Noon 6 TO 7 A Dobbin
4 MOST WANTED (FZI) W McKeoner 4 TO 7C McConneck (7)
C RAG DOLL (269) J H Johnson 5 TO 7 Mr C Bonner (3) 2 SHE'S A WINNER (11) P Montaith 4 TO 7 J Jandice (7)
— 18 declared —

HETTING: 5-2 Traceschilly, 7-2 China Castle, 9-2 Spanish Verdict, 10-1 Amber Holly, 12-1 She's A Winner, 14-1 Most Wested, Ray Doll, 16-1 My Buster, 18y Godson, 20-1 others

1.40 ASHLEYBANK INVESTMENTS REG TWEEDIE NOVICE CHASE (CLASS D) - 5 decianed -BETTING: 4-9 Pentjands Hyer, 7-2 Kings Minstral, 8-1 Aids Memoirs, 20-1 Massica, 25-1 Woodford Gale

2.10 GLENMUIR SPORTSWEAR HANDICAP HURDLE (CLASS D) £4,000 2m 2f -2220 WELL APPOINTED (5) (C) B Mackaggert 8 11 3 ... G Lise (3)

2.40 TAVERN HANDICAP CHASE (CLASS C) £7,500 added 2m 6f 110yds

BETTING: 5-2 Change Contact, 3-1 Boarding School, 7-2 West 5-1 Culifith Box, 8-1 Bullyline, 10-1 Road By The River

3.10 SCOTTISH SPORTS AID FOUNDATION H'CAP CHASE (CLASS D) £4,950 2m 1f - 4 declared -BETTING: 4-6 Wayuphill, 11-4 Brier's Deligit, 9-2 Coqui Lane, 10-1 Good

3.40 LANGHOLM DYEING NOVICE H'CAP HURDLE (CLASS E) £3,000 2m 6f 110yds

TING: 3-1 Onyourown, 9-2 Four From House, 5-1 Mensick, 6-1 Fem Fasting, More Champages, 9-1 Monelight Venture, 10-1 Mathy Sol

WORCESTER

1.00 Party Animal 1.30 Larry's Lord 2.00 Bold Statement 2.30 Millcroft Regatta

(nb) 3.00 Bernard Seven 3.30 Tidebrook 4.00 Ahraydoubleyou

GOING: Good (Good to Soft in places).

● Left-hand course, level with long straights and easy turns.

● Course to GA443, ADMISSION: Members £15; fattersals £10;

Course £550 (OAPS £275). CAR PARK: Free; plonic stree £3.

● LEADING TRAINERS: D Natholson — 28 winners from 82 runners were a success ratio of 341%; K Belley 24 from 102 (23.5%); P Hobbs 23 from 109 (211%); G Balding 18 from 93 (184%). P Hobbs 23 from 109 (211%); G Balding 18 from 93 (184%).

● LEADING JOCKEYS: R Dusmoody 31 wins from 192 rices gives a success ratio of £11%; A Maguire 27 from 164 (16.5%); N Williamson 23 from 130 (17.7%); J Oaborne 21 from 91 (23.1%).

● FAYOURITES: 242 wins in 667 races (35.3%).

BINICERED FIRST TIME: Nona.

BLINKERED FIRST TIME: Nova.

1.00 ASTLEY NOVICE HURDLE (CLASS E)

2.29.5 added. 2m 4f

2.006 A VERSE TO (BDER (27) Miss 9 White 8 to 12. R. Johnson

3.2720 BRUSH ME UP (228) P N Webber 5 to 2. D. Osborne

4.86-14 CLOBERYER BOY (82) M Sheppard 7 to 2. D. Lashy

5.60-15 CONQUER THE KELT (238) J Malies 6 to 12. J. Cubost PO: EASY FELT (189) D Neirobon 5 to 2. J. Cubosty

4.00-47 STARNE STYREET (388) O Bernson 8 to 2. M Separate (7)

4.00-47 STARNE STYREET (388) O Bernson 8 to 2. M Second (7)

4.00-47 STARNE STYREET (388) O Bernson 8 to 2. C. Lieuselyn

1.20-15 COOL LORD SLENHY (238) P Hobbs 5 to 2. R. Dusseody

1.40-47 LITTLE NOTICE (255) T Forsite 6 to 2. A Thoroton

4.00 MAJESTIC SOUND (595) T Forsite 6 to 2. A Thoroton

— 22 deciared —

— 22 deciared —

BETTING: 7-2 Easy Feelin, 5-1 Good Lord Murphy, 7-1 Party Animal, 8-1

Sweet Lord, 10-1 Emperor Bunk, LEGe Hotica, Juna Jasmine, 12-1 officer 1.30 DUNLEY LIMITED HANDICAP CHASE (CLASS C) 26,300 added 2m 7f 110yds

2.00 COLWALL HANDICAP HURDLE (CLASS 2.00 COLWALL HANDICLAP NORDLE (COLWALL HANDICLAP NORDLE (COLWALL HANDICLAP NORDLE (COLS S) 200 COLS (C

8ETTBIC: 9-4 Bold Statement, 4-1 Garolo, 11-2 Island Vision, 6-1 Wadada, 7-1 Society Guest, 6-1 Prizofighter, Miss Roberto

2.30 EGDON NOVICE CHASE (CLASS D) 25,000 added 2m 7f 110yds

3.00 LEVY BOARD NOVICE HANDICAP HUR-DLE (CLASS E) £3,650 added 2m 32F00/ ROSMARINO (634) W Janks 7 12 0 ... 22FOV ROSMARNO (834) W Jents 7 2 0.

33 BERNARD SEVEN (F21) M Dods 5 11 7 .

DOSO- ALPINE JOKER (2017) P Hobbs 4 11 2.

PSF-6 HEART (23) Max H Kright 4 10 11

25F-8 CARROLLS ROCK (23) C Mans 6 10 9

00050- MOLLIE SILVERS (167) J K Cresswell 5 10 2.

20F-1 TODO (USA) (285) A H Harvey 8 10 0

00054- ROC ASE (166) B Dowles 8 10 0

000745 OUT OF THE BLIE (20) M Edday 5 10 0.

So

Ministrato 10st. True weights: Roc Age Set Sh. Cut Of The Blue Set 18. BETYING: 5-2 Alpine Joine, 7-2 Bernard Seven, 5-1 Barristers Boy Heart, 8-1 Rosmarino, 10-1 Carrolla Rock, 14-1 Todd, 16-1 others

3.30 LENCHES HANDICAP CHASE (CLASS F) £3,475 added 2m - 5 declared -BETTING: 6-4 Tidebrook, 15-8 Zelloon, 3-1 Hawkfield, 12-1 Whisperin CP BOY G McCourt 4 T 4 ...
DERTY DOZEM D Nicholson 5 T 4 ...
ELYBIG BOOTS P R Webber 4 T 4 ...
GLACIAL KING (221) K Behop 5 T 4 ...
HOLBORN HELL C Menn 5 T 4 ... SMARTY Mbs. J Piersen 4 ft 4 D Leeby SMOKEY ROBOT Mbs. S Edwards 4 ft 4 D Burrons (5) THE PERSO STEEL D Gardolio 6 ft 4 D Mokelli THE DANCING SCOT Mbs S Edwards 5 ft 4 W Greekres (7)

PETITE IENIR A Turnal 6 10 15 ..... REDHANDED (8) D Brace 6 10 19. -22 declared -BETTRIC: 3-1 Vital lasses, 8-1 Conchobor, Dirty Dozen, 12-1 Abraydool Igyou, Sparty, 14-1 Borton Green, Little Miller, Lady Chair, 16-1 others

RACING RESULTS

THE INDEPENDENT RACING SERVICES 0891 261 LIVE COMMENTARIES RESULTS 971 981 NEWBURY 982 972 WORCESTER 973 ALL COURSES RESULTS 0891 261 970

Calls cost Sills per colonia. T.L.S. pit., Scrattus St ECIA 47

1.10: 1. COLWAY PRINCE (G Hogen)
5-2 tay; 2. Little Hoodigan 7-2; 3. Gettoping Gems 7-2; 7 ran, Ind, shi-hol. (A Jones).
Rate: 0460; 2240; 2180; Duel Forecast: 5520.
Computer Straight Forecast: 5140.
1.40: 1. MR BOJANGLES (D Bridgwatex) 7-1; 2. Tuckters Town 9-4 fax; 3.
Sandy Floss 7-2, 8 ran, 4, 18. (I Williams).
Retr. 5530; 5230; 510; 5170; DF: 5440; CSF: coate. MOTOR

23.16.
2.10: 1. PERSIAN VIEW (Mr R Welder)
3-8; 2. Beyerd 5-4 for; 3. Ocean Leader
5-2 3 cm. ½, dist. (kr Balley). Rota: £2.30.
DF: £120. CSF: £3.78.
2.40: 1. MIDAS (g Supple) 7-2; 2. Distance Hall 2-1; 3. Tehnix 25-1. 8 ram. 11-8 raw Bowing Rock 20, 7 (M Pipe). These $480.
C120. £120. £3.20. DF: £8.40. CSF: £1008. 3.10: 1. CHERYL'S LAD (R. Johnson) 1-2 fav; 2. Rossell Island 5-2; 3. Gutteridge 5-2; 3 ran. 3%, 18. (D. Nicholson), Tolar 2160, DF: £190, CSF: £193.

3.40: 1. GRUNDON (J.R. Kausregh) 10-1; 2. Trouvelle 5-2; 3. Freno 11-10 tax, 6 ran, 11, 9. (Mrs. I. Taylor) Toke: P1480; 5230. £160 DF: $22.90. CSP: 533.71 4.10: 1. PRESIDENTREE (Mr O MCPhall) 10-1; 2. Greatest Friend 3-1; 3. Flushing Spirit 6-1: 10 ran. 9-4 to Memphis Blues 8, 2½. (A Carroll) Tota: £1370; £370, £440, £380 DF: £4480 CSF: £3730 Thic £22330 erteart: £2940.

NEWBURY 1.20: 1. GREEN GREEN DESERT (J.Os-borne) 1-3 fav; 2. Faustino 9-4, 2 ran. 25. (O. Sherwood, Upper Lambourn). Totae

£120. 1,50: 1. WISE KING (C Liewellyn) 7-2 it isr. 2. Moon Devil 8-1; 3. Hartsquin Cho-rus 5-1. 9 ran. 7-2 jt iav Single Sourong (pulled up). 2, nk. (J Okt. Wroughton). Teta: 6470: 5220, 5370, 5120. DF: £3070. CSF: CS001. Tricest: £30.21. Trice £1500.

2.20: 1. SUPER TACTICS (A Thornton) 7-4 |: fis:: 2. Strong Medicine 2-1; 3. State-by Home 7-4 |: fis:: 3 run. 1 ¼, hd. (R Ainst, Blandford Forum). Tota:: £2.50. DF: £2.50. CSF: BASS. 2.50: 1. HOUSE CAPTAIN (R Durwoody) 7-2; 2; Go-Informal 6-1; 3; Balanask 3-1, 5 ran. 5-2 tav Courbaril (5th), 2/h, 4; U FitzGerald, Mellon), Tota: 8400; 2230, 2230, DF: $1480, CSF: £1858, Non Rumer: Lough Tuly:

3.20: 1. SANMARTINO (A Magure) 2-9 ter; 2. While Hand 7-1; 3. Eta Ague) Mos 33: 1.4 ran. 6, hd. (D Nicholson, Temple Gu-ting). Tota: 2:20. Dual Forecast: 52:0. CSF: 22:4.
3.50: 1. SUPPLY AND DEMAND (R Dunwoody) 11-10 fast; 2. Aquatetta 33-1; 3. Run-ning de Carlay 6-5 8 ran. 5, 7, (G L Moore, Brighton). Tota: £2.00; £100, £310, £100, DF: £26.70, CSF: £32.90 Place 8: £5441, Place 5: £3701.

SEDGEFIELD

.00: 1. POLO PONY (J Supple) 3-1 fav; 2. Community Service 14-1; 3. Tyndrom Gold 100-1. 9 ran. 5, 7. (John R Upson, Ad-stone). Tota: 2360; 2160, 2100, 2730. DF: 5070. CSF: 23751. Tricast: £3,043.56. Tho:

522890. 1,30: 1. OLD HUSH WING (M Foeler) 5-2: 2. Sidillwise 11-10 fay; 3. Young Sailly 6-1,11 ran. 7, 29 (P Hastam, Middlettern). Tota: 5340; 5130, 5120, 5180. DF; 5250. CSF; $594 Trio: $830. 2.00: 1. VAL DE RAMA (P Niver.) 7-2; 2. Maple Bay 10-1; 3. Shuffan 33-1 6 ran. 11-10 far Symbol of Success (fel). 11. dist. (Denys Smith, Bishop Auckland). Tolis: 23-50; £150, £3.20. Duel Forecast. £1990.

2.30: 1. COUNTRY ORCHIO (G Lee) 11-2; 2. Legal Right 9-1; 3. Thrower 19-8 fex. 8 ran. 'k. 2'k. (Mrs. M Reveley, Selthurn). Total: £580; £180, £270, £180. DF. £3300.

3.00: 1. SLIDEOFHILL (P Carberry) 11-4 far; 2. Tudor Fellow 7-1; 3. D'Arbley Street 4-1 8 ras. 4, 24 (J J O'Nell, Pareith). Tota: 5360; 5130, 5150, 5210 Dual Forecast 53080. Computer Straight Forecast £935. Tricest: £5777.

Tricest: 28777.
3.30: 1. CHIPPED OUT (P Cerberry) 21 fev; 2. Rye Crossing 4-1; 3. Fryup Satel-lite 9-2. 11 ran. 8, dist. (Martin Tochunter, Uverston). Tote: 2830: $190, 2200, $150. Dual Forecast: $770. Computer Streight xecast: £10,29. 4,00: 1. TOPOTHENORTHRACING (5 Gratari) 5-1; 2. Hobbe Choice 9-2; 3. Pop-py's Dreem 7-2. 7 ren. 5-4 (ex Spritzer (5th). ni., 18. (P. Beaumont, Brandsby). Total: 58.00; 53.70; 52.20. DF: $18.00. CSF: $25.07.

Trio: £10.70. Jackpot: $7,0000 (part won, pool of £4,065.01 carried forward to Worcester today). Placepot: 57220. Quadpot: $1830. Place 8: 531,471032. Place 8: $1032.

Hero McGrath injured

Australia 373 and 294-6 New Zealand 349 and 132 Australia win by 186 runs

The Australian fast bowler Glenn McGrath is doubtful for the second Test against New Zealand, after aggravating a groin injury in the 186-run first Test win vesterday.

McGrath will see a specialist in Sydney tomorrow before deciding what to do, after struggling to play through the injury during his match-winning haul of 5 for 32 in New Zealand's second innings.

McGrath, who has now taken 162 Test wickets, said: "I'll just have to see what the specialist says." The team's physiotherapist, Errol Alcott, said McGrath had felt pain in the same part of his left groin operated on in May last year during hernia surgery.

The second Test, in Perth,

TODAY'S FIXTURES

Football 7.30 unless stated
INTERNATIONAL FRIENDLY
Framov 9 scattland (7.45)
(at Stade Geoffroy-Guichard, Sy-Stenna)
FA UMBRIO TROPHY Second qualitying round replay: Dartiord v Cambridge City (7.65) (at Puritied).
ISTURIABA LEACILE Guardian Instances

ISTHRIAN LEAGUE Guardian Instances Cup second round: Croydon v Bedford Town (745) (Ad).

UMBICAN) LEAGUE First Division: Brackort Park Avenue v Worksop, Challenge Cup Second-round replie; Writty v Spernymox.

RMATTENS LEAGUE Cup First round second leg: Softul (1) v Pepti Rangers (2).

ARNOTT INSURANCE NORTHERN LEAGUE
First Division: Consett v Bedington Terriers; Northelemo v Sillinghem Synthonie; Pennith v
Quisborough Town

Quisborough Town.
JEWSON EASTERN LEAGUE Premier Division (745): Febration v Sudbury Town; Schem v Haton; Stowmarket v Mitocham.
NORTH WEST COUNTIES LEAGUE Frest Division: Prescot Cables v Burscough.
SCREWFRX DRECT LEAGUE Premier Division: Tortington v Twenton Town.
UNILET SUSSEX COUNTY LEAGUE First Division: Eastbourne Yours v Peacontainen & Telscombe, Seltcies Utd v Littlehampton Town; Solely v Burgess Hill Town (745).
WINSTONLEAD KERT LEAGUE First Division: UHLSPORT UNITED COUNTIES LEAGUE Version Co. LEAGUE OF WALES Gilbert Cup first round second leg-Cermenthen (3) v Rhayadar (2); Comeas Yaya Mon (1) v Rhyl (2); Welshood (2) v Rhyl (3)

TOUR MATCHES: Bath v Tonga (7:5); Moseley v Australian Capital Territory (7:30). ice hockey EXPRESS CUP: Bracknell Bees v Ayr Scotish Eagles (BD).

Rugby Union

Other sports TENUIS: National Championships (Tailord). SNOOKER: UK Championship (Preston).

WEEKEND FIXTURES AND POOLS FORECAST Also playing (not on coupons): Samet v Wattord: Billenday v Wisbech; Bournemouth

Nationwide Football League

FA Cup first round 17 Chesterfield v Northwi 23 Luton v Torquay...... 24 Morecembe v Emley 25 Oldhern v Mensheid. 26 Phymouth v Cambridge Utd... 27 Preston v Doncaster 29 Rochdale v Wrecham 28 Rotherham v Burnley......

Wattord; Billericsy v Wisbech; Bournemouth v Heybridge; Bristol City v Millwalt; Chel-tenhem v Twerton; Chester v Winslord; Der tenhem v Therton; Chester v Winslord; Dar-lington v Solfalt; Famborough v Degenhem & Redbridge; Hayee v Borehem Wood; Hen-don v Leyton Orient; Hereford v Brighton; Geston v Beston Utc; Slough v Cardif; Wal-salf v Lincoln Utd. Playing Fridge; Bristol Rovers v Glingham, Playing Fridge; Bristol Rovers v Glingham, Playing Sunday; Mar-gate v Fulfram; Notis County v Colwyn Bay. Bell's Scottish League Premier Division First Division 41 Dundes v Ayr ....... 42 Hamiton v Falkirk .... 43 St Mirren v Raith ..... 44 Stirling v Partick ..... Second Division Five awaye: Middlesbrough, S Southend, Rangers, Raith. Tien homes: Chartion, Sheffield Uld, Bren ford, Exeter, Oldham, Plymouth, Wycomb Cettic, Dundee, Livingston.

Leonard believes in rookie revolution

First rugby union principles dictate that experience counts for everything in the mysterious underworld of the front row, but England have flown in the face of orthodoxy by throwing two rookies into this Saturday's Test with Australia. Chris Hewett chews the fat with Will Green, Andy Long and the old-stager, lason Leonard.

"You win nothing with kids," pontificated Alan Hansen, the celebrated know-all from Anfield, in the course of a now infamous Match of the Day pronouncement a couple of seasons back. Embarrassingly for him, Manchester United's pre-pubescent pearls proceeded to win the Premiership title at a canter and in so doing, they dealt a fatal blow to the obsolete "age before talent" philosophy that has crippled England's sporting progress for more decades than anyone cares to remember.

The cricket selectors acknowledged the sea-change by picking a teenager, Ben Hollioake, at Test level last summer. Now the rugby men are at it, naming five youthful new caps for this weekend's intriguing confrontation with the Wallabies. What is more, two of them will perform in the stern. savage arena of the front row up greybeards rather than ju- tired through injury, Graham niors bearing the last traces of bum-fluff.

According to the traditionalists - and there are still plenty to be found in the corridors and committee rooms of Twickenham - prop forwards are meant to put in a good seven or eight years at the coalface before even dreaming of a first cap and a few free nights in the Petersham Hotel Will Green. the 24-year-old tight-head specialist from Wasps, has bucked the trend in only his second full season of top-flight club rugby.

A fast mover, eh? Not as fast as Andy Long, the Bath hooker with whom Green will spend Saturday afternoon in exceedingly close proximity. Long has played six - yes, six - Premiership games in a first-class career stretching all the way back to. um, September. Last season, the outsized 20-year-old was training with the West Country kingpins but playing for Bournemouth, his home club, in the South West Two East division of the Courage Championship. For the uninitiated, that is somewhere down near the earth's core.

"When I got to Bath there were five or six hookers already in situ, so opportunities were obviously going to be few and far between," Long said yesterday. "I was quite happy to train at the Recreation Ground but I needed to play as well, so after discussing my position with the coaches, it was agreed that I should go back home at weekends for a run-around.

"This season, it's been dif-

Dawe had packed in as well and Neil McCarthy had moved to Gloucesten What was more, Federico Mendez was strug-gling with injury. I knew Mark Regan (the England incumbent and a Lion in South Africa) was going to sign, so competition was bound to remain intense. There was just less of it in the numerical sense.

"The club gave me an earchance and the great thing about Bath is the fact that if you play well enough, you keep your place. Sure. I've played only a handful of big games, but they've been against some of the best hookers Britain has to offer - Phil John, Jonathan Humphreys, Barry Williams and of course, I'm up against Mark every day of the week in training. Our next meeting should be a real barrel of laughs." If Long has been fast-tracked - Jacques Villeneuve would have struggled to cover a similar distance at the same speed - Green's prospects have been the subject of enthusiastic debate for rather longer. A career tight-head who joined Wasps from school, he picked up the tricks of the trade from Jeff Probyn, whose unique approach to scrummaging - and, some would say, the wholesale circumvention of rugby's rulebook - frustrated French, Argentinian, New Zealand and Australian front rows for six hugely entertaining years. "Jeff was pretty cagey when he was still first-choice at Wasps, but he let me into a secret or two after packing it in," recalled

Jason Leonard (right) relishes facing Australia on Saturday with new partners, tight head Will Green (left) and hooker Andy Long

Photograph: Peter Jay

Green. "I wouldn't say I expected to get the nod for this match, even though I've been part of the national set-up for a while, but now it's happened, I'm looking forward to getting stuck in. Scrummaging is a key phase now and that should be fine by any prop. You have to love the set-pieces because it's

No one loves the eveball-toeyeball physicality of the scrum more than Jason Leonard, capped 55 times and very much the main man in the eyes of his youthful confreres. On the face of it, the 18-stone Harlequin will have his work cut out against the Wallabies. Not only must be nurse the new boys through their quainting himself with the peculiar dynamics of life on the loosehead side of the front row - a position he has not filled under Test conditions since 1995. No problem, insisted Jase as he introduced himself to his latest partners at Roehampton yesterday.

"I consider myself a loosehead prop first and foremost, so head spot the way he's been playing. What will I say to the two of them on Saturday? I'll have a quiet word, I suppose, but I want them to go out and play their natural games. They don't need me to hold their hands; they've been selected and that's good enough for me.

way, Will deserves the tight- out there and bust a gut. Don't save anything for the last 10 minutes because a Test goes so quickly you'll miss it. Run until you drop and scrummage until your shoulders fall off.' Above all, they should enjoy the experience. For all my years in the team, I'm really excited about Saturday. If I'm right up for it, "My only advice will be: 'Get they must be feeling fantastic."

RFU calls in head-hunters for Twickenham appointment

The Rugby Football Union has ing chief executive who re- ward, the England coach, appointed a leading recruitment firm to help find Twickenham's first chief executive. The London-based Heidrick and Struggles will work alongside the RFU, and its recently appointed interviewing panel, a group that includes Cliff Brittle, the management board chairman, Fran Cotton, the business, capable of playing a national playing committee pivotal role in managing and Saracens' owner.

The new arrival, who will probably start work in January, succeeds Tony Hallett, the act- chance to prove Clive Wood-signed three months ago after English rugby's bitter feud between clubs and RFU ended. "The appointment of a highly qualified chief executive is key to our future plans," Brittle said. "The person we select will be an experienced and and successful senior manager in developing what is now a maior business in its own right."

Mark Regan, the axed England hooker, has an immediate wrong when he lines up for Bath against Tonga tonight.

Regan missed out on England recognition behind his club colleague Andrew Long and Leicester rival Richard Cockerill against Australia at Twickenham this weekend. He packs down in a Bath eight, which includes internationals Kevin Yates and John Mallett in and the No 8 Steve Ojomoh.

tackle Wales at Swansea on devise mechanisms to keep top Sunday.

Southern hemisphere unions are planning action to halt the drain of leading players to northern hemisphere clubs after a meeting of officials from South Africa, Argentina, Australia and New Zealand in Buenos Aires over the weekend. "The matter will be given top priority," Rian Oberholzer, the front row, the lock Martin chief executive of the South joining Leicester. Mallett tailed. Haag, the flanker Eric Peters African Rugby Football Union. said yesterday on his return haemorrhaging of South The game is Tonga's final from the meeting. "We will be warm-up fixture before they holding in-depth discussions to and Joel Stransky left for Eng-players in their home countries." Argentina and South Africa have been particularly hard hit by departures. Garry Pagel, the Springbok prop, joined Northampton earlier this month, while the new South African coach, Nick Mallett, had three meetings with the international lock Fritz van Heerden to try to dissuade him from land a year ago and among other South African internationals playing in Europe are the loose forward Rudolf Straeuli, the hooker John Allan and the full-back Gavin Johnson.

The pair joined a steady African talent. François Pienaar

SARFU have already said anyone playing in the northern hemisphere will not be considered for international selection. They also considered enforcing a 180-day qualification period before allowing Van Heerden to turn out for Leicester. The rule is laid down in International Rugby Football Board regulations on player movements.

Sleightholme move bolsters Northampton back division

Jon Sleightholme, out of favour with both Bath and England, yesterday agreed a three-year deal with Northampton for an undisclosed sum. The right wing's move to Franklins Gardens means the Saints can field international threequarters from three of the four home nations.

bluntly informed him that he so hesitant, although they retheir long-term plans. Yet Bath were well aware of his potential

Brown's fringe players

face formidable French

figure price tag on his head. Cardiff, the biggest spending of the Welsh clubs, expressed an immediate interest but told Bath they were asking "silly money" for the 25-year-market value and put a six-old former teacher. Northampton, who have just made a Sleightholme was placed on substantial investment in the: the transfer list by Bath almost services of Gary Pagel, the was not considered a part of fused yesterday to discuss the details of Sleightholme's move.

Hoddle rules out Ferdinand role as World Cup sweeper

Rio Ferdinand has come a long way in a short time, but thoughts of the West Ham defender being England's sweeper in the World Cup finals are premature.

Guy Hodgson was at Bisham Abbey to hear Gienn Hoddie pour cold water on a change of tactics for France.

As a player Glenn Hoddle was hoisted on top of one or two bandwagons, and yesterday the England coach moved quickly to apply the brakes on another. Rio Ferdinand, he contends, will be a good player, but maybe he has not arrived yet.

Ferdinand, young, gifted and centre-back, stood out in training at Bisham Abbey yesterday as any 19-year-old aiming to be counted among the cream of the country's footballers should. He was not gauche, cowed or out of his depth as England prepared to meet Cameroon on Saturday.

that marked him out as special - Gareth Southgate, Sol Campbell, to name but two, excelled in that department -- but his use of the ball in possession. He looked the epitome of the sweeper Hoddle is looking for to swiftly change defence into attack. The irony is that the youth who has defied time to arrive so soon might have too little of it left to become a fix-ture by next summer's World

Cup finals.

If he had 14 games to experiment with instead of six, Hoddle said, he could risk a new system whereby the third central defender becomes the offensive starting point. "But to play a real sweeper, someone who can come out with the ball like Germany's Matthias Sammer, I'm not so sure we've got the time. Maybe Rio in the future, but I think seven months is probably going to be too quick." Ferdinand was removed from one England squad because of a drink-driving offence, a fesson amid others the West Ham player needs to absorb, according to Hoddle. "He can hit

It was not his defending it right to left 60 yards, but I'm not sure he can go left to right," he said. "He's young, he's got time to learn." As for off the field: "We are keeping an eye on him."

There will be just as much attention on his play, too, because a lack of time to build taotics around him does not mean Ferdinand will not be included in the 22 for France. On the contrary, Hoddle was yesterday throwing open the doors to players aspiring on the fringes. Liverpool's Jamie Red-knapp and Michael Owen, who will train with the squad this week, are just two of the "35 or 36" players in Hoddle's mind. The lesson he had learned in last summer's Tournoi, he said, is not to think in terms of a dream team. And if the first 11 is not settled, the final party for France is nowhere near.

"You need a spine in a team but going into a World Cup it would be a mistake thinking you have a best 11," he said. "The reason is that you reach the quarter or semi-finals and you're never going to get that team. Suddenly two get injured and two get suspended and you can feel in a negative mood. I don't want to send that message to my players."

Back to basics: Glenn Hoddle (left) and Rio Ferdinand in training at Bisham Abbey yesterday

That spine probably includes Tony Adams, whose right ankle injury has forced him to with draw from Saturday's game. amid talk of the Arsenal defender needing another operation and a six-week lay-off. The news of Teddy Sheringham's knee, which was the subject of Alex Ferguson's concern last weekend, was likewise not good. Hoddle will talk to the Manchester United manager about the striker this afternoon when the telephone bill is unlikely to be piffling, because United's Paul Scholes (chest cold), Gary Neville (hamstring) and Nicky causing concern. Their potential loss is another's gain, as Hoddle wants his players to be scrambling over each other to get to France. "That's the challenge I've laid down to the players: give me the biggest headache they can," he

No one will be happier than the England coach if he is reaching for the aspirin on Sat-

Butt (arm) are the other players fied training exercise.

That is where the Scots seen here as "Typiquement Britannique"-came in. Without a certain to figure at some stage. match until late March, when Denmark visit Glasgow, they jumped at the opportunity to test themselves against high-

Phil Show, in Saint-Etienne, sets the scene for tonight's friendly with a lot at stake.

Only Brazil could have presented Scotland with a more formidable test than World Cup hosts

France.

Scotland arrived in this grey industrial city yesterday to find, like W C Fields in Philadelphia. that it was closed. Armistice Day, rather than any lorry-drivers' blockades, accounted for the subdued welcome, but Craig Brown is anticipating the storm after the calm in the Geoffroy-

Guichard Stadium tonight. The encounter with France will, the Scotland manager believes, be an unusually competitive friendly. As World Cup hosts, Aimé Jacquet's team did not have to go through the rigours of qualifying. They were therefore keen to pit themselves against opponents who would not treat the game as a gloriquality opposition, and in particular to see how certain fringe candidates might fare. At least three players more accustomed to warming the bench - David Weir, Billy McKinlay and goalkeeper Neil Sullivan - are likely to be in the starting line-up. There may also be a debut, in a cameo role, for Matt Elliott. Leicester's London-born defender qualifies for > was from Partick. Weir, set to win his third cap as replacement for the injured Colin Hendry, has been outstanding in the Premier Division. "Hearts didn't get to be top of the league with a weak central defence," Brown said.

Scotland because his late granny

McKinlay has played 21 times for his country, mostly as substitute, but is now earmarked to deputise for the absent Paul Lambert as midfield anchor man. Brown is excited by the Blackburn player's ability to drive forward and score.

David Hopkin, who possesses a similar knack, is also The Leeds captain has had what Brown called, tongue slightly in cheek, "a magnificent international career - one-anda-half competitive games, two goals", yet needs to be viewed in more exalted company. Brown is sure France will provide that, despite the omission of Dugarry, Lama, Loko and Karembeu, and media complaints that they are too dour. "Unless we'd gone to South America and played Brazil, this is the toughest fixture we could have chosen," he said.

'We're playing the World Cup hosts who went 30 games unbeaten not long ago and were only knocked out of Euro '96 on penalties in the semi-final. They'll be one of the favourites next summer and justifiably so. Nine of their squad play in Italy - guys like Djorkaeff, Deschamps and Desailly where they're key men. "I have to emphasise; this is France '97, whereas our priority is France '98. But we're playing an outstanding team and there will be a big, partisan crowd, so it should give us a terrific yardstick."

Mises lear shar

Scotland's record under Brown stands at 16 wins, three defeats and 18 clean sheets in 24 competitive games. They have fared less well in friendlies, winning four and losing seven out of 12, though that, he would doubtless argue, is what occasions like tonight are for. FRANCE (4-31-2) (probable): Barthez (Monaco (4-31-2) (probable): Barthez (Monaco (5-31-2) (probable): Barne (Marsaille), Deschampe (Aventus), Petit (Assarail, 2-daire (Aventus); Dioricaeti (Internazionale); Lastendes (Bordesuc), Guiveru'in (Austre). SCOTLAND (3-5-2) (probable): Suffive (Wimbledon): Weir (heart of Middright Dally (Derby), Ceitichwood (Iotenham Burley (Ceitic), McC.nlay (Blackburn McCaster (Coverty), Ceitics (Moras Moras Boyed (Ceitic); Gattecher (Backburn), Dan (Blackburn), Dan (Blackburn),

Lazio put £5m price tag on Casiraghi as Rovers ponder player's demands

Blackburn Rovers have been told they can have Pierhigi Casiraghi for £5m. But the Lazio striker's personal demands of £28,000 a week on a three-year contract. which would bring the club's expenditure on the deal to £9m, may, as reported yesterday, prove a stumbling block.

Rovers' owner, Jack Walker, is reluctant to break the club's wage structure, and a leading Italian agent has said that Casiraghi has also been in talks with cation," said Francis, who was in another Premiership club, so the player's future remains far from

Gerry Francis, whose situation as Tottenham manager became even more desperate following Saturday's 4-0 defeat at Liverpool, denied yesterday that he is set to replace Stewart Houston as Queen's Park

Rangers' manager. "Stories linking me with Queen's Park Rangers are total rubbish and a complete fabricharge of QPR from 1991 to 1994. "I have not had any contact whatsoever with anybody from the club."

Alan Curbishley, the Charlton manager, has emerged as Houston's most likely successor. Although QPR fans want Francis to return, moves have begun to lure Curbishley, with an official approach imminent.

Houston believes that he and his assistant, Bruce Rioch, were sacked to appease impatient shareholders. The axe fell 24 hours before the Rangers chairman, Chris Wright, was due to face last night's annual general meeting of Lottus Road plc, the bolding company which also embraces Wasps rugby union club.

With that meeting coming up, perhaps I shouldn't have been too surprised," Houston said. In business these days people demand success right away." Ron Atkinson has ruled himself out of the running for the vacant Sheffield Wednesday post.

The former Coventry manager, who left Wednesday in acrimonious circumstances in 1991 to take over at Aston Villa, said: "I have had no contact with anyone from Sheffield Wednesday and will not become the next Wednesday manager,"

The former England manager Bobby Robson, currently the director of recruitment at Barcelona, has been linked with an imminent return to one of his former clubs, Sporting Lisbon, as technical director. -- Alan Nixon

Houghton expected to be fit

The veteran Reading midfielder Ray Houghton missed yesterday's training session in Dublin as the Republic of Ireland began their preparations for Saturday's World Cup playoff second leg against Belgium in Brussels. Houghton, 35, picked up a heel injury in the Royals' 1-0 win over Stockport at Elm Park last Saturday. But the Repubis confident that the former Liverpool man will recover and be ready to join the party that flies to Brussels tomorrow.

"The pressure will be on Belgium as they are expected to win after their 1-1 draw in Dublin in the first leg," Mc-Carthy said. "The fact that they have scored the away goal takes the pressure off us, but we know we can win this game and lic's manager, Mick McCarthy, that they can throw it away."

₽d

Leoni-

in about

 $\pi_{\text{traness}}$

2012

33 m. 25

45.00.00

-----

arned

فللعار والمراز

.....

... ; Priestles

Rusedski stutters on return of Rafter jinx

Greg Rusedski made a disappointing start to the ATP Tour World Championship yesterday, losing in three sets to Australia's Patrick Rafter. Pete Sampras, the world No I, also lost in three sets, to Spain's Carlos Moya. But the Briton's challenge is not over yet, as John Roberts explains from Hannover.

It is time for a spot of philosophising. As Pete Sampras knows only too well, it is possible to lose a match in the roundrobin phase of the ATP Tour Championship and still leave

The American world No 1 did precisely that a year ago here, losing to Boris Becker in the group competition and then defeating the German in five sets in the final.

Greg Rusedski, Britain's first representative in the Tour finale, might take some convincing after his experience yesterday in losing yet again to Australia's Patrick Rafter. If it is of any consolation to Rusedski. Sampras made far more errors in losing to Carlos Moya from Majorca, 6-3, 6-7, 6-2,

The problem is that Rusedski and Sampras play each other this afternoon in a match in which defeat for one of them would leave their prospects of qualifying for the semi-finals in the balance.

Rusedski, beaten in four with the trophy and the cheque. sers by Rafter in the United

Hingis misses out on Frankfurt date with Graf

Martina Hingis has conquered all comers in a spectacular rise to the top rank in women's tennis, but the 17-year-old Swiss will have to wait a little longer before getting her chance to take on her illustrious predecessor, Steffi Graf.

Hingis, in New York to promote next week's seasonending Chase Championships at Madison Square Garden, was surprised to hear yesterday that Graf had withdrawn from next month's Masters of Champions invitational exhibition tournament in Frankfurt.

Graf, who beat Hingis in five sets last year in the Chase final, had been expected to make her competitive return since baving knee surgery in June.

"That's news for me," Hingis said about Graf's withdrawal. "It's not official, it's just an exhibition but you want to see how she's doing. You don't know if she's going to come back and play well. You don't know what to expect. So I guess she's going to start in January now."

Graf has been something of a phantom adversary for Hingis, who has been pestered with questions about whether her by the German's absence. "Of from everybody, 'you're only the ers and they respect me as I am. there is nothing you can have against that."

charge to No 1 was diminished course, I don't want to hear No 1 because she's not playing.' But I think I have a very good relationship to the other play-I won three Grand Slams, so

States Open final in September, appeared to have put that behind him yesterday as he dominated the opening set. Serving with such confidence that he conceded only five points in five service games, the only concern for Rusedski and his supporters was that he was not converting opportunities on the Australian's serve.

Eventually, on his sixth break point, Rusedski made the decisive early break, playing a forehand half-volley which gave Rafter little option but to deposit a forehand in response into the net. Rusedski then served out the set, 6-4 after 39 minutes.

That accomplished, Rusedski appeared secure enough until the fourth game of the second set, in which he experienced the rare occurrence of having his service broken to love. Rusedski, and most observers, would argue that the Briton did win a point with an ace for 15-30, but the shot was called out and from that point Rusedski's game slowly began to disintegrate while Rafter's gained momentum. Having created so many chances in the opening set, Rusedski was unable to manufacture one in the next two. Rafter, by contrast, was treating the spectators to the flair that made him such a popular winner at New York's Flushing Meadow. "He got bot when he needed to," Rusedski said. "He deserved to win." The one break in the second set was sufficient for him to level, 6-3, after 68 minutes and he broke Rusedski for 3-2 to gain the initiative in the deciding set. Where Rusedski and Rafter were concerned, the fact that the other hand, considered himself to be at a distinct disadvantage against Moya, one of the Spanish baseliners. Sampras's discomfiture was demonstrated in the number of times he had to change his rackets because of broken strings or the fear that strings were close to the concrete court played rather slowly was evened out by the similarity of their styles as attacking players. Sampras, on some big groundies," Sampras acknowledged, "but the court is slow and it gives him more

"His topspin shots on this court are bouncing very high, so its not easy to come in against him. The balls they are using here makes it very difficult to end the point. They get extremely chewed up and very heavy. The only good thing is

"Carlos served well and hit that my arm is great. I felt no pain whatsoever. There's something positive."

It is perhaps as well that Sampras had some source of consolation after making 50 unforced errors and finding himself outsmarted on the serve by the player he defeated in the final of the Australian Open in January.

TODAY'S ORDER OF PLAY: Rusedaki v Sampras; J Bjorkman (Swe) v Y Kafelnikov (Rus); Moya v Ratter.

Photograph: Allsport

All three i in the Roaring Forties, with Huddersfield have begun to Premiership at Old Trafford last month, "To say that I am devastated is an understatement."

Australia have declared their controversial forward, Gorden Tallis, off limits to the media during the run-up to the deciding third Test at Elland Road on Sunday.

Paris after finishing as run-Tallis, the object of criticism after a rugged display at Old Division, have dismissed Ferres Trafford on Saturday, is the one with two years of his contract Australian player not available remaining, saying that they need a full-time coaching staff. for interviews this week as his coach. John Lang, tries to take into the breach comes the the pressure off him. Lang is former Great Britain captain, confident of having Bradley Clyde available for the first time in the series as he has now recovered from a calf injury and now spend time with the Brisstarted training.

bane Broncos, whose coach, Great Britain report a clean brother-in-law as well as a bill of health and their coach, Andy Goodway, could today name his side, which is likely to sacked their coaches at some be unchanged.

The Rugby League is investigating the circumstances of the takeover of Batley, which saw the club's chairman, Trevor Hobson, ousted at a shareholders' meeting last week.

- Dave Hadfield

SAILING

RUGBY LEAGUE

behave like a Super League club before even becoming one by sacking their coach, him with Garry Schofield.

Steve Ferres, and replacing into Super League in place of ners-up in last season's First

Schofield, and his assistant, Phil

Veivers, who will both remain on the playing register. The two will

Wayne Bennett, is Veivers' former Huddersfield player.

stage last season. "Coaching is not a secure job and I am the latest victim," said Ferres, who was at Hunslet before taking charge at the McAlpine Stadium last October and leading them to the First Division

Most Super League clubs

Huddersfield, fast-tracked

Ferres stunned as Schofield steps in

Frostad and Standbridge in sudden power surge

A 24-hour shake-up saw the middle order turned upside down, the overall leader tearing his hair out near the back, and Sweden's Gunnar Krantz sailing even further ahead on the fourth day of the 4.600-mile second leg of the Whitbread Race from Cape Town to Fremantle.

As in the first leg, the great escape from trouble has again been achieved by Norway's Knut Frostad, who pushed Innovation Kvaerner up from sixth to second place. The British skipper Paul Standbridge was also on the move, as Toshiba climbed from eighth to third

Krantz ready to make the most of his dive to the south - and the 170-mile plus lead it has given him - by turning east. The Southern Ocean winds were driving him along three knots faster than anyone else.

BASKETBALL

The middle order of Chessie Racing, Merit Cup, Brunel Sunergy and Silk Cut were all still suffering from calm patches. Meanwhile, Paul Cayard, the winner of the first leg, was lying uncomfortably in eighth WHITEREAD ROUND THE WORLD RACE (second log, 4,600 miles, Cape Town to Framantie, Aus): Latest positions: 1 Swedish Match (Swe) G Krantz 4,028 miles 8 EF Language (Swe) P Cayard 244; 9 El Education (Swe) C Guallou 285.

Stuart Alexander

SPORTS POLITICS

British athletes animated by Disney deal as Government invests £9m in training camp

Britain's Olympic medal hopes competitors from all Olympic and general health care. The BOA is determined to improve have received a boost with the announcement of a £9m deal which will send athletes to prepare alongside America's finest and in Walt Disney's backyard. The British Olympic Association vesterday announced a 12-year agreement, worth around £750,000 a year, for top as well as supply rehabilitation sports to enjoy warm-weather training and facilities at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex in Orlando, Florida.

As a second part of the deal, the Orlando Regional Health System will provide back-up treatment for injuries

Disney site caters for 20 of the 35 Olympic sports, with 10 others able to use general training facilities in the Florida sun.

travel, training facilities and medical insurance for around on Britain's disappointing showing in Atlanta, where the rowers Steve Redgrave and Matthew Pinsent won Britain's British competitors will receive accommodation, meals, only gold medal. Welcoming the announcement, the Sports Minister, Tony Banks, said: "There is something about the winning of medals -£50 per person per day. The whether it be at the Olympics or Sport which, he said, would World Championships - that gives the whole nation a lift and the Government, on behalf of the people, will play its part in the investment required."

Banks said there would be an announcement on Friday about the structure of the longdelayed British Academy of deel with Gien Ord Single Malt Whisky for the next three years. This season's event is on April 11.

TOUR MATCH (Blarritz, Fr): French Ear-benens 40 South Africa 22.

Anthony Hill, of Australia, was yesterolay barned by the Professional Squash Association for two months of the PSA tour from the start of next months and fined 2200, after testing positive for manipusa at a posissional league match in France lest May. MENS WORLD TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS (Kusha Luzapur): Pool A: Paldistan 2 Germany 1; Caracia 2 England 1 (J Power bt SPark 9-19-510-8, G Ryding to P Marshall 9-29-7 9-2, G Waite lost to C Wisker 2-9 1-9-2-9, Pool B: Egypt 2 Pinterd 1; J Australia 3 Wekles 0 (Fl Eyles to D Brans 4-9-9-4-9-7 9-6, B Martin bt 6 Davies 9-19-0 8-2, C Powland bt M Benjemin 9-19-4-9-0, Pool C South Arrica 2 France 1; New Zealand 2 Stein, Pool D: Mishys 2 Scottand 1 (K Low bt M Heath 9-59-4-9-2, O Bang Hee lost 5 Covid-5-9-9-4; Sweden 3 Angentina 0 Pool E: Nestherlands 2 Switzerind 1; T Dermark 3 Singapore 0 Pool P: Austria 2 Hong Kong 2; Ireland 3 Brazz 0 (D Ryan bt R Mong 9-9-2, M Collins bt I Cabral 7-9-9-49-9-9-9-9-2, C Collins bt I, Andre Cout 9-4-70-8-3-9-7, Pool CE Italy 2 Mojers 1; Makeco 3 Portugal 0, Pool H: Norway 2 Japan; USA 2 Klawak 1 work alongside the facility in Orlando to the benefit of British Olympians. "The need to provide the best for our sportsmen and women is crucial to the country's success in major competitions and the Government welcomes the BOA's initiative," he said.

TODAY'S NUMBER

6

The number of goals scored by striker Colin Cramb for Bristol City reserves in the 6-0 win over Bristol Rovers reserves at Ashton Gate yesterday.

Tigers burning bright The former England interna- surprising the opposition. We tional Paul James is wondering how much longer his Thames Valley Tigers team can continue surprise the opposition. Tigers are second in the Budweiser League to London Towers.

"It suits me fine," says the Leicester-born James, who played for the local Riders and then Thames Valley and made 22 appearances for England. Mick Bett in the summer after ' Tigers failed to reach the playoffs for the first time in 10 years. "I keep reading we're a surprise team but it's no surprise to me. Let's hope we can keep had good teams here in the past and it's just been a matter of discipline and getting guys to play to their strengths."

Tigers' American Tony Holley won the League's Player of the Month award for September and James was named Coach of the Month for October.

Their revival was underlined before Sunday's 100-86 James took over as coach for win over Sheffield Sharks, when the start had to be delayed because fans were still queueing outside at their Bracknell venue, "It's been a while since that happened," James said.

SPORTING DIGEST

SQUASH

Delight turns to disaster

Delight over a first-day defeat stead we are fighting for survival of Pakistan in the men's world team championship turned to concern in Kuala Limpur yesterday when England's first and second strings, Simon Parke and Peter Marshall, collapsed against Canadian opposition as England lost 2-1.

As if to compound the disaster in British terms, the second qualifying day also saw Scotland losing to Malaysia and Wales going down to Australia. Only Ireland managed a win, their second in Pool F.

beating Brazil 3-0. Scotland must be rueing again their failure to persuade the world No 2 Peter Nicol to their cause. "With Peter in the side we might have been medal contenders," Alan Thomson, the Scottish captain, said. "In-without him because he wants to protect himself for the world circuit." Some of Nicol's self-concern may be justified if England's performance yesterday is a guide. Marshall lost 9-2, 9-7, 9-2 in 41 minutes to Graham Ryding, the Canadian second string, looking desperately tired despite four days' rest since he lost in the semi-finals of the World Open Championship.

Parke was reduced to banging his head against the court walls between the last few points of his 58-minute 9-1, 9-5, 10-8 defeat by Jonathon Power, whom Marshall had beaten on his way to last week's semi-finals. Only Chris Walker won for England beating Gary Waite 9-2, 9-1, 9-2 in 19 minutes.

WIMMING

Organisers fear shark attacks

Swimming's governing body. Fina, has ordered the use of scuba divers to protect competitors in the long-distance ocean events at next year's World Championships after a spate of shark attacks off Western Australia.

Kevin Holtom, the race co-ordinator, said yesterday that local organisers in Perth had been told by worried officials to take every possible precaution against sharks.

"We rold them that each competitor will have their own support boat and there will also be back-up crews with life boats ad [dinghies] as well as officials' boats and media helicopters," Holtom said.

"We also agreed to get a surveillance plane to fly overhead spotter planes and armed to look out for any sharks and even use a team of scuba divers armed with spear guns."

Holtom said officials were satisfied with the organisers' existing precautions but became alarmed after seeing reports of three recent attacks. He said the extra precautions were mainly to ease the fears of the competitors themselves.

The most serious incident occurred in August at the same site where the ocean racing events will be held when a 51year-old man was attacked by a Great White shark.

The World Championships are scheduled to take place from 8 to 18 January.

American football
The San Francisco 49ers took a giant step toward securing home field adventage in the NFC play-offs on Monday and damaged the Eagles' own post-season hopes with a 24-12 victory in Philadelphia. The 49ers, who claimed their ninth straight with tollowing an opening day defeat at Tampa Bay, dominated with their defence, sacking Eagles' quarterbacks eight times and returning a fumble for a touchdown to take command earty. Philadelphia, who lost for the first time at home and sixth time of the season, dropped into fourth place in the NFC East. NFL: Philedelphia 12 San Francisco 24.

American football

Badminton

Badminton
THALAND OPEN (Bangkok) First round:
O Ewe Hock (Mass) bit N Wei (HA) 15-8 15B; KAkinsanya (Ng) bit A Bud Kusurua (nu)
w(o; R Sidek (Mass) bit T Steng Peng (Sin)
15-4 15-2; A Thirarabsakui (Thai) bit A Brahim (Aligara) 15-1 15-5; I Abd. Sarran (Mass) bit K Jonessen (Den) 12-15 15-4 152; H Bengtsson (Sine) bit N (Kaen Kok (Mass)
15-7 15-8; G Rimsundid (Indon) bit T Adrien
Kueng Yang (Sin) 5-5 2-3; R Massymson
(Swe) bit T Agarrawu (Ngaria) 15-5 15-3; Y
Hock Kin (Mass) bit A Thirarassakui (Thai) 15-3 15-4

Basketbali

Basketball

The NBA yesterday formally approved the addition of Washington, DC and Detroit to the Women's NBA as expansion teems for the 1998 season and announced that two additional teams will join the league for the 1999 season. To accommodate the new teams, Houston will relocate to the Western Conference, joining Los Angeles, Phoenix, Sacramento and Utah. Westington and Detroit will join Charlotte, Cleveland and New York in the Eastern Conference.

NBA: Toroito 98 San Antonio 100; Portland 86 Detroit 82.

BILLERY NORTHERN OPEN (Middles-brough) Second round: D Causier (Eng) bt C Eventon (Mai) 713-423; R Foldwer (Aus) bt E Hughes (M) 688-775; D Josh (md) bt M Rehami (Ind) 838-488; R Close (Eng) bt I Williamson (Eng) 557-320.

Bowls

MEN'S PAURS (Jersey) Round sevent heland (R Battersby and G McCloy) bt England (R Battersby and D Holt) 21-5: Yelles (D
Harding and J Greenslade) bt Guernsey (G
Plachou and P Ingroutle) 31-11: lerset (Y
Lieberthel and G Rentinely) bt Jersey (L
Noon and T Malett) 21-8.

MEN'S TRIPLES Round sevent: England
(M Bantock and M King and G Harlow) bt Israel (M Stange and C Sheesin and Y Beldand Sa-4; Weles (G Willems and M Kent and
M Anstey) bt Instand (I McClure and B
Thompson and J Ross) 23-17; Jersey (A Syvet and P Le Long and I Hodgetts) bt Guernsey (N Mollet and R Brefreut and 8 Simon) 23-15.

Maddlesbrough have taken 22-year-old That international striker Alfred Nati-pong Stritong on a two-week trial, after he impressed during Boro's pre-season friendly against Thai Farmers. Steve Bull will be out of action for two Steve bus will be cold action for in-months, after undergoing surgery on a knae injury. The Wolves and former England striker will have a borry spur, which has been affecting his left patel-lar tearform, resonant.

West Bromwich Albion are to allow West promitted Albion are to above Shane Nicholson to continue to train with the club, despite the defender's positive test lest month for amphet-amine. The 27-year-old, charged with misconduct by the Football Associa-tion and suspended by his club, faces an extended ban. Botton yesterday signed the Finnish Under-21 goaldeeper Jussi Jasske-lainen from VPS Vaasa, The 22-year-old has signed a three-end-a-half year contract with Wanderers for an initial fee of £100,000, rising to £350,000 de-pending on annexances made contract with Wanderers for an initial fee of $100,000, rising to $350,000 depending on appearances made. FA CARLING PREMIERSHIP Flotters changes: Sun 8 Febr Arsenal v Chelea (from 7 Feb). Mon 2 Mar: West Hem v Arsenal (from 28 Feb).

NATION/MIDE FOOTBALL LEAGUE Fixture changes: Sat 22 Nov: Postsponed: Portsmouth v Wolves (international calk-ups). Fit 6 Febr Leyton Overt v Peterborough (from 7 Feb).

MONDAY'S LATE RESULTS: FA Carting Premiership: Leicester Ownholedon 1 Uni-Bond League Premier Division: Emisy 1 Gainsborough Trivity 0. First Division: Ashton Uti 3 Belper Town 4 & P. Martens League Cast League Premier Division: Emisy 1 Gainsborough Trivity 0. First Division: Ashton Uti 3 Belper Town 4 & P. Martens League Cast League Premier Division: Preston North End 3 Liverpool 0. Avon Insurance Combination First Division: Preston North End 3 Liverpool 0. Avon Insurance Combination First Division: Preston North End 3 Liverpool 0. Avon Insurance Combination First Division: Preston North End 3 Liverpool 0. Avon Insurance Combination First Division: Preston North End 3 Liverpool 0. Endison 2: Stole City 3 Wolves 0; Wycourbe Wanderers 2 Cardiff City 1; Botton Wanderers 1 Scarborough 2. Portuguese Leegue: Bertica 1 Vitoria Guimardies 0. Women's Ueta Under-18 European Championship (Ostend): Belgum 1 England 2.

Golf
PING LEADERBOARD Leading world rankings: 1 A Screnstern (Swe) 464.75, 2
K, Webb (Aus) 481.28, 3 L Device (Eng)
354.88, 4 K Robbins (LIS) 328.34, 5 L Neumann (Swe) 228.75, 6 C Johnson (LIS)
206.33, 7 M McGamn (LIS) 183.48, 8 L Heckney (Eng) 1828, 9 D Pepper (LIS) 186.87, 12 J Instant (LIS) 186.97, 12 J Instant (LIS)
188.88, 15 T Green (LIS) 158.97, 18 M L Cis
Lorento (F1) 350.43, 17 A Pulcustima (Lepan)
150.08, 18 T Johnson (Eng) 183.23, 19 P J
Jones (LIS) 182.23, 20 M Mallon (LIS) 1230.0
Salectad: 33 J Mortey (Eng) 800.2, 36 K Marstral (Sco.) 766.4, 39 C Meditime W (Sco.) 568.5, 63 L Faircough (Eng) 35.21, 35 H Wadaworth
(Wes) 42.87, 99 D Reid (Sco.) 41.86.

NaML-Edmonton 4 Buffato 4: New Jersey 3 NY Istandera 1; Calgary 1 Chicago 1; St Louis 7 Dalles 1; San Jose 6 Anaficim 4. Rugby Union

Sumo
KYUSPU GRAND TOURNAMENT (Futuoke, Japan) Third day (of 15): Asanoweke (won 2 lost 1) bt Alonoshu (1-2): Yamato (21) bt Kushimsum (1-2): Khoishid (1-2) bt Kushimsum (2-3) bt Khoishid (1-2): Shkishims (2-1) bt Mesiotali (1-2): Faso
(2-1) bt Mesioumi (2-3): Asgivana (2-1) bt
Kotonoweka (2-1): Kyokushuzan (3-0) bt
Ketonoweka (2-1): Kyokushuzan (3-0) bt
Ketonoweka (1-2): Tochmoweka (1-2): Kusoyama (1-2): bt Kotonatzuma (1-2): Musoyama (1-2) bt Kotonatzuma (1-2): Musoyama (1-2) bt Kotonatzuma (1-2): Musoyama (1-2): Tochmoweka (1-2): Betaronata (1-2): Betaronata

Tennis
Aptrous World CHAMPONSHP Standover) Rad Group: C Moya (Sp) bt P Sampras (US) 8-3 6-7 6-2; P Parter (Aus) bt G Pluschtis (GB) 4-6 6-3 6-4.
WTA TOUR (Pennsylvania) first round: M A Vento (Nan) bt M Weingartner (Ger) 6-2 6-2.
C Rubin (US) bt Fang U (Cn) 7-6 7-6; A Fazier (US) bt J Kruper (SA) 7-5 6-1; Al Suglyarma (Japan) bt J Capriali (US) 6-1 6-2; S Appelmens (Ball) bt R Dragomir (Rom) 6-4 6-1; L Raymond (US) bt H Subova (C. Pap) 6-3 6-4.
GUARDIAN DIRECT BRITISH NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS (Tablova) Meers singles first round: P CBI (Weishins) bt M Hison (Chestrie) 4-6 7-5 6-4; D Sapplind (Surrey) bt J Fox (Uncohalte) 7-6 2; P Hard (Sarrey) bt J Fox (Uncohalte) 7-6 2; P Hard (Sarrey) ht M Hatheson (West of Scotland) 6-8

(Chestrie) 4-6 7-5 6-4; D Sapstord (Surrey) bt. J Fox (Incoinstine) 7-5 6-2; P Harrd (Berkathire) bt if Matheson (Mest of Scottard) 6-8 6-4; O Fraetone (Mest) bt A Foster (Staffordstate) 8-6 6-2 7-6; I Staftord (Mortold) bt M Lee (Sussed 6-2 7-6; I Miligan (Michal) bt. J Layre (Cardonic) state) 6-4 6-4; C Milianson (Harrostic) bt. P Magge (Auon) 8-2 6-2 Woman's singles, first (pound; S Srpish (Epsex) bt H Colinicom) 8-2 0-6 6-3; H Crook (Essex) bt L Harbert (Harrisottatine) 8-1 6-1; J Ward (Michal) bt L Carrengtx (Marrisckstate) 7-6 6-0; L Woodrotte (Susrey) bt A Jansatioon) (Essex) 3-6 6-3 6-2; L Ah (Devon) bt C Sasi (Leis) 7-5 6-2 5-A Stdoial (Dorset) bt C Sasi (Leis) 7-5 6-2 5-A Stdoial (Dorset) bt C Lyre (Marriscks) 6-7-5; K Wilson (Bossa) (Dorset) bt H Fart (Surrey) 6-3 7-5. The Metrose Sevens, one of the pre-mer events in the Scottish rugby cal-endar, is to be backed in a £250,000

High flyers getmore done on the ground.

Working on an acrophine isn't much fun But with BT Conference Call you hold the precious, and skip the trip. By connecting you with agree 1,000 people simultaneously on the phone, not only do you save on time and maney, you save on the jet leg too.

Why not change the tooy we toork? BT$

BT Conference Call. For a free demonstration: Freefone 0800 800 800

Formula One hands Schumacher a pointless punishment

Formula One dispensed its peculiar brand of justice yesterday when Michael Schumacher was found guilty of deliberately turning into Jacques Villeneuve at the Grand Prix of Europe, but escaped without a ban or a fine, while Williams and McLaren were cleared of colluding in the same race.

The biggest surprise, however, was that anyone should be surprised by the outcome.

Sweeteners all round. You can't get fairer than that.

The verdict on Williams and McLaren was obvious once the decision on Schumacher had been announced at a World Council meeting of the sport's international governing body, the FIA, in Slough yesterday. It served to confirm suspicions the two cases were linked by more than the event at Jerez.

A smokescreen created by the leaked tapes of pit-to-driver conversations during the grand prix and allegations of a Williams-McLaren conspiracy to influence the title contest had apparently worked. Ferrari. said to have been involved with senior Formula One officials in the release of the tapes, were concerned with ensuring the availability of their No 1 driver for the start of next season and that was duly achieved.

Max Mosley, president of the governing body, a lawyer and skilled politician, said that to ban Schumacher from races next season would have been "futile". Instead, the 28-year-old German was stripped of his runner-up nosition in the championship and committed to participate in a road safety campaign to be organised by the FIA and the Eu-

ACROSS

Solid jazz-fans are prosperous people (3,4) Girl I have contracted with a formal letter (7)

Chap on foot (9) 10 Clergyman on horseback to go faster (3.2)

11 Beachcomber, with foot of the bill, say? (14)

17 Pilgrim today is so differ-

possibly? (4-5)

12 Short-lived things — hear 1 'em peep endlessly in the

21 Open lines from Douglas, 5

Main arterial road carrying oxygen to distant parts (5)

mative condition

- one might visit Giza 4

out, is less wet (5)

ropean Commission next year. Many observers remain convinced Schumacher and Ferrari, major attractions in the Formula One show, have been given preferential treatment ond place because for Ferrari to and that Mosley and his cohorts have given a fresh meaning to the term "Grand Prix Circus." Such distinguished figures as Jackie Stewart, three times world champion and now a team principal, had called for Schumacher to be banned. But Mosley said: "Although the act was apparently deliberate, it was instinctive and not premeditated."

He said the 24-strong council had considered a ban, but decided it would serve no purpose. "It would not be a deterrent in any sense because there is not a driver who would not do the same in 1998 if it meant being banned for races in 1999 but winning the championship in 1998."

ably contrite countenance and claimed he had not got off lightly. The world champion of 1994 and 1995 said: "For me it's quite a tough decision losing my sechave second place in the championship means something. But I have to admit I made a mistake and I do accept the penalty.

The last couple of weeks have been tough for me, not having won the championship when I was confident I could do so. I had some sleepless nights. I did not want to admit at the time what I had done, but I am human. I can make mistakes. I never expected a ban because the accident happened in 1997. The people involved in the situation see it far less dramatically than the press. I saw Jacques after the race and we had a drink together. We had a good relationship and that has not changed."

BY DERICK ALLSOP MOTOR RACING CORRESPONDENT

He claimed that had Schu-macher taken Villeneuve out of the race the judgement would have been the same, thus handing the title to the Canadian.

Mosley said: "It's still a very serious matter and it's a major penalty we have imposed. Schumacher did the wrong thing, obviously, but while he may be one of the greatest drivers of all time he is a human being and every now and then he will make a mistake. He admitted he did it deliberately but instinctively. Had he thought about it for one second he would have allowed Villeneuve through."

The incident revived memories of Schumacher's infamous clash with Damon Hill and Adelaide three years ago, but Mosley insisted: "That was a different type of accident." Schumacher presented a suit-

THE INDEPENDENT CROSSWORD

Independent understanding what is first-class (5)

I, pampered and given face-lift? Impossible plan!

(4-5) 26 Overpolite fellow, retired

DOWN

To me, a burr is trouble-

Ploughman with an interest in company? (11) Fifth of November — and no old penny for the guy!

some in shrubbery (9)

of keys? (6)

3

Walton's work in a number 16

Six in test is commonplace 18

Schumacher said he would have been willing to involve himself in a road safety campaign even had he not been required to, but casting him in the role of model driver for the world's young invited further ridicule on the authorities. Mosley responded: "His presence will attract the attention of people, especially young people, to wear seatbelts." The punishment baffled Damon Hill. The Englishman had sat with the other drivers before the fateful race and listened to Mosley's warning that anyone who transgressed would be dealt with severely.

Hill said last night: "It doesn't sound as serious a punishment as we were led to believe by Max before the race. This just doesn't seem to match up. As for Michael's explanation that it

Transposed and expressed

Here, lake-poet turned out without ale originally. Who by poet (7) Coffee points to media having nothing on! (8) authorized that? (5-6)

Skye taking in chow, perhaps? There'll be fierce

County losing tail gets a fifty - that is showing a Cost of siting university in glen (5) Mate aboard ship a long

competition (3-3-3)

done correctly (7)

dream quality (7)

for field event? (6)

20 Hear about win

22

25

instinctive thing not to do things in that way. Having his points taken away is like having your rubbish taken away from you. The points this year are of no interest at all to him."

Nikki Lauda, the three-times former world champion, argued that Schumacher had been dealt with harshly. "It's a brutal decision," Lauda said. "I'm surprised because Schumacher. until Jerez, had had a good season in difficult conditions. It seems brutal to punish a mistake like this. I fear that if this type of decision becomes commonplace then people will lose interest in motor sport because spectacular manoeuvres will effectively be outlawed. From now on, every overtaking move is a risk."

Mosley rejoined his colleagues to consider the Williams-McLaren case, and re-emerged to announce they had been cleared. It had been alleged they conspired to assist Villeneuve, who in turn allowed McLaren's Mika Hakkinen and David Coulthard, through to take first and second places.

Mosley said: "The World Council is quite satisfied there was no arrangement between Williams and McLaren to fix the outcome. What did happen was that Williams approached McLaren and several other teams asking them not to interfere in the fight between Villeneuve and Schumacher and this they agreed to do.

"When it came to the end of the race, Williams' sole concern was that Villeneuve should finish in the points which was all he needed to do to win the title and they reminded him of this and were desperate he should not fight the McLarens in his damaged car. This scenario is very rare.

"It's an extraordinary set of circumstances to have the leading two racing wheel-to-wheel in the last race but I can believe was instinctive, well it's also an arrangement to fix the race."

quite sincerely there was no Serious mood: Michael Schumacher contemplates his controversial punishment at a press conference at RAC headquarters in Slough yesterday

The verdict of the president

'Apparently deliberate, but instinctive and not premeditated Max Mosley on Schumacher's collision' with Villeneuve

There is no driver competing in 1998 who would not be ready to accept the ban in 1999 if he could win the championship in 1998. It would not be a deterrent in any sense' Mosley on why it would be 'futile' to ban Schumacher in 1998

I think it is perfectly clear that the race in Jerez was not fixed and no Formula One race has ever been fixed" Mosley

Finishing second in the FIA championship is an amazing achievement and to have it taken away is a serious punishment Mosley

Revised 1997 final world drivers' championship 1 J Villeneuwe (Can) Williams-Remault 81 pts (champion); 2 H Frentzen (Ger) Williams-Remault 42; 3 J Aless (Fr) Benetion-Renaut 36; 4 D Coultierd (GB) McLaren-Marcedes 36; 5 M Halddnen (Fin) McLaren-Mercedes 27 Handman (I'H) and Hanvetton-Renault 27; 7 E Irvine (GB) Ferrari 24; 8 G Haldhella (It) Jordan-Paugeot 20; 9 O Paris (F) Prost-Magan-Honda 16; 18 Paris (H) Prostagat-route at the paris (H) Prostagat-route at the Schumacher (Cer) Jordan-Peugeot 13; 12 D HE (GB) Amove-Yamatha 7; 13 R Bernichelo (Br) Stewert-Ford 6; 14 A Wurz (Aut) Benetton-Renault 4; 15 J Trull (f) Minarch-Hart 3; 18 = M Salo (Fin) Tyrres-Ford 2, S Nakano (Japan) Prost-Mugan-Honda 2, P Diniz (Bra) Arrows-Yamaha 2, 19 N Larini (fi)

Cynical decision from a sport with a short memory

A show that survived and prospered after the death of Ayrton Senna will have scant problem coping with the global condemnation of their governors' latest deliberations.

Come the opening race of next season, when Michael Schumacher and Jacques Villeneuve square up for their rematch, the attention of the world's media will be focused still more intensely on Formula One.

And who will be deriding the authorities as chumps then?

Patently the logical course would have been to ban Schumacher for one to three races. Even if you accept Max Mosley's argument that the sport's world issue a deterrent, a suspension on top of losing runner-up place in the 1997 world championship would have been acknowledged as fair and appropriate.

By retaining Schumacher and Ferrari on the bill, the ringmasters have ensured all the major attractions are in place and the outcry will help fuel the publicity machinery through the close season.

Schumacher will be cast as the villain. Villeneuve the hero. Perfect. And if Schumacher again demonstrates he is the world's greatest driver, yesterday's skirmish near Heathrow Airport will be old news. The governing body, the FIA, had to road show moves on, generating its own momentum at every

In its macabre way, the coverage of Senna's death, in 1994, served to perpetuate the mystique of the grand prix arena and its courageous gladiators.

COMMENT

Collisions such as Schumacher's with Villeneuve at Jerez, and with Damon Hill at Adelaide, in the final race of 1994, are trivial by comparison but sustain the tension, the smell of danger, and the controversy. To suggest For-ganisers have lost their credibility, may have substance in a sporting context, but no relevance in their unashamedly commercial world.

Senna, like Schumacher, was as ruthless as he was brilliant. Accepting defeat was anathema to him. The compulsion that drove the Brazilian to the pinnacle of his profession was the very force that propelled him into Alain Prost's car in that violent clash at the start of the 1990 Japanese Grand Prix. Packing the German off to do what amounts to community service is comparable with mula One is a joke, that its or-Eric Cantona's "punishment" the chest of a Crystal Palace fau. Of course it is difficult to suppress cynicism, but just as a lot of youngsters were inspired by the Frenchman and his tuition, so might Schumacher's guidance prove beneficial and we should not decry positive mea-SUITES.

Schumacher says he will learn from this experience and do things differently in future. Perhaps he will. But the likelihood is that someone, somewhere, will do precisely the same thing again. And Formula One will have more public a ') ity to feed on.

football in Italy, any deal would allow the Italians to farm out promising youngsters. "I have been talking to Juventus about taking an interest in Palace," Noades said. "It won't be finalised, because of their time

- Derick Allsop

FOOTBALL

Palace poised after angry Middlesbrough pull out of Padovano transfer

Middlesbrough pulled out of the chase for Michele Padovano yesterday after accusing his agent of demanding an illegal payment.

The clubs had agreed a £1.6m fee and the Juventus Gasp if fingers caught inside top hole, say? (8) Where girls' exercises are striker was due to arrive at the Riverside Stadium yesterday afternoon with his representative, Marcello Bonetto, to sign a contract until June 2001 and undergo a medical.

However, the deal was soon off. "We had agreed a financial package, but the deal has broken down because Middlesbrough Football Club were asked to pay a fee to an agent of $200,000 [£118,000] net," the club said in a statement. "Middlesbrough Football Club is angry and can see no justification for this. Furthermore, Fifa regulations specifically preclude it. As a consequence we have been informed that the player will not be travelling to Teesside." The Middlesbrough decision leaves the way open for Palace chairman, Ron Noades, said that he has yet to talk to the forward, but will be meeting Juventus representatives soon to discuss both Padovano and the possibility of the Italians buying a stake in the club.

"We will be negotiating personal terms with the player, hopefully during the course of this week," Noades said. "I have been have talking to Back issues available from Historic Newspapers, 01988 840370.

Registered as a newspaper with the Post Office

Crystal Palace, though the Juventus about them taking an interest in Crystal Palace and about Padovano. The Padovano negotiations are on a straightforward transfer basis. We reached agreement on price with Juventus some time ago."

The owners of Juventus have been in contact with Palace, among other English teams, including the struggling Manchester City, about the possibility of investing money constraints, until next summer. We won't be a nursery club for them. That is not what we are interested in at all." Juventus are owned by a holding company, IFI Spa, who CPublished by Newspaper Publishing PLC, I Canada Square, Canary Wharf, London E14 5DL, and printed at Mirror Colour Print, St bought out Fiat last year.

– Álan Nixon Hoddle's surprise, page 30

France vs Scotland

Live, exclusive and FREE from 7:30pm tonight on (5)

$ $ ○